BRIBERY CHARGE IS ADDED TO THAT OF GRAND LARCENY

Lopez, Police Say, Robbed Countryman, Then Tried to Buy Him Off.

Louis Lopez of No. 50 Main street, South Brooklyn, is a glib youth of twenty, and when he met his fellow countryman, Max Chonovsky of No. 115 Graham avenue, Brooklyn, at the Williamsburg Bridge on the 7th of this month and told him that he had just arrived from Italy, Max believed him. When he told Max that he had $6,000 in his bundle Max also believed him and readily consented to keep the money for him, and as a mark of good faith put $150 and his gold watch into the package. When Max opened the package to count the $6,000 there was no money nor any watch in it.

This is the story that Chonovsky told the Grand Jury of Brooklyn, and Lopez was indicted for grand larceny, with bail fixed at $3,500. The trial began this morning. Last night, according to Max, he was approached by Lopez and Max Sternberg, the latter of No. 171 Norfolk street, Manhattan, who told him that he had better get out of the country, returning him his money and watch and $20 for his fare back to Italy. The men went to Max's house, where Detectives Kaufman and Shea were concealed, and as they were counting out the $150, they were arrested on a charge of bribery.

MANY DOCTORS PRESCRIBE

proprietary medicines under a Latin name, charging for the written prescription three times the cost of the medicine, and do not hesitate to condemn that self-same medicine if it is advertised or mentioned by the public.

There are, however, many honest doctors who do not hesitate to openly recommend and prescribe such standard remedies as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
