Room 8, Arcade Building

Ex-Governor A. H. Stephen's Cousin.

I am first cousin of the late Alexander H. Stevens, and have been postal clerk on different railroads since 1868. For ten years I have been a sufferer from a cancer on my face, which became worse until the discharge of matter became profuse and very offensive. I became thoroughly disgusted with blood purifiers and pronounced them frauds, as I had tried many without relief.

Finally I was induced to use B. B. B., which was about the first of February, and continued its use until the latter part of April. The offensive discharge decreased at once, and the hardness around the cancer disappeared. It improved my general health and I rapidly gained flesh and strength. The discharge gradually decreased and the cancer became less and less in size until nothing remained except a scar to tell the tale of a once dangerous cancer. All who have seen me since I commenced the use of B. B. B., bear testimony of my great improvement, and the scar on my face shows that it cured the cancer. I find that B. B. B. comes squarely up to what it is recommended, and I cannot say too much in praise of this wonderful medicine. I have tried them all, but B. B. B. stands at the top as a blood purifier.

The above is copied from the Athens (Ga.) Banner Watchman, being the voluntary language of James A. Green, which Editor Gantt indorses:

"Mr. Green is an honest, upright citizen of Athens, who had a bad cancer, and his numerous friends thought he could not live very long, as the cancer was gradually sapping the foundation of his constitution, but now looks well and hearty."

2 Against 18.

Several physicians have pronounced my disease blood poison, caused by paint or lead in the paint, but they could not cure me. Last summer I used eighteen bottles of a largely advertised blood medicine, which did me no more good than so much water.

I have used only two bottles of B. B. B. and am proud to say that I have received greater benefit from them than from the eighteen, and am now rapidly recovering. There is no question about the superiority of B. B. B. over all blood remedies.

Mill owners on the Chippewa river propose, as a preventive to the the threatened log famine, to cease running logs for about a week. During that time all the dams are to be shut off, allowing a sufficient volume of water to be obtained to cause an artificial rise of eight feet. This, it is thought, will make a clean sweep of 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 feet of scattered logs along the river, and thus afford stock to extend the sawing season.

An Unrivalled Record.

Allcock's Porous Plasters have, in the last twenty-five years, proved themselves the best, safest, and most effectual remedy for Spinal Complaints, Incipient Consumption, Diarrhœa, Pleurisy, Tumors, Asthma, Bronchitis, Epilepsy, Lumbago, Debility, Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, Loss of Vigor, Dropsy, Paralysis, Loss of Voice, Hysteria, Nervousness, Indigestion, Palpitation.

At a meeting of the Northwestern Lumberman's association in St. Paul last week, it was decided to advance prices $1 per thousand on all grades of lumber below first fencing. This was done on account of the increased cost in production, due to advance in the price of stumpage, increased taxes, and extra expense in handling, owing to the extreme low water. Another reason for the advance is the shortage of over 1,500,000,000 feet, as against the product of 1885, on the Mississippi and tributaries.

Tired, Languid, Dull

Exactly expresses the condition of thousands of people at this season. The depressing effects of warm weather, and the weak condition of the body, can only be corrected by the use of a reliable tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Why suffer longer when a remedy is so close at hand? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will give you untold wealth in strength and energy.

EASTERN VIRGINIA.

PROSPERITY OF THE COLORED POPULATION SINCE THE WAR.

Former Influence of Master and Mistress—The Old Slavery Songs Rapidly Dying Out—Religious Services—Material Prosperity—Extravagant Names.

The soft and well-bred manners of many a beautiful negro woman come from having been in her early life much about the house, observing and imitating the manners of the white family. Then, the influence of the master and the mistress was directed against this religious savagery which seems natural to them. They were encouraged to dance and sing and to be merry. In harvest time, the head man of the long row of reapers with gleaming scythes, was under orders by the overseer to sing his reaping song loudly, and the harvest field was full of melody. Whisky was given out, and the harvest, which was known as "the black man's holiday," was made a season of merriment and feasting by the masters, who held to the sound doctrine that cheerfulness and industry are apt to go together. On every plantation were one or more fiddlers or banjoists, their rude music being in demand for the white people as much as for the black ones. A musician enjoyed many privileges and received many little gratuities justly credited to art.

