PROPOSALS

For publishing, in the city of Washington, a new daily, semi-weekly, and weekly, Democratic Republican paper to be entitled,

UNITED STATES JOURNAL.

BLAIR & RIVES, & CO.

The first number of our new paper will be issued on the first of May next, with an entire new dress—new type, fine white paper, with other important alterations and improvements. The paper will be devoted to a fearless expression of democratic principles, it will vigilantly and unremittingly oppose each and every effort to establish a monstrous monarchy bank and misbelievous corporations and consolidations of wealth, which subvert the rights of the people and undermine the pillars of the republic; it will oppose an oppressive and anti-republican tariff system, the assumption of the State debts by the general government, and all other federal principles which have an inevitable tendency to destroy public prosperity as well as individual happiness. Against all such political delusions we shall wage unceasing and uncompromising war.

The farmers and the mechanics, the producers of the real capital of the nation, will find in our paper an uncompromising champion of their interests; the long cherished principles of the editors are too well known to the public to require any pledge upon this point. To the miscellaneous department, particular attention will be devoted; the ladies will always find in our columns a choice selection from the current literature of the day, as well as original contributions from the most talented writers of which our country can boast. A general summary of foreign and domestic news will be furnished.

The conductors have already secured the aid and co-operation of a large number of the most distinguished literary and political writers of the day; arrangements will also be made, at the earliest period possible, to embellish our columns by the contributions of correspondents from abroad. With this brief and imperfect outline of our plan, we very respectfully submit our claims to an extensive patronage to the consideration of a generous public.
