Late U. S. Consul to Italy, author of "The Glory and Shame of England," "America's Advancement," etc., etc., etc., writes as follows:—

New York, August 1, 1886. 122 E. 27th st.

DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass.,

Gentlemen:—A sense of gratitude and the desire to render a service to the public impel me to make the following statements:

My college career, at New Haven, was interrupted by a severe cold which so enfeebled me that, for ten years, I had a hard struggle for life. Hemorrhage from the bronchial passages was the result of almost every fresh exposure. For years I was under treatment of the ablest practitioners without avail. At last I learned of which I used (moderately and in small doses) at the first recurrence of a cold or any chest difficulty, and from which I invariably found relief. This was over 25 years ago. With all sorts of exposure, in all sorts of climates, I have never, to this day, had any cold nor any affection of the throat or lungs which did not yield to AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL within 24 hours.

Of course I have never allowed myself to be without this remedy in all my voyages and travels. Under my own observation, it has given relief to vast numbers of persons; while in acute cases of pulmonary inflammation, such as croup and diphtheria in children, life has been preserved through its effects. I recommend its use in light but frequent doses. Properly administered, in accordance with your directions, it is in any house. I speak earnestly because I feel earnestly. I have known many cases of apparently confirmed bronchitis and cough, with loss of voice, particularly among clergymen and other public speakers, perfectly cured by this medicine. Faithfully yours,

A Priceless Blessing

C. EDWARDS LESTER.

THE DREAD PLAGUE.

SOME OF THE CHARACTERISTICS OF ASIATIC CHOLERA.

A New York Physician Tells Where the Danger Lies—The Spread of the Disease May Be Averted with Proper Care—In 1866.

"The first symptom of Asiatic cholera," says Dr. John C. Peters, "is a mild diarrhœa, with or without vomiting. The patient is likely to feel invigorated, as if purged by medicine, and many go about with little or no sign of sickness. In two or three days there is a violent explosion of the disease. In a few hours the patient may be in an almost helpless condition. In the early stages the patient may attend to usual avocations, thus sowing or spreading the germs of the disease in many places. The germs are contained in the discharges from the stomach and bowels, and also probably from those of the kidneys. The possibilities and even the probabilities are that everything the patient handles will become contaminated and dangerous. A piece of bread handled or broken by such person and eaten by another will probably cause an attack, fruit, cake, anything—in cholera times fruit and vegetables are generally considered dangerous, but only such are that have been handled by the afflicted persons.

"In 1866 I saw cases daily for many days and ate fruits and vegetables of all kinds, even cucumbers, and occasionally soft shell crabs. They were much less dangerous to me than a piece of bread or an apple touched by one of the patients. If I had contracted cholera, such a diet would have made it much worse and more dangerous. They could not produce cholera unless they were contaminated by somebody diseased. I was very particular in keeping my hands clean. In 1873 I carried my own towels in my pocket and would not use a basin in a house where there was a case of cholera. I had the water poured over my hands and wiped them with my own towels.

"After the explosion of the disease the patient becomes very weak, and frequently goes into what is called collapse. The patient is cold, almost pulseless, his features pinched, tongue, nose and breath cold, and his hands, feet and face probably blue. You can often tell a cholera patient many feet distant by the blue color of his skin. Singularly enough, a proportion of the collapse cases recover, almost as many by mild treatment as when the most energetic measures are used. Dr. Smith's collapse cases at Swinburne Island seem to have done remarkably well under hypodermic injections of brandy and a little carbolic acid mixed. The recoveries were quite astonishing, and as large in proportion as by any other treatment.

STAMPING IT OUT.

