YOU ALL

HAVE HEARD OF

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,

AND

Hoofland's German Tonic.

Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. Their introduction into this country from Germany occurred in 1825.

THEY CURED YOUR

FATHERS AND MOTHERS.

And will cure you and your children. They are entirely different from the many preparations now in the country called Bitters or Tonics, They are no tavern preparation, or anything like one; but good, honest, reliable medicines. They are

The greatest known remedies for

Liver Complaint, DYSPEPSIA, Nervous Debility, JAUNDICE, Diseases of the Kidneys, ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN, and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imagining of Evil and Great Depression of Spirits.

All these indicate Disease of the Liver or Digestive Organs, combined with impure blood.

Hoofland's German Bitters

is entirely vegetable, and contains no liquor. It is a compound of Fluid Extracts. The Roots, Herbs, and Barks from which these extracts are made are gathered in Germany. All the medicinal virtues are extracted from them by a scientific chemist. These extracts are then forwarded to this country to be used expressly for the manufacture of these Bitters. There is no alcoholic substance of any kind used in compounding the Bitters, nor is it sweetened with Rum, Molasses, or Sugar, and is used in cases where alcoholic stimulants are not advisable.

Hoofland's German Tonic

is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with rare Old Jamaica Rum, Sugar, etc. It is used for the same diseases as the Bitters, in cases where some pure alcoholic stimulant is required. You will hear it said that these remedies are entirely different from any others advertised for the cure of the diseases named, thus being scientific preparations of medicinal extracts, while the others are mere decoctions of crude herbs. The POOR man can cheerfully buy of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Its taste is exquisite. It is a pleasure to take it, while its life-giving, rejuvenating, and medicinal qualities have caused it to be known as the greatest of all tonics.

DEBILITY.

There is no medicine equal to Hoofland's German Bitters in cases of Debility. They impart a tone and vigor to the whole system, and produce the healthy action of all the functions of the body, consequently they are the best family medicine known. They give a good appetite, make the weak strong, enliven the gloomy, range from the sick, impart a bloom to the cheek, and change the patient from a sickly, broken-down invalid, weak and nervous, into a fully-fed, stout, and vigorous person.

Weak and Delicate Children are made strong by using the Bitters or Tonic. In fact, they are Family Medicines. They can be administered with perfect safety to a child three months old, the most delicate female, or a man of ninety.

There are spurious imitations of the Genuine Hoofland's German Blood Purifiers over known, and will cure all diseases resulting from bad blood. Keep your blood pure, keep your Liver in order, keep your digestive organs in a sound, healthy condition, by the use of these remedies, and no matter what will ever assail you. The best men in the country recommend them. If years of honest reputation go for anything, you may rely on what is here said.

FROM HON. GEO. W. WOODWARD,

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, March 10, 1867.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is not an intoxicating beverage, but is a good tonic, useful in disorders of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system.

Yours truly,

GEO. W. WOODWARD.

FROM HON. JAMES THOMPSON,

Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6, 1866.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can speak feelingly of its good effects from my experience of it.

Yours, with respect,

JAMES THOMPSON.

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D.D.,

Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

DR. JACKSON—DEAR SIR:—I have been frequently requested to render my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicine, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but such a strong proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I think it due from me in my usual sphere, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system and a torpid liver, or DYSPEPSIA or LIVER Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail, but usually it will do well, and I will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.

Yours truly,

J. H. KENNARD.

Residence, Spring Garden, below Coates street.

CAUTION.

Hoofland's German Remedies are genuine only as prepared by the undersigned, and have his signature on the front of the wrapper of each bottle, and the name of the article blown in each bottle. All others are spurious.

Price of the Bitters, $1 per bottle; Or, a half dozen for $5.
Price of the Tonic, $1 50 per bottle; Or, a half dozen for $7 50.

The Tonic is put up in quart bottles.

It is the best, that is the cheapest.

Hoofland's German Remedies first came into notice in 1825, since which time they have been universally used and highly recommended throughout the United States. Their reputation is now firmly established, and they are recommended by the most eminent men in the country as the best remedies they have ever seen used, or which they can prescribe when they wish a patient to get well. Some of the most eminent clergymen in the country have recommended them to their parishioners, and they have been used in the families of the Clergy to a great extent. Many Druggists who at first were prejudiced against them, on account of their extensive sale, and being ignorant of their real character, have become convinced that they are all that they are represented to be, and they now join with the public in their recommendation. Some of the most eminent men in the country have written letters for publication, which will be found in the pamphlet around each bottle of the Bitters, to which the attention of the public is invited.

THE FIRST BATH.

BY JAMES M'CARROLL.

