FOREIGN NATIONS WANT SENATE TO MODIFY RESERVATIONS

turned after the strike formally was called off, was further complicated by a new walkout pending an agreement by the miners and operators' conference at Washington.

In Colorado, where the union miners were among the first to resume operations, a strike effective Friday was called unless all striking miners were reinstated. Production in Colorado was reported as nearly normal.

Reports from cities throughout the Middle West to-day showed some industries already have been curtailed and public utilities hampered by the fuel shortage.

In Chicago, coal for some non-essential industries has been shutt off, T. W. Proctor, regional coal director for the Northwest announced. St. Louis reported that section of the Southwest as threatened with a serious shortage. Light and heat plants in one southern Illinois town have been shut down, another will close to-morrow and a score of others are threatened by the shortage.

Oklahoma City's coal supply practically is exhausted. Some schools and industries have been forced to close.

Two industrial plants have been forced to close in Kansas City and scores are threatened, Chairman Corbett of the Regional Coal Committee announced. Electric power will be shut off in Emporia, Kan., to-night.

WEST VIRGINIA MINES WORKING 50 PER CENT.

Union Leader Says All Men Will Be Back by the End of the Week.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Although 75 per cent. of the mines in the Kanawha coal field are operating, coal production is less than 50 per cent. of normal. Of a daily capacity amounting to 47,000 tons, only 20,350 tons were mined yesterday. Many of the large mines are not working.

William Petry, District Vice President of the United Mine Workers, said the situation was "improving and 90 per cent. of the miners are back at work. The union officers are in control of the situation, and will have every man back before the last of the week."

PITTSBURGH HAS COAL TO RUN MILLS 30 DAYS

Mines Also Are in Operation in Northern Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—Coal supplies in Pittsburgh are sufficient to keep most mills and factories in operation for thirty days, it was said by fuel men to-day.

This, coupled with the operation of large numbers of mines in the northern part of West Virginia and increased coal production in the non-union mines of Western Pennsylvania, might mean inconvenience, but not necessarily hardship in the near future, it was added.

New Strike Threatened by Colorado Miners.

PUEBLO, Colo., Nov. 18.—Colorado to-day faced a second shutdown of its coal mines through the ultimatum issued by George O. Johnson, district president, United Mine Workers of America, calling out union men next Friday, unless what he terms a "black list" of union miners by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and other concerns is suspended. Johnson declared that certain union miners were being refused reinstatement since the recall of the strike order last week. He further charged that they are required to sign an agreement to leave all disputes to the Rockefeller industrial plan.

Mines operating under contracts which have not expired are exempt from the order. Approximately 5,000 miners answered the nation-wide strike order, but many returned to work.

Indiana Light and Power Only for Essentials.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 18.—With coal miners of the country still refusing to return to work, drastic orders for curtailment of fuel have gone into effect throughout Indiana. An order issued by the Indiana Public Service Commission to discontinue service for electric signs, show window illumination, fountains and other non-essential uses of gas, water and electricity, has been generally carried out. In Indianapolis the streets presented the appearance of the lightless nights of wartime. In the coal fields there was no change in the situation, the miners remaining firm in their refusal to return to work pending satisfactory developments at the Washington conference.

Some West Virginia Mines Running; Troops Leaving.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Federal troops on coal strike duty in Southern West Virginia were preparing to-day to leave for Camp Taylor, Kentucky. The soldiers made their way from mining communities to Charleston this morning. Operators declared today that while many mines were operating, the working forces were far below normal. Union officials said many miners had already returned to work and that others, ready to go back, were forced to remain idle because the mines were not in condition to be worked.

Pennsylvania Miners Still Remain Away From Work.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 18.—Central and Western Pennsylvania coal mines were, for the most part, idle to-day, and according to both representatives of the operators and the union, the outlook for an immediate resumption of operations is not bright. Union miners of the two fields have announced they cannot go back to work until a new wage scale has been signed.

