MITCHEL GIVES LIE TO SWANN CHARGES OF SUBWAY "FEE"

Mayor Declares Murphy Uses District Attorney as a Hylan Press Agent.

Charging that District Attorney Swann's attack upon him last night before a large audience in the New Amsterdam Opera House is a "fabric of falsehood and malice, and would almost appear to be the ramblings of an unbalanced mind," Mayor Mitchel promised to-day that he would reply in detail to the Swann charges. Speaking to newspaper men in City Hall, the Mayor said:

"Mr. Swann seems to be as full of venom and treachery as the rattlesnake of his native State of Florida. There is no truth in his statements. They are important merely because of the office that he occupies and misuses. I intend to reply to what he has said in detail."

The District Attorney accused Mayor Mitchel of receiving $5,000 for "drawing a mortgage," when in reality the money was "consideration" for changing the course of the Queensboro Subway so that it would go into the middle of property owned by Mitchel's client. Mr. Swann also referred to "six real estate deals" in which he intimated the Mayor's friends profited because of Mr. Mitchel's conduct and attitude as a city official. The District Attorney also referred to a trip to Europe taken by the Mayor, he said, in company with "his clients" in behalf of the Queensboro corporation which owned the land in Corona.

After having disposed of the Swann attack, Mayor Mitchel turned his attention to the leader of Tammany Hall and Judge Hylan, and said in part:

"Murphy must indeed be in desperate straits to elect his tarnished candidate. To show Judge Hylan's interest in the school children of this city, Mr. Murphy's lieutenants are taking children out of school and making rioters of them.

"To show Judge Hylan's professional standing as a lawyer, Mr. Murphy has directed his hand-picked District Attorney to give out a statement in Hylan's defense.

"If District Attorney Swann is so anxious to help Mr. Murphy's campaign, let him produce the list of reputable lawyers who took Goslin's money while running for office without rendering legal service to Goslin.

"Conviction is driving home to the people of this city that Mr. Murphy stands ready to go the limit to elect his disreputable candidate. If it is necessary to destroy New York City's school system to do this, Mr. Murphy will destroy it. If it is necessary to make the District Attorney's office Judge Hylan's press agent, Mr. Murphy will use it for that purpose.

"The very desperation of Mr. Murphy's efforts prove that they will be unsuccessful. Mr. Murphy would not be taking the chances he is taking if he thought that there was a prospect of success without resorting to these methods."

Ohio Roads Granted 15 Per. Cent. Freight Rate Increase.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—An increase of 15 per cent. in all freight rates, except on coal, coke and iron, was granted to Ohio railroads for one year, effective Nov. 20, by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission to-day.

"Who will Win this Battle?"

Your kidneys are the filters of the body. If they become inactive and fail to eliminate the waste matter, they are apt to throw the whole mechanism of the body out of order, thus toxic poisons can accumulate in the system and be as deadly as snake venom.

Besides causing the minor ailments of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and backache, neglect of the kidneys is apt to develop into more serious diseases, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

Rid the body of toxic poisons—clean the bladder and kidneys and cure the twinges of rheumatism with Anuric and you win the battle of life.

Anuric was first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and has benefited thousands of sufferers as well as appeased and eliminated the ravages of the more serious kidney diseases. Now procurable at any good drug store, or send Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Inst., Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg. Larger pkg. 60c.

Many folks in New York State have had experiences like Mrs. Frederick Macher, 135 Kensington Avenue, prominent musician of Buffalo, graduate of the London, England, College of Music, who writes:

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I was on the verge of a breakdown. The pain in my back was excruciating and my head would throb and ache. I had little or no appetite, and at times it was almost impossible to perform my duties as instructor in music. A friend advised me to try Anuric. After using two packages I feel like a new woman, the pain has entirely left me. This is a wonderful medicine and I would recommend it to like sufferers."—Adv.

OPEN SEASON FOR CANDIDATES

This the Time of Year When American Game of Politics Is Most in Favor and the Candidates Have Their Reputations Shot Full of Holes—It's a Game in Which the Loser Loses and So Does the Winner—"If the Workingman Has So Many Friends Why Does He Have to Work?"—"A Politician Calls a Spade a Spade, but You Never See Him Swinging One"—In the Political Clinics the Candidates "Cut Open Their Opponents' Pasts and Forget to Sew Up the Wounds."

