Mr. Went-And-Cut-It ---Here's Mr. 'Gets-It'

The New Plan Corn Cure That's as Sure as the Rising Sun.

"Glad to meet you!" says the razor to the corn. "I'll bleed for you!" says the corn to the razor. Razors and corns love each other. Corns love to be cut, picked,

"Why, O Why, Did I Do It? 'Gets-It' for Me After This—If I Live!"

gouged, salved, plastered and jerked out—they grow faster. Mr. and Mrs. Went-and-Cut-It realize it now—they use "Gets-It" instead—it's the wonderful, simple corn-cure that never fails. Stops pain. You apply it in 2 seconds, it dries at once, the corn is doomed. Nothing to stick to the stocking or press on the corn. It means good night to plasters, salves, diggers, razors and toe-bundling. You can wear smaller shoes. Your corns will come right off, "clean as a whistle." Never inflames healthy flesh. The world's biggest selling corn cure.

"Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

THE FALL OF A NATION — LIBERTY THEATRE

By Charles Darnton.

In "The Fall of a Nation" another big motion picture production was seen last night at the Liberty Theatre. With it was Victor Herbert's music, always national in spirit and rising to a wild turmoil as the battle scenes were flashed upon the screen.

It was these scenes that gave the production the wide sweep of "The Birth of a Nation," only here fierce fighting in trenches and great guns that suggested the modern, scientific method of warfare made the spectacle powerful and fascinating.

In this instance Thomas Dixon has drawn upon his imagination by showing vividly the menace that an alien foe may mean to New York. This danger spreads to Long Island, where an American army makes its stand. The fighting goes on over wide stretches of territory, with galloping horses, charging columns, smoke-covered fields and desperate encounters. An "imperial army" is brought into the action to sound a note of warning—if you choose to take Mr. Dixon seriously—and the struggle goes on until "The Daughters of Jael" turn from dancing to the saddle and ride like the proverbial wind into the thick of the film. Descriptions of them as "amazons in breeches" and "hell-cats," flashed upon the screen, created considerable amusement.

But if the audience gave way to laughter occasionally, it was at other times stirred to applause by pictures of striking beauty and dramatic power. In contrast to scenes of battle there were glimpses of the sea at sunset that realized a high artistic standard. The fighting was carried on so gallantly that the audience watched it with intense interest. There was also a story of individual struggles and emotions that engaged attention. The appeal to patriotism made itself felt in a demand for preparedness. A prologue brought to view a picture of Lincoln, and the production as a whole was calculated to touch the national heart.

The advisability of showing, in the end, a crown as ruling the world, with America as merely "a lusty youth," is seriously to be questioned. But in its battle scenes "The Fall of a Nation" is both thrilling and impressive.

IN NEED OF AMMUNITION

With Which to Carry on the Fight.

Heroic men are not only found on battlefields. They exist by the thousands in our own cities and towns where the only warfare being waged is the battle for existence.

Physically run down men in need of rest and medical attendance, who, for the sake of dependents bravely face the daily grind of business activity, that, due to increased competition, is ever increasing in speed.

To these men we suggest the taking of Johann Hoff's Malt Extract with meals. This delightfully palatable body nourisher and strengthener, if used regularly, will greatly benefit men who suffer from general bodily weakness, loss of appetite, or chronic indigestion. Equally beneficial to women and children. Sold by all reliable druggists, and cheap imitations should be scrupulously avoided.—Advt.

United States "Balanced" Tires

One of the Five is Yours

No one tire will fit every motoring need of use and price.

That is why the United States Tire Company makes five tires—

'Nobby,' 'Chain,' 'Usco,' 'Royal Cord,' and 'Plain.'

Each will give from a little to a whole lot more mileage than other tires in its class.

Motorists buy, and re-buy, United States 'Balanced' Tires, because of—what?

Service—satisfactory service—mileage—value—least amount of trouble.

That's the reason that United States 'Balanced' Tires show such steady, consistent sales increases.

Ask the nearest United States Tire Dealer for your copy of the booklet, "Judging Tires," which tells how to find the particular tire to suit your needs.
