MOVEMENTS OF STEAMSHIPS.

NEW YORK—Arrived: Aller, Bremen.

One of the things that is in politics all the time is "the machine."

Dan Lamont says he is still a Democrat, but intimates that Mr. Bryan is not.

Campaign orators will have to go to work just like other people after election.

A Chicago blind man has eloped with a blind woman. Cupid's blindness is confirmed.

Bicycle firms may come, and bicycle firms may go, but the bicycle will go on forever.

Boston is about to abolish horse cars. At that Boston is faster than Philadelphia.

The attempt to pull the sultan off his perch is greeted by the thunderous applause of the civilized world.

Now that the haying season is over, the demonstrations on the McKinley lawn increase in number and violence.

A Michigan farmer predicts that the world is coming to an end Oct. 1. Don't say that with Pingree so near the goal of his ambition.

The news from South Carolina is pleasing. The black eye given Tillman will not be received with regret in many quarters.

Whitelaw Reid appears to be trying to indicate to the people of this great country that they missed it when they failed to elect him vice president.

Arkansas is plainly trying to take Texas' place as the leading Democratic state of the Union. Jones' majority over all is likely to reach 80,000.

The insane asylums of Ohio haven't all the patients they are entitled to. A county committeeman claims a spider wove her web over his door, and that the word "McKinley" was plainly spelled out in the threads of the web.

Warner Miller is still outside the breastworks, the clouds are lowering, and the price of coal is going up every minute.

Oh, Mrs. Charlotte Smith, stop talking about the bicycle, mount a wheel and ride out of hearing as fast as you can.

Powell Clayton says the Democratic majority in Arkansas has no significance. Clayton is getting to be something of a joker.

There is a great demand for silver dollars at Washington. Everybody seems to want a small bundle of object lessons handy.

One of Tom Watson's greatest handicaps lies in the fact that, although a Populist, he doesn't wear his whiskers like a Populist.

Refractory pupils of the province of Quebec are made to kiss the floor. The people of Quebec appear to be indifferent to the increase of their death rate.

The greatest fish story of the season comes from Bellingham Bay, Wash. Fish are actually so thick there that people are catching them with garden rakes.

It may be truthfully said that Li Hung Chang crossed the North American continent without getting an idea of its riches, its beauty and its grandeur.

The attempt of Mr. Corbett, Mr. Fitzsimmons and Mr. Sharkey to break out right in the midst of the political excitement is ill-timed and probably not according to etiquette.

Joe Manley is trying to make the Republican majority in Maine 30,000, so that at a later date he can walk up to McKinley and demand one of the juiciest plums in the basket.

Isn't it about time for the people to get after the anthracite trust? The advance in the price of coal means a tax of $60,000,000 a year on the consumers of coal, 70 per cent of whom can ill afford the increase.

QUIET LOVE FEAST

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AT BUFFALO WILL BE ONLY A RATIFICATION MEETING

WITH RED FIRE AND MUSIC,

IN WHICH TAMMANY WILL PRESIDE AND HILL WILL BE VERY ABSENT.

SHEEHAN OBJECTS TO SILVER.

Declares His Determination to Resign His Position on the National Committee.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 13.—All within forty-eight hours the prospect of a state Democratic convention, enlivened by a sharp contest for supremacy between those who advocate strict party regularity by the indorsement of the Chicago ticket and platform, and those who are inclined to believe that what they called heresies are not binding upon the party, has vanished, and in its place has appeared a brass band, red fire, ratification meeting with little or no friction and possibly placing its indorsement almost unanimously upon the work of the Chicago convention.

Senator Hill will probably not attend the convention. That will remove one element of the anticipated discord. Chairman Hinkley, of the state committee, whose place is wanted by those who favor the Chicago ticket, will decline to be a candidate for re-election, and that eliminates another chance for friction. Senator Hill said to a press representative in Albany today—and this is the first definite statement he has made upon the subject—"I will probably remain away from the Buffalo convention. The statement emanating from Buffalo, that I had telegraphed in response to a query that I would be there Tuesday, is without foundation. Mr. Mack, the state committeeman from that section, telegraphed me on Friday, asking when I would arrive in Buffalo, and whether it was definite or not that I would be there. I have not answered the telegram. As I said, I shall probably not attend the convention; but a great many things might happen between now and Wednesday."

