Railroad News

The Safety Committee for the Alliance division are planning to put the month of August through without an accident. They have already made the plans and have a representative in each of the railroad organizations. The committee has planned to use enough publicity to keep the thought of Safety on the mind of the employe all of the time while he is at his work and if they succeed with this they will probably not only stop the accidents during the next month but leave a lasting effect.

Brakeman D. G. Peters was slightly injured here yesterday when he stumbled over a nail that was sticking up in the floor of the car and fell out of the door. His ankle received a severe sprain.

Brakeman P. A. Wellingham left for Milan, Mo., Wednesday where he will attend the reunion of the 27th Division engineers.

Conductor Tom Campbell has reported back to work after a few days illness.

Switchman William Treagerson returned to work from proving up his claim near Crawford.

Conductor W. H. Beach was put under quarantine for smallpox Wednesday.

Operator H. E. Wolf of Antioch, has been put under quarantine for smallpox. He is being relieved by A. S. Johnston, former operator there.

If the Turks destroy a few more American orphanages the French may have to do something to inspire Turkish respect for the American flag.

OBITUARY

ANASTASIA ROCKFORD

The community of Ellsworth was filled with sorrow when the news came from St. Joseph's hospital, Alliance, Tuesday morning, July 13, of the death of Miss Anastasia Rockford. Miss Rockford was overcome with a severe cold about three weeks previous, which turned into pneumonia, the cause of death.

She was born in this vicinity June 21, 1901. She was reared from infancy as a christian girl of the Holy Catholic church, of which she was a faithful worshiper until death came to relieve her of her duties. She was a young lady of admirable qualities, always rendering kind acts for her friends and relatives, who loved and cherished her pure, happy, cheerful disposition.

For the past fourteen months she had been assistant postmaster at Ellsworth where she gained many new friends. She will be remembered as a faithful friend, dutiful daughter and affectionate sister.

Funeral services were held July 14 from the Alliance Catholic church and her remains were laid to eternal rest in the cemetery north of that city amid a profusion of flowers, remembrances from friends and relatives. A little baby sister, who preceded her to the great beyond seven years ago, rests in the same cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her loss a father and mother, two sisters and a brother, besides other near relatives and a host of friends.—Contributed by a friend.

LYDA M. GRUBBS

Lyda May Rhodes was born May 28, 1878, in Waynesburg, Pa. She grew to womanhood in this city, and was educated in Jefferson college, later taking the course in the Southern School of Osteopathy at Franklin, Ky. After completing her studies, she practiced her profession at Allegheny City, Pa., and in her home city, Waynesburg.

July 25, 1904 she was married to William C. Grubbs at Allegheny, Pa. The family came to Alliance in March, 1918, and have made their home here since. Mrs. Grubbs was taken ill about a year ago and for the past six months has been in a serious condition. She was operated upon at St. Joseph's hospital in February of this year, and since that time has been confined to her bed. July 13 she was taken to the American school of osteopathy hospital at Kirksville, Mo., where she died on July 20.

Funeral services were held from the Jackson funeral parlors in Omaha last Saturday, the Omaha Elks lodge having charge of the arrangements. Interment was in West-

Mrs. Grubbs is survived by her husband, W. C. Grubbs of this city; a son, William Roland Clark, fourteen years of age; and a daughter, Hulda Audrey Grubbs, aged eleven. The children are making their home, for the present, with Mr. Grubbs' employer, H. C. Marsh of Omaha.

Now that the protesting middle classes are taking to overalls, the prosperous mechanics may have to go to work in their $100 suits.

The prince of Wales rode the surf at Honolulu in a canoe, discovering there is a great deal of fun in the world yet to be discovered by royalty.

The expected will happen. Gingham and calico will go up until they are beyond the reach of any but the rich, and the poor and the middle class will have to dress in silks and satins.
