WILSON RETURNS TO CAPITAL AFTER "GOOD TIME" HERE

Chatted With Sentry Who Held Up His Auto at Pelham Naval Camp.

President Wilson and party returned to Washington early to-day, leaving the Pennsylvania Station at 12.15 A. M. His Sunday in New York included perhaps the least ceremonious visit a great officer ever paid a Government reservation.

He went unheralded to the naval training camp at Pelham Bay Park in the afternoon. A youthful sentinel at a gate barred the automobile party in a businesslike way. He said no car could go that way. A Secret Service man jumped out and informed him that the machine contained the President.

The sentinel immediately did all that the etiquette of the occasion required. He was asked by the President for directions as to the way they should go.

"Wait around here. I want to see you before I go out," said the President as he drove away. When he came out later he leaned over and had a few words with the sentinel, who smiled his appreciation.

The President complimented Commander W. B. Franklin for the appearance of everything about the training camp. When he, Mrs. Wilson and Col. and Mrs. House started their rounds he was urged to address the Naval Reserves, but said:

"No, I think not. I am just on a little vacation and having a good time."

U. S. NAVAL PATROL ABROAD IS INCREASED

Aircraft Contingent Also Being Enlarged—Effect Shown in More U Boat Sinkings.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The American Navy is increasing its patrol force in European waters, the Navy Department officially stated to-day.

This increased patrol is one of the factors in the decrease in submarine sinkings. The aircraft contingent is being augmented and the ship forces are being enlarged. Acting Secretary of the Navy Benson declared the Department felt the submarine situation has improved.

Benson declared there was some reason to believe Germany has expendable submarines of unusual power and cruising radius.

SUNDAY GIVES $56,000.

Turns Chicago Offering Over to Mission That Converted Him.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Billy Sunday expected to-day to hand a check for $56,000 to the Pacific Garden Mission here. The sum was the free will offering given him Sunday at the close of a ten weeks campaign here. Sunday was converted at the mission twenty years ago. Billy's Chicago score stood: Trail hitters, 49,157; attendance, 1,250,000; expenses, $125,000.

His last trail hitter was said to have been Charles W. Murphy, former president of the Chicago Cubs.

LONDON APPLAUDS WILSON WARINESS OF PEACE TRAPS

President at One With Allied Governments, Says the Times.

LONDON, May 20.—President Wilson's speech in New York Saturday night holds a prominent position in the morning newspapers, notwithstanding the claims of the Irish situation and the war on their reduced space.

The Daily Chronicle editorially describes the speech as "an utterance which lifts the purposes of the war out of the rut and shows the light of the spirit across its sorrows, shames and monotonies." The Chronicle especially commends the reference to insincere peace overtures.

The Daily Express calls the speech a thrilling call to duty and sacrifice and expresses admiration for the clearness of the President's vision and the soundness of his judgement.

The speech, the Daily News says, is clearly of great importance. Referring to the President's remarks concerning insincere peace moves, it declares:

"If it does not absolutely close the controversy, such a verdict from such a judge inevitably carries very great weight. The reason given for it is certainly not less important than the judgment itself."

The Times says that President Wilson is at one with the Allied Governments. Referring to the peace letters of Emperor Charles of Austria in this connection it comments:

"The President sees the stupid trap just as Mr. Balfour sees it. The best reasons for its rejection will be found in President Wilson's speech. They should relieve the pretended perplexities of Berlin."

Alluding to the President's statement regarding the unfulfilled promises of American soldiers to be raised, the Times comments:

"That is what Germany has brought on herself by trampling with boundless arrogance upon all that men hold sacred."

W. D. HYDE DIES AT 88.

Brooklyn Iron Manufacturer Took Part in Capture of Fort Morgan.

William Douglas Hyde, eighty-eight years old, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Bigelow, No. 505 Sixth Street, Brooklyn. Death was due to infirmities of age.

Mr. Hyde was born in Pottsville, Pa., and at the outbreak of the Civil War enlisted in the navy as an engineer. He was the first engineer of the double turbine gunboat Winnebago, which took part in the capture of Fort Morgan at Mobile, Ala.

Soon after the close of the Civil War Mr. Hyde came to Brooklyn and for forty-five years was engaged in iron manufacturing.

Soldier Struck by Train Dies.

Clarence F. Hughes, a soldier attached to Company B of the 110th Supply Train, Camp Mills, died last night at St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica, from injuries he suffered when struck last Friday night by a train on the Long Island Railroad. Mary Hughes, his mother, lives at Hempstead, Long Island. His home was in St. Louis.

MAYOR'S DAUGHTER ACTS AS RED CROSS COLLECTOR

Solicits Subscriptions in City Hall Park and Mrs. Hylan Pins Buttons on Contributors.

Five minutes after the Red Cross campaign was begun in City Hall Park at noon to-day $15.61 had been contributed. Morris L. Ernstein of No. 341 Fourth Avenue led with a dollar. Announcement was then made that Mr. and Mrs. James B. Duke had contributed $25,000. Then came the Street Cleaning Department Band with a $50 donation, $1 for each member.

The big drive was opened by Miss Sophie Irene Loeb, Vice Chairman of the Mayor's Committee of Women on National Defense, who introduced Aldermanic President Alfred E. Smith. Miss Loeb referred to the $1 subscriptions as "scraps of paper that will make Germany sit up."

Miss Virginia Hylan, daughter of the Mayor, went among the crowd of 5,000 people soliciting donations and her mother stood on the platform and pinned Red Cross buttons on the contributors. So great was the rush of persons desirous of helping Miss Hylan make a record as a Red Cross money collector that two uniformed policemen were required to make a path through the mass of humanity.

Speeches were made by Aldermanic President Smith and Daniel Frohman.