In addition to the removal of these elements, which it was supposed would lead to serious complications, heated controversy and a prolonged and bitter convention, the fact is patent tonight that seven-ninths of the membership of the convention is composed of delegates who come instructed from their localities to vote for the Chicago ticket and platform. This places the control of the convention, and all its actions, in the hands of those who have assured Mr. Bryan and the Democratic national committee of active support, and the adoption of a platform and the selection of a state ticket will be very easily disposed of with little or no friction. The precedent established at other Democratic conventions is that all resolutions introduced upon the floor shall be referred without debate to the committee on resolutions, to be by them considered in executive session. An attempt to even discuss these when the platform is presented is made impossible, if the leaders so desire, by the chairman of the committee on resolutions demanding the previous question at the conclusion of the reading. It is believed tonight that John C. Sheehan, Senator Edward Murphy, Mr. Mack and others, who are leading the Chicago indorsement movement, will have such arrangements made as will prevent any demonstration of opposition, and merely have a great convention in which Tammany hall will figure largely as the leaders of the applause. Tammany intends to come to the convention on Tuesday with five special trains. This is looked upon as significant of the fact that it is intended to make this convention a great ratification meeting for the indorsement of the Chicago platform and ticket.

SHEEHAN WILL RESIGN.

Chicago Platform Is un-Democratic and He Cannot Support It.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—In reply to a recent letter of inquiry from Joseph B. Mayer, of Buffalo, as to the attitude of ex-Lieut. Gov. William F. Sheehan in the present campaign, the latter makes his position plain in the following interesting statement:

"The proceedings of the recent Chicago convention are unparalleled in Democratic history. Radicalism and not patriotism dominated its course. The guiding and, in a large measure, the controlling spirits of that body were Republican United States senators—men whose votes made it possible to engraft upon the statutes of this country the objectionable and disastrous McKinley law. When before were rock-ribbed Republican protectionists given in a Democratic convention seats of honor and permitted to dictate and shape the policy of our party? The patriotic advice of men who had grown gray in Democratic service was spurned and the judgment of those new-found apostles of an un-Democratic creed was enthusiastically accepted.

"A platform was adopted under the guise of Democracy, from which all thoughtful Democrats should recoil. There never has been a moment since its adoption that I could support it, except by a loss of my self-respect. What is this platform? There is not a line in it that is Democratic that is not good. There is not a word in it that is bad and therefore un-Democratic, that has not been stolen or taken from the Populist platform. Bad as Republicanism is, subversive as it has generally been of the best interests of the country, it is infinitely preferable to Populism, which is next of kin to socialism. We should examine our past platforms in connection with the teachings of the founders and statesmen of our party to ascertain what is the test of party faith. Democratic principles took root with the birth of the Republic; they are as sound and lofty today as they were when first expounded by Jefferson. All Democrats should give their hearty support to candidates who stand upon a platform which reaffirms and upholds those principles.

"When was it ever a tenet of Democracy that by the fiat of government fifty-three cents' worth of silver should be made equal to one hundred cents of gold in payment of public and private debts? What Democratic convention has failed in recent years to justly condemn Republican paternalism? Where is there a more wicked form of paternalism than for the government to stamp for the benefit of the mine owner fifty-three cents' worth of silver bullion as one dollar in coin? Where is Democracy in a proposition that allows the silver of the world to be coined at our mints free of charge at a ratio far beyond its intrinsic or commercial value, and compels our citizens to accept this false and dishonest coin at its face value in extinguishment of their debts and in payment for their labor? The advocates of this platform hazard everything on the single proposition that the enactment of a law for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without the aid or assistance of other nations will bring gold and silver to a parity. We consider our silver dollar today as good as gold, because it has back of it the credit and faith of the nation pledged to maintain its parity with gold. Under free coinage this credit and faith will be withdrawn from the new coin. The government will have no interest in, or responsibility for it. These men propose, however, that the power of congress shall be exercised to compel our citizens to accept in payment of their debts a dollar that is intrinsically worth but fifty-three cents, without being able to compel corresponding relief to the American debtors when foreign creditors demand of them payment in gold. No law should compel them to be dishonest.

"But more sacred to every citizen than the honor and business interests of individuals is the HONOR OF THE NATION.

"The United States is a debtor by virtue of the bonds it has issued. If for these bonds gold was paid, justice, morals and national honor all cry out for redemption, principal and interest, in the same coin. But it is claimed that on the face of these bonds the government is given the legal right to redeem them in coin, and, therefore, may redeem them in silver coin. A question of morals should always rise superior to a legal question. For the $850,000,000 of government bonds now outstanding we have received gold coin, and unless the intelligence of this nation be blunted and its patriotic impulses paralyzed, the obligations will be redeemed in similar coin.

