NOTICE.

THE printing of the Treatise on the Cultivation of the Grape Vine, etc., by J. S. has met with some unavoidable delay, through no fault of the author's; having been occasioned (so the printers inform me) by a large job received previous to mine. The pamphlet will certainly be ready for sale, by the latter part of next week: in time to make wine by the directions it gives. When I advertised the price at which I expected to be able to sell the pamphlet, I was not advised of its exact cost, and have "reckoned without the host," it being one third greater than than the first estimate; and must therefore, to save me from loss, add it to the price. See Advertisement.