OLD SLAVERY SONGS.

Now, all this is changed. The negro preachers have proclaimed that there is nothing out of gehenna worse than dancing excepting fiddling and banjoing. The devil is represented to be the original dancing master and the father of the profession. The accordion is allowed, but the banjo and fiddle are rigorously tabooed. The prohibition extends to worldly songs, and the weird melodies they sang long years ago have given place to Moody and Sankey hymns. Their old slavery songs are rapidly dying out. The negroes have a natural prejudice against them as relics and reminders of their slave days, and so Jim Crack Corn, Johnny Booker, Jinny Is the Hoe Cake Done? and all of their primitive merry songs are dead and forgotten.

An exception to their rule of forgetting must be made in favor of the Hampton Normal school. There, the managers appreciating the wild beauty of these old plantation airs, have tried to preserve them and have trained a number of singers in them. But the negroes dislike them excessively, and perhaps with reason. They sing hymns with genuine African fervor and abandon, and at least half of their religious services consists of singing. And such singing! It is generally confined to "member," as not to be a member of a church quarantines a negro against his own kind. The worst foe to the civilization of the negroes is their slavish superstition and their absolute submission to their preachers, who are in turn the victims of tyranny themselves at the hands of unscrupulous white men.

MATERIAL PROSPERITY.

Not that the negro is not thriving in this part of the world. On the cont ary his little patch of ground, with his yoke of steers or his scrub of a horse, yield him a good living, and every year he rises a step in material prosperity—only that he has only escaped from one kind of slavery to fall into another. They still retain their fondness for extravagant names, although they are not as funny as formerly, as they no longer have the white people to suggest them. "Scripture names," as they are called are great favorites, among which Ananias is not the least. When the names of the apostles are selected, the title is very often given too. Uncle Apostle James, was a well known character in these parts. One of the planters hereabouts named his servants after the dukedoms of England, and Surrey, Norfolk and Richmond were colored individuals of a pomposity corresponding to their names.

Another master took a classical turn. Tercier and Juvenal were in the house and Herodotus' place was on the coach box. Another named them in pairs. He had not only an Ananias but a Sapphira, an Abelard and an Eloise. One day a visitor at the house, not knowing this characteristic, hearing an inky black specimen spoken to as Laura, inquired: "Well, Laura, where is Petrarch?" and was electrified by Laura's replying: "Petrarch, he in de kitchen helpin' to peel de 'taters fer dinner." At another place a romantic mistress surrounded herself with Iris, Melissa, Venus and Cupid—the last two especial favorite in the way of names, so much so that a feminine form of Cupid was evolved. Cupid was always shortened to Cu, and Cu's female contemporary was very apt to be named Cuetta. This name is still common. Scott's novels supplied the names at another plantation. Nora Avenel, Amy Robsart and Luey Aston were handmaids, and the name of the cook was Edith Plantagenet. This name was very much admired, and not a syllable of it was abated, although it gradually changed its form to Edith Plantodgerkit.—Eastern Virginia Cor. New York Mail and Express.

All Whirling Through Space.

A careful comparison of the positions of the stars from one time to another shows in many cases a real motion in space. Really accurate ascertainment of position began in the time of Bradley, who lived about the middle of the last century, so that we have only the records of a little over 100 years on which to base our knowledge of stellar "proper motion." European astronomers gave us in the last century several catalogues of stars which are reliable, and the work of comparison with the present places has been undertaken for a number of faint stars, the bright ones having already been considered by an English gentleman, J. L. E. Dreyer, who has just published the results. By such efforts as his, continued over centuries of time, it will be possible finally to deal intelligently with the great problem of the motion of the universe as a whole.

To appreciate the feebleness of any efforts if confined to a single century, it must be remembered that the stars are so immensely remote that but very few of them show any perceptible shifting of place as a result of the motion of the earth in its orbit. Hence any motion, rapid though it might be, is scarcely perceptible here. A change of a second of arc a year, which might be a perfectly amazing velocity, would require 1,800 years to carry the star over a space in the sky equal to that which the full moon covers. A second a year is a large proper motion.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Little Astors at Newport.