"I have heard it said that no attempt will be made to affect existing obligations, if the work of the Chicago convention be ratified at the polls. The answer is two-fold. The proposition not to repudiate these obligations was overwhelmingly defeated by the convention after Mr. Bryan had concluded the speech which resulted in his nomination. Under free coinage gold would be exported or hoarded and silver would become the money of the country. With silver or fiat paper money as our only means of revenue, how can these millions of United States bonds be redeemed in gold?

"With a legitimate proposition to increase the number of United States supreme court judges, or to abolish within constitutional lines life tenure in office, I may have no controversy; nor do I object to proper criticism of judges or public officials. But when an open, bold attempt is made to increase the number of these judges with the avowed purpose of securing a decision on any question in a predetermined way, patriotic and intelligent men may well hold up their hands in horror.

"In view of this indictment of the work of the Chicago convention, I cannot support its candidates, except upon the plea of party regularity. The claim that Democrats should support the ticket for the sake of regularity would have more weight if it were urged on behalf of a candidate whose Democracy was unsullied.

"I admit the impossibility of drawing a platform that in all things will be satisfactory to all Democrats. But never before have we been asked to make compromise between national honor and national degradation. The Democrats who responded to President Lincoln's call to take up arms for the maintenance of the nation's honor did not cease to be Democrats because they proved themselves patriots.

"It is not pleasant to break old associations. I wish I could bring myself to believe that the Chicago convention was right and that national blessings might flow from the ratification of its work; but my conscience, my judgment and the experience of other nations convince me of its error. I believe most firmly that the success of this ticket would mean paralysis of business, that the employer of labor would be unable to secure the credit necessary to conduct his business, and that the avenues of industry would be closed. Production cannot find a profitable market in the impoverishment of the people. Panic, will follow, and ere the plaudits of the victorious multitude have died away, they will realize the poverty and degradation of the nation and will turn with the anger of a once deluded but disillusioned people upon false prophets and idols whose advice they followed. The free coinage of silver may be advocated from patriotic motives, but it is arrant demagogism to array for selfish and un-Democratic purposes class against class, the poor against the rich, employers against employes. For the first time within my memory, we have a candidate of a so-called Democratic convention appealing, not to the patriotism and Democracy of our people, not to their conscience and intelligence, but to their prejudices and dislikes.

DISASTER AND RUIN

"If the state I have the honor to represent stands in September where it stood in June, I will gladly continue as its representative upon this committee. But if the organized Democracy of the state reverses its position, stands where it should not stand, pulls down the banner of Democracy and hoists the flag of Populism, I will not continue to represent it. If the Buffalo convention indorses the platform of the Chicago convention, or its nominees, my resignation will immediately be forwarded to the national committee."

GORMAN TO MEET HILL.

Silverites Will Try Again to Win Over the New Yorker.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — Hon. James K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is in Washington, and will tomorrow have a conference with Senators Faulkner and Butler and others of the campaign managers. He came to the capital on an afternoon train from Laurel, Md., where he had been the guest of Senator Gorman. He arrived at Laurel Saturday night, and remained there till this afternoon.

Senators Jones and Gorman talked freely about the campaign, but not a word was given out about the conference, other than that it had reference to the general outlook. It is understood, however, that the situation in New York occupied much of the time of the two gentlemen. A subsequent statement that Mr. Gorman was expected to leave for the Empire state within the next twenty-four hours lends color to the belief that there will be a conference between Senators Gorman and Hill in the near future.

Upon arriving in Washington, Chairman Jones refused to be interviewed further than to say that he was satisfied with the Democratic situation.

Ex-Dynamiter Coming.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 13.—The Cunard line steamer Lucania sailed this morning at 8:46 o'clock, having on board Albert G. Whitehead, the recently released dynamiter. Whitehead was in excellent spirits, and said that he was rejoiced to find himself on his way to the United States. Many friends were present to see him off, and greeted him with cheers as the ship departed.

Chicago Ex-Consul Dead.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Henry Claussenius, formerly German consul at Chicago, is dead.

PLOT OF SILVERITES

DEMOCRATIC HONEST MONEY LEAGUE SOUNDS A NOTE OF WARNING.

