To Put On Flesh And Increase Weight

Simple Directions Easy to Follow

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with ten or fifteen pounds of healthy "stay there" fat, might with profit follow the example of R. H. Downs, and try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a few weeks and note results. Here is a test that many say they have found well worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say or think. The scales and tape measure will tell their own story. This simple test has been made by thousands, and that increased flesh and weight does develop while Sargol is being used is evidenced by letters such as the following from Mr. Downs himself, who writes: "When I began to take Sargol I could not eat much and was thin as a rail, weighing 149 pounds, being six feet tall. But now everyone is asking me what I did to regain my health. My nerves are stronger and I weigh 168 pounds. Am feeling fine."

The case cited above is but one of many indicating that increased flesh and weight have developed while Sargol was being used. Sargol is harmless, and is sold by practically every reliable druggist in New York on the agreement as found in each large package, that sixty days' use must increase weight to a satisfactory degree or money paid will be refunded.—Advt.

WORLD WANTS WORK WONDERS

Mme. Zeisler Gives Expert Piano Recital

By Sylvester Rawling.

THERE are brave souls among musical artists for whom the opening of the opera has no terrors and who make and keep engagements for public appearances despite it. Yet it does seem a pity that Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler, the renowned Chicago pianist, should have chosen yesterday afternoon to give a recital at Carnegie Hall. While lovers of opera are only a part of the host of music devotees that New York holds, the first night at the opera does exhaust a lot of immediate desire for other forms of musical delectation, and it is not surprising that Mme. Zeisler's audience was pitifully small. Her expert playing and her ability to penetrate into what seems to be the soul of a composer's work are unimpaired. Her entertainment was a treat. She began with a liquid exposition of Scarlotti, which she followed with a masterful pronouncement of Bach's chromatic fantasy and fugue. After that came the Chopin Sonata, opus 58, and a number of smaller compositions, which she rounded off with a whirlwind display of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 15, the Rakoczy March.

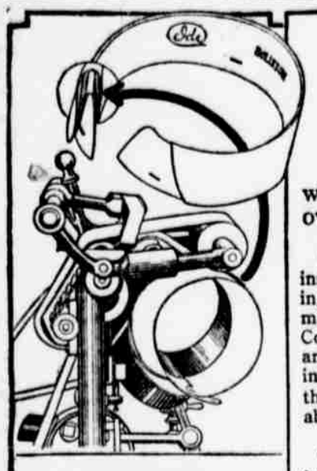
While Mme. Zeisler was playing at Carnegie Hall to a few, Miss Elizabeth Gutman, who has yet to win her way, was singing at Aeolian Hall to a large audience. As I have remarked before, this matter of attendance at recitals must remain a mystery to the uninitiated. Miss Gutman comes from Baltimore, and her programme was novel, which means much in these days of stereotyped lieder singing. One might say that Miss Gutman has a mission, which is to make us acquainted with Russian and Yiddish folk-songs, that made the bulk of her offerings. With much archness and no little art, Miss Gutman opened to us a new book of song literature. It's a pity that her voice is not equal to her intention; but, nevertheless, thanks to her, Miss Henrietta Strauss proved a capable accompanist at the piano.

Ferencz Hegedus, a European violinist, accompanied at the piano by Francis Moore, was introduced to us last night in a recital at Aeolian Hall. He showed originality by transposing his programme, beginning with a Cesar Franck sonata instead of the Beethoven sonata that was announced. Was it a joke, Mr. Hegedus? London critics have appraised Mr. Hegedus's skill highly. But there's a great barren gap between the time of Purcell, when England held highest rank in the musical world, and the Sir Edward Elgar of our own time, and English criticism meanwhile has fallen into "innocuous desuetude." Nevertheless, Mr. Hegedus is to be praised for the really fine tone that he evokes. Beyond that, his phrasing is disconcerting, and attention might be called to other faults; but nervousness, perhaps, might be urged in excuse. Probably there will be further and more favorable opportunity to assay his qualities.

Caroline Hudson-Alexander braved the before the opening night of the opera by giving a song recital at Aeolian Hall on Monday afternoon that held much of quality in programme and a great deal of skill in the exposition of it. Especially to be commended was her final group of songs in English, rich in disclosures of modern American and English fecundity in composition. The clarity of Mrs. Hudson-Alexander's diction made unnecessary any reference to the book of words, and her courage in reviving "Twickenham Ferry," splendidly sung, deserves a "Bravo!"

Davis-Cruikshank Wedding.

William Benson Davis, a banker connected with the firm of Kountze Brothers, obtained a license yesterday to marry Miss Helen Cruikshank of No. 265 West Eighty-first Street, a daughter of Edward A. Cruikshank. The ceremony is set for Saturday. Mr. Davis gave his age as forty years and Miss Cruikshank said she is twenty-six.



