WINDS PUT TO WORK

FARMERS OF THE PRAIRIES FIND A WAY TO GET CHEAP LABOR.

Successful Methods of Individual Irrigation Where Great Schemes Fail to Materialize—Jumbo Windmills and How They Go.

[Special Correspondence.]

ABILENE, Kan., Jan. 23.—With the general failure of the large irrigation experiments and speculations on the plains there has come about an interest in a novel and practical method of individual irrigation that is transforming many a claim and farm into a productive property. All over the valleys of the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas are scattered windmills that are utilizing the force of the sweeping gales of the prairie in a marvelous manner. It is notable that the mills are for the most part homemade and are built by the thrifty and progressive farmers, ranchmen and market gardeners. Their average cost is but $4 or $5, but they pump day and night, raising water enough for the pressing needs of the farm, and have been so successful that thousands of new mills are now being put in operation for the coming season. They are found in the valleys because the water is there nearer to the surface and in most cases face the south. Mills costing besides the labor of the farmer not more than $1.75 are doing the work of a horse in pumping water for the garden or cattle the year round.

Odd names are given to the homemade mills, the favorite form being the Jumbo. It is an overshot wheel with the top half sticking out of the upper portion of a shed or tower, the lower part being shielded from the wind by the sides. It is a rough piece of work in most of its forms, yet there is one that cost only $3.70 which lifted 300 barrels in 40 minutes to a height of 40 feet.

The merry go round mill is one of the novel forms. It is 14 feet in diameter and stands horizontally. It has sweeps at the outer rim and swings with a high velocity when the hot winds blow. The battleax mill is another easily built form, standing on a tower, with blades three feet square and doing a great deal of work. This is the prevailing form in most parts of Nebraska. The old fashioned Dutch mill, with huge fans that sweep the ground, is seen here and there mostly in communities where the foreign element is large in the population. The turbine wheel is what its name implies and requires some ingenuity to construct its various forms. It is not uncommon to see an old wagon wheel transformed into this sort of a mill, and it does good work.

Besides all of these simple mills, some of the wealthier farmers have iron ones, with 12 foot fans, that grind and pump like machines and are the hardest working parts of the farm equipment.

The one great drawback to farming in the western part of the plains region has been the lack of water. It is, in fact, a semiarid region, and thousands have moved out because they could not raise enough to feed their families. With the windmill as a help they are able to insure themselves of a good garden, their stock of sufficient "roughness," which is millet, Kaffir corn and other haylike feeds, keeping them through the winter. Then when a crop of grain comes—and it is sure to come if the farmer can only wait—they are ready to take advantage of it. It is making the stock business prosperous in western Kansas and Nebraska and is giving the settlers in the newer parts of Oklahoma a better chance to succeed. The winds are being put to work all over the prairies and will give back in their labor some of the moisture that they have taken from the soil by their fierce breath, which is the terror of the farmer. Even if the "hot wind" does take the corn the farmer with a few windmills working knows that he will have wheat and fodder, and he will stay instead of moving back east. C. M. HARGER.

A Russian Story.

In the life of Archbishop Benson the author, speaking of a conceited and arrogant young Russian clergyman, said:

"The fact is these young gentlemen think that the office magnifies the man. Now, Count S. told me that he saw in a police court in Russia a priest brought in in undress of purple, and the court, magistrates and all knelt, and a police sergeant kissed his hand. Then, rising, the magistrate said: 'You nasty, drunken beast—so you were drunk again yesterday! I'll make you remember it this time.' The priest was led out to an adjoining yard, his clothes were torn off and 50 lashes given him. When he was brought back, half fainting, all knelt and received his blessing."

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whenever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold we begin to use the Cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill, for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. Mearkle, General Merchant and Farmer, Mattie, Bedford county, Pa. For sale by all druggists.

Contest Notice.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Walla Walla, Wash., January 25th, 1900.—A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Thomas S. Brannon, of Wilcox, Wash., contestant, against homestead entry No. 5355, made September 27th, 1890, for E½ NE¼ and E½ SE¼, Section 27, Township 14 N, Range 43 E, by Harry C. Hawley, contestee, in which it is alleged that: Harry C. Hawley, the contestee therein named, has wholly abandoned said tract embraced in his said homestead entry No. 5355, for the past four years, and that said abandonment is not due to employment of said contestee by the government of the United States in the army, navy, or marine corps, as a private soldier, officer, seaman, or marine during the war with Spain or during any other war, said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation at 10 o'clock a. m., on March 20th, 1900, before Wm. A. Inman, U. S. Commissioner, at his office in Colfax, Wash., and that said hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m. on March 27th, 1900, before the Register and Receiver at the United States Land Office in Walla Walla, Wash.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed January 25th, 1900, set forth facts which show that after due diligence, personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

In Bankruptcy.

No. 367.

In the district court of the United States, for the district of Washington, southern division.

In the matter of George W. Hill and Era Belle Hill, his wife, bankrupts.

To the Honorable Cornelius H. Hanford judge of the district court of the United States, for the district of Washington, southern division:

George W. Hill and Era Belle Hill, his wife, having their principal place of business, and residing near Pullman, in the county of Whitman and state of Washington, in said district, respectfully represent that on the 18th day of November, 1899, last past, they and each of them were duly adjudged bankrupts under the acts of congress, relating to bankruptcy; that they and each of them have duly surrendered all their property and rights of property, and have fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching their bankruptcy.

Wherefore they and each of them pray that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under such bankrupt act, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 7th day of February, 1900.

GEORGE W. HILL,
ERA BELLE HILL,
Bankrupts.

District of Washington—ss.

On this 15th day of February, A. D. 1900, on reading the foregoing petition, it is:

Ordered by the court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1900, before H. W. Canfield, referee at Colfax, in said district, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon; and that notice therefore be published two weeks in the Colfax Gazette, a weekly newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioners should not be granted.

And it is further