BOLD, WICKED CONSPIRACY,

WHOSE TRUE PURPOSES ARE DISGUISED IN MOST INGENIOUS MANNER.

CRAFTILY PLANNED YEARS AGO.

A Call to Honest Men to Rally to Defeat the Scheme of Robbery.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Democratic Honest Money League of America has issued an address to Democrats throughout the country, of which the following is the substance:

A perilous situation confronts our beloved country. A bold, wicked conspiracy, ably organized, thoroughly equipped and ingeniously operated, has succeeded in securing a deep foothold among our people. So well has its true purpose been disguised that many are contributing blindly the sympathy and force necessary to its success, to the irreparable injury of themselves and their fellow citizens. It is time for honest, patriotic citizens to counsel together and take a position in defense of their country.

This conspiracy against our people was born of selfish greed, and propagated by the men and interests that alone are to benefit by its success, the silver producers and speculators of this and other countries, their agents and attorneys, who wish a forced market for their wares at enormous profits. It was craftily planned and has been craftily handled for some years, and every element and condition necessary for its success has been seduced to its support. Among the elements enlisted in behalf of this scheme of public robbery are:

First, the commercial and financial depression is being used in the most unconscionable manner to mislead and dupe the suffering people, to excite them in their extremity to act from blind passion rather than calm judgment.

Secondly, men have been shown an apparent opportunity to avoid honestly contracted indebtedness; they should know that the adoption of a dishonest dollar would lessen the opportunity to earn any kind of a dollar, by destroying enterprise and driving capital to cover.

Thirdly, enlisted in their cause are the disloyal who would establish license on the lines of anarchy in place of liberty regulated by law—the Tillmans, the Altgelds and their sympathizers and followers, the element which dominated the Chicago convention.

BRYAN CHEERED AT CHURCH.

Strange Sabbath Day Experience for the Silver Nominee.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 13.—When William J. Bryan came out of the Presbyterian church, which he attended today, he was greeted by a crowd of people who cheered him and shouted as loudly as did the throngs that heard him speak last night. By invitation he attended the church of which the Rev. G. F. Cannon, is pastor, and as he entered the house of worship fully 1,000 people were vainly seeking admission. But the edifice was packed to its fullest capacity and hundreds were turned away. Nothing remarkable occurred during the services, but once the benediction was pronounced, there was a crush around the pew occupied by the candidate.

All seemed determined to grasp him by the hand. The jam became so violent in a short while that Mr. Bryan was almost crushed to the floor. A sergeant of police was called, and he, aided by Col. J. I. Martin, whose pew he occupied, succeeded in conducting Mr. Bryan safely out of the church. And then Mr. Bryan saw what he had never seen before. For blocks about the church was a multitude of several thousand, wholly forgetful of the Sabbath, who cheered him as lustily as he had been cheered the night before at Concordia and Sportsman's park and the Auditorium.

The police pulled him through the crowd from the church door to his carriage at the curb, but men held the horses and for several minutes he sat in the carriage shaking hands with the men and women who struggled to reach him. Col. Martin, who had been left behind in the jam at the church door, finally reached the carriage and got into it and the horses dashed away amid the cheers of the enthusiastic church-goers. Mr. Bryan took dinner with relatives and spent the afternoon with them. At 9 o'clock this evening he went to the private car provided for him by the national committee, and went to bed. Tomorrow at 6 o'clock in the morning he will start on his tour through the South.

VETERAN ACTOR LAID TO REST.

Noted Stars of the Stage Act as Pall Bearers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Church of the Transfiguration, better known as the "Little Church Around the Corner," was thronged this afternoon with the friends of the late veteran actor, James Lewis, who died on Thursday at West Hampton. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. George H. Houghton, the rector of the church, who was assisted by Rev. W. R. Scott. Among those present were: James H. Breslin, C. W. Couldock, Frank Evans, Hubert Wilkie, George Fawcett, Miss Bertha Haswell, Mrs. Richard Dorney, S. Miller Kent, Judge and Mrs. C. P. Daly, Everet Johnson Weldell, Francis Carlyle, Lewis Baker, Eugene Boles.

The pall-bearers were: Augustin Daly, George Clarke, Sol Smith Russell, Dr. Holbrook Curtis, Henry Miller, John Schoeffel, John Drew and Henry E. Abbey.

The music was simple in its character, and was rendered by the orchestra from Daly's theater. The interment was at Woodlawn cemetery.

