BULGARIANS ARMY IN FULL RETREAT

Greeks Completely Rout General Ivanoff's Forces.

Athens, July 12.—General Ivanoff's army, with three divisions of the Istip force, aggregating 112 battalions, made its last stand in a strongly entrenched position near Demirhissar, on the left bank of the river Struma, and on the adjacent heights of Intrina, which were well defended with siege artillery.

Under cover of darkness in a brilliant charge the Greeks drove the Bulgars across the Struma. The Bulgarians destroyed the railway for some distance, checking the Greek advance.

The Greeks then directed their march along the right bank of the river, supported by mountain batteries, and compelled the Bulgarians hurriedly to abandon their positions, leaving behind four heavy guns and a quantity of ammunition.

Secretary of State Says He Is Obliged to Lecture.

Hendersonville, N. C., July 14.—While lecturing here Secretary Bryan declared he was compelled to deliver chautauqua addresses to supplement his government salary, which he said, was not sufficient to meet his expenses.

"As this is my first chautauqua lecture since becoming a member of the cabinet," said Secretary Brayn, "it may not be out of place to say that I find it necessary to lecture in order to supplement the salary which I receive from the government.

"As I have lectured for eighteen years this method of adding to my income is the most natural one to which to turn and I regard it as extremely legitimate."

Minnesota Governor Will Urge Public Utilities Board.

Governor Eberhart will open the campaign for the public utilities board upon his return from the East to Minnesota, about July 14 or 15. The governor said that he has gathered all the reports of railroad commissions and other organizations and state officials on that subject and during the present week will compile the data and prepare several speeches for delivery in various parts of the state during the remainder of the summer and in the early fall, so that the extra session of the legislature, which he will call for early October, will be influenced more or less by public sentiment created by his campaign.

An inspection of the new plant outside of Duluth was made.

"We will expend $20,000,000 altogether on the Duluth plant," said Mr. Farrell. "In addition to a model town at Gary we will build a $2,000,000 cement plant, with a capacity of 40,000 barrels a day as a side line."

Mr. Staples was also named as a member of the "valuation committee" chosen to represent the states in the dual valuation plan.

Commissioner Thorne of Iowa was made chairman of this valuation committee, which was selected by the members of the executive committee of state commissions meeting in Washington. The committee is made up of members from the following states:

MULHALL AGAIN BEFORE SENATE

Confessed Lobbyist Tells How Work Was Done.

MONEY VERY FREELY USED

Details Activities in Effort to Defeat Senators McComas of Maryland and Hughes of New Jersey.

Washington, July 13.—Under subpoenas to appear at the same hour before two separate congressional committees in sessions at distant ends of the Capitol, Martin M. Mulhall, who is testifying as to the alleged "lobbying" activities of the National Association of Manufacturers, faced a puzzling situation.

The tangle was the result of a clash of authority between the senate and house investigators. As the senate subpoena antedated that issued by the house committee and the witness was in the custody of a senate deputy sergeant-at-arms, the upper house was in a position to enforce its ultimatum.

Mulhall and J. H. McMichael appeared at the senate committee room and were placed under guard of an assistant sergeant-at-arms. The house committee, minus its expected witnesses, went into an executive session to plan further action.

Mulhall Resumes Stand.

Mulhall finally resumed the stand and took up the identification of his letters, which he began at the previous session. James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, made a formal request for the right of the association to be represented by an attorney. Chairman Overman said the committee would decide later whether Robert McCarter, attorney general of New Jersey, should have the general privileges of an attorney for the association.

Mulhall identified more letters showing his relations with Marshall Cushing, secretary of the association of manufacturers. He testified he had an understanding with Cushing that he was to receive $100 a week and $40 a week for expenses for "general field work and lobby work in Washington."

Mulhall testified further of how he worked to defeat the late Senator McComas of Maryland, although he posed as the senator's friend. He said he had received 500 letters from Cushing directed against McComas.

Secretary in Opponents' Pay.

"I turned them over to Carl M. Downs, secretary to McComas," he added.

"Do you mean you delivered those letters against McComas to his secretary?" demanded Senator Reed.

"Carl M. Downs was in the pay of Cushing," replied the witness, who went on to explain that he quarreled with Cushing before he was "buying out" the secretary of a senator.

Mulhall resnted any implication that he had tried to play a "double game" on the labor men, such as he frankly testified he played on McComas. In 1903 he took a paid up union card and had no further connection with labor unions," he said.

Harry C. Kurten, secretary of the Allied Building Trades of Philadelphia, was engaged, Mulhall testified, in the fight against William Hughes, then a representative and now a senator from New Jersey.