Pinch of Coal Strike Felt Along Canadian Border.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 18.—Border cities already have begun to feel the pinch of the recent American coal strike. All bituminous coal in storage at Windsor and other adjoining border municipalities to-day had been seized by order of the fuel controller.

GARFIELD TO ACT TO SPEED UP COAL WAGE AGREEMENT

Operators Delay New Offer—Would Know What Public Will Stand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A general statement on the coal situation, addressed to the coal operators, miners and the public, will be issued soon by Fuel Administrator Garfield, it was decided at a two-hour conference of the Cabinet to-day.

Dr. Garfield attended the session, where there was an exhaustive discussion of the problem of preventing suffering from a coal shortage and of getting the miners to return to work.

Following the meeting Garfield declared his statement would not be governed by deliberations at the conference now in progress here between miners and operators.

Negotiations between bituminous coal miners and operators in the central competitive field continued at a standstill to-day, the operators again obtaining postponement of the joint conference of Wage Scale Committees on the ground that their counter-proposal had not been completed.

The operators were said to be considering very carefully where the money to pay wage increases would come from, and the possible effect the granting of the workers' demands might have on the future control of the mines. Assurances will be sought from several Government departments before reply is made to the miners' demands for increased wages and shorter hours.

Persistent rumors that the operators had asked for a conference with Fuel Administrator Garfield to learn how much of an increase in the cost of production due to wage advances could be passed on to the consuming public, were denied again to-day by Dr. Garfield.

The possibility of Federal control of the mines in case of popular disapproval of higher prices of coal was said to be receiving the close attention of the operators.

Returning Miners Resent Ambush Attack on Worker.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Nov. 18.—Six hundred union miners who went to work in the Florence Mine near here to-day, promptly walked out when they learned that Joseph Zuby, a miner, had been fired on from ambush while on his way to the pit.

Other union mines in the district, opened yesterday, reported increased working forces to-day.

COAL EMBARGO IN SOUTH THREATENS MANY MILLS

Fuel Supplies Discontinued in Great Territory South of Ohio River and East of Mississippi.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—Closing down of numbers of cotton mills and other manufacturing plants in the South within a few days was foreseen to-day in an order of the regional coal committee of the Railroad Administration discontinuing their supplies of coal. The order, effective to-day, was announced as "imperatively necessary because of the failure of miners in the country's great coal producing regions to return to work," although the soft coal strike call has been cancelled.

Electricity generated by waterpower supplies many of the larger manufacturing plants in the South, and these would not be affected, but there are hundreds of others that depend on coal entirely.

The Southern region of the Railroad Administration includes roughly all the territory east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers.

WOMAN FREED ON CHARGE OF SELLING TEA WITH A KICK

Jury Out 45 Minutes—"Can't Convict a Woman," Sighs Losing Prosecutor.

Mrs. Josephine Boyle, proprietor of the Green Tea Room at No. 207 West 48th Street, the first New York woman to fight a liquor-selling complaint since war prohibition became effective, was found not guilty to-day in the United States District Court before Judge Knox by a jury that was out forty-five minutes. The trial occupied two days.

It appeared in evidence that on Sept. 6, policemen and Internal Revenue agents saw one Joseph Lynch enter the tea room, watched a waiter bring him something in a cup and saw Lynch proffer a bill in payment. The sleuths grabbed the cup which, they testified, contained whiskey. Mr. Lynch disappeared.

"It's no use," Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph P. Mulqueen said when the jury had been polled and discharged, "you can't convict a woman in a liquor case."

Graceful Girl Riders Compete With Smartly Dressed Women For Attention at the Horse Show

Short Sleeves and Long Gloves Are Popular Again Among Fashionable Folk.

By Mildred Lodewick.

