SISTER ACTS AS DETECTIVE

GATHERED EVIDENCE WHICH INDUCED NAVY TO ACT.

Chauffeur Who Drove Party on Fatal Night to Testify This Time—Theory of a Duel Grows.

Annapolis, Maryland. — Because the navy department believes the testimony gathered by a woman, unaided, with every circumstance against her, throws more light on the case than did the secret hearing before the board of inquest, a court of inquiry began sittings at the United States naval academy to determine the exact manner in which Lieut. James N. Sutton of the marine corps met his death on the grounds of that institution on the night of October 19, 1907.

The story of Mrs. Rose Sutton Parker, a sister of the dead officer, who was called a suicide by the naval board, is the most important part of the case.

Then she and her mother entered the courtroom Mrs. Parker carried with her a bundle of papers comprising all she knows about the circumstances of her brother's death, and from this report questions will be put that may clear up the mystery. Both women declared hopefully that the stigma of suicide would be removed from the dead officer's name.

More to Be Learned of Shooting.

The court is not bound by the rules of evidence that ordinarily obtain in civil tribunals.

The government has expressed its desire to get every fact that might help to determine the manner of young Sutton's death and the responsibility therefor. Sutton's friends also have stated that every bit of evidence that can have a possible bearing on the case be brought out.

There are many points in the evidence given by participants in the case that preceded the shooting of Lieut. Sutton and were accepted by the board of inquest about which the young man's mother and sister say more is to be learned.

Why did Sutton and his brother officers quarrel that night? The story told by the officers is that a row started in a discussion of where the automobile, which had been taken from the Carvel hall, had been stopped.

The Suttons declare this was too trivial a thing to start a quarrel, and Mrs. Sutton points to some letters which were written to her brother, in which a duel is mentioned. Then, too, W. L. Owens, the chauffeur, who drove the party to the barracks, and who overheard the quarrel in the machine but who was not called at the former hearing, will testify.

After the quarrel, the officers allege, Sutton ran into his tent, secured two revolvers and started the row again. The Suttons say there was not time enough for this to happen between the time the men left the automobile and the time Sutton's dead body was found by Col. Charles C. Doyen. The officers also say that, during the fight, some one took from Sutton one of his revolvers and gave it to Serrt. De Hart. De Hart does not remember who gave it to him.

The officers say further that after this Sutton was thrown to his face, and, while he was held there, some one remarked he had killed Lieut. Roelker, and then he pulled his arm from under his prostrate body and fired a shot into his own brain.

1,000 Saloons in Texas Quit.

Austin, Texas. — At midnight more than a thousand saloons in Texas ceased operations because of the coming into effect of the law enacted at the recent session of the legislature invalidating all liquor licenses issued after February 20, 1909, limiting the number of saloons in each county to one for every 500 population and barring new licenses in conjunction with the hotels.

Lost: $10,000 Package.

Chicago, Illinois. — The police are searching for a package containing $10,000, which disappeared while being shipped from the National Bank of the Republic, New York, to the Second National Bank of Monmouth, Ill. Launch Capsizes, Seven Drown.

Cincinnati, Ohio. — Seven well known citizens of this city and Newport, Ky., were drowned by the capsizing of the gasoline launch, Silver Star, at Brown's landing, on the Ohio river, near the mouth of the Little Miami. Two of the party were saved. They were returning from a pleasure trip. Those known to be saved are: Jos. Carr, Otto Huffman, J. Hanson, William Fleming and A. Lattles of Cincinnati and William Mickels of Newport and one unknown.

Erie Wreck Is Fatal.

Harriman's Northwest Trackage Plan

Chicago, Illinois. — Traffic Director Stubbs says the Harriman trains are likely to run from Portland to Tacoma and Seattle within two months over the Northern Pacific and the St. Paul extension.

WHY PEOPLE SUFFER.