"Were you sent to help beat Hughes by the National Association of Manufacturers?" asked Mr. Reed.

"Yes, sir."

"Why did they want to beat Hughes?"

Hughes Held Union Card.

"On account of his holding a union card, being affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and his activity on the floor of the house and with the labor leaders in Washington."

"Did you pose as a friend of the labor organizations and thus work against these organizations from the inside?" asked Senator Cummins.

"Not at that time."

Testifying further about the campaign against Hughes, Mulhall swore he went to Paterson to aid Hughes' opponent. He hired six union men to work against Hughes and paid them about $1,800, which came from the National Association of Manufacturers, through Cushing.

The union men in the pay of the National Association of Manufacturers, Mulhall said, took possession of 75,000 circulars sent into the district by the American Federation of Labor to aid Hughes and turned them over to the Republican campaign committee.

TARIFF BILL NOW UP TO SENATORS

Measure Is Reported by the Finance Committee.

WILSON'S IDEAS RETAINED

Provisions Advocated by the President Remain in Bill as Recommended for Passage.

Washington, July 12.—In the amended tariff bill reported to the senate by the finance committee wheat, wheat flour and other wheat products are on the free list, with a proviso that wheat shall be subject to a countervailing duty of 10 cents a bushel; wheat flour, 45 cents a barrel, and other wheat products 10 per cent ad valorem when imported from countries imposing a duty on wheat, flour or wheat products.

The free list includes also flax straw, flax not dressed, hemp and hemp tow; also rye and rye flour. Oats are taxed 6 cents a bushel and barley 15 cents a bushel. All meat products are on the free list, as well as hogs, cattle and other meat food producing domestic animals.

Furs are taxed, although the house members from Minnesota made a strong fight in the house to have them placed on the free list. The fur tax is 20 per cent ad valorem on furs dressed on the skin, not further advanced than dyeing; 15 per cent ad valorem on fur articles of wearing apparel partly or wholly manufactured out of cattle, dog and goat skins, with 45 per cent ad valorem on other fur articles of clothing.

The Minnesota senators, it is understood, will endeavor to have furs placed on the free list, in accordance with the fight made by the house members.

As it goes to the senate the bill retains the principal provisions of the house measure and those particularly advocated by President Wilson, free raw wool and a provision that sugar shall be free May 1, 1916. Sweeping changes have been made in the administrative features and the income tax.

GRAIN RECEIPTS ARE LARGE

New High Record Reached at Minneapolis for the Present Crop Year of 1912-1913.

Edward S. Hughes, assistant secretary of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, announces that the total grain receipts of the present crop year have reached nearly 200,000,000 bushels, over 59,000,000 bushels more than in the corresponding time in the crop year preceding and exceeding all former records for complete years, but the indications are that the crop year that will end Aug. 31 will show 220,000,000 bushels received, or 60,000,000 more than ever before recorded.

In the crop year 1904-1905 the total Minneapolis receipts were 156,346,440 bushels and in the record year 1908-1909 the total was 160,446,660.

The Minneapolis flour mills have had the most active productive period in their history. When the calendar year 1912 closed the total production had gone above the 17,000,000 barrel total, making a new productive record that will again be passed in the record for the crop year that will end Aug. 31.

COLONEL SHEEHAN IS DEAD

Hero of Famous Defense of Fort Ridgely in 1862.

Colonel Timothy J. Sheehan, hero of the famous defense of Fort Ridgely in 1862, pioneer of Minnesota and prominent in many battles of the Civil war, died at his home in St. Paul after an illness of nearly a year. He had been in ill health for several years, but since last August had not been able to leave his bed. His age, seventy-eight years, combined with the weakening effects of seven wounds which he received during his career as a soldier, made the battle for life a losing struggle.

Colonel Sheehan had lived in Minnesota since 1857 and distinguished himself in several of the early battles with the Indians, as well as in the Civil war. He was the commander in the famous defense of Fort Ridgely in August, 1862, when the fort was besieged by the Indians for eight days.

He also was in command of one division of the army in the last Indian fight against the Chippewas at Sugar Point in 1898. He gained the rank of lieutenant governor in the Civil war.

In the war declared by W. P. Morgan, city weighmaster of Minneapolis, on icemen who think they guess better than scales can weigh the icemen were badly routed in the first battle in municipal court. When the smoke of the conflict blew away nine ice wagon drivers were found to have fallen victims to ten-day workhouse sentences. The vanquished men asked for leniency and the sentences were suspended. Although the defeated forces fell into full retreat Morgan declares that his war will be waged without cessation until all guessing on ice weights has been stopped.