FATE OF FISHERS.

Five Newfoundlanders Drowned in the Straits of Belle Island.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—A special to the Journal from Halifax, N. S., says that Henry Warford and his four sons, of Green Bay, Newfoundland, were drowned in the straits of Belle Island while on their way home in a small schooner from a fishing cruise. Henry Turner and his fourteen-year-old son were with them. The former was bruised so badly that he will die, and the boy's leg was broken.

Rebel Against Paying Toll.

SPRINGFEILD, Ky., Sept. 13.—The people of this, Washington, county, voted last fall to make the turnpikes free throughout the county. As the pikes are owned by companies, it is necessary for another vote of the people to assess taxes to purchase the pikes. This vote has not yet been taken and the authorities cannot legally stop toll gathering. This the people of the county do not understand and, out of patience with delay, they have risen in rebellion and torn down about all the toll gates in the county.

Bank of England Rates Will Rise.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The financial article in the Standard says: "In view of the pending American demands for gold, it is common prudence to expect a possible rise in the Bank of England rate of discount by Thursday."

MAINE WILL SPEAK

SOUND MONEY MEN OF ALL PARTIES ARE THOROUGHLY UNITED.

MAJORITY OF OVER 30,000.

EVEN THE SILVERITES CONCEDE THAT SUCH IS THE PROBABILITY TODAY.

TOM REED HAS A WALKOVER.

Silverites Will Get No More Than Ten Members of the Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 13.—If the weather is fair tomorrow, Hon. Llewellyn Powers, Republican, will be elected governor of Maine by over 30,000 majority, with a strong possibility that the figures will be nearer 40,000. At least that is what the prophets of both parties, who have been figuring the vote for the last three weeks, declare. Final instructions have been given, all plans are completed, and the ranks are closed up for the battle of ballots which will show to what extent the people of the state favor the gold standard, and how many are enlisted in the cause of free silver. Chairman Manley, of the Republican state committee, believes that the figures will be the largest ever given in a presidential year, and his Democratic opponents practically agree with him.

Not in twenty years has the Pine Tree state seen such a vigorous canvass, with so much interest manifested. During the last three weeks it is estimated that over 700 speeches have been delivered in all sections of the state by orators of local and national fame in behalf of both parties. Tons of campaign documents have been distributed.

The Republican canvass has, of course, been conducted under the more favorable circumstances. Maine has never heard so many distinguished Republican orators as during the past few weeks. On the other hand the silver Democratic host has had many dissenters within its lines and the number of prominent deserters has been large. Six weeks ago all was confusion and disorganization in the Democratic camp. The fighting fund was small and victory was practically impossible. But the supporters of free silver rallied the faltering army and took up the contest, determined to make the best fight possible, and until the last gun was fired they resisted stubbornly. The Democratic managers maintain that the doctrine of free silver was practically unknown in Maine two months ago, and they argue that the Democratic vote which will be cast tomorrow means that their policy has made great gains in the last few weeks. They declare that if the Republican majority falls below 20,000 it will be a Democratic victory.

The governor is the only state officer elected by the people in Maine, all others being chosen by the legislature. The candidates on the official ballot tomorrow will be Hon. Llewellyn Powers, of Houlton, Republican; Hon. Melvin P. Frank, of Portland, Democrat; Ammi S. Ladd, of Calais, Prohibition, and Luther C. Bateman, of Auburn, Populist. The name of William Henry Clifford, of Portland, the nominee of the gold Democrats, is not on the ticket and those who wish to vote for him must write his name on the ballot.

Candidate Bateman has waged a hot fight for the Populists, but as many of that party favor free silver and desire to be counted on that side tomorrow, his vote is likely to be less than it was two years ago. The dissensions among the Prohibitionists over the currency have not affected the party in this state and their strength will probably be about the same as in the last election. It is not expected that Clifford, the gold Democrat, will receive more than 2,000 votes.

In all of the congressional districts increased Republican majorities are looked for. Speaker Thomas B. Reed, of the First district, will probably be honored with the largest majority he has ever received, as it is expected that many Democratic ballots will be cast for him. His Democratic opponent, Edward W. Staples, of Biddeford, has not conducted a very thorough canvass. In the Second district the majority for Hon. Nelson Dingley will probably be increased several thousand. Hon. Seth L. Milliken, of Belfast, in the Third district, Republican, is expected to have a majority of over 10,000.