Once more God leans against the purple bars
That close the rosy portals of the day,
Till slowly through a mist of falling stars,
Before his shining shoulder they gave way,
And outward rolls His treasure, the Sun,
Unpacking the god upon the mountains' height,
And binding splints red glories into one,
Till all the pure, young earth is filled with light.
White wondrous, changing webs of jewelled gauze,
From out his green, round coffer of the sea,
Far up the heavens with lustrous hand he draws
To turban up his eastern majesty.
And now they drape him through the sultry hours,
Lest all his splendors, in their noontide glow,
Should fall too fiercely on the new made flowers
That bless him with their dewy thanks below,
Where work the hidden harvest's golden moles
In tender shouts and still unconscious buds;
Until, at last the secret treasure rolls
Through amber vales, or gleams in mellow woods,
But, see!—beneath his warm, declining beam,
One comes, in beauty flushing with surprise,
Superbly naked, to a crystal stream,
The first that ever met her radiant eyes;
Still he, with lips apart and quickened blood,
She sudden pauses in the bright retreat,
She sees an angel in the silvery flood
With emerald sandals on her pearly feet.

The Husband in the Kitchen.

A NORSE LEGEND.

Once upon a time there was a man so surly and cross, he never thought his wife did anything right in the house. So, one evening, in hay-making time, he came home, scolding and swearing, and showing his teeth, and making a dust.

"Dear love, don't be so angry; there's a good man," said his good-by; "to-morrow let's change our work. I'll go out with the mowers, and mow, and you shall mind the house at home."

Yes! the husband thought that would do very well. He was quite willing he said.

So, early next morning, his goody took a scythe over her shoulder, and went out into the hayfield with the mowers and began to mow; but the man was to mind the house and do the work at home.

First of all, he wanted to churn the butter, but when he had churned a while he got thirsty, and went down to the cellar to tap a barrel of ale. So, just when he had knocked in the bung, and was putting the tap into the cask, he heard the pig come into the kitchen overhead.—Then off he ran up the cellar steps, with the tap in his hand, as fast as he could, to look after the pig lest it should upset the churn. But when he got up and saw that the pig had already knocked the churn over, and stood there, rooting and grunting among the nice cream, which was running all over the floor, he got so wild with rage that he quite forgot the ale barrel, and ran at the pig at hard as he could. He caught it, too, just as it ran out of doors and gave it such a kick that piggy fell dead on the spot. Then he remembered that he had the tap in his hand; and when he got down to the cellar he found that every drop of ale had run out of the cask.

Then he went into the dairy and found enough cream left to fill the churn again, and so he began to churn, for butter they must have at dinner. When he had churned a bit, he remembered that their milking cow was shut up in the syre, and hadn't had a bit to eat or a drop to drink all the morning, though the sun was high. Then all at once he thought it was too far to take her to the meadow, so he'd just get her up on the house top—for the house, you must know, was thatched with sod, and a fine crop of grass was growing there. Now their house lay close up against a steep down, and he thought that if he laid a plank across to the thatch at the back, he'd easily get the cow up.

But still he couldn't leave the churn, for there was his little babe crawling about on the floor, and "if I leave it," he thought, "the child is sure to upset it." So he took the churn on his back and went out with it, but then he thought he'd better water the cow before he turned her out on the thatch; so he took up a bucket to draw water out of the well, but as he stooped down at the well's brink all the cream ran out of the churn over his shoulders, and so into the well.

Now, it was near dinner time, and he hadn't even got the butter yet; so he thought he'd best boil the porridge, and filled the pot with water and hung it over the fire. When he had done that, he thought perhaps the cow might fall off the thatch and break her legs or neck. So he got up on the house to tie her up. One end of the rope he made fast to the cow's neck, and the other he slipped down the chimney and tied around his own thigh; and he had to make haste, for the water now began to boil in the pot, and he had to still grind the oat meal.

So he began to grind away; but while he was hard at it, down fell the cow from off the house-top after all, and as she fell she dragged the man up the chimney by the rope.—There he stuck fast; and as for the cow, she hung half way down the wall, swinging between heaven and earth, for she could neither get down nor up.

And now the goody had waited seven lengths and seven breadths for her husband to come and call them to dinner; but never a call they had. At last she thought she'd waited long enough, and went home. But when she got there and saw the cow hanging in such an ugly place, she ran up and cut the rope in two with her scythe. But, as she did this, down came he husband out of the chimney; and so when his old dame came inside the kitchen, there she found him standing on his head in the porridge pot.

A Kentuckian writes to the Northwestern Farmer that of a lot of telegraph poles put up in Kentucky, the chestnut rotted first, the cedar gave way next, the locust stood five years longer, and were still nearly sound.

We see it stated that coal or gas tar applied about a corn-crib will keep the grain from devastation by rats.

If you would not have your horse acquire the habit of hanging in the halter, do not strike him in front when young.