By Arthur ("Bugs") Baer.

THE Welsh national game and American politics are twins. Two husky inmates of Wales will curl up their trousers to their corrugated knees, grab each other by the ears and kick a hob-nailed cantata on each other's shin bones. They boot one another's shins into Hamburger steak and by the time the loser abdicates both contestants own enough bruises to supply a Philadelphia election. The loser loses and so does the winner. Neither one wins.

The other half of the twin is more vocal than physical. Two inmates of American politics curl their consciences up to their calloused elbows, clutch each other by the ears and boot a hob-nailed duet on each other's past. They kick one another's reputations into mincemeat. The winner of the laryngeal tournament doesn't win. By the time he is elected his record is as full of moral bruises and contusions as a frog is of jumps.

WHEN candidates fall out, honest men get their dues. They call 'em candidates because they are candid. Politicians should wear mud guards on their conversation. They blame each other for everything from soup to cigars. Nobody knows who is going to be indicted as the next Mayor of New York. A consensus of opinion shows there is more opinion than concensus. The result will probably hinge on the size of the nonresident vote from Philadelphia and Newark. There will also be an unusually heavy juvenile vote polled on the east side.

The strange feature of the whole election is, if the workingman has so many friends, why does he have to work?

The candidates are very frank about their opponents' careers. A politician calls a spade a spade, but you never see him swinging one. He asks only to be elected by the voice of the people, but the bales of coin being scattered around the wards show that no candidate is going to rely on the amateur vote.

THERE are nocturnal political clinics on every street corner in Brooklyn and New York. The speakers cut open their opponent's past and then forget to sew up the wound. In order to be successful, each meeting should consist of a speaker and a voice. Let's go.

CANDIDATE JAZZ—Gentlemen——

A VOICE—Thank you.

JAZZ—Gentlemen, the time has come when our next Mayor must be elected by the voice of the people.

A VOICE—There aint no cars on a ballot.

JAZZ—Gentlemen, I do not care to indulge in personalities, but my esteemed antagonist on the opposing ticket is a political hobo. What has he done to improve the crowded condition of our Broadway cabarets? Nothing. What has he done to alleviate the suffering on upper Riverside Drive? Nothing. Has he improved the conditions in the tenement garages of Washington Heights? No sir! Gentlemen, what is the only conclusion to derive from these facts?

A VOICE—Never carry a bundle by the string.

JAZZ—I am the friend of the workingman. What has Mayor Goof done to improve that eyesore, the Palisades, which mar the beauty of the Hudson, known as the Rhine of America? Nothing. What has the Demopublican Party done to lower the price of limousines and other necessities of life? What has the Republocrat Party done to make the East River safe for pedestrians? Not a thing. Elect me, and you will be safe. I have bunions and can't tango.

A VOICE—I'll take beer.

JAZZ—Did the Yankees ever win the pennant under a Demopublican Administration? No. Who was Mayor when Heinie Zim chased Eddie Collins home with the winning run last Tuesday? Gentlemen, that question answers itself——

A VOICE—So do you.

JAZZ—I am the friend of the workingman. Everybody hates work. Elect me and there will be no work. I promise to drive the workingmen up to the head line in taxicabs. My motto is revolving doors for everybody. What has Mayor Goof done to smooth out the skyline of New York? New York has the most untidy skyline of any town in the world (outburst of cheering, led by Candidate Jazz).

A VOICE—How do you get that way?

JAZZ—I advocate municipal ownership of the New York skyline. The Aquarium must be thrown open to the public. Elect me and I'll allow light housekeeping in the Bronx locals.

A VOICE—How about sleeping cars to Brooklyn?

JAZZ—Has New York advanced any under the Goof Administration? No. Columbus discovered New York 400 years ago, and where is New York now? Still in the same place.

A VOICE—Are you still the friend of the workingman?

JAZZ—I am more than the friend of the workingman. I am two friends of the workingman. Four hundred years ago Manhattan Island was sold for a string of beads——

A VOICE—You're getting the Winter Garden costumes mixed up with history.

JAZZ—The city must be supplied with pure drinking water. I am the friend of the workingman, and the workingman must drink pure water.

A VOICE—You ain't no friend of the workingman.