In the last election, Charles H. Boutelle, Republican, had a majority of a little over 8,000 in the Fourth district. There is a representative contest in Bangor which may have some effect on his vote, but it is thought that many Democrats will declare for him and increase his lead.

It is unlikely that more than ten Democrats will be elected to the house of representatives and only half that number are regarded as sure of success. In Bangor and Biddeford the contests over representatives are hot and the result is very doubtful. It is not expected that a single Democrat will secure a seat in the senate.

LEGEND IN CONTROVERSY.

Pope to Settle the Genuineness of the Virgin of Guadalupe.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 13.—The archbishop and bishops have issued a circular to the faithful declaring that, although the belief in the apparition of the Virgin of Guadalupe is not an article of faith, it is the duty of the Catholics to give credence to the legend which has been undisputed through three centuries, and which has been supported by a long succession of bishops. Juan Matco, a leading liberal politician, publishes a long article today asserting that ex-Bishop Comacheo has destroyed popular faith in the miracle and charges the clergy with perpetuating a pious fraud. He charges bad faith in the matter of the recent coronation of the Virgin, and says the Indians have lost faith in the impostures of the clergy. The controversy has become very animated, owing to the participation of various learned laymen, among them the famous antiquarian, Jose Agreda, who manifests doubt as to the apparition. It is daily expected that a telegram will be received from the pope instructing the clergy in the matter.

P. O. CLERKS HAVE GRIEVANCES.

Their Discussion Will Begin at Denver Today.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 13.—Over 100 delegates, many of whom have already arrived, are expected to attend the seventh annual convention of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks, which will convene in this city tomorrow. Among the arrivals are President Benjamin Parkhurst, of Washington, D. C.; Vice Presidents James T. O'Neill, of Baltimore, and William Agnew, of Cleveland; Secretary Wilbur E. Crumbacker, of Chicago, and Treasurer Edward P. Lincoln, of Boston.

"Our principal business," said Mr. Agnew, "will be to discuss the classification bill, which we propose to have introduced in congress. As the law now reads, we are at the mercy of the treasury department each year. We want to be classified and paid according to term of service, as the carriers are paid. Some of the branch organizations have instructed delegates to work for a uniform set of regulations in cities all over the country, under which a vacation will be granted every year."

LI AT VANCOUVER.

It Was Chinaman's Day in the Columbian Capital.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 13.—At 11 o'clock this morning Li Hung Chang arrived at Vancouver. Crowds lined the approach to the depot and wharf, and masses of people crowded all the eminences around the harbor. The Chinese residents had erected a very handsome and artistic arch on the bridge leading to the wharf and a long line of Chinamen in rich robes of blue, green, plum color, olive and orange stood in line before the wharf waiting to receive the great viceroy. The bridge was carpeted for some yards on either side of the arch and on this carpet stood a carved ebony table on which incense of sandal wood was kept constantly burning in a richly carved bronze burner. The Chinese band that sounded like bagpipes played Chinese music as Earl Li alighted from the train. A carriage drawn by four white horses and draped with the union jack waited to convey him the short distance from the train to the steamer. When the procession started the coach was preceded by his celebrated scarlet chair, carried empty by four men, and several bands. A division of marines from the warship in the harbor fell into line behind the viceroy, followed by a long deputation of Chinamen in their picturesque robes.

The viceroy seemed delighted with the demonstration in his honor, and especially with the homage of his countrymen, who fell on one knee and raised clasped hands to him as he passed. The gang plank of the Empress of China was carpeted as for royalty, with scarlet, the ropes were bound with yellow and draped with flags. As he was carried up the plank in his scarlet chair, the Chinese dragon flag was run to the main mast and a salute of nine guns was fired from H. M. S. Comus. The absence of cheering was noticeable and gave an Oriental solemnity to the proceedings. All the ships in the harbor were gaily decorated with rainbows and bunting and many of the roofs around displayed kodak fiends. Many prominent citizens had cards of admission to the Empress and crowded her decks to catch a glimpse of the earl, as he was carried aboard. For this one day the usual social order was subverted, and Chinamen everywhere took precedence of their white brethren in the good-natured throngs that lined the wharf.

