N. Y. FIGHTING MEN IN FRANCE VOTE UNDER FOE'S FIRE

Soldiers, Sailors and Marines in Paris and at Front Cast Ballots.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 5—American soldiers, sailors and marines stationed in Paris, in other French cities and at the American General Headquarters, who are legal residents of New York State, voted to-day for State, county and city officers. New York voters with units in other parts of France cast their ballots last week.

The votes of one American railway engineering unit in a British sector were taken in a field which was under a bombardment by German guns. The engineers nonchalantly marked their ballots in a shack behind the lines as German shells whistled intermittently overhead.

The voting in Paris was done at the Hotel Sainte Annen, now used for American barracks and offices. The polls opened at 8.30 o'clock this morning and will close at 5 to-night. The hotel is being used for the polling booth. A captain of marines and two marines who are residents of New York were sworn in as election officers.

Each voter received an envelope inclosing the ballot of his district. After marking the ballot it was placed in the envelope and sealed by the voter, who wrote thereon his name, residence and command and signed an oath that he was a legally qualified voter. The ballots were deposited in a cardboard box.

The first voter was a Young Men's Christian Association Secretary whose home is in New York City. His vote was accepted conditionally, pending a ruling whether members of the Y. M. C. A. attached to the expeditionary forces are entitled to vote in this election.

The second voter was a marine, a resident of Utica. The third and fourth were marine officers, who live in New York City. Fifteen votes were cast in the first hour.

The interest here centres in the New York Mayoralty fight. Little attention is given to the suffrage amendment.

As soon as the voting has been completed the boxes will be sealed and taken to New York. The ballots will be counted in the electoral districts in which the men reside.

Distribution of ballots began last Tuesday. All the units now in France and England have been canvassed by the Election Commissioners, with the assistance of general headquarters.

SUGAR SOLD AS HIGH AS 20C. A POUND IN RETAIL HOLD-UP

Charges of Extortion by Small Grocers Pour in From All Parts of City.

Many complaints are being received by the Federal, State and City Food Administration officials of small grocers all over the city charging excessive prices for sugar. The canvassers securing pledges from housewives in the food economy campaign report grocers selling sugar at prices ranging from 12 1-2 cents to 20 cents a pound.

One Brooklyn grocer told a pledge card canvasser he had six reasons why he would not permit his wife to sign the pledge card. The canvasser did not report what his six reasons were, but she stated that he was selling sugar at an excessive price. In nearly all cases of refusal to sign the pledge cards on the part of grocers' wives the canvassers report the grocer charging too much for sugar.

City Markets Commissioner Henry Moskowitz issued a statement this morning that he had received seventy-nine complaints relative to sugar prices. Of this number thirty-nine were extortionate prices and forty were that to get one pound of sugar customers were required to buy $2 worth of other groceries.

Volunteer canvassers secured 6,000 pledge card signatures yesterday in Brooklyn, Queens and the East Side, Manhattan. The total up to this morning is 460,477. New York City leads the highest State total, which was scored in California, 446,962.

New Jersey holds second place in number of pledge card signatures obtained, with 338,398, and Michigan comes third with 309,387. The large cities are not included in the State totals.

The Fifth and Sixth Assembly Districts in Queens have secured more than double the number of pledges expected, and the Seventh District, Manhattan, has turned in 118 per cent. Mrs. John K. Robinson, Chairman of the Queens Borough Campaign Committee, expects to complete the canvass of that borough by to-morrow. This will be the first borough to reach its quota. Following are the totals for each borough compared with the quotas expected:

	Totals.	Quotas.
Manhattan	185,969	425,655
Brooklyn	167,440	357,813
Bronx	46,641	121,231
Queens	43,163	77,457
Richmond	13,026	17,838

Boy Dies of Hydrophobia.

Robert J. McCloskey, three and a half years old, of No. 63 Millington Avenue, Newark, N. J., died last night in the City Hospital there from rabies. The boy was bitten by a supposed mad dog on Sept. 27. He was taken to the City Hospital and given the Pasteur treatment. A few days ago he complained of being ill and was sent back to the hospital for observation.

ARE YOUR Nostrils Clogged?

FACTS ABOUT LOW FEES

The greatest lawyer in the United States died a short time ago in Philadelphia. His name was John G. Johnson. This great lawyer was a specialist, and he charged the smallest fees of any lawyer of ability in America. Because he charged small fees the people at first thought he did not amount to much, and the high-priced lawyers told the people that Johnson had ability he would prove if they gave him the cases. As Johnson was the man whom the high-price lawyers feared, it was not long before the people discovered the ability and gave him credit for being what he was, the greatest lawyer who spoke the English language.

When Mr. Johnson became famous he kept his fees low as low as they were when he began his practice. This proves that the price you pay for a man's services does not prove his ability.

Here in New York Dr. McCoy established his practice on the same principles that Mr. Johnson, the great Philadelphia lawyer, adopted. He became a specialist, kept his fees low, and he rendered the best service he exactly could. The other doctors condemned his practice and told the people that if he amounted to anything he would charge big fees like they did. Dr. McCoy, however, obtained results that no other special treatment was able to give. The people learned to have confidence in him and consulted him in great numbers. They found that were treated by Dr. McCoy at a cost about one third of what they paid the high-priced specialists, and they learned that under this treatment and the small fees they were charged by Dr. McCoy they obtained results as good or better than they did when they sought the service of the high-priced specialists.

ARE YOU GOING DEAF?

My specialty is treating obstructed nostrils, treating deafness and head noises and healing sore places in the breathing tubes. I have spent thirty years studying the best way to do this. I can usually free the nostrils without cutting away the bones of the nose, thus leaving the nostrils those important structures that were created by nature, to strain dirt and germs out of the air. The case of Capt. Halsey will demonstrate the value of my method.

Deafness, Head Noises, Nostrils Clogged, Dropping in the Throat

When Capt. John S. Halsey first consulted me he said: "For at least twelve years I have been growing deaf. I am troubled with the most annoying noises in my head. They were like the roaring of escaping steam. The noises became so bad that I could not understand what was said to me. As you see, I am now very deaf, and when the weather is damp and cloudy I am unable to hear at all. For a few days I can place my watch back when I press it against my ear. I cannot hear anything that is said to the performers on the stage in a theatre. My nostrils have been clogged and I have been annoyed by dropping in my throat that keeps me constantly hawking to clear it out."

Since treating Capt. Halsey, he reports that the noises have left his head and that he can hear as well as he ever could. His nostrils are open and free and the dropping in his throat is gone. He says his entire hearing is perfect, and he has been testing his hearing with a watch, and he finds he can hear as well as she can. He further says that he is well known around Lyons, where he has lived, and he has induced the owners of New York hotels to have him examine every one to prove how fairly he was treated by Dr. McCoy and how small the charge was for restoring his hearing and freeing his head of noises and relieving him of clogged nostrils and dropping in the throat.

Capt. Halsey resides, when at home, in Maurer, New Jersey.

If you suffer from clogged nostrils or are going deaf or have head noises, or a disheartening ear, or have a bad throat, or if you have any other form of catarrhal disease, I will be pleased to have you call at my office. It will cost you nothing for an examination and advice.

My office will be open to-morrow, Election Day, from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M.
