BARGE SUNK, ONE DROWNED.

Small Turtle and Cook Is Reported Lost.

When the tide rose last morning a dredging barge which had been moored to two poles sank to the bottom of the Kill von Kull, off the foot of First Street, Bayonne, turned turtle.

John Marsh, sixty-eight, cook on the barge, was asleep when it turned over and is thought to have been drowned. Three divers are looking for Marsh's body.

People who have itched and scratched for years usually get sleep and comfort soon after Cadum Ointment is applied to skin troubles, such as eczema, pimples, itch, sores, cuts, burns, rash, blotches, scaly skin, chafing, scabs, ringworm, eruptions, etc.

RUNAWAY SPILLS MEN AND VEHICLES IN 12-BLOCK DASH

Driver and Pedestrian Hurt When Horse Is Frightened by Locomotive Whistle.

Harry Knapp, twenty-six, of No. 81 Kent Avenue, a collector for the Parkinson Coal Co., was driving a skittish young horse south on Wythe Avenue, Williamsburg, at 7 A. M. today when a locomotive nearby sounded a shrill whistle. The horse bolted, crashing through the railroad crossing gates at North Fifth Street, narrowly escaping a freight train and throwing Knapp out. He lay unconscious and bleeding as the horse galloped on.

Hundreds of men and girls on their way to work shouted warning, but George Veith, 61, of No. 970 Metropolitan Avenue, was not quick enough, and the horse knocked him down and ran on. Veith's head was cut and he was hurt internally.

At North First Street the horse, swerving wildly, side-swiped a baby carriage in which one-year-old Anna Kalski was taking an outing, and spilled her far away, but without hurting her. Anna's mother, Mrs. Mary Kalski, of No. 52 North First Street, became hysterical.

Crossing Grand Street the horse bumped into a Grand Street and Metropolitan car and upset a few passengers, but did no serious harm. It ran as far as South Sixth Street, making twelve blocks in all, before it was stopped by Policeman Clancy.

Dr. Hender took Knapp and Veith to the Williamsburg Hospital. Veith is expected to recover soon, but it is believed Knapp's skull is fractured, and his condition is grave.

POSTMASTER OUT.

Failed to Co-operate With the Department, Is Explanation.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Post Office Department officials admitted to-day that Dr. George W. McNeil, Postmaster at Pittsburgh, had been dismissed from the service "for failure to co-operate with the department." They said Dr. McNeil refused to carry out instructions given in connection with a reorganization designed to increase the efficiency of the office.

Dr. McNeil, who had been attending the National Association of Postmasters, left early to-day for Pittsburgh after having his name removed from the list of speakers for to-day's session. At the department no statement was forthcoming as to just how the postmaster had failed to co-operate.

BOXERS IN REAL FIGHT.

Hoboken Scrappers Settle Old Feud on Street Corner.

Fight fans in Hoboken were given a treat this morning when Charlie Sieger, known as "The Iron Man," and Frankie Nelson, met and exchanged blows on the corner of Newark and Court Streets.

After an argument some time ago, Sieger posted $100 as a forfeit with the sporting editor of a Hoboken publication for a bout with Nelson. The two met last night, and, after an exchange of words, swapped a few blows. They met again this morning and, according to Sieger, Nelson struck him from behind. Detective Sergt. Fallon arrested both.

Civic Orchestra Draws 1,500 to Third Concert.

By Sylvester Rawling.

Fifteen thousand five hundred people, the management said, heard the Civic Orchestral Society's third concert at the Madison Square Garden last night. The audience, for decorum as well as for musical appreciation, would have graced a Boston Symphony Orchestra concert at Carnegie Hall.

Miss Guiomar Novaes, the accomplished young Brazilian pianist, who disclosed her talents to us in recital last season, was the soloist. She was heard in Grieg's concerto in A minor, to which she sustained her reputation. The orchestral numbers, consisting of Weber's overture to "Oberon," the Weber-Weingartner "Invitation to the Dance," Grieg's "Peer Gynt" suite, No. 1, Liszt's symphonic poem, "Les Preludes," and Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slav" were played by Mr. Rothwell and his orchestra in a manner to command respect. The audience was enthusiastic.

Mr. Rothwell's career will bear watching.

AUTO THAT KILLED MAN TRACED BY LAMP RIM

Chauffeur Arrested After Three Weeks' Search by the Police.

The tracing of a bit of a broken automobile lamp rim and a chunk of rubber tire resulted in the arrest today of Louis Cassella, a chauffeur, of No. 113 East Seventy-fifth Street, charged with manslaughter. Thomas McHugh, a foreman in the Street Cleaning Department, was found lying in Park Avenue, near Sixty-ninth Street, dying late June 24. His runabout, overturned, lay against the curb, fifty feet away. McHugh died without recovering consciousness and the police could find no one who had witnessed the accident or had heard of it.

The broken lamp rim found by the police was characteristic of only one make of car. Three weeks of patient visiting in garages enabled them to find a car in Allenhurst, N. J., which had been owned by Cassella, repaired and sold soon after the killing of McHugh. The repairs covered the breaks into which the bits of evidence fitted and other scarring and twisting of the mudguards.

CASTRO FINALLY LANDS; SILENT ON HIS HOLD-UP

Ex-Dictator of Venezuela and Wife Go From Ellis Island to Hotel.

Gen. Cipriano Castro, former President of Venezuela, was this morning appraised by Assistant Commissioner of Immigration Byran H. Uhl that the executive officials in Washington had granted his appeal from the findings of the special board of inquiry forbidding his landing here.

Gen. Castro landed half an hour later with Senora Castro at the Battery. A waiting automobile took them to the Hotel Savoy.

Except to remark that the decision of the Washington officials was only what he had expected, the ex-Dictator had no comment to make on his reception here.

MOTION PICTURE NOTES

Bee Atwell of the Rialto is going around with numerous court-plaster patches on his face. All he says is that he hopes the other fellow will live.

While Director McMaskin's Beauty Comedy Company was producing "The Sharp Note" a goat ate up the manuscript. They say the goat has done nothing but laugh since.

A cowboy recently submitted a scenario of Western life to the American Film Company and asked $5 for it, saying he guessed that was all it was worth. It brought him $50.

Aaron Hoffman has written for the American Film Company, Inc., comedies entitled "The Three Pals," "The Bluff," "A Peek o' Pickles," "Hustlin' In" and "Beloved Rogues." Kolb and Dill will appear in all of them.

DEPENDABLE PROPRIETARY MEDICINES

It must be admitted by every fair-minded intelligent person that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for thirty years and today hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.—Adv.
