SUICIDE IN CENTRAL PARK.

The Rope Broke After Man Who Hanged Himself Was Strangled.

An unidentified man, about sixty-five years old and poorly dressed, was found dead under a tree in Central Park, near Ninetieth Street and Fifth Avenue, early to-day. He had hanged himself, and the rope parted after strangling him.

A letter in the man's pocket was addressed to George Schmidt, in care of Fritz Ferry, No. 503 Third Avenue, Brooklyn. It was from H. P. Smith of Fort Slocum, and informed Schmidt his position, which he had left voluntarily, was now filled by another man.

Civic Orchestra Gives Its Second Concert.

By Sylvester Rawling.

THE Civic Orchestral Society's second concert at the St. Nicholas Rink last night drew a large audience. Pierre Monteux, the conductor, added to his vogue. Rimsky-Korasakoff's "Capriccio Espagnol" was played with fine snap by the orchestra. Wagner, Charpentier and Charbrier numbers found a place on the programme. The soloists were Maggie Teyte, the little English soprano of the Boston Opera Company, who sang an aria from "Madama Butterfly," and Robert Lortat, the French pianist, who was heard in Saint-Saens's C minor concerto. Job Hedges made an effective speech on war needs and the call for service.

GOETHALS BUYS ENGINES.

Orders Twelve of Vertical, Triple Expansion Type for His Fleet.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—In announcing details of contracts let last week for ten more steel ships, four wooden cargo vessels, and twenty-four wooden hulls, Gen. Goethals, manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, to-day let it be known that awards had been made for twelve vertical triple expansion engines. This is the first contract for marine engines made. It went to the Ellicott Martins Corporation of Baltimore.

The first of the steel ships are to be delivered next February and the last in November, 1918. The wooden ships are to be completed by July 16, 1918.

The total number of steel ships ordered is twenty-two; wooden and steel thirty-two and complete wooden ships thirty-four. The total wooden hulls is seventy-two.

High Heels Put Corns on Toes

Who cares? Corns or callus lift off without any pain.

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heeled footwear, they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests, which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of freezone applied directly upon a sore corn or tender callus gives quick relief and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off without pain. Ask the drug store man for a tiny bottle of freezone, which costs but a few cents, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

Freezone dries in a moment and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Women! Keep a bottle of freezone handy on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.—Advt.

TOO CRIPPLED TO SWIM, BOYS SEE CHUM DROWN

One Minus a Leg and the Other With Only One Arm Vainly Do Best to Save Him.

Two lads of ten, one minus a leg and the other minus an arm, saw a companion of their own age drown in Van Cortlandt Park yesterday afternoon because they were unable to swim to him.

The boy who lost his life was Peter Alsacia of No. 645 East Thirteenth Street. His companions were James Mingolia and John Ferrari. Both live on the same street, Mingolia at No. 635 and Ferrari at No. 633. Mingolia lost one of his arms some months ago, and about the same time Ferrari lost a leg.

In the course of their rambles the boys came to a deep pool formed by Tibbett's Brook. The day was hot, the pool looked shallow and the trio decided to go in wading.

Peter, who had waded toward the centre of the pool, slipped into the channel of the brook and went down. The other boys began to shout for help and at the same time threw into the pool all the sticks and boards they could find. But Peter did not come to the surface.

Patrolman Maiden of the Kingsbridge Station got a boat and, after half an hour's search found Peter's body.

TWO DIVERS BREAK NECKS IN TOO SHALLOW WATERS

One Dead After Plunge at Corona Park and Other Dying Following Accident at Coney.

Louis Cardero, twenty-eight years old, of No. 294 Stagg Street, Brooklyn, dived into Flushing Creek at the foot of Saultell Street, Corona Park, yesterday and failed to come up.

Joseph Groben of No. 8 Hamburg Avenue, Brooklyn, went after Cardero and brought him to the surface. An ambulance was called and Cardero was taken to the Flushing Hospital, where he died. He had dived into shallow water and broken his neck.

Jacob Fatman, eighteen, a high school student living at No. 122 St. Mark's Place, Brooklyn, is dying in Coney Island Hospital from a broken neck, as a result of diving from the top of a timber breakwater at the foot of Oceanic Walk, Coney Island, yesterday.

He struck a shallow spot and was unconscious when companions got him to the beach.

FIRE THROUGH DOOR; WOUND TWO PERSONS

Armed Men, Pursuing Wedding Guests, Shoot Man and Woman.

A fight started early to-day among men who had been guests at a wedding in Ellery Street, Brooklyn. When knives and revolvers were drawn, the unarmed wing of the belligerents fled through the tenement at No. 41 Ellery Street and escaped over the roof.

The armed contingent decided the fugitives had taken refuge in the apartment of Frank Hazzo on the top floor. Hazzo had a guests Salvator Condino, his wife Josephine, and brother, Carmello Condino, who live on the ground floor.

Twenty shots were fired through the door. Carmelo Condino was shot in the back and is in a serious condition in St. John's Hospital. Mrs. Josephine Condino was shot in the thigh and is also in the hospital. Salvator's forehead was grazed by a bullet.
