FUGITIVE MERCHANT CASE TO GRAND JURY

Swann Hints at Extradition of Wealthy Man Accused by Girls.

The case of the fugitive silk merchant who, Fifth Deputy Police Commissioner Ellen A. Ordway charges attacked a young woman after a wine party in a Riverside Drive apartment, will be placed before the Grand Jury to-morrow, in all its details, District Attorney Swann announced to-day.

That the District Attorney thinks he knows the whereabouts of the missing man was suggested by his statement that an indictment is a "necessary step toward extradition."

Asked if anybody now on Commissioner connected with the Police Department would be prosecuted for alleged connection with the sudden departure of the silk merchant from New York, Mr. Swann said: "It has been suggested that John C. Hackett, civil service Commissioner; Brisbin's Secretary, and Edward T. Hoskins, former a police Inspector, were in the office of the silk merchant when two college women called to see him. They in itself would not constitute a crime, but if it is shown that either of these men gave the fugitive tip off on which he disappeared, that man will be indicted."

Mrs. Ordway appeared in response to a civil subpœna of the District Attorney's office.

DROPS DEAD IN CHURCH.

Retired Bronx Merchant Suffers Heart Attack at Mass.

Francis Miller, sixty-six, of No. 1180 Forest Avenue, the Bronx, a retired merchant, dropped dead while attending mass this morning at St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church at 167th Street and Franklin Avenue.

According to his wife, who was with him, they were late in starting for the church and she thought he overexerted himself in hurrying, which brought a recurrence of a heart attack he had had a few years ago. About 300 people were in the church at the time, most of whom were in ignorance of his death.
