FRESH EGGS IN WATER GTASS WILL CUT DOWN EXPENSES NEXT WINTER

When Eggs are Cheap and Plentiful Put Some in Preservative, Where They Will Keep Excellently for a Year; Hints that Save Money for Poultryman; Cost of Process Is but Two Cents a Dozen.

HERE ARE ALL THE ESSENTIALS FOR PRESERVING EGGS.

THE process of preserving eggs in sodium silicate—water glass—is known to many people, but there are still some who are a bit hazy regarding the details.

An Ohio home demonstration agent was in her office last summer busily working when the telephone rang. An anxious feminine voice was on the other end of the line.

"Are you the home demonstration agent? Well, I heard you were telling people how to put up eggs so they keep well. I heard it was in water glasses. I wanted to ask about it. I haven't enough water glasses to put up many and I can't afford to buy them for that purpose, but I have a lot of jelly glasses that I thought I could use. You see we didn't have much fruit to make jelly of this year. Do you suppose I have to have canned Water Glass Method Recommended.

During spring and early summer, when eggs are abundant and reasonable in price, attention should be given to preserving them for winter use. Fresh eggs properly preserved may be kept for 8 to 12 months in excellent condition and used with good results.

Eggs laid in April, May, or early June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season.

If satisfactory results are to be obtained the eggs should be fresh and clean and, if possible, infertile. Eggs that float when placed in the solution are not fresh and therefore can not be preserved. Dirty eggs or eggs slightly soiled and then dampened with vinegar can be used to remove stains. Under no circumstances should badly soiled eggs be used for preserving; it got into the jar while dirty they will spoil, and washing removes a protective coating which prevents spoiling.

Cost is 2 Cents a Dozen.

A good method for the preservation of eggs is the use of sodium silicate—water glass. If the price of sodium silicate is about 25 cents a quart eggs may be preserved at a cost of approximately 2 cents a dozen. It is not desirable to use the water-glass solution a second time.

Use 1 quart of sodium silicate to 9 quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. Place the mixture in a 2 gallon crock or jar. This will be sufficient to preserve 12 dozen eggs and will serve as a guide for the quantity needed to preserve larger numbers of eggs.

The crock should be cleaned thoroughly, and then scalded and allowed to dry.

Heat a quantity of water in the boiling point and allow it to cool.

When cool measure out 9 quarts of water, place it in the crock and add 1 quart of sodium silicate, stirring the mixture thoroughly.

The eggs should be placed in the solution. If sufficient eggs are not obtainable when the solution is first made, additional eggs may be added from time to time. Be careful to allow at least 2 inches of the solution to cover the eggs at all times.

Place the crock containing the preserved eggs in a cool, dry place, well covered to prevent evaporation. Waxed paper tied around the top of the crock will answer this purpose.

FUMIGATING WILL RID POULTRY HOUSE OF VERMIN

The following method of ridding hen houses of mites and lice when the weather conditions are such as to permit of the birds being kept outside the house for five or six hours, is recommended by poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture:

Close all the doors and windows and see that there are no cracks or any other openings to admit air. Set an iron vessel on gravel or sand near the center of the house. Place in the vessel a handful of shavings or straw saturated with kerosene and on these sprinkle sulphur at the rate of about 1 pound to every 50 or 100 square feet of floor space. Instead of using the shavings and kerosene, the sulphur may be saturated with wood alcohol.

When everything else is in readiness, light the material and hastily leave the house. In case any difficulty is felt about fire, a glance through a window will show whether everything is all right. There is very little danger of fire when proper precautions have been taken to have plenty of sand beneath the vessel. After three or four hours, throw all the doors and the windows wide open to drive out the sulphur fumes thoroughly. Then let them in one by one. As each opens, catch it and dust it well with insect powder, which will destroy the lice on the birds. Tobacco dust is also good to use instead of insect powder.

The birds and house have now been freed from vermin for the present, but the eggs of the insects have not been destroyed, and in a week another swarm will be hatched out. Therefore it will be necessary to repeat the operations once or twice before the pests are exterminated. After this there should be need to see that no strange fowl is admitted to the house or yard without having a thoroughly rid of lice, for one lousy hen will contaminate all the rest.

SCRAPS AND WASTE.

It is well to divide the scraps and waste from the kitchen and place in a separate receptacle the portion adaptable for feeding to the flock. Decomposed waste material or moldy bread or cake should never be fed to hens, as it is harmful and may cause severe bowel trouble. It is useless to put in such things as banana peels or skins of oranges, as these have little or no food value.

BREEDING STOCK SHOULD BE HEALTHY AND VIGOROUS

For success in raising chickens it is necessary to have healthy and vigorous breeding stock, for the lack of vigor in the newly hatched chicks is often traceable to weak parents. Only the most vigorous and the best grown birds should be put in the breeding yards. Each bird should be full of life and energy and free from any serious deformity.

Yearling hens are usually better than pullets for breeders, because hens are more mature and do not lay so many eggs during the early winter, and consequently do not reduce their vitality so much before the breeding season. Vigorous hens 2 to 4 years old can often be advantageously retained in the breeding yard.

The male bird chosen should be young and active. An early hatched well developed cockerel is usually satisfactory, poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture affirm, or a good vigorous yearling or two year old cock may be chosen. The hens used for breeding purposes should be given the best care possible; they should be provided with large runs and should not be forced for heavy egg production during the early winter.

TIME DIFFERENT EGGS TAKE FOR INCUBATION

The period of incubation varies with species of poultry. Hens eggs require 21 days; pheasant, 22 to 24 days; duck, 28; Muscovy duck, 33 to 35; turkey, 28; peafowl, 27; guinea, 26 to 28; ostrich, 42; goose, 30 to 34.

Conditions also affect incubation so that in some cases a hatch may run one or two days over, due to an accident during incubation or to a low temperature throughout that period, while, on the other hand, the period may end earlier. If through any accident the eggs are chilled or overheated, it is advisable to continue the hatch, testing the eggs after a few days to determine the extent of the damage, say department of agriculture poultry specialists. Chickens have been hatched from eggs left out of the incubator all night, as well as from eggs which have been subjected to a temperature of over 110 degrees F. for a short time.

KILLING MITES.

Start the season right by getting rid of the mites. Carbolineum or crude oil brushed into the cracks at the chicken house, roosts etc., will do the job.

Husband and Wife Drawn for Jury — He Is Excused

Detroit, Mich., April 17.—When Peter Long and Mrs. Peter Long were drawn for a jury in Grand Rapids, judge Perkins ruled that if both served the jury, apparently composed of twelve jurors would really include only eleven persons, and he, therefore, excused Mr. Long, leaving as many persons as before. Husband and wife are one, and this seems to answer the question, "Which one is the husband?"