The best food for fattening fowls should be ground oats mixed to a dough with water or milk. The latter is the best.

Professor Sponner objects to sawing off or shortening the horns of cattle. It gives pain to the animal and impairs its strength.

An item of importance in plowing is to see, before begining, if there is any defect in the surface of the ground that can be modified or corrected.

The Norfolk Chronicle condemns the use of check reins on horses. They spoil their mouths, impair their tempers, and render them generally uneasy.

Preservation of Leather.

A Contributor to the Shoe and Leather Reporter gives some valuable hints in relation to the preservation of leather. The extreme heat to which most men and women expose their boots and shoes during winter deprives leather of its vitality, rendering it liable to break and crack. Patent leather, particularly, is often destroyed in this manner. When leather becomes so warm as to give off the smell of leather it is singed. Next to the singeing caused by fire heat, is the heat and dampness caused by the covering of india-rubber. India rubber shoes destroyed the life of leather. The practice of washing harness in warm water and with soap is very damaging. If a coat of oil is put on immediately after washing the damage is repaired. No harness is ever so soiled that a damp sponge will not remove the dirt, but, even when the sponge applied it is useful to add a slight coat of oil by the use of another sponge. All varnishes, and all blacking containing the properties of varnish should be avoided. Ignorant and indolent hostlers are apt to use such substance on their harness as will give the most immediate effect, and these, as a general thing are most destructive to the leather. When harness loses its luster and turns brown, which almost any leather will do after long exposure to the air, the harness should be given a new coat of grain black. Before using this grain black, the grain surface should be thoroughly washed with potash water until all the grease is killed, and after the application of the grain black, oil and tallow should be applied to the surfaces. This will not only "fasten" the color, but make the leather flexible. Harness which is grained can be cleaned with kerosene or spirits of turpentine, and no harm will result if the parts affected are washed and oiled immediately afterward. Blind leather is grievously abused. Persons know nothing or care less about the kind of material used than they do about the polish produced. Vitrol blacking is used until every particle of the oil in the leather is destroyed. To remedy this some the leather should be washed once a month with warm water, and when about half dry, a coat of oil and tallow should be applied, and the boots set aside for a day or two. This will renew the elasticity and life in the leather, and when thus used upper leather will seldom crack or break. When oil is applied to belting dry it does not spread uniformly, and does not incorporate itself with the fiber as when partly damped with water. The best way to oil a belt is to take it from the pulleys and immerse it in warm solution of tallow and oil. After allowing it to remain a few moments the belt should be immersed in water heated to one hundred degrees, and instantly removed. This will drive the oil and tallow all in, and at the same time properly temper the leather.

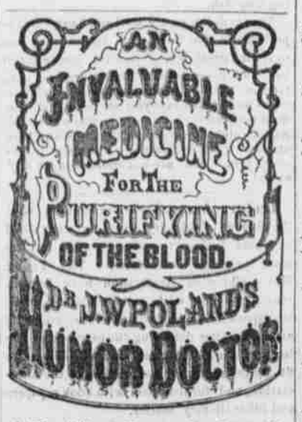
Liver Complaints,

Jaundice and all affections of the Liver are soon removed by the use of Roback's Stomach Bitters and Blood Pills, they are composed of vegetable medicinal extracts with especial reference to their direct action on the liver and digestive apparatus. Hershiser & Myers, Sole Agents.



A Positive Remedy for all kinds of Humors,

Scrofula, Scurvy, Salt-Rheum, Carbuncles and Boils, Ulcers and all obstinate Affections of the Skin, Inflammatory or Chronic Rheumatism, Piles, Chronic Diarrhœa, Mercurial Diseases, and every taint of the System; Dyspepsia, and those Affections originating in the Derangement of the Digestive Organs; viz., Bilious Complaints, Neuralgia, and Nervous Affections, Headache, Languor, and Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, Constipation.

THIS excellent medicinal compound was first prepared by Dr. J. W. POLAND, in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848 a medical friend who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which has made it (as the people say) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty."

This preparation is composed entirely of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, and Bloodroot.

When the originator lived in New Hampshire, at Goffstown Centre, for the space of thirty or forty miles around, and in Manchester particularly, the Humor Doctor was well known and highly valued for the numerous and wonderful cures which it effected. Though manufactured in large quantities, the supply was frequently exhausted, and purchasers had to wait for more to be made. In that region, some very severe cases of Erysipelas were treated with,—and they were cured! Erysipelas sores, or carbuncles,—those ugly, painful ulcers,—were entirely removed wherever this medicine was faithfully used. So it was with Scrofula and Salt-Rheum. The Humor Doctor cured them.

It is free from any dangerous drugs, is pleasant to the taste, safe, yet sure and effective in its action.