"There are many experienced men in the local board, like Drs. Janes, Day, Morris and others, who went through more than one epidemic. I think they served under Dr. Dalton, who was president of the board of health in 1866. In that year 13,670 infected immigrants landed in New York from twenty-eight or more cholera ships, upon which 686 deaths had occurred at sea. Dr. Dalton took control of every house in the city where cholera had entered, and rarely had a second case after the arrival of his inspectors. Fifty telegraph stations were connected with the health office, and the whole police force aided the busy sanitary corps in giving the earliest information of suspicious cases. In less than two months the whole outbreak was stamped out and only 1,200 deaths occurred. Previous to July 8 twenty-one cases of well marked cholera had terminated fatally. They occurred in seventeen different streets, in eighteen different blocks and in nineteen different houses. The residences of the twenty-one fatal cases, together with ten other non-fatal cases, were widely scattered over the city, and none of the thirty-one were discovered to have been in any way directly exposed to persons or things from quarantine or from the emigrant landing or depot.

"Late in July, 1866, a tremendous outbreak of cholera occurred among 900 workhouse people on Blackwell's Island. Dr. Frank H. Hamilton said he would stamp it out in ten days, and he did so. He drove all the inmates from their crowded rooms, ventilated and cleaned everything, improved the food, put guards at the closets to watch for any one who visited them more than once a day, put cholera medicines in the hands of trusty nurses, and in a few days the epidemic was practically over, and in ten days all gone. But there were 173 deaths almost before Dr. Hamilton took charge. It was fearfully sudden. There were eight cases in seven days, and in two nights the inmates fell by the score. There are cases which came under my notice where a weaker person sickened and died before a strong person from whom the disease was contracted showed any signs of it.—New York Cor. Chicago Herald.

Anecdote of Thaddeus Stevens.

Some one asked Mr. Sherman about the particulars of the long contest for the speakership of the house of representatives in 1859 when he was the Republican candidate. Mr. Sherman gave them, and then said: "I saw that I could not be elected and determined that some Republican should be. The house of representatives was divided politically into Republicans, Democrats and Americans. The Americans from the south refused to support me because I had recommended Helper's book—a sort of Abolition pamphlet. I thought they would vote for Pennington, a Republican member from New Jersey, and found upon inquiry that they would do so. I therefore informed my friends that I was no longer a candidate, and asked them to vote for Pennington. Two of them for a time refused to give up my canvass. One of them was Thaddeus Stevens, of Pennsylvania.

"I watched the action of the bolters anxiously, as the election of Pennington depended upon their voting for him. However, both voted for him; Stevens in a very low tone of voice. When a vote was taken the next day in the house of representatives Stevens had been embarrassed in his action by his statement that he was 'going to vote for John Sherman till the crack of doom.' Some one went up to him after he voted for Pennington and said: 'See here, Stevens, I thought you were going to vote for Sherman till the crack of doom.' Stevens looked up with a comical look and said. 'Well, I thought I heard it cracking.'"—New York Tribune.

Powderly on His Muscle.

General Master Workman Powderly is mild looking and is generally peacefully inclined. He doesn't permit any one to trample upon him, however. Powderly was a machinist. He was at work in a big machine shop at Scranton, Pa., one day, when the superintendent, who was also a member of the firm, insulted him grossly. The superintendent was a big man, much taller and heavier than Powderly. The latter's muscles were in good shape, though. At one spring he reached the superintendent's side. He grabbed his insulter by the coat collar and that portion of his trousers technically known as the slack, and threw him partially over and partially on top of a pile of iron. He was never afterward bothered by that superintendent.—New York Sun.

One Fact

Is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact established by the testimony of thousands of people that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood. It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

Phases of the Relic Craze.

I know a small boy of tender years who is going to give himself an awful lot of trouble when he grows up. He has developed a strong taste for mementos and he keeps them all carefully. We all keep mementos when we are young. I have a little weakness for it myself, but mementos don't seem to mean as much as they used to somehow. I carried a piece of everlasting flower which a descendant of Anne Hathaway plucked for me from the cottage from which Shakespeare married Anne 300 years ago until I began to write plays, and my experience led me to throw it away. It was a painful reminder of inequality. I suppose you have still an old letter and a faded flower your girl sent you before you found out she was flirting with the other fellow. Keep it. It will remind you when you are inclined to believe your next girl. But this small boy keeps a book in which he records in full detail what those mementos are, e. g.:

1. "A stone taken from the lot where Mr. June's new house was built.