JAZZ—We must have libraries and sunken gardens for the starving proletariat. Are our poor to die ignorant of botany? No. I advocate placing botany on a democratic basis.

A VOICE—How about the time you got six months off for good behavior?

JAZZ—I repeat, gentlemen, the Kaiser must be defeated.

A VOICE—What became of that $100,000 you got for cleaning all the snow off the streets in July?

JAZZ—When I think of the suffering Armenians and devastated Belgium, my hand extends across the sea.

A VOICE—You said it. Palm up.

JAZZ—The Kaiser must go.

A VOICE—Me too.

ELECTION INSPECTORS HELD.

Four Arrested in Queens for Discrepancies Favoring Connolly.

As a result of an official investigation which apparently discloses that Maurice E. Connolly was credited with thirty votes more than were cast for him and that the actual vote of his opponent, Mager, was discounted to the extent of twenty-three votes in the Thirteenth Election District of the First Assembly District of Queens in the primary to nominate a Democratic candidate for Borough President, the four Election Inspectors of that district were arrested to-day. They were arraigned before Magistrate Kochenderfer in Long Island City on a short affidavit charging them with having filed false returns of an election.

The court held them in $1,000 bail each for examination on Monday. They are Joseph Barberich, Chairman of the Board, a Democrat, of No. 464 Broadway; Sander Paareh, Democrat, of No. 183 Ninth Avenue, and Charles Schwartz, No. 532 Fourth Avenue, and Herman Schnell, No. 293 Fifth Avenue, both Republicans.

THE BOYS in KHAKI of TO-DAY

A LETTER from Dr. Simpson of the Anderson Zouaves, N. Y. (62nd Regt.), says:

"During the time our regiment was stationed at Riker's Island we were out of medical stores. I obtained some of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF and used it with greater success in the treatment of Bowel Complaint, Colds, Rheumatism, Chills, Pains, Aches and Soreness of the limbs than all other remedial agents."

This letter was also approved by Col. Riker, Lieut. Col. Tisdale and Gen. Oscar V. Dayton of the same regiment.

WHO IS "NUMBER ONE"? A SERIAL PICTURE AND SUNDAY WORLD FEATURE

KATHLEEN CLIFFORD IN "WHO IS NUMBER ONE?"

That the continued photoplay is far from being on a decline is proved by the fact that Paramount Pictures Corporation is going in for serials and soon is to release "Who Is 'Number One'?", a mystery story, a new kind of serial. Anna Katherine Green, greatest of mystery writers, is the author of the novel, which will appear in the Sunday World.

Kathleen Clifford, famed as a vaudeville and musical comedy star, is the heroine around whom evolve the throbs and thrills of "Who Is 'Number One'?"

The piece has as its theme "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." It is a story of revenge, of a mysterious person who is the instrument by which the woman seeks to make a famous inventor and capitalist pay for his scorn.

In the heart of Camille Arnot, the woman scorned, burns a terrible hatred for Graham Hale, a mental giant, a Thomas A. Edison and J. Pierpont Morgan combined. She does not seek to kill him; she wants a greater revenge. She desires that Graham Hale shall be ruined, that one by one the big things in his life shall be taken from him, and lastly, after his most beloved possession, his son, is gone, that his mind shall be utterly destroyed.

Camille Arnot gathers about her men capable of fighting such a foe as the great Graham Hale. Heading these men is "Number One," the mysterious person who directs the engine of revenge for Camille Arnot.

Her plot laid out, every precaution taken so that it cannot fail, so carefully planned and set in motion with such force that even she herself cannot divert it from its object, Camille Arnot suddenly finds that Graham Hale must be saved from her own machinations. She learns that if Graham Hale suffers, she will suffer; if he loses his all, she will lose all, and that the consummation of her plans means the end of everything she loves. How to destroy this monster intrigue that she herself has created? That is the terrific problem that confronts her.

In the midst of all this intrigue, herself a victim, is Aimee Villon, portrayed by charming Kathleen Clifford. Tommy Hale, son of the financier, is in love with her and she loves him. She fights to save the Hales from the impending danger that threatens annihilation. It is she that risks everything for the man she loves.

Throughout the story is felt the power of the mysterious "Number One," who strikes hard, and who, the Hales know, must be destroyed unless they themselves are crushed.