The thirty-fourth annual Horse Show opened its doors yesterday to a more enthusiastic crowd than has witnessed it for many a year—in fact, not since pre-war days has the spirit of the show been so obviously gay. There was a time a few years ago when the international exhibits were of necessity withheld, and the attractions of the thoroughbred seemed to be losing to the allurements of six-cylinders, carbureters and spark plugs. plugs.

This year the Horse Show is the quintessence of New York life, the beauties, both of horse and women, the fine clothes, the jewels, the display of social leaders, social climbers and the mere box gazers reveal the heart and soul and spirit of the city.

Of course the programmes of horse shows vary little from year to year. There is always the same riding, driving and hurdle jumping, and those satin coated beauties were good to look at. As the horses pranced into the ring, with feet lifted daintily, intelligence in the wide eyes, fire in the quivering nostrils, how poor and paltry and stupid and dull seemed the motors snorting away outside!

NEW JUDGES ADDED FOR LARGE ENTRY LIST.

The entries are so numerous this year that new judges have been added, including John McE. Bowman, whose box was one of the gayest. It included his recent bride in a rich tailleur of dark red duvetyn trimmed lavishly with squirrel, forming an enormous roll collar and surrounding the lower edge of the three-quarter coat. Mrs. M. D. Paterson, mother of Mrs. Bowman, wore a tan suit trimmed with beaver, and a beaver toque. Their box also held Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Welsh and Mr. J. W. Sauther.

Another lively group occupied the David Wagstaff box, including Mrs. Wagstaff, garbed becomingly in a demi frock of black satin and black lace, with a large black velvet picture hat trimmed in a most engaging manner with glycerined feathers that dripped from the edge. A diamond sautoir chain and a string of pearls adorned her neck. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Benon S. Prentice, the latter wearing a wrap of heavy black and gold brocade, luxuriously draped, and a small hat of black sequins. Mr. R. Terry and Capt. John Rafferty completed the party.

SHORT SLEEVES AND LONG GLOVES.

Dame Fashion's dominant feature seemed to be the very short sleeve, and it was surprising how many women wore long gloves. Mrs. Dillingham might be mentioned as the most resplendent beauty at the show, wearing a silver and white satin brocade gown, with a wide pointed neck and short sleeves that were really nothing more than dropped arm holes outlined with narrow black velvet ribbon. A narrow black velvet belt was clasped with a rhinestone buckle. A similar buckle held a slanting black osprey at the front of a toque of silver metal cloth. A diamond brooch and diamond drop earrings were worn.

Mrs. Jorge Andre presented a striking picture in a lace frock and large black picture hat with three of the most gracefully posed black ospreys. A string of pearls, a huge diamond brooch and drop earings were her adornments. Mrs. Julian Gerard appeared in a typically French frock of black satin, cut kimono fashion with the tiniest of sleeves, a rather high round neck and an odd trimming of henna colored silk and applied in lengths that dropped from the bust to the knees, but caught at intervals to give an unusual effect. A cloth of gold toque over-draped with black tulle, and a large diamond brooch completed her costume.

MISS BEATRICE PYNCHON A CHARMING PICTURE.

Miss Beatrice Pynchon, in her father's box, presented a charming picture in a black net frock, elegantly embroidered with silver threads. The small cap sleeve was finished with a silver cord, as was also the neck. As Miss Pynchon's guest, Miss Elisabeth Hyde wore a simple black satin frock that contrasted delightfully with her Titian hair, which was coiffed high and banged at the front. In the box also were Col. L. G. Day, Mr. R. D. Ewell and Mr. and Mrs. McAlpin Pyle, the latter wearing a gown which exploited a charming combination of cloth of gold, gold chiffon and a gold ribbon sash.

A dainty little figure, gowned picturesquely, was Miss Alicia Du Pont, in a black velvet frock of a demi-formal character. The sleeves were very short and neck medium round, finished with a frill of soft lace, which matched the tiers of lace ruffles that formed the side sections of the skirt, a very unusual feature.