It was emphatically Chinaman's day. Almost immediately on reaching the steamer Li Hung Chang granted audience in the saloon to a deputation of gorgeously gowned Chinamen from whom he received an address, read from a scarlet paper. During the audience his servant several times put his pipe to his lips and all but smoked for the great potentate as a mark of his appreciation of the courtesies extended him by the Canadian Pacific railway. Li conferred knighthood upon A. E. Lalonde, of the passenger department of that road, who accompanied him on the journey. The empress of China sails Monday and Li Hung Chang will spend the intervening time aboard. Tomorrow morning will be devoted to receiving deputations from the board of trade and other civic bodies.

KNEW NOT HER ASSAILANT.

Mrs. Delia Parnell Denies a Recent Rumor.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A correspondent has had an interview at Bray, Ireland, with Mrs. Delia Stewart Parnell, the venerable mother of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, in accordance with instructions to ascertain whether a story was true which has been published in certain American newspapers, to the effect that Mrs. Parnell was aware of the identity of the person who made a murderous assault upon her in April, of last year; that she had been afraid to disclose the name while she was in the United States, but that now, that she was in a foreign country, she was prepared to name the assailant and that he had been actuated by political motives. Mrs. Parnell denied all these assertions to the correspondent of the Associated Press.

The venerable lady, when seen at Bray, said that she still felt the ill effects of the accident that had befallen her on shipboard while crossing the Atlantic. She explained that the murderous assault made upon her at Bordentown, N. J., has been reported by bits and scraps in the American newspapers. At the time of the occurrence, or immediately afterwards, she was unable to remember clearly what had occurred, but she was emphatic in saying that she was, then and now, ignorant of the identity of her assailant. Mrs. Parnell totally rejected the names that had been suggested of those that might have had a political motive for the assault. She believes that it was made by a tramp. The first blow, she explained, on the back of the head had made her insensible, and the injuries which the doctor found all over her body, in addition to a long cut to the bone on the calf of the right leg, did not leave any doubt that it was intended to murder her. Indeed the doctor at the time thought she would die.

INTO A RAVINE.

Six Passenger Cars Drop Thirty Feet—Two People Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 13.—The Chronicle's Eureka, Cal., special says: A train on the Mad River and Arcata road went through the Mad River bridge today. Six cars loaded with passengers dropped thirty feet into the dry bed of the river. Annie Holt and Sam Cameron were killed and ten others seriously injured. The accident was caused by the giving way of a span of the bridge over which the train was passing.

GOLD IN WYOMING.

Great Excitement Over What Are Said to Be Rich Discoveries.

RAWLINS, Wyo., Sept. 13.—There is much excitement here over a recent gold discovery on Grand Encampment creek, about forty-five miles southeast of this city. The discovery was made by A. H. Huston and Ben Cullen in July. They have kept the matter quiet until the present time. At a depth of twelve feet they have, it is claimed, a pay streak twenty-two inches wide assays from which give returns from $200 to $1,000 in gold. Forty or fifty claims have been located. Numerous parties are preparing to go to the camp as rapidly as they can. Editor McMicken, who has just returned from the camp, says it is the greatest mineral region in Wyoming or Northern Colorado. The camp is in the same mineral zone as Hayns Peak and the North Park mines.

Going to "Civilize" Africans.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Brussels correspondent of the Times says that Leopold, king of the Belgians, has sent an autograph letter to Emperor William, defending the administration of the Congo State against the attacks of the German press. King Leopold expresses the determination to pursue a civilizing mission in Africa in spite of all obstacles. He alluded to the traditional friendship between Germany and Belgium.

Cotton Mills Closed.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 13.—Yesterday the Nashville cotton mills shut down for six weeks. The present high price of cotton is assigned as the cause. The mills have been running with a short force for some time, and the shut-down throws 200 hands out of employment. The full force is 1,000 hands.

FAMOUS NUMBER 1

SCOTLAND YARD DETECTIVES CAPTURE THE MUCH-WANTED TYNAN AT BOULOGNE.

PHOENIX PARK MURDERS

IN WHICH TYNAN WAS IMPLICATED, RECALLED BY THE ARREST.

HIS EXTRADITION WILL FOLLOW.

Prisoner, but Recently Landed in Europe, Was Already Plotting With Fenians.

BOULOGNE, Sept. 13.—Tynan, the notorious "Number One," has been arrested here on a Scotland Yard warrant which was issued in 1882. Tynan arrived in Europe by landing in Genoa in August. He proceeded from there to Paris, where he remained for some days consorting with a number of the dynamite faction of the Irish party.

