STAGE AND SCREEN PLAYERS TO BE SEEN NEXT WEEK

"NEAL OF THE NAVY" IN ITS SECOND EPISODE.

The second episode of "Neal of the Navy," the new Pathe serial, will be shown, beginning Monday, at all the Loew theatres. This episode deals with the efforts of Hernandez and Ponto, the two adventurers, to secure the yellow packet which contains the location of Lost Isle, a rich island thousands of miles in the ocean, which Annette inherits when she is eighteen.

Unsuccessful in their search for the map, the soldiers of fortune take up the smuggling trade in Florida, and have with them their mysterious Brute-Man. The Government gets after them, but is unable to get any evidence. However, a naval officer drops a hint as to where they might learn the whereabouts of Annette. The naval records tell the story, and Inez Castro, their accomplice, is instructed to find the girl. She is located living with Mrs. Hardin, wife of the Captain of the ill-fated Princess; her son Neal and Joe Welcher. Inez pretends to injure her ankle in front of the house and is taken in by Neal. She takes Joe Welcher into her confidence and he promises to help her. Meanwhile the Government raiders sight the adventurers at their work and launch a boat and chase them. They are caught through the efforts of Neal, and he is advised by one of the officers to try for Annapolis.

The episode marks the appearance of Lillian Lorraine and William Courtleigh jr.

NORA BAYES RETURNS TO THE PALACE THEATRE

Nora Bayes, in new songs, will be at the Palace Theatre. Other features include "The Honeymooners," with Edna Hibbard, Charles Canfield and Sidney Brown in the cast; Roshanara in India dances, and Laddie Cliff, English comedian, assisted by his wife, Maybelle Parker.

The Colonial Theatre will have Fannie Brice in character songs, a one-act satire, by Paul Armstrong, called "Woman Proposes," Francis Dooley and Corinne Sales in "That's Silly," Taylor Granville, Laura Pierpont and company in "The Yellow Streak," Robert Emmet Keane with new jokes, and Alf Loyal's Dogs.

Alexander Carr, late of "Potash and Perlmutter," in a sketch called "An April Shower" will head the bill at the Alhambra Theatre. Others will be Victor Morley and company in "A Regular Army Man," Watson Sisters in new songs, Ben Welch, comedian; Lillian Herlein, prima donna; Schwarz and company in "The Broken Mirror," the Six American Dancers and the Morin Sisters in new dances.

"TRILBY" ON SCREEN TO HAVE NEW FEATURES.

"Trilby" begins its second week at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre Monday, interspersed with war pictures, a new overture by Dr. Hugo Reisenfeld, and with Clara Kimball Young and Wilton Lackaye in the roles of Trilby and Svengali. As a screen play "Trilby" has lost none of its attractiveness of story and has gained vividness and sensationalism in many of its scenes.

"THE MERRY ROUNDERS" COME TO THE COLUMBIA.

"This Is the Life," a new two-act burlesque by George Totten Smith with music by Leon de Costa, will be produced by "The Merry Rounders" at the Columbia Theatre Monday afternoon. The scenes depict a fashionable millinery shop on Fifth Avenue, an apartment in the Hotel Ansonia, a part of Chinatown, the roof garden of the Hotel Astor, and the exterior of the George M. Cohan Theatre. Incidental to the broadly drawn comedy of the performance, many lively musical numbers and vaudeville specialties are introduced and an exhibition of modern dances is given. In the company are Abe Reynolds and George F. Hayes, who are relied upon for the funmaking. Jack McGowan, Frankie Grace, Johnnie Berkes, Mae Latham, June Le Veay, Zella Clayton and a large chorus that is a departure from the ordinary in having a double quartet of male voices.

"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" VITAGRAPH SENSATION.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" has proved a sensation and the Vitagraph Theatre will want no other attraction for a long time to come. The surprising facts disclosed by Commodore J. Stuart Blackton in this thrilling picture spectacle cannot fail to arouse discussion over our unprepared condition for possible war. That New York could be reduced to ruins and the entire country captured by a small invading army, in less than a week, is vividly suggested. "The Battle Cry of Peace" shows this through the medium of a powerful dramatic story. Charles Richman, as the hero, is shown to excellent advantage, as is true of the entire cast. Matinee and night performances are given daily, including Sunday.

BILLS AT PROCTOR'S AND LOEW'S ROOF.

For the present half of the week the bill at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre includes a Gilbert and Sullivan revue with a cast of forty people in selections from four operas. Other features are Harry Tighe and Zoe Barnett in songs and dances and Hyman Adler and company in a comedy sketch. At Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre, beginning Monday, the twentieth anniversary of the house will be celebrated. Performers from other Proctor theatres will appear.

Loew's American Roof will have among others Aveling and Lloyd, comedians; "Whose Who," Billy De Vere and Sid Malcolm in new songs, Julia Rooney and Clinton in songs and dances and the Melody Trio. Abe Attell in a new monologue will be the headliner the latter half of the week.

"DARLINGS OF PARIS" TO BE SEEN AT OLYMPIC.

The Olympic Theatre will have "The Darlings of Paris," a burlesque show with a vaudeville olio. Among the fifteen musical numbers are: "Back at the Farm," "Dancing 'Neath the Irish Moon," "If You Should See a Little Soldier," "Don't Blame Me for What Happens in the Moonlight," "My Easy Rider," "I Want to Be by the Seaside," "My Heart's in the Highlands," "You Can't Stop Me From Loving You," "Floating Down the Mississippi" and "You're a Dear, Sweet Boy." Elaborate costumes, scenery and electrical effects are features of the production.

ATTENDANCE IS LARGE AT DANCING CARNIVAL.

In spite of the warm weather the manager of the Dancing Carnival reports a very good week. Mr. Grundy announces the return from vacation of all the instructors, and, in addition to the corps of teachers, some twenty-six new experts. As the dancing floor is open on all four sides the cooperation of Grand Central Palace is very agreeable.

The present attendance at the Dancing Carnival gives rise to the belief that the coming season will be a most successful one.