250 MARCH OUT CALMLY DURING SCHOOL FIRE

Signal From Principal's Office Sets Drill in Motion in Two Seconds.

Fire started this afternoon in Public School No. 12, on 125th Street and Wadsworth Avenue, and the children in a speedy manner by the usual fire alarm signal marched out of the building in orderly fashion. The damage was slight.

Thomas F. Gallagan, principal, was in his office when a janitor ran in and said:

"There is a fire on the third floor."

Gallagan touched a button and two minutes later the school marched in column, was found to be safely in the yard, the children were in the building at the time.

It was not known at the children were out that the origin of the fire was behind. It had started in a cardboard box on the third floor.

UNITED SHOE MACHINERY DISSOLUTION IS REFUSED

U. S. Supreme Court Upholds Company Accused Under Anti-Trust Law.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Supreme Court today refused to dissolve the United Shoe Machinery Company as the Government charges that it has violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The Court not only approved the legal organization of the Company but also the much contested "lease system."

The Government's suit, appealed to the Supreme Court after it had been lost in the lower courts, was ordered dismissed. The decision applies to the Company and all its subsidiaries.

The Court divided four to three with Justices McReynolds and Brandeis not participating. Justices Clarke, Holmes and Day concurred in the majority opinion, which was delivered by Justice Hughes. Justices Pitney, White and Vanderbilt dissented.

N. Y. OUT TO DOUBLE CITY'S $25,000,000 RED CROSS QUOTA

Red Cross. The demand for tickets is reported to-day to be tremendous. Alma Gluck, the prima donna, already has auctioned off $10,000 worth of tickets. To-morrow night the Comedy Club will present a benefit play at the Casino Theatre. On Thursday at 6 o'clock the People's Chorus of 2,000 voices will sing at the Public Library.

That night, too, the benefit performance of "Starting Something" at the Vaux Colombier Theatre and a specially reinforced programme at the Hippodrome will add more dollars to the Red Cross fund.

At noon to-day the Police Band and the Police Glee Club began the first of a series of daily "glees" on the Sub-Treasury steps, which was attended by thousands from downtown offices.

At the Liberty Bell in City Hall Park, which has been refurnished and crowned by an electrified cross, the Mayor's Committee of Women for National Defense began to-day their campaign in behalf of the great organizations of mercy. Elsewhere in hotel booths and other places where the public gathers many committees were at work. Thirty-nine teams of ten women each commenced the enormous task of carrying the appeal for funds to every householder in New York.

Today the chairmen and team directors of all the "smoking" organizations in the city assembled at the Chamber of Commerce for the first of the daily luncheons to be a feature of the drive. Here over the table the day-to-day progress of the drive will be discussed.

William C. Breed, Chairman of the Teams Campaign, presided at to-day's affair. At his right sat Executive Directors Charles S. Ward and Will L. Finch. Seated, Pioneer Chairman of the Men's Teams, and Mrs. Walter Maynard, who is head of the Women's Teams, were at the table of honor.

The chairmen of the thirty-nine teams who were present were Mrs. Joseph E. Alexander, Mrs. Maurice L. Ballows, Ralph D. Balliet, Mrs. George F. Baker, Jr., Mrs. Sidney Borg, Mrs. J. H. Dick, William Fox, Mrs. Frederick Goldman, Donald Geddes, Peter Goldsmith, Mrs. John Hay Hammond, J. H. Harding, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Percival S. Hill, Darwin P. Kingsley, William M. Kingsley, Grace A. McFarlane, J. P. Morgan, W. Forbes Morgan, Morgan T. Offield, Louis Pierson, John T. Pratt, Charles C. Rice, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Jacob Schiff, James H. Sheffield, J. P. Simmons, Frederick Strauss, E. V. R. Thayer and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt.

A massing of two bands and a Red Cross corps in the portico of St. Paul's Chapel at Broadway and Vesey Street launched the Red Cross drive for the church. The drive band of sixty-five pieces with fife and drum corps and the 26th Land Artillery Band of seventy-two pieces gave music which drowned the roar of Broadway.

The service, which was conducted by the Rev. William Montague Geer, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Crosby, was quite somewhat of a professional affair, the clergy and Red Cross nurses [illegible]

RED CROSS LINKING ITALY AND AMERICA IN COMMON SPIRIT

Wonderful Accomplishments in Five Months Cement Good Will.

ROME, Sunday, May 19.—While the material aid given Italy by the American Red Cross has been large, the most important part of its work has been in the creation of good will between the two countries. A report on Red Cross work in its first five months in Italy gives detailed figures of what has been done.

There is scarcely a village where the American Red Cross has not brought a message of friendship to the Italians. During April Red Cross representatives, traveling day and night, visited more than 2,000 towns and villages and distributed relief among 218,000 needy families of soldiers at the front.

Throughout Italy the American Red Cross is now operating forty-one kitchens, distributing 120,000 rations weekly; forty-three work rooms employing 3,000 women, who produce 60,000 garments monthly, and thirty schools, having 2,000 children as pupils.

There are also ten hospitals for children who will be transferred to camps for the summer; fourteen baths, mattress, shoe and clothing shops and three stores selling canned food at nominal prices. Then there are five restaurants for soldiers and refugees, which feed 1,000 persons daily.

A model American village for the care of 2,000 refugees is being erected near Pisa.

At the front there are four mobile lance sections and seven mobile kitchens giving hot coffee and American jam to the tired soldiers. Italian commanders have been very grateful for this small but welcome service.

More than 500 hospitals are supplied with drugs, dressings and medicaments. All the supplies come chiefly from America, from the Red Cross warehouses in France. All the work is supervised by Americans, most of whom are volunteers.
