NO FAIR THIS FALL.

The directors of the agricultural society held a meeting yesterday afternoon and decided not to hold a fair this fall. This action was taken for the reason that the fence around the fair grounds is in such a dilapidated condition that it is very little protection in the way of keeping out those who would rather sneak in than pay a quarter for admission; and the further fact that in order to have a place to display products it would be necessary to erect a building to replace the one burned last fall. To complete this work would mean an outlay of about one thousand dollars and the treasury of the society is in a depleted condition. The society has therefore concluded to abandon giving a fair this fall and will write with the immigration association in making a collective county exhibit at the state fair and make an effort to capture the $600 prize offered for the best county exhibit. To this end the officers of both organizations will work with a will, and they should receive the hearty co-operation of every farmer in Lincoln county.

The money received by the fair association from the county will be used in defraying the expenses of the state fair exhibit.

A Woman's "Kick"

I see a paragraph in the Telegraph stating that the folks of the north side have a nuisance as well as the south side, and I am led to wonder when can I buy the loadiest, the south side donkey or the north side ones. Yes, we repeat, their meetings are carried on in a disgraceful manner. They are also a disgrace to the town. I am a woman getting along toward a hundred years old and I never saw or heard of such antics before. They are a lot of old staved out sandhill grangers. They have brought their dirty old tents and regardless of tax payers' rights have prepared to stay. They disturb the peace with their yelling. The Lord isn't deaf, but he soon will be at that rate. There are sick people within two and four blocks that are nearly set crazy by the racket. Some of the tent goes say that it doesn't disturb them. But those very persons can stay up half the night, and sleep until noon the next day if they choose, while others are obliged to rise early and attend to their daily duties. Some have been obliged to stay home days to catch up with their sleep. I was told that the reason why that petition from the ladies didn't pass was because they suspected that it was a Catholic's doing. Now, please don't lay this to the poor down-trodden Romans, for I don't belong to that church, though I wish I did, as they do not slander their widows; and that is the pleasantest occupation the protestants have—slandering. I am really proud of our city council that will favor such proceedings. Now, south side folks, if you will tie a weight to your donkey's tail he won't bray, but I doubt if the north side nuisance can be so easily got rid of. But never mind, neighbors, we will try and stand it and pray the Lord to make our punishment as short as possible; and if there is any more trash in the surrounding country send them in and we will put them up and when they have proved a pest long enough we will send them on their way rejoicing.

Camping in Colorado.

CHALK CREEK CANON, Col., July 5th. EDITOR TRIBUNE:—I greet you and your readers from the foot of the Continental Divide. On the evening of the 1st inst. I took No. 1 for Denver, reaching that city on time, and taking breakfast with Mr. Condit. His house was in a commotion, fitting out and starting the party, himself and son Edwin G., which I came to join on a trip to the mountains. Careful hands had secured a wagon built for mountain travel, provided bedding, tent, a pot-full of boiled potatoes, twelve loaves of bread, a box of canned goods and the rest. We were soon off on the old Leadville trail, and by night had advanced twenty-eight miles. The 3d we drove thirty-five miles. On the glorious 4th we ascended the Kenosha Pass, and drove across South Park, halting at noon and enjoying the sight of a snow storm on the mountains while we ate dinner. That day we drove forty-two miles, and this we have come thirty-nine miles, coming out of South Park to Tip Top, thence down into the beautiful valley of the Arkansas, just below Buena Vista. I shall not wonder at the name. Such a view never greeted my eyes before. In front across the river, in full view, rise the College Peaks in the Continental Divide. When we had followed down the stream an hour we crossed and came into this place and are now camped at the foot of Alpine Pass over the great backbone. Expect to dine to-morrow at timberline. Now, Mr. Editor, you have the mere outline of my first days out. I wish I could tell you something of the grandeur of this scenery. Words fail. I have talked of it to Mr. Condit and "Ber" till they are tired, but can't say anything to one who isn't now looking, or has not the memory of the vision. I have no words to express the emotions within, when I looked on Princeton. My eyes filled; I gazed in wonder; I took off my hat and waved it around my head and yelled. Do not blame me. I never was among mountains before. I shall never use the word lightly again. I used to be jealous for our own state when I heard people speak of Colorado. Not so any more. She has one more added to her worshippers now.

When we get over the Divide we will be among the mountains, so my companions tell me. If there are yet greater things I cannot tell but I may go mad with wonder and delight. We have been well, felt no inconvenience from the altitude. Am writing this by the light of our camp-fire. Love to all who may inquire. Good-night.

TENN DE FOOT.

SOMERSET SNAP SHOTS.

Ice cream suppers are in order these nights.

The corn crop is backward on account of the cool weather, but weeds are making a fine growth.

The appearance of bloomers is the latest fad in this locality.

Lookout for your Russian thistles, as the overseer is abroad in the land.

Miss Hannah Smale came up from Curtis for the Fourth and is spending a few days with friends.

Freddie Griffith has been very unwell for several days. His mother took him to North Platte for medical treatment Thursday.

Elder Stapp returned Thursday, after spending several weeks at Nelson and other points in the central part of the state.

Mrs. Henry Welch is reported to be very sick. Quite a number spent the 4th at John McConnells. A pleasant time is reported.

L. V. Jackson has been employed to teach the school here the coming winter.

Wanted, by Dan Joffe, a sure receipt for catching a grasshopper.

By an oversight we failed to chronicle the recent marriage of Mrs. Jones to a Mr. Chittick, of Hayes county. The best wishes of friends go with them for prosperity and happiness.

Nichols and Harshay News. A gentle and refreshing rain prevailed in this locality last Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Deputy sheriff Keliher of the county seat was up west on legal business Tuesday.

The Patterson & Alexander outfit are filling in around checks recently put into the F. & M. canal in this vicinity. Joseph Wilson, of Chicago, and mother of North Platte were guests of the Brown family last Sunday.

The section men along the U. P. are harvesting the weeds along the line.

Miss Jennie Ware is in attendance at the national educational association at Denver this week.

A number of farmers who have been crying too much rain lately were singing a different song recently.

Several fields of fall grain in this locality will do to glean shortly.

County superintendent Miss Hoeford located the site for our new school building on the northeast corner of the Fackelken land at the four corners, about ninety or one hundred rods north of the old site. The board, we understand, will advertise for bids immediately for the furnishing of the material and construction of the same.

Grandpa Toulion was at the hub with a load of garden "truck" one day this week.

Joe Strickler, the Hershey merchant, transacted business at the county seat a couple of days ago.

It is said that parties who planted vines in the valley this season on sod are not having very good success with them.

We hope that the county commissioners will see that a railing is put upon the bridge across the F. & M. canal at this place.

Prairie chickens in the valley at present are as scarce as "hen's teeth." They have undoubtedly emigrated to more congenial climes, where the wily sportsman will have to go in order to capture them.

We have been informed that the F. & M. canal company expect to have water flowing down their canal the coming week.

Several North Platte carpenters will figure on the contract for the erection of the new school house to be erected in this district this season if given a chance by the school board.

Xavier Toulion was at the Platte a day or two since, where he purchased an "Arm Strong mower" with which to slay the weeds.

C. C. Wetzel was a hub visitor last Wednesday.

The prospects at present are that there will be a large demand for cultivated lands in the valley the coming year.
