Water Colors by W. B. E. Ranken At Knoedler's

The Ranken water colors, now on exhibition in the upper gallery at Knoedler's, No. 556 Fifth Avenue, under the direction of Mrs. Albert Sterner, number twenty-one. They are characterized by rich coloring, admirable distinction, particularly in his interiors, and the few landscapes included are both pleasing and well composed. The exhibition will be continued until Nov. 11.

William B. E. Ranken is a painter of parts. His membership in foreign art societies is impressive, but better than all that is the fact that his eye has been trained to secure results, and under such an influence he introduces into his compositions the most delightful contrasts and an intelligent comprehension of color values. Many of the subjects in the present exhibition are English in locality, but some introduced American themes have engaged the versatile brush of the exhibiting artist.

"The Cabinet Meeting Room, 10 Downing Street, London," is a painting theme that would not ordinarily lend itself to art treatment, but Mr. Ranken has seized upon a color scheme that lifts the picture out of the commonplace into an interior of striking beauty. The green of the council table, with its spots made up of portfolios, and the mahogany of the stationary racks, together with the slate of the columns, doors and room panels, is simply superb.

"The Salon, Blenheim Palace," introduces an antithetical color scheme which is, nevertheless, equally effective. The vista, seen through the arched doorway, surmounted by the heraldic eagles and with candelabra as supporters, and the carved stone tables, all become highly pleasing in ensemble.

"The Adams Dining Room" shows the glory of Adams as a decorative master. The concolor, as Mr. Ranken has handled it, is colorfully sonorous.

"A Dining Room in Fifth Avenue" (Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney's) is vividly concerned with the luxury of a richly conceived banquet room. The tapestry chairs, the polished mahogany, the peachblow rug, and the wonderful mural decorations, with the hanging lamps, and beamed ceilings, are all realistically registered.

"A Drawing Room in Long Island" (Mrs. F. C. Havemeyer's) introduces a magnificent corner of this part of the house. A Windsor chair, a tip-top table, and a wondrous china closet, with priceless pieces, enter into the painting as ornamental details.

MEZZOTINTS OF FRANKLIN BRING BEST PRICES AT SALE

Range From $235 to $450—Total Realized on 240 Halsey Prints Is $12,627.

Mezzotints of Benjamin Franklin brought the best prices last night at the opening sale of the Frederic R. Halsey prints, in the Anderson auction rooms.

George D. Smith paid $450 for an engraving of Franklin by C. W. Peale from his own painting. He got also the Jehner mezzotint for $385. The only other known copy is in the Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris. J. M. Clarkson paid $325 for a three-quarter figure, done in Paris by Lorenz Rugendas, and the Rosenbach Company paid $235 for an aquatint in colors, engraved by F. Janinet.

Mr. Smith paid $375 and $200 for mezzotints of Samuel Adams, $360 for a mezzotint of the "Capture of Andre," published in Philadelphia in 1812; $210 for a stipple engraving by D. Edwin from Savage's painting of "The Landing of Columbus"; $210 for Freislhein's aequatint of Count D'Estaing, and $435 for a mezzotint of Gen. Nathaniel Greene. The sale brought $12,627 for 240 items.

MOTION PICTURE NOTES

Edward J. How has composed a score to go with Mary Pickford's film, "Less Than Dust."

There was a private showing of "The Libertine," with John Mason and Alma Hanlon featured, at the New York Roof this morning.

Alan Hale of the Fox acting forces, used to be a practising osteopath. Now he earns several hundred bones a week in films.

Lasky will release "Oliver Twist," with Marie Doro starred on Dec. 11, through the Paramount. Tully Marshall is Fagin and Hobart Bosworth Bill Sikes.

H. R. Herbert has been engaged by Edwin Thanhouser to play opposite Florence La Badie in Philip Lonergan's newest feature, "Enemies of Society."

In the next Lionel Barrymore film to be made by Metro-Rolfe, Mary Taylor, wife of the playwright, Charles A. Taylor, will have three distinct roles.

Jack Standing, acting for William Fox, is one of nine brothers. Which leads us to foolishly remark: "A small sized Standing army, eh?"

Charlotte Walker, now with Thanhouser, is working in a picture called "Mary Lawson's Secret," written by Lloyd Lonergan. Robert Vaughan, J. H. Gilmour and Harris Gordon are in her support.

Nine productions are now being filmed by the Fox staff of directors. Five are under way in the East and the rest are being done out West.

Speaking of quick work, the Strand announces it showed the second arrival of the Deutschland in the theatre's Topical Review yesterday at noon.

FRENCH CATHOLICS' FAIR.

President of Columbia Will Deliver Opening Address at a Morningside Bazaar.

The Fathers of Mercy in charge of the new French chapel, Eglise de Notre Dame, in the course of construction at the corner of Morningside Drive and One Hundred and Fourteenth Street, announce that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, will deliver the opening address at their bazaar, which begins Saturday evening, Nov. 18, in the basement of the chapel and continues for one week.

The bazaar is to raise funds to assist in the completion of the edifice, which will contain a shrine of the Virgin Mother modelled after the shrine at Lourdes, France.

The women of the congregation and the French people throughout the city are already at work to promote the fair's success.