Do Your Collars Crack or Fray?

At the folds there was once a collar weakness which Ide Collars have overcome.

By cutting away two of the inside plies at the point of folding, these points have been made much more pliable in Ide Collars. This permits turning and re-turning again and again in laundering without cracking—thus greatly increasing the wearability of these collars.

That's one reason Ide Collars launder so much better—stand so many washings without fraying—an economical reason which should lead you to wear them.

I Buy Out My Strongest Competitor

Some year or so ago a coterie of tailors formed a tailoring organization, styling themselves James MacGregor, Inc., incorporated under Massachusetts State laws. They went out in the market and bought goods, hired cutters, tailors, etc., including some of my own former employees, and located in Cleveland, Indianapolis, Gloversville, N. Y.; Providence, R. I.; Hartford, Conn., and Boston, Mass.

They closed up about a month ago. I buy their entire stock from the receiver at about 20% of what they paid for it. All their uncalled for suits, overcoats, odd trousers, coats and vests, and such garments as were in process of construction at the time of their assignment come to Mitchell The Tailor.

An analysis of the reason they discontinued leads me to believe that they paid too much for their cloths. They bought well, but unwisely, paying the long price for expensive merchandise to sell in suits around $25 and $30, which, doing business their way, showed little profit. Their specialty was worsteds and high priced silk mixtures, fine Kersey Coatings, expensive Plaid Backs and a general line of fabrics that would be cheap at $25 to $30.

This is the class of merchandise I take possession of. Some of it is hardly three months from the boat. I was already loaded with goods. The only thing that caused me to purchase now was the fact that it was an unheard of price for merchandise that I paid about 20%, and the cloths were mostly dark, serviceable patterns. Hundreds of yards of overcoatings which James MacGregor, Inc., bought to sell from $15.50 to $35; my price, Overcoat to Order

$9.75 SUIT OR OVERCOAT TO ORDER

Uncalled for Overcoats ordered by customers in different cities throughout the country at no price less than $15.50, from that up to $30, all ready to wear out, $7.75

Hundreds of yards of suitings in Tweeds, Cheviots, rough finished effects, bought to sell from $15 to $35; my price, made up any style to your measure.....

Uncalled for Suits sold by James MacGregor, Inc., at various prices, $15.50 to $30, all ready to wear, $7.75

Blue Serges, Black Unfinished Worsteds, mostly staple cloths, these were the cream of their stock. I don't believe James McGregor, Inc., intended to sell a suit under $25 of these fabrics; my price, suit to order while they last...

Uncalled for Coats and Vests, $4.00

Uncalled for Trousers, $2.00

I want my old trade to get in on this purchase; order two or three suits or an overcoat, and if you don't want them for a month, let me put the cloth aside for you.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

CITY OF NEW YORK.
BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT.

Public notice is hereby given pursuant to law that at a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, held Oct. 8, 1915, the following petition was received:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

GENTLEMEN:

The Great Eastern Telephone Company hereby makes application to your honorable board for a franchise or privilege to do a telephone business in the City of New York, and respectfully shows as follows:

That the Company was incorporated under the Telephone and Telegraph Section of the Transportation Corporations Law of the State of New York on October 8, 1905, for the purpose of doing a telephone business, with an authorized capital stock of one million dollars.

That at a special meeting of the stockholders called for that purpose on April 5, 1909, the stockholders authorized an increase of the capital stock to fifty million dollars; and that on July 6, 1910, the owners of more than two-thirds of the capital stock of the company, then outstanding, consented in writing to the execution of a trust deed to secure an issue of fifty million dollars of 5 per cent. 20-year Convertible Gold Bonds.

That the stockholders of this Company, relying upon the validity of a franchise granted to the New York Electric Lines Company in 1885, as determined in the Court of Appeals (185 New York, 521), entered into contractual relations with said company, and has spent more than half a million dollars in an earnest effort to establish a modern system of telephony in this city at reasonable rates; but that said franchise has now been declared void by the United States Supreme Court, and we respectfully urge that good faith with our stockholders, and with more than one hundred thousand subscribers who have contracted for our service, prompts us to petition this honorable board for a new franchise under which we may accord the relief heretofore attempted.

That this company, in order to test the public demand for telephone competition, and establish a basis for its business activities, instituted a partial canvass for subscribers some time since, which resulted in 107,000 contracts for its service, secured in four and one-half months, demonstrating the fact that at least a million subscribers could be secured within the City of New York at reasonable rates.

That the company owns certain valuable telephone inventions and has contracted for the use of others, which will enable it to install a strictly modern telephone system, with the highest efficiency in articulation, absolutely private, and several times as rapid as the present manual system, which it is able to maintain and operate at rates greatly below prevailing prices.

