WEDNESDAY.

The Separation of Mr. and Mrs. Dickens.

Early in life—just after the publication of "Pickwick"—Mr. Dickens married the daughter of Mr. George Hogarth, the author and critic. He separated from her in 1858, and as the event called forth a great deal of ill-natured comment, the following letter was written for the purpose of being shown to the public.

MY DEAR —— Mrs. Dickens and I have lived unhappily together for many years. Hardly any one who has known us intimately can fail to have known that we are, in all respects of character and temperament, wonderfully unsuited to each other. I suppose that no two people not vicious in themselves, ever were joined together, who had greater difficulty in understanding one another, or who had less in common. An attached woman servant (more friend to both of us than servant) who lived with us sixteen years, and is now married, and whom we and still is, in Mrs. Dickens's confidence and mine, who had the closest familiar experience of this unhappiness in London, in the country, in France, in Italy, wherever we have been, year after year, month after month, week after week, day after day, will bear testimony to this.

Nothing has, on many occasions, stood between us and separation, but Mrs. Dickens' sister, Georgine Hogarth. From the age of fifteen she has devoted herself to our house and children. She has been their playmate, nurse, instructress, friend, protectress, adviser and companion. In the manly consideration toward Mrs. Dickens, which I owe to my wife, I will merely remark of her that the peculiarity of her character has thrown all the care of the children on some one else. I do not know—I cannot, by any stretch of fancy, imagine—what would have become of them but for this aunt who has grown up with them, to whom they are devoted, and who has sacrificed the best part of her youth and life to them.

She has remonstrated, reasoned, suffered and toiled and come again to prevent a separation between Mrs. Dickens and me. Mrs. Dickens has often expressed to her her sense of affectionate care and devotion in the same—never, more strongly than in the last twelve months.

For some years past Mrs. Dickens has been in the habit of representing to me that it would be better for her to go away and live apart; that her always increasing estrangement made a mental disorder under which she sometimes labors, more, that she felt herself unfit for the life she had to lead as my wife, and that she would be better far away. I have uniformly replied that we must bear our misfortune and fight the fight on to the end, that the children were the first consideration, and that I feared they must bind us together in appearance.

At length, within these three weeks, it was suggested to me by Foster, that even for their sakes, it would sure be better to reconstruct and rearrange the unhappy home. I empowered him to treat with Mrs. Dickens as the friend of both of us for one twenty years. Mrs. Dickens wished to add, on her part, Mark Lemon, and did so. On Saturday last Lemon wrote to Foster Mrs. Dickens gratefully and thankfully accepted the terms I proposed to her. Of the pecuniary part of them, I will only say that I believe that they are as generous as if Mrs. Dickens were a lady of distinction and I am a man of fortune.

The remaining parts of them are easily distributed—my eldest boy to live with Mrs. Dickens, and to take care of her, my eldest girl to keep my house; both my girls and all my children but the eldest son to live with me in continued companionship of their Aunt Georgine, for whom they have all the tenderest affections that I have ever seen among young people, and who has a higher claim (as I have often declared for many years) upon my affection, respect and gratitude than anybody in this world.

I hope that no one who may become acquainted with what I write here can possibly be so cruel and unjust as to put any misconstruction on our separation so far. My elder children all understand it perfectly, and all accept it as inevitable.

There is not a shadow of doubt or concealment among us. My eldest son and I are as one to it all.

Two wicked persons, who should have spoken very different of me, in consideration of earned respect and gratitude, have (as I am told, and indeed, to my personal knowledge,) coupled with this separation the name of a young lady for whom I have a great attachment and regard. I will not repeat the name—I honor it too much. Upon my soul and honor, there is not on the earth a more virtuous and spotless creature than that young lady. I know her to be innocent and pure, and as good as my own daughters.

Further, I am not quite sure that Mrs. Dickens, having received this assurance from me, must now believe it, in the respect I know her to have for me, and in the perfect confidence I know her, in her better moments, to repose in my truthfulness.

On this head again, there is not a shadow of doubt or concealment between my children and me. All is open and plain among us, as though we were brothers and sisters. They are perfectly certain that I would not deceive them, and thus the confidence among us is without fear. C. D.

HAIR RESTORATIVES.

A NEW DISCOVERY!!
PHALON'S
"VITALIA;"
OR,
Salvation for the Hair.
For Restoring to Gray Hair its Original Color.

PHALON'S "VITALIA" differs utterly from all the "dyes," "colorers," and "restorers" (?) in use. It acts on a totally different principle. It is limpid, fragrant, and perfectly innocuous, precipitates no muddy or flocculent matter, requires no shaving up, and communicates no stain to the skin or the linen. No paper curtain is necessary to conceal its turbid appearance, for the simple reason that it is not turbid. It is, to all intents and purposes, a new discovery in Toilet Chemistry.

Phalon's "Vitalia" is warranted to effect a change in the color of the hair within 10 days after the first application, the directions being carefully observed.

IT IS AS CLEAR AS WATER AND HAS NO SEDIMENT.

Price, One Dollar per Box containing one bottle.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

If your Druggist has not "Vitalia" on hand, write, enclosing $1.00, and we will forward it immediately.