He had been traveling under the name of George Gordon and other aliases when he arrived in Boulogne on Friday evening and put up at the Hotel Folkestone, where he did not hesitate to expound his Fenian views in the bar of the hotel.

His movements had been watched from the time he had arrived on the French territory. The local commissary of police, together with an English detective, burst into his room at 4 o'clock in the morning. The detective held a loaded revolver to his head and threatened to shoot him if he resisted. Tynan was secured and admitted his identity. Incriminating papers and a large sum of money were found in his possession.

The prisoner was lodged in a cell in the Boulogne police station and he will be arraigned in the morning with a view to his extradition to England.

The warrant on which the arrest is made charges that the prisoner was concerned in the murders of Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary, and Mr. Burke, under secretary, in Phoenix Park, adjoining the Vice Regal lodge in Dublin, on May 6, 1882, and with the manufacture of dynamite bombs for use in England.

Detective Inspector Walsh has arrived from Scotland Yard to conduct the case. He said that there would be some connection between Tynan's arrest and the arrest of a man named Bell yesterday at Glasgow, and of J. Wallace, at Rotterdam.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The first name of the man Bell arrested at Glasgow on Saturday, in connection with Tynan's arrest at Boulogne, is Edward. He is described as an American. He was arrested quietly at the Victoria hotel at Glasgow, where he had been staying for four days.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Standard has an editorial based on a dispatch from its correspondent at Boulogne, in which it expresses the belief that Tynan, when arrested, was preparing for further dynamite operations in England.

DALY IN DUBLIN.

Irish Patriot Disclaims Participation in Dynamite Plots.

DUBLIN, Sept. 13.—John Daly, who was recently released from Portland, after serving several years on conviction of complicity in a dynamite plot, together with his brother, arrived at Queenstown near here on Saturday evening. He was met by John Redmond, Patrick O'Brien, Timothy Harrington and others.

In replying to an address, Daly declared that he was not a dynamiter, and that he never believed in dynamite to terrorize the English government. The dream of his life, he said, was to fight for Ireland like a soldier and a patriot.

There was also a demonstration here in honor of Daly by the amnesty association. They presented an address to the released dynamiter, and Daly, in replying, again repudiated the dynamite policy. He said he thought that Irishmen were too brave and generous to advocate such principles. He concluded by declaring that he would be identified with no party or faction.

FOUR TUNNELED OUT.

Prisoners in the Pierre Jail Pardon Themselves.

Special to the Globe.

PIERRE, S. D., Sept. 13.—A wholesale jail delivery took place here tonight. Four prisoners, Arthur Lee, from Hughes county, confined on the charge of horse stealing, Sam Davis and George Hart, from Faulk county, on a charge of burglary, and Carl Engelbrecht, from Faulk county, on a charge of grand larceny, tunneled out and are now at large. The sheriff has organized a posse and expects to have them in custody tomorrow.

EDITORS AT THE SOO.

Their Stay at Mackinac Will Be Cut Short.

Special to the Globe.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 13.—The Minnesota editorial party reached the Soo at 9 this evening and left for Mackinac Island about 11, where they are due early in the morning. The lake was a little rough after leaving Duluth, but today it has been delightful and every one on board is enjoying the trip.

They will leave the island tomorrow forenoon for the return trip and be in St. Paul Wednesday morning.

BALLOT FOR REDS.

Special to the Globe.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept. 13.—Some time ago Indians who have taken allotments made a demand on the commissioners of Benson county for a voting precinct on Devils Lake Indian reservation. It was refused and appeal was taken to Judge Morgan's court. The case was argued Saturday and the decision was in favor of the Indians. It will go to the supreme court. Sixty Indians have taken land under the Dawes act and claim it gave them the right to vote. The supreme court will be asked to take it up first.

Dervishes Oppose the Advance.

CAIRO, Sept. 13.—Word has been received from the front that Egyptian troops with the Nile expedition are concentrated at Fereirg, which is only twenty-three miles from the dervish outpost at Kerma, where the dervishes have been concentrating reinforcements of cavalry as though with the intention of making a stand against the British advance.

Dearborn's Injuries May Be Fatal.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—Rev. Dr. John A. Dearborn, ex-president for Missouri of the American Protective association, who was yesterday assaulted and nearly killed, regained partial consciousness today, and it is now thought will recover. Owing to the fact that he is over seventy years of age and feeble, however, the ultimate result may prove more serious than is now anticipated. The police have no clue to the assailant.
