NEW YORK TIMES RECEIPTS

How Mold can be Prevented on Pickles.—Cut horse radish roots in thin slices, lengthwise, and lay half a dozen or so of these pieces on the top of each crock of pickles, allowing them to remain until all the pickles are used. Grated horse radish will not do as it soon loses its strength and ferments.

Pickled Cabbage.—Take the red cabbage, remove outer leaves, and shred; sprinkle thoroughly with fine salt; let it remain with salt for two days, removing the water; make a pickle with vinegar, with four ounces of ground ginger, four ounces of ground pepper, one ounce of cloves, and boil it; put the cabbage in jars, packing closely; when the vinegar with spices is on the boil fill up the jars; will be good to eat in a week.

Russian Salad.—Take the breast and drumsticks of a cold roasted or boiled fowl and cut fine; slice and cut four slices of ham or six of tongue; cut the meat in slivers; slice six good sized potates; mince finely one sour apple, mix all these together; make either a mayonnaise sauce or an oil and vinegar dressing; decorate with beet root and olives; an excellent addition is two anchovies cut fine; I do not add an onion, though the true Russian salad ought to have it.

Citron Melloy Preserves.—Slice the mellon thin, take of the rind, lay the pieces in cold water fifteen minutes, then take them out and weigh to seven pounds mellon the same quantity of sugar, dissolve the sugar, and when it boils put in the mellon with one ounce stick cinnamon, half ounce whole cloves, quarter pound green ginger tied up in a thin muslin bag, boil one and a quarter hours, then add three oranges and three lemons sliced thin and boil all fifteen minutes; take out the spices before putting up.

Green Tomato Pickle.—Slice a peck of green tomatos and two quarts of white onions, and half a dozen green peppers, leaving out the cores and veins; sprinkle with salt in layers, let it stand 12 or 14 hours; strain of the pickle that forms and any salt that may not have disolved; put the vegetables in a preserving kettle with a gallon of vinegar, two pounds of brown sugar, one ounce of whole black pepper, the same of cinnamon and alspice, a half ounce of cloves and the same of mace; boil the whole slowly but steadily for half an hour; or until the tomatoes are semi-transparent; put in jars as soon as perfectly cold; the pickle can be eaten immediately, but improves with age.

Chickens' Livers.—One and one-half dozen of chicken livers, one-quarter pound of fat bacon, one saltspoonful of pepper, the same of salt. Place the livers in a saucepan, cover them with cold water, throw in the salt, and, bringing the water quickly to the boiling point, let the livers boil five minutes. When done, remove the livers from the water, slice them lengthwise carefully in order not to break them, and, cutting the bacon in very thin slices, and of a size corresponding to the slices of liver, thread alternate sizes of liver and bacon upon a spit and broil all over a bright fire five minutes, turning them constantly in order that they may brown easily. When broiled, sprinkle over all the pepper, and send them to table on spit.

Rissoles of chicken.—Mix three ounces of butter with a small quantity of flower, then put in a saucepan, and keep stirring it over the fire; add gradually half a tumbler of milk, and when of the consistancy of thickish custard, take the saucepan off the fire; cut out all the meat from a cold roast fowl, and mince it finely without skin or bone; take two hard boiled eggs, chop them small, mix them with the fowl, and put all together into the made sauce; leave the whole on a floured marble to get cold, then form into the shape of cutlets; egg and bread crum them, and fry in dripping a light golden color; take some small chicken bones to form a shank, run one through each cutlet, and put a frill of paper at the end. Serve with cream sauce round the cutlets.

Murder.—Some one has observed that a man seldom commits his first murder after the age of twenty eight years, but that if he begins to murder at that age, he is liable to go on doing so indefinitely. This seems to show that the impulsiveness of youth is needed to precipitate criminals into making a first murderous essay, but that, having made it, they discover it to be not so horrible as they had been taught to suppose. If it were otherwise, surely no man would be so unlikely to kill another as he who had already done so at some past time. His experience of its effects would be a deterrent stronger than the ignorance of one that had never tried it. Granting then, that even the murderer who begins to murder with a motive learns to like his trade what is there to prevent his ultimate cultivating it on his own merits? A great many murders—far more than is generally supposed—are commited every year, the authors of which are never discovered, this fact, if taken inconnection with the facilities toward discovery which motives supply, is all but inexpliable; but as soon as we entertain the possibility of their having been committed without a motive, it becomes comprehensible enough.

WHAT PHYSICIANS THINK.

New York, Dec. 21, 1871.

Dr. M. M. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir,—I have no hesitation in saying that the efficacy of your Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic in relieving and curing the various chronic diseases you mention in connection with it, far surpasses anything I have ever met with or known, during a twenty years' extensive practice of medicine. It is successfully administered in so large a number of diseases because it operates by way of removing the cause of disease, hence they yield to necessity.

Yours truly, A. F. Jennings, M. D.

Dr. Fenner's Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic may well be called "The conquering hero" of the times. Whoever has "the blues" should take it, for it regulates and restores the disordered system that gives rise to them. It always cures Biliousness and Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Headaches, Fever and Ague, Spleen Enlargements, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Pimples, Blotches, and all skin eruptions and Blood Disorders, Swelled Limbs and Dropsy, Sleeplessness, Impaired Nerves and Nervous Debility; restores flesh and strength when the system is running down or going into decline; cures Female Weakness and Chronic Rheumatism, and relieves Chronic Bronchitis, and all lung and throat difficulties. It does these things by striking at the root of disease and removing its causes.

Dr. Fenner's Improved Cough Honey will relieve any cough in one hour. Try sample bottle at ten cents.

Dr. Fenner's Golden Relief cures any pain, as Toothache, Neuralgia, Colic or Headache, in 2 to 30 minutes, and readily relieves Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, Diarrhœa, etc. Try a sample bottle at 10 cents.

Dr. Fenner's Vegetable Blood and Liver Pills. The best family physic known. For sale by Swift. At wholesale by Strong, Cobb & Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

"Is this my train?" asked a traveler at the Kansas Pacific depot of a lounger. "I don't know, but I guess not," was the reply; "I see its got the name of the railroad company on the side, and I expect it belongs to them. Have you lost a train anywhere?"

Robert Lubbock, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, writes: "I have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil both for myself and family for Diphtheria, with the very best results. I regard it as one of the best remedies for this disease, and would use no other."

TRY KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

is a sure cure for spavin, splint, curb, callous, sprains, swellings, galls, lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs. It will completely remove a bone spavin without blistering or causing a sore. It is also as good for man as for beast and is used full strength, at all times of the year, with perfect safety. A case which we are knowing to is a person who suffered 13 years with hip-joint lameness and was permanently cured two years ago with Kendall's Spavin Cure. Remember we claim it will cure a bone spavin and completely remove the bunch without blistering.

Statement Made Under Oath.

To whom it may Concern:—In the year 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure a bone spavin of several months growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he never has been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated him with KENDALLS' SPAVIN CURE.