2. "A piece of redwood picked up in the back yard of Mrs. Flaherty's cottage."

The book is full of this kind of thing. He was showing his treasures to his uncle and, having explained everything as it came up, he reached a thin strip of redwood.

"What's this?" asked his uncle, handling it very irreverently. The boy seized it.

"That! That is dearer to me than all my life."

"Bless my soul! What is it?"

"That is a piece off a stick with which we killed a coon."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam, for coughs and colds, does it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes T. J. Casper, druggist, 41 east Main street, to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

When Your Nerves Bother You

Invigorate them. When your night's repose is unsound or unrefreshing, your appetite jaded or capricious, when slight noises cause you to start, and annoyances of slight moment abnormally worry you, know three things, viz: 1st, That your nerves are weak; 2d, that you need a tonic; third, that its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the promptest, safest most popular article of its class. The nerves are susceptible of invigoration only by promoting an increase of vigor in the processes of digestion and invigoration. Narcotics and sedatives have their utility, but in the main, and if their use be continued, they are unsafe. A wineglass of the bitters before retiring, and a repetition of the same during the day before or after meals, is far more likely to confer health-yielding sleep than repeated doses of an opiate. Dyspepsia, debility, inactivity of the kidneys and bladder, fever and ague, and other malarial complaints, are always dominated and subdued by it.

Cotton-growing is to be attempted in the neighborhood of Jacksonville, Ore.

The reason why Acker's Blood Elixir is warranted, is because it is the best Blood Preparation known. It will positively cure all Blood Diseases, purifies the whole system, and thoroughly builds up the constitution. Remember, we guarantee it. Frank H. Coblentz, corner Market and High streets.

Excitement Over a Marvelous Cure in England.

The newspapers of Great Britain are filled with accounts of the wonderful recovery of a young man who had been so ill with asthma and rheumatism that he was not able to lie down in bed for nine long years. The cure was due to the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. They say that this, like nearly all others, was the result of indigestion, and that the Shaker Extract of roots (Siegel's Syrup) effected this wonderful cure by restoring the digestive organs to a healthy condition, obviating entirely those disagreeable turns of sick headache, biliousness, etc. The Shakers say that they have spent fifty years in perfecting this remedy for dyspepsia, and that its effects upon the digestive organs is something wonderful. For diseases of the throat or lungs they recommend the Shaker Tar Capsules.

ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY.

Letter from the Assistant Foreman of the Delivery Department—A Subject in which Thousands are Deeply Concerned.

About five years ago I suffered from painful urination and great pain and weakness in the lower part of my back, pain in the limbs, bad taste in the mouth, disgust at food, and great mental and bodily depression.

I live at 241 York street, Jersey City, and on arriving home one night I found a copy of the Shaker Almanac that had been left during day. I read the article, "What is this Disease that is Coming upon Us?" It described my symptoms and feelings better than I could if I had written a whole book. My trouble was indeed "like a thief in the night," for it had been stealing upon me unawares for years. I sent for a bottle of Shaker Extract of Roots, or Seigel's Syrup, and before I had taken one-half of it I felt the welcome relief. In a few brief weeks I was like my old self. I enjoyed and digested my food. My kidneys soon recovered tone and strength, and the urinary trouble vanished. I was well.

Millions of people need some medicine simply to act on the bowels. To them I recommend Shaker Extract in the strongest possible terms. It is the gentlest, pleasantest, safest and surest purgative in this world. The most delicate women and children may take it. One point more: I have all the more confidence in this medicine because it is prepared by the Shakers. I may claim to be a religious man myself and I admire the Shakers for their zeal, consistency and strict business integrity. What they make may be trusted by the public.

DR. ALBERT,

—OF THE—

ALBERT MEDICAL INSTITUTE, OF CLEVELAND,

WILL MAKE HIS NEXT VISIT TO SPRINGFIELD, AT THE

Lagonda House, Thursday, November 17th, 1887,

FROM 9 A. TO 4 P. M. ONLY.