When one sees the little Astors in Newport out walking with their nurses, she sighs to think what jolly, happy times they are missing. No dirt pies, no playing store with bits of broken crockery for "goods," and pins for "money," no doll's houses down in the orchard, with the kitten for an improvised baby, and infant frogs kept under a purloined glass tumbler, to be fed every five minutes with leaves and berries—no, none of these primitive and childish pastimes for the little millionaires, attired in ravishing costumes that render them as lovely as an artist's dream!

Let us hope these chef d'œuvres of dressmaking, these ideal baby chiffons, are occasionally laid aside, and then, clothed in sensible gingham and holland, the pretty creatures take a good, wholesome play in Newport dirt. It is said such is the case early in the morning, and the English plan of physical education is pursued by most of the young parents in Newport, as elsewhere. But, somehow, the causal visitor never meets with a dirty faced son or daughter of wealth, and, though this phase of childhood is considered objectionable from a tidy point of view, it would be a pleasant variation to the the perpetual en fete appearance of its most tender and over-elaborated society.—Boston Herald.

Applying an Electric Current.

A Spanish inventor, Senor Pumariega, proposes applying an electric current to the body by a novel method. Flannel is impregnated with oxides of iron, copper, zinc and tin, which are excited by the perspiration of the body and subject the latter to a weak but constant electric current.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. Lovejoy, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years—spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is readily cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the city clerk of the city of Springfield, Ohio, for furnishing all the materials and doing all the labor of grading and gravelling Nelson street from Main street, north along the stand pipe grounds of said city, to the north line of the same.

All proposals must be for doing said work according to the plans, profiles and specifications in the city engineer's office, must be signed by the full name of all parties interested in said bid, and by some responsible disinterested person as a guarantee that a contract will be entered into provided the bid is accepted, and must be on file in the city clerk's office on or before 12 o'clock noon of Friday, the 10th day of September, A. D. 1886, to be opened and read publicly immediately after 12 o'clock of said day, in the presence of the mayor, city engineer, assistant city engineer and city clerk, or any two of them, and reported to the council at the meeting thereafter.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any or all proposals presented for any reason they may deem sufficient.

By order of council.

J. S. SHEWALTER, City Clerk.

LOCAL NOTICES.

$10,000 Awarded.

"I was so sick and low spirited that I thought I would give anything to get well; and if anyone had insured me the good health produced by using 'Simmons' Liver Regulator, and charged me a thousand dollars, I would willingly have paid it if I had had it—in fact, $10,000 would be worth less to me than what it has done for me."

Hay Fever.

Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to hay fever. Have been using it as directed and have found it a specific for that most dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. F. B. Ainsworth, of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Publishers, Indianapolis, Ind.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. 4 7t

If people troubled with colds would take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral before going to church or places of entertainment they would avoid coughing, greatly to the comfort of both speakers and hearers. Public speakers and singers find that the Pectoral wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice.

Scrofula, and all forms of scrofulous diseases, are rapidly purged by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Stamping Out Disease.

The Shakers believe that nearly all diseases can be prevented by maintaining perfect digestion. They never employ doctors, because as soon as the digestion becomes impaired they take a few doses of the Shaker Extract of Roots, Sigel's Syrup, and health is the result, for it is a marvelous remedy for dyspepsia. Mrs. Hettie Hauck writes from Mormon Grove, Grayson county, Tex., August 2, 1884: "I am fifty years old this month, and I must say your medicine has proved a wonderful medicine to me. When I first received it I could not sleep nights, and I had a fluttering in the pit of my stomach. I could not bear my hands or the weight of my clothes on it. I had a throbbing and a roaring in my head. I was afraid if it continued I should lose my mind. I oftentimes thought I was too far gone to try anything, but your medicine has proved a blessing to me. The pain and miserable feeling in my head has gone. My head is clear, and I sleep soundly every night. I can recommend it with pleasure. Who would not? You may use this letter if you like. It may fall into some hands afflicted as I was, and I am sure they can find relief in your medicine."

JOHN H. YATES, of Batavia, N. Y., says:

"I cheerfully commend
Your AROMATIC WINE;
It did new life and vigor send
Through this weak frame of mine.
It did for all my stomach ills
More than the doctor and his pills.