The thrilling tale is built upon a charming story of love unconquerable, a love devoid of selfishness, a love tested and found true in the flame of self-sacrifice.

$645,000,000 OF WAR LOAN IS NOW TAKEN HERE

Fulton Trust Company, Brooklyn, $500,000; Charles A. Stoneham, $500,000; M. C. D. Borden Sons, $500,000 (additional).

Lawrence, L. I., went to the head of the small town class to-day with a record of oversubscribing its allotment by 103 per cent. The town was expected to raise $175,000, but turned in $356,100.

TWO PARADES BY BOY SCOUT BOND CAMPAIGNERS.

This afternoon Boy Scouts from all parts of the city marched to the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th Street and Park Avenue, where Major Gen. E. B. Hoyle presented war service emblems to Scout bond sellers in behalf of the Government. More than 4,000 boys were in the parades.

One parade mobilized on East 125th Street, east of Second Avenue, and marched to Broadway, to 57th Street, to Fifth Avenue, to 34th Street to the armory. The second parade, comprising Scout organizations from lower New York, Brooklyn and Staten Island, mobilized in Union Square and marched to the armory by way of 15th Street, Fifth Avenue and 31st Street.

Harlem had a Liberty bond parade of its own to-day preliminary to a great effort for subscriptions which is to continue night and day all of next week. Although the parade was organized on short notice, there were fully 5,000 in line as it moved westward through 125th Street from First Avenue to the Fort Lee Ferry.

The Marine Band led the parade. In line were the Catholic Protectory Band, the Hebrew Orphan Asylum Band, the Police Band and two Boy Scout Bands. A platoon of nurses 110 strong who are soon to leave for France marched just behind the Marine Band and aroused great enthusiasm. Harry Bailey was grand marshal, and Francis Wright Clinton was Chairman of the committee which arranged the affair.

A booth for the sale of Libeerty bonds has been erected at 125th Street and Seventh Avenue. Actors and actresses from the Keith theatres will sell bonds at this booth every afternoon and evening next week.

LIBERTY LOAN SERVICES IN ALL CHURCHES TO-MORROW.

To-morrow Liberty Loan sermons will be preached in practically every church in Greater New York, and a Liberty Loan rally will be held to-morrow afternoon at the band stand in the Mall in Central Park under the direction of the Outdoor Speakers' Committee.

Over-Sunday reflection on the torpedoing and sinking of the U. S. transport Antilles, with a loss of seventy Americans, a number of them soldiers and sailors, is depended on by the Loan Committee to start a rush on the part of small investors to buy the new bonds. The tragedy, it is believed, will bring home to the wage-earners with appealing force the realization that the country is at war and that their financial help is absolutely necessary if the United States is to be victorious.

Leonard L. Loris of No. 25 Pennsylvania Avenue, Brooklyn, telephoned The Evening World to-day that he made a Liberty Loan speech in a subway train this morning, taking for his text the sinking of the Antilles. When he had finished Mr. Loris said he sold several bonds.

Reports reaching the loan committee's offices show that soldiers in all parts of the country are doing great work for the loan. Besides subscribing generously for the new bonds the men of the 319th U. S. Infantry, stationed at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., have disposed of $200,000 worth of the bonds to business concerns near the camp.

Greenwich, Conn., last night reached $600,000 against it quota of $1,020,000. Of this the Putnam Trust Company secured $200,000 from 250 subscribers. The Putnam Trust Company is taking scriptions for $50 bonds on the $1 a week basis. The plan has been warmly indorsed.

To-day having been designated as Children's Day by the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, the saleswomen working under the auspices of the committee visited many homes for the purpose of inducing parents to buy bonds for their children.

SUCCESS OF LOAN ASSURED, DECLARES GARY.

Pointing out that property will not be of much value unless it is protected by our soldiers here and abroad and unless complete victory marks the efforts of the United States and her Allies, Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Steel Corporation, said to-day there was no doubt in his mind that the loan would be fully subscribed.

"Because of the extraordinary attractive investment features of the new Liberty Loan," said Mr. Gary, "there need really be no question of the success of the campaign for the sale of these securities. As a simple problem of what is best for the individual who seeks a safe investment the Liberty Loan bonds represent the most satisfactory solution, with a most appealing income yield.