Too often the kidneys are the cause and the sufferer is not aware of it. Sick kidneys bring backache and side pains, lameness and stiffness, dizziness, headaches, tired feeling, urinary troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause. Mrs. N. E. Graves, Villisca, Iowa, says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for years. The secretions were disordered, there were pains in my back and swellings of the ankles. Often I had smothering spells. I had to be helped about. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me five years ago and I have been well since. They saved my life."

Remember the name—Doan's. For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THAT FROZE HIM.

"I suppose," he said, ingratiatingly, "you often get spoken to by men?"

"Yes," she replied, "and by monkeys. But tonight there don't seem to be any men about!"

Exchanging Solemn Thoughts.

"Ah, says the man with the parted whiskers, "when one stands alone in the night and contemplates the wonders of creation, how futile, how puny seem seems! How vain, how puerile his hopes and longings, when he is confronted by the eternal silence of the universe! Has this ever occurred to you?"

"You bet!" answers the man with the big scarf pin. "He feels just as lonesome as he does when he misses the last car and has to stand on the corner an hour for another one."—Chicago Post.

A Gentle Aspersion.

Among the prisoners brought before a Chicago police magistrate one Monday morning was one a beggar, whose face was by no means an unfamiliar one to the judge.

"I am informed that you have again been found begging in the public streets," said his honor, sternly, "and that you carried in your pocket over $10 in currency."

"Yes, your honor," proudly returned the mendicant. "I may not be as industrious as some, but sir, I am no spendthrift."—Harper's Weekly.

One Cause of Neck Boils.

Neck boils come with the sweaty season. Many people have large hair pores on the back of the neck. The sweaty, starched collar rim is good culture soil for boil and carbuncle germs, which get rubbed into the large hair follicles or sacks, producing a painful, sometimes dangerous spreading crop.

Flowers.

Flowers have an expression of countenance as much as men or animals; some seem to smile; some have a sad expression; some are pensive and diffident; others, again, are plain, honest and upright like the broad-faced but thesunflower and the soldierlike tulip.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Consistently Opposed.

"That actor is a queer fellow, as contradictory as he can be, even in his roles."

"What do you mean?"

"At present he is playing a crooked character in a straight drama."

HOME TESTING
A Sure and Easy Test on Coffee.

To decide the all important question of coffee, whether or not it is really the hidden cause of physical ails and approaching fixed diseases, one should make a test of ten days by leaving off coffee entirely and using well-made Postum.

If relief follows you may know to a certainty that coffee has been your vicious enemy. Of course you can take it back to your heart again, if you like to keep sick.

A lady says: "I had suffered with stomach trouble, nervousness and terrible sick headaches ever since I was a little child, for my people were always great coffee drinkers and let us children have all we wanted. I got so I thought I could not live without coffee, but I would not acknowledge that it caused my suffering.

"Then I read so many articles about Postum that I decided to give it a fair trial. I had not used it two weeks in place of coffee until I began to feel like a different person. The headache and nervousness disappeared and whereas I used to be sick two or three days out of a week while drinking coffee I am now well and strong and sturdy seven days a week, thanks to Postum.

"I had been using Postum three months and had never been sick a day when I thought I would experiment and see if it really was coffee that caused the trouble, so I began to drink coffee again and inside of a week I had a sick spell. I was so ill I was soon convinced that coffee was the cause of all my misery and I went back to Postum with the result that I was soon well and strong again and determined to stick to Postum and leave coffee alone in the future."

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Saving Her Blushes.

"I have here," said the young inventor, "a device that will be a boon to the typists."

"What is it?" asked the manufacturer of typewriters.

"It's an extra key. Whenever the operator can't spell a word she presses this key and it makes a blur!"

With a smooth iron and Defiance Starch, you can launder your shirtwaist just as well at home as the steam laundry can; it will have the proper stiffness and finish, there will be less wear and tear of the goods, and it will be a positive pleasure to use a Starch that does not stick to the iron.