In an interesting group of enthusiasts were Mr. and Mrs. William Barstow, the latter impressively gowned in a frock of black jet and sequins, over which a wrap of emerald velvet with a huge ermine collar formed a charming contrast. She wore long diamond earrings and a brooch. With Mrs. Barstow was Miss Sedgwick, in a wrap of black velvet, trimmed with beaver, outlining the very graceful cut.

Mrs. William M. Fleitman watched her daughter in the competitive exhibitions from her box, presenting a pretty picture in white crepe de chine gown, draped with black chantilly, and wearing a purple hat and mink fur. Her jewels were diamond earrings and brooch and a pearl chain.

Some of the male enthusiasts were Mr. Reginald Vanderbilt, Mr. Harry Solloway, Mr. Frank Y. Storrs, with Commander Lyster of the Renown as his guest; Senator John J. Mackrell, Lieut. Duveen, Capt. Egeroff of the Russian Army, Col. Jack Gifford and Mr. Foxhall Keene.

CHILDREN HAVE BIG DAY AT GARDEN HORSE SHOW

Many Youngsters Exhibit Favorite Ponies; Prince Edward to Be Guest To-Morrow.

To-day was a big day for children at the Horse Show. It was Harness and Hackney Pony Day, and many youngsters exhibited their favorite ponies. The crowd again was large and fashionable.

Dinarth Gem, owned by Mrs. F. P. Garvan, won first prize in the first class shown, hackney pony mares. First prize for hackney pony yearlings went to Delchester Rambler, owned by the Delchester Farms.

The exhibition of officers' charges brought out many American and Canadian army men and their mounts. First prize was won by Tom Velle, owned by Capt. Louis Brown jr., of West Point. First prize for militia mounts was won by Gwendolyn, owned by Lieut. Col. Harry Shanton.

Jack Tar took first prize for horses shown in runabouts, and Ebony King was first for horses shown in roadsters. Both these horses are owned by Col. John R. Thompson of Chicago. First prize for United States Troopers' mounts was won by Willow Brook, owned by B. A. Haggin.

Gov. R. Livingston Beeckman of Rhode Island and Sir Thomas Lipton will be among the box-holders to-morrow, when the Prince of Wales visits the show.

PALMER PREPARES FOR PROSECUTION OF MINE OWNERS

invoking a war-time statute against the workers without once using the law to restrict the activities of operators both with respect to price and diminished production.

CALL REFUSAL TO TAKE BACK MEN PART OF CONSPIRACY.

The operators, on the other hand, have made good use of the statement made by John L. Lewis, acting President of the miners, at the Buffalo convention, to the effect that the operators were not curtailing production, but friends of the miners say such a statement cannot be construed as applying to the behavior of operators at all times, and they claim that a refusal to take men back to work is in itself a conspiracy to curtail production at a moment when the country needs all the fuel it can get.

Kentucky miners, for instance, have telegraphed both the Departments of Labor and Justice that they are not going back to work because the operators have increased the prepared coal price from $2.65 under the Garfield allowance to $3.50 and $4, while the miners a regetting no part of the increase.

It is argued, moreover, that the excess profits reports would show what immense profits were made by operators in Kentucky during the year.

All of these complaints are being investigated by a large staff of special agents and they must be examined in the light of costs of production, figures and statistics which have been gathered by various Government agencies ever since the war began.

GOVERNMENT CONSCIOUS OF ITS GREAT RESPONSIBILITY.

Public interest in the coal situation may have begun to lag outside of the coal fields as soon as the strike order was rescinded, but the Government here is still conscious of the tremendous responsibility it has undertaken in endeavoring to act as mediator and compel settlement between miners and operators.

There are those who are urging that prosecutions against the operators under the Lever Act for exceeding war-time prices would have a healthful effect because it would carry faith to the miners in the even handed justice of the Federal Government, but thus far the prosecuting branch of the Government gives the impression of not wishing to undertake prosecutions merely for psychological effect, but of desiring to push its case through to a victorious verdict whenever enough evidence can be gotten to launch such a campaign in the courts.