That, mindful of the policy of the City Government to secure to all transportation at a minimum cost, as evidenced by the favorable conditions under which our rapid transit system is now in process of construction, this company volunteers to meet all conditions now imposed upon other telegraph and telephone companies, and limit the charges it may demand for its business service to four cents (4c) for each message, according to the number of messages contracted for, subject to a discount of not less than 10 per cent. for prompt payment, with no extra charge for interborough messages.

That it will establish an unlimited residential rate of four dollars per month for a private line, three dollars per month for a 2-party line, two dollars per month for a 4-party line, with no extra charge for interborough messages; and a rate of one dollar per month for an unlimited residential service within zones, where several subscribers are served by a single circuit.

That it will establish a pay station rate of five cents a message, irrespective of borough boundary lines, applicable to all parts of the city.

That in addition to the commercial, residential and pay station rates above recited, the company will handle the official business of the City of New York, as fast as its lines may be extended, at a flat rate of one cent per message, irrespective of borough boundary lines or distances within the city.

That these rates are offered with the understanding that the company shall pay for its subway facilities, where they now exist or where they may hereafter be provided, the legal annual rental paid by other telephone and telegraph companies of $600 to $1,000 per mile of duct space, in addition to the legally assessed taxes upon its property and franchise; but that otherwise no greater burdens may be imposed upon it than are now imposed upon other telegraph and telephone companies operating within the city.

That the rates proposed are substantially 40 per cent. below present prices, affording a saving to the public of more than $8,000,000 a year in exchange service and interburgh charges, based upon the present use of the telephone, and that the cheaper rates proposed will undoubtedly increase the use of the telephone, with a corresponding saving to the public.

That the rate of one cent per message to the city for official business is substantially 72 per cent. below what the city has been paying, interborough charges considered, or a saving to the city of about $200,000 a year after discounts have been deducted, to which should be added between $600,000 and $750,000 for subway rental in Manhattan and the Bronx, when the system shall have been completed, affording a direct and indirect revenue to the city of more than $800,000 a year, besides the taxes levied upon its property and franchises.

That the same interests that control the policy of the Great Eastern Telephone Company have spent more than five hundred thousand dollars in the construction of telephone properties adjacent to New York City, with plants in operation as near as Peekskill on the north, and Perth Amboy on the south, with right-of-way to the Yonkers City line on the north and from Philadelphia to the foot of Morgan Street on the North River in Jersey City.

That this entire expenditure in excess of $1,000,000 in suburban construction, engineering plans, securing city subscribers and the effort to establish reasonable rates in this city, is a fair indication of our consistent effort to a most desirable solution of the telephone question.

That contracts have been executed with this company inserting long-distance connections with at least two million independent telephones within talking distance of New York, at present excluded from our markets for lack of a local independent system with which to connect, placing the metropolis at a commercial disadvantage when compared with Philadelphia, Buffalo, St. Louis and over three thousand other municipalities where competition has been established.

That there is a demand for another telephone system in this city is shown by the fact that there are now but 265,000 telephones in a population of 5,583,811; that with a claim of 568,000 telephones in operation, the last directory contained but 214,761 business and 127,234 residential listings, showing 126,000 more listings than contracts, and that 565,000 of the telephones claimed are extensions, hotel or apartment house instruments. That in Manhattan and the Bronx there is but one business listing to 20 people (5 per cent.) and one residential listing to 52 people, or about 2 per cent. In Brooklyn and Queens there is one business listing to 47 people (about 2 per cent.) and one residential listing to 37 people (practically 3 per cent.). Richmond has one business telephone to fifty-one people (2 per cent.) and one residential telephone to twenty-one of its population, or about 5 per cent.

That under the terms of the proposed franchise every objection to a duplicate telephone system is obviated. The cheaper rates place the telephone within the reach of substantially 1,000,000 families and 50,000 small business concerns now deprived of its benefits because of excessive rates, while adding no burdens to those employing the present system. As all service is "mass service," every message directed to the new system carries a proportionate reduction in cost, so that those whose business may be benefited by a wider range of communication will find that BOTH SYSTEMS ARE CHEAPER THAN ONE at the present time, and that the subscriber who can direct one-half of his business to the new system will pay practically 20 per cent. less for both systems than he now pays for one.

That the company will promptly accept the franchise, make its engineering plans conform to present conditions, and apply for space in the conduits within ninety days; begin the construction of its system within six months from the allotment of space in the conduits, and complete at least one-quarter of its system in not less than twenty-six months, with one year due allowance for official delays and delays caused by litigation or strikes.

Your petitioner therefore requests that a day be set for a public hearing upon the application as required by law.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