DR. ALBERT Is no stranger in this community. He makes regular visits here; his name is a household word throughout the country, and in every township, village and hamlet can be found those who have trusted to his skill and who can bear witness to the efficacy of his treatment, and the thoroughness and permanency of the cures he effects, even in those cases which other physicians have long since pronounced incurable. This fact alone ought to convince the most skeptical. Those who from year to year have been putting off the treatment which they know they need, should no longer doubt the evidence of their own senses. What greater proof do they want of a physician's skill, than they have of Dr. Albert's? Success is the test of merit, and Dr. Albert's success is as remarkable as it is substantial. His reputation rests upon the solid basis of work done, and of value rendered for every dollar of fees he has collected.

NOT A TRAMP DOCTOR.

DR. ALBERT is no tramp doctor—no peripatetic quack, with no home, no place of business, no credit, no responsibility; he is no loud-mouthed mountebank, who flits from city to city, professing to raise the dead, and heal the sick without medicine. Dr. Albert can always be found at the Institute in Cleveland, except on these occasions, when he snatches away a day or two from his local business to make periodical visits to those communities where his patients are most numerous, and for the benefit of such as cannot make it convenient to come to Cleveland. Those who confound Dr. Albert with the ordinary "traveling doctor" are unjust to him and to themselves, for by consulting him they would be convinced of their mistake.

DR. ALBERT'S TREATMENT

—OF—

CATARRH, THROAT, HEART, LIVER AND KIDNEY TROUBLES

Owes its success to the fact that it differs from the treatment of ordinary physicians, not only in the methods adopted, but in he results achieved. Where other doctors in most cases give temporary relief, leaving the seeds of disease to spring up again whenever the conditions are favorable to their development, Dr. Albert effects a thorough and permanent cure, and by eradicating the seeds of disease, not only renders a return of the ailment impossible, but makes the system stronger and better able to resist disease than before the patient was first attacked.

DR. ALBERT GUARANTEES A CURE

In every case which he undertakes. He will not keep you dragging along from month to month, or year to year, telling you nothing definite and making you endure

THE SICKENING PANG OF HOPE DEFERRED,

But he tells you at once what the trouble is, the probable length of time it will take to cure you, and what it will cost. There is no vagueness, no uncertainty; he tells you what he can do, and he makes a contract with you to do it. He is entirely responsible for what he promises, and can always be found when wanted.

IN THE TREATMENT OF EPILEPSY

Dr. Albert's reputation is world-wide, and he numbers his patients in all parts of the country. His treatment is successful where others have failed; he effects a thorough and permanent cure where others cannot afford even temporary relief.

IN THE TREATMENT OF NERVOUS DISEASES

Dr. Albert has had a wider and more varied experience than any physician in this part of the country; and thousands who, before they consulted him, were dragging out a miserable existence under the burden of Nervous Complaints, or obscure and complicated diseases, have found in Dr. Albert's treatment the road to health and usefulness. Dr. Albert's

Skill in the Treatment of all Chronic Diseases

Is largely due to the extensive experience which a very large practice has afforded him, and which enables him to distinguish with unerring accuracy the peculiar phases of disease, and to apply to each case the treatment which it requires at the time. Dr. Albert makes no experiments. He uses no patent nostrums or "cure-alls;" he treats each case on its own merits, and prescribes for each separately the remedies which are required; and he has yet to fail in any case where he has promised a cure.

DR. ALBERT WILL BE AT THE LAGONDA HOUSE, SPRINGFIELD,

—ON—

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, UNTIL 4 P. M. ONLY.

Don't put off your visit to some future time. Call and see him at once.

A CONSULTATION WILL COST YOU NOTHING, and it may be the means of bringing you health and happiness, and making your life a pleasure where it is now a burden. Dr. Albert's time is limited; he can only remain here during the hours advertised. His duties at the Institute demand his constant attention, in addition to the services of the corps of assistants in charge during his absence. So those who desire to consult him here should call early, so as to be sure of an opportunity to see him and state their cases fully.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit. Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and today believe they quit drinking of their own free will. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by Dr. T. J. Casper, 41 east Main street, and Theo. Troupe, Main and Market streets, Springfield, O.