DYE LAW BEFORE HOUSE.

Resolution Barring German Product Is Considered.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The House to-day considered the resolution to keep out German dyes until Jan. 15, by which time it is hoped Congress will have passed a bill protecting the American industry built up during the war.

Senate leaders insist upon passage of the resolution on the ground that with a sudden proclamation of peace the Germans would flood the country with their products.

Cut Off By Fire, Four Die.

HOWELLS, Mich., Nov. 18.—Escape from their rooms on an upper floor cut off by flames, Harry Dickerson and wife and two children were suffocated early to-day in the fire which destroyed the apartment house in which they lived. Fifty others escaped. The fire followed an explosion of an oil stove.

SOCIALIST PARTIES LOSE 103 SEATS IN FRENCH CHAMBER

Late Returns Show Nation's Sentiment Overwhelmingly Against Bolshevism.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—Complete returns of Sunday's voting in the elections for seats in the Chamber of Deputies have been received from 586 constituencies. The figures show the following results:

Republican Left, 123 seats; Radicals, 57 seats; Radical Socialists, 78 seats; Republican Socialists, 26 seats; Unified Socialists, 65 seats; Dissident Socialists, 6 seats; Progressives, 126 seats; L'Action Liberale Group, 73 seats; Conservatives, 32 seats.

The Republican Left gained 36 seats; the Radicals lost 7; the Radical Socialists lost 55; the Republican Socialists lost 7; the Unified Socialists lost 37; the Dissident Socialists goined 6; the Progressives gained 76; the l'Action Liberale group gained 42; the Conservatives neither gained nor lost. Of those elected, 350 have not before held seats in the chamber.

The elections resulted in a notable triumph for the Conservative, Moderate and Nationalist elements.

While some Paris newspapers express satisfaction over the defeat of the Socialists, which they say demonstrates an overwhelming sentiment against Bolshevism, Socialist organs declare the members of that party will maintain their opposition to the Government and defy the majority in Chamber to carry out the policies enunciated during the campaign.

Some attribute the defeat of the Socialist group to its own mistakes and assert that the party will understand its error and turn back to the real doctrines of the organization.

Premier Clemenceau's "Bloc National"—the coalition of republican parties—has everywhere presented a solid front to the elements of discord.

Supposedly on the brink of Bolshevism, French polius went to the polls Sunday and sent an unmistakable notice to the Government that the veterans were behind it in its fight on radicalism. They indorsed Clemenceau's policy of "constructive progressism."

Instead of increasing the number of Socialist deputies to 200, as the Socialists had confidently predicted, returns indicated their representation had been reduced from 110 to a possible united front of 86 or less.

Southern Italy Defeats Socialist Candidates.

ROME, Nov. 18.—Socialist candidates for seats in the Italian Chamber of Deputies are leading in Rome, Turin, Milan, Florence, Ancona and Parma, but are in the minority in Southern Italy and in the rural districts. The election of Lieut. Commander Rizzo at Fiume seems certain.

Former Premiers Salandra and Orlando apparently have been re-elected with Signor Bissolati, a former Cabinet member. Ravenna, a former Republican stronghold, seems to have been lost to the Socialists.

Socialists elected 150, it was estimated, Premier Nitti has been re-elected almost unanimously.

"KICK" AFFECTED AUTO.

Brooklyn Drivers With Liquor in Tonneau Are Held.

Because they failed to stop their automobile promptly at Church Avenue and Ocean Parkway when ordered to do so by policemen, George J. Syers and Albert J. Syers of No. 1509 Sheepshead Bay Road were arraigned to-day in Flatbush Court, Brooklyn, and held for further examination.

Patrolmen Golding and Eggington of the Parkville Station testified that the Syers machine was "going zigzag," that they ordered them to stop and, when they did not do so promptly, fired at them. The brothers were charged with reckless driving.