"But there is something else that should be considered which adds much more to the value of these bonds. We are sending abroad an army and navy, consisting of men of whom all of us are justly proud. They need support of a kind that can only be supplied by those at home—moral as well as financial support. The opportunities for demonstrating to them the existence of such support are limited. Here, however, is one reason that probably is better than all the others. If our soldiers in France hear that their countrymen gladly subscribed for this issue they will be assured of our sympathy and assistance, and not otherwise. Moreover, Germany will have to take new stock of her recklessness in attacking the United States once she finds that the country is prepared to fight for its historic liberties to the last dollar as well as to the last man."

Bond Payment Plan Of The Evening World Indorsed by Bankers

To Editor of The Evening World:

WE WISH to indorse most heartily your campaign for the partial payment plan of purchasing Liberty bonds. We feel that in New York City particularly there are many people who are not in the habit of saving, but who wish to do their bit for the Government and will take advantage of this plan. We have arranged a department in our office to take care of our customers or others who desire to purchase under this arrangement, or any of the other plans proposed by the Liberty Loan Committee.

U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE PUT MILLIONS INTO LOAN

Various Expeditionary Units Compete Keenly for Biggest Purchase of Liberty Bonds.

AMERICAN FIELD HEADQUARTERS, FRANCE, Oct. 20.—America's troops are not only going to "do their bit" in the trenches fighting the Huns—they are setting the example for folks back home in a record-breaking purchase of Liberty bonds.

Several million dollars in subscriptions were reported to-day. The exact total is being withheld. The various American expeditionary units are keenly competing for the honor of subscribing the greatest amount. To-day the heavy artillery claimed the top figure—with nearly $300,000 pledged and several batteries still to be heard from.

In some infantry campaigns every man and every officer subscribed to one or more bonds.

The Liberty Loan drive has been on here "somewhere in France" for two weeks. The lists close next Tuesday. Gen. Pershing himself inaugurated the campaign by a proclamation urging his men to subscribe for patriotic reasons. The drive got its first big impetus when the idea of a competition among all the diferent units in the American expeditionary force to see which would pledge the biggest subscriptions was developed.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR LOAN AT END OF THIRD WEEK

Treasury Officials Optimistic, but See Apathy in Parts of Middle West and South.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The Liberty Loan campaign closed its third week to-day with excellent prospects, Treasury officials announced. At the same time it was announced that over a wide section of country extending from the Middle West southward into Texas and eastward to the Atlantic seaboard general apathy prevailed.

"Through this section of the country," the official announcement says, "particularly in rural communities, subscriptions are not coming in rapidly. General apathy appears to prevail in parts of Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Texas. In the eastern part of the South bad weather and delayed sales of cotton are blamed for the poor showing.

"Publication of Secretary McAdoo's promise to prosecute persons attempting to impede the progress of the loan, by making withdrawals of deposits from banks has had a very salutary effect. Many who formerly were working against the loan now are becoming subscribers."

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—New England subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan reached a total of $169,338,000 with the tabulation to-day of reports showing $27,965,000 raised by committees yesterday. Only $130,000,000 of the district's minimum quota was lacking.

Buying Liberty Bonds Good Business, Says Roosevelt.

DARIEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Buyers of Liberty bonds are not making a gift to the Government, but are "doing an excellent stroke of business for themselves," as well as doing their country a patriotic service, Col. Roosevelt calls attention to this in a letter to Lynford M. Dickinson, a member of the Darien Liberty Loan Committee.

Col. Roosevelt is seeking relaxation and rest at a gymnasium and farm near here.

AUTO HITS POLE; KILLS MAN.

Another Badly Hurt in Accident Opposite Vanderbilt Home.

One man was killed and two others injured, one perhaps fatally, in an automobile accident yesterday just outside the lodge house on the estate of William K. Vanderbilt jr., on the Little Neck Road near Lakeville, L. I. The car became unmanageable and ran into a telegraph pole, throwing two of the men against it.

Michael Gullenerist, forty, of New Hyde Park, was killed. Frank Wolfhurst, thirty-one, a farmer, also of New Hyde Park, sustained a fracture of the skull. Tony Gullenerist, the third occupant of the machine, was not seriously injured. Wolfhurst was driving at the time of the accident.
