One's character is often expressed in his clothes, whether we ignore the fact or not.

Putting on a good front doesn't mean being "dolled up," although it does make for dignity and self respect, as well as the respect of others.

We offer our services in the interest of good dressing. You know, of course, that we make all our own clothing.

The revisions in men's suits just now make things mighty interesting at $25 and $30.

NEW HOSPITALS DENOUNCED BY ARCHITECT GILBERT

Inadequate Construction Will Inflict New Suffering on Wounded Soldiers.

By Will B. Johnstone.

Speaking at the Salmagundi Club last night before the artists who make the Nation's war posters, under the chairmanship of Charles Dana Gibson, Cass Gilbert, the architect of the Woolworth Building, sounded an alarm concerning the housing of our returning wounded soldiers. The hospital buildings in New York that he had inspected, he said, were inadequate.

"These hospital buildings are of low and flimsy structures," continued Mr. Gilbert, "built without sub-roofs necessary for protection against the sun's rays. I don't know if all our military hospitals are like this, but I say it is an everlasting disgrace to a nation of our vast resources and powers of organization to offer our wounded soldiers quarters such as I saw.

"By the time these buildings are in livable condition from the standpoint of summer heat, they will be unlivable from the standpoint of winter cold, and they are so close together that the sounds of suffering in one can be heard in the other."

Mr. Gilbert then vividly painted a scene he had just witnessed of the arrival of some of our wounded. He saw them being taken away in an ambulance. Where? He didn't know. But with record heat prostrating the well and sound, he devoutedly prayed that these precious invalids would not be subjected to the discomforts unavoidable in the cramped city hospitals described.

"With all beautiful Westchester County to choose hospital sites," Mr. Gilbert exclaimed passionately, "and all the glorious hills of northern Jersey at our command, why should our wounded be confined in such unlovely surroundings?"

Then he told how the architects of the country volunteered their services to the Government, free of charge, at the outbreak of the war, for cantonment and other works of designed construction.

"We were informed by the officials that we wouldn't be needed because the work in camp buildings involved no architectural problems. They construed architecture to mean ornamentation. As if architecture didn't include the multitude of details of convenience and comfort as well as beauty."

Mr. Gilbert launched into the desolate, barren aspect of our cantonments. "Every tree has been uprooted," he said, emphasizing the assiduous care employed in eliminating what little natural beauty existed in the already scenically depressing camp locations. Yiphank especially coming in for mention.

Mr. Gilbert also warned the artists against what he called an "unfortunate slip" in the caption on Flagg's famous poster, "Tell That to the Marines." The interpretation of that line used to be that if anything was foolishly unbelievable the marines would swallow it—that being the days before the Marines became the world's most famous organization of fighting men, said Mr. Gilbert.

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Removed the Cause of this Woman's Illness.

Worcester, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a weakness and pain which used to keep me in bed for two days each month. I tried many doctors without benefit until I was really discouraged. My mother urged me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had helped her so much. I did so and soon saw a change for the better. I kept on taking it and am now so well and strong that I can do all my housework, even my washing, and I have a little baby who is as healthy as I could ask—thanks to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. F. H. Stone, 24 Bowdoin St., Worcester, Mass.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, headaches and nervousness should lose no time in giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.—Advt.

FIRE MENACES 185 HORSES, HOLDS UP BRONX MILK

Blaze on Top Floor of Borden Milk Company Stable Does $50,000 Damage.

A fire, starting on the top floor of the four-story building used as a stable by the Borden Milk Company, at 180th Street and Washington Avenue, Bronx, caused $50,000 damage early this morning.

Incidentally it delayed the milk delivery of several thousand Bronx citizens this morning.

The blaze had been smouldering for some time when discovered by a watchman. It spread rapidly and soon made its way to large supplies of hay, grain and feed. Before the arrival of the fire apparatus flames were shooting from the windows and roof.

Firemen, assisted by a number of sailors, rescued 185 horses from the first, second and third floors. Blankets and bags had to be wrapped around the heads of the frightened animals before they could be led to safety. Fearing the fire would spread to frame dwellings on the opposite side of 180th Street, a second and third alarm were sent in. Chief Kenlon, in a Palm Beach suit, made a record run from his headquarters on Great Jones Street.

ECHO OF DRAKE SANITAIRE.

Tradesmen Ask District Attorney's Help to Collect Debts Unpaid.

Sad-eyed tradesmen from Bayside, Long Island, trooped to the District Attorney's office to-day, bringing with them a flock of unpaid bills left behind when the Drake-Symonds Section Sanitaire, composed of young ladies of wealth who wanted to learn to drive war ambulances, suddenly abandoned its encampment outside of the Long Island town ten days ago. A butcher had a bill for $32.11, and a vegetable vender wanted to collect $27.44. A milkman likewise had an abiding faith that the District Attorney could assist him in the matter of collections.

Assistant District Attorney Taller referred the tradesmen to the last known address of Miss Ethel Langdon Drake, which was the Ritz-Carlton.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advt.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids, and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic, just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow, and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.—Advt.