In the back of the car, the policemen testified, were six cases of brandy and a five-gallon jug of whiskey.

determined to support only two more, that of Senator McCumber against participation in the International labor organization unless Congress should authorize it, and that of Senator Lenroot, dealing with equalization of voting strength in the League of Nations. Although deciding to vote for a reconsideration of the ratification after the committee resolution is voted down, the group decided not to help uphold any ruling of the chair by which substitute resolutions can be put in by Senator Hitchcock.

The Senate spent several hours on the first proposed reservation to the labor provisions, Senator La Follette breaking through the one-hour rule by being permitted to proceed on Senator Gronna's time in reply to a question from Mr. Gronna. Senator Cummins, in the chair, sustained this procedure and Senator La Follette delivered a prepared adress, illustrating with maps placed on the walls. After twenty minutes a point of order was made by Senator Harrison, sustained by Senator Sutherland, who had ben called to the chair, forced Senator La Follette to continue on his own time.

Taking its first action of the day, the Senate voted down a reservation precluding the United States entirely from the labor provisions. It had been offered by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, as a substitute for that of Senator McCumber.

The vote was 48 to 43. Nine Democrats voted for its adoption.

Then the McCumber reservation, making the entrance of the United States into the international labor conference contingent upon action by Congress, was adopted. Nine Democrats voted for this reservation. Senator Sherman was the only Republican who voted against the McCumber proposal.

In his speech Senator La Follette arraigned the Administration for its attitude in the coal strike.

"Judge Anderson, who issued that illegal order, should be impeached," La Follette said, declaring his intention of reviewing on the oor of the Senate "the whole outrage," as soon as an opportunity permitted.

LEMKE DEATH INQUIRY.

Girl Said to Be Able to Solve Ownership of Woman's Clothing.

District Attorney O'Leary of Queens County announced to-day he had assigned Assistant District Attorney William J. Morris to conduct a John Doe investigation into the death of John W. Lemke, whose body, dressed in woman's clothing, was found hanging on the young man's motor boat at College Point on Oct. 19.

Mr. O'Leary said he had been informed of the discovery of a fourteen-year-old girl who, it is said, can solve the mystery concerning the ownership of the clothing found on Lemke's body. He declined to reveal her name.

Twenty witnesses, Mr. O'Leary said, will be furnished for the John Doe inquiry by Capt. Carey of the Manhattan Homicide Bureau. He intends also to ask the Lemke family to present any witnesses they desire.

SENSATIONAL

By DR. BERTHOLD A. BAER

Said a friend to me:

"Why do you use sensational headlines for your little talks?"

"I do not," I answered. "I write nothing but the truth. But, strange to say, truth is nearly all times sensational."

"You have the most sensational institution I ever saw," said a well known Senator from Washington to Frank E. Campbell, when he had for the first time gone through The Funeral Church, Broadway at 66th Street.

Mr. Campbell looked puzzled. He prided himself on conducting the most modern, most complete, and best managed institution of its kind in the country, if not in the world, for the care and burial of the dead. And here comes a Senator, whose name is in the mouth of every well read citizen, and compliments him upon the "sensational" part of it.

"Sensational?" asked Mr. Campbell.

"Most certainly," said the Senator. "You have accomplished what no one else dared to undertake. Here is a place where the dead is taken after demise. He is cared for with loving tenderness; he is laid out so that family and friends may come to see him whenever time or inclination prompts them; he is taken to The Funeral Church in your own building, and there a service is tendered as beautiful as human thought can conceive. You yourself do not seem to realize what a wonderful institution you are giving to your City; it's sensational, it's sensational."

The Senator is right; New Yorkers do not seem to realize what a wonderful institution there is in their midst, devoted to their service, for their benefit.

People from all over the country come to visit The Funeral Church, Broadway at 66th Street—why not you?
