POLICE GUARD LORD DEVONPORT FROM ASSASSINS

Fear Attack May Follow Public Prayer by London Strikers for His Death.

LONDON, July 25.—Twenty-four policemen mounted guard over Lord Devonport's residence to-day. Armed men lurk behind every tree and shrub in the park which surrounds it. Another detail patrols the approaches to the park. Lord Devonport is the employer for whose death thousands of striking dockworkers prayed publicly on Tower Hill yesterday. Scotland Yard fears an attempt to assassinate him.

Lord Devonport, who as chairman of the Port of London Authority won the strikers' hatred by refusing to move an inch toward a settlement of the struggle, is as determined as ever to-day, although it is said he is deeply perturbed by yesterday's demonstration of the intensity of feeling against him. A charitable and kindly man in private life, he is of the old school of English captains of industry and unquestionably feels his very religion involved in the employers' complete victory over the dockworkers. To the danger of assassination he is indifferent, but to have an immense throng pray with obvious sincerity and reverence for a stroke from heaven to kill him has disturbed him seriously.

Public sentiment is turning strongly in favor of the strikers, because the evidences of their own and their families' frightful sufferings cannot but create compassion.

In support of the dockworkers, other unions are beginning to talk to-day of sympathetic strikes, which may ultimately become general. The Government is seriously alarmed at the outlook.

SAYS HUSBAND CHASED HER FROM HER $14,000 HOUSE.

Mrs. Pearl Hazard Declares Dr. Hazard Ill-Treated Her and Asks Alimony.

The family affairs of Dr. Elmer C. Hazard, a wealthy young Brooklyn society man and President of the E. C. Hazard Manufacturing Company of Shrewsbury, N. J., one of the principal fruit canneries in the country, were aired in the Brooklyn Supreme Court to-day, when William Moore, counsel for Pearl W. Hazard, Dr. Hazard's pretty young wife, applied to Justice Benedict for an order directing that Hazard pay his wife $75 a week alimony and $1,000 counsel fees, pending the hearing of a suit for a separation from him. And all because they couldn't agree whether their four-year-old son should walk or be carried upstairs.

In the affidavit submitted by Moore, Mrs. Hazard sets forth that her husband is an habitual drunkard, and that he has abused and ill-treated her. She says that on the evening of June 11, when he was intoxicated, he struck her on the head with a beer bottle and chased her and her mother from the $14,000 brownstone house at No. 534 Fourth street, Brooklyn, which he had given to her.

Murdered Baby in River.

The captain of the tug Eldre found the naked body of a three-months-old boy baby floating in Harlem River, off One Hundred and Forty-fifth street to-day. About its throat was tied very tightly a piece of linen. It was evident to the officials at the Harlem morgue, where the body was taken, that the baby boy had been strangled.
