Jas. Boss Filled Watch Cases

are all gold as far as you can see. They look like solid cases, wear like solid cases, and are solid cases for all practical purposes—yet only cost about half as much as an out-and-out solid gold case. Warranted to wear for 20 years; many in constant use for thirty years. Better than ever since they are now fitted, at no extra cost, with the great bow (ring) which cannot be pulled or twisted off the case—the

Non-pull-out

Can only be had on the cases stamped with this trade mark.

All others have the old-style pull-out bow, which is only held to the case by friction, and can be twisted off with the fingers.

*Sold only through watch dealers. Ask to see pamphlet, or send for one to the makers.

The Thought of Death.

Death alone gives life its interest and its meaning; it alone determines the price and worth of it. Because we alone, among sentient beings, know death, we are men; and whatever resemblance may be found in other respects between man and beasts, this knowledge of death puts an abyss between them. Man might be defined as an animal who knows death, and who, without the certitude and the fear he has of it, would not be what he is, if, as Schopenhauer says, death is the inspiring genius of philosophy." * * * Now, the desire to live is the dull instinctive desire to persist in our being; it is the tendency we have to gather everything toward ourselves as to the centre of the world. What are the results, if not that every inch gained upon the desire to live is gained also upon instinct and egoism? Each effort made to strip ourselves of ourselves is a vice attacked at its source, a virtue of which we begin the apprenticeship. We begin by estimating at its just price wealth which is not wealth, such as fortune and glory, which does not mean that we do not pursue it since the society of man is to some extent based upon the common esteem in which it is held, but we no longer give to it the same excitement, eagerness, and vigor. It is justice which triumphs in us over egoism. It is charity which adds itself to justice and completes it. Further yet, rise higher, let us recognize our own being in that of every other creature, and ask no other destiny for ourselves than that of humanity in general. Charity has passed into devotion, devotion into abnegation, abnegation into sacrifice. Then death may come, or, rather, what men call death; although it is, if we reflect upon it, only the term of perfection.—M. Brunetiere.

Beautiful Italian Women.

"The prettiest women in the world are those of northern Italy," said Henry C. Barlow, who has completed a trip around the world. "Pretty is not exactly the word to be used in describing them. A wax doll may be pretty. The women of northern Italy are gloriously, maddeningly beautiful. They are a mixture of the French gentry and the Italian nobility, and inherit the vivacity of one country and the voluptuous, half oriental beauty of the other. If you want to understand what the poet meant by the 'dark eyes splender' go not to the Vale of Cashmere, nor to Cadiz, but to Milan. Greece in her palmiest days could not produce such perfect figures, nor Spain such coquettes. Add to marvelous beauty of face and figure the sweet cadences of the Italian tongue, and I defy and youngster to get away from Milan without regret. Some one has said that Italian is the mother tongue of the goddess of love; certainly there is nothing sweeter—it is melody itself." St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Notes.

It is poor farming to sell the best hay and leave your own stock only the refuse.

Full value can be had from the feed crops only by feeding them under cover.

In the United States there are about sixteen million cows—one for every four persons.

Now that could weather is about to set in, don't lose all profit on your hogs by holding them too long.

As a rule, fall pigs, farrowed in September or October, if kept in a warm place and properly fed, bring better returns than spring pigs sold in the fall.

What a sly animal the fox is, to be sure! The other day I followed one for three hours, and when I finally shot it I found it was a red dog! Fingerd Blatter.

Over feeding domestic animals causes indigestion, and indigestion, if not attended to, will undermine the health and impair the usefulness of any system.

As the storms and cold rains of fall and winter approach, don't leave the horses and colts out in the pasture fields, unless they have a shed of some sort in which to take refuge.

Bad Roads.

In these days, when so much is said in American newspapers about the importance of good roads it may be interesting to know how such matters are looked upon in Ecuador. Mr. Whymper, in his new book, says:

I had been rebuked in Quito for objecting to the "Royal" route, because our animals had sunk half way up to their flanks. When I asked my monitor what he considered a bad road, he replied:

"A road is bad when the beasts tumble into mud-holes and vanish right out of sight."

At one place my animal stopped on the back, unwilling to proceed. Dismounting, I gave it a touch with the whip. It went head first into the slough, and emerged on the other side a miserable object, dripping with filth, which for a second had risen about its hindquarters.

This mud hole was about four feet deep, and was the finest we discovered in Ecuador.

An Apprentice Wanted.

The following advertisement appears in a Pennsylvania paper, but is just as good for Missouri:

"Wanted, at this office, a boy to take sheets from the press every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. No limits as to salary, and the said boy is to consider that the office exists for his special convenience. If he don't feel well, or wants to go fishing, or play marbles, or see match games of base ball, or shopping with his girl, or visit his cousin, the paper will wait his sovereign pleasure. Anybody who presumes to criticise his efforts, is to be immediately arrested for contempt. All the boys he knows are to have free run of the office. The editor's time to be exclusively at the aforesaid boy's disposal. Salary to be drawn several years ahead. A boy possessing these qualifications, will please report where he can be found, and at what time a deputation of printers present references of good character on the part of the office and its employees. Please write for postage stamps and monogram gilt-edged paper.

—Call at my shop over the post office and see my new stock of winter hats, and fancy goods. Yours truly, Mrs. J. W. Kieff.

It is a curious fact that of the twenty three presidents of the United States but seven had middle names. Of these, John Quincy Adams was elected by the House of Representatives, and Rutherford B. Hayes and James A. Garfield defeated candidates who bore three names. The fates have favored the candidate with only a Christian and surname, the only real exceptions being James K. Polk who defeated Henry Clay and Ulysses S. Grant who defeated Horatio Seymour and Horace Greeley. Notable examples of the workings of the rule are seen in the election of James Buchanan in 1856 and the defeat of John C. Fremont; in the defeat of Stephen A. Douglas and John C. Breckenridge by Abraham Lincoln in 1860; in the defeat of George B. McClellan by Lincoln in 1864, and in the defeat of James G. Blaine by Grover Cleveland in 1884. If the Democrats are wise they will exclude Arthur P. Gorman, W. A. Russell, John G. Carlisle and John M. Palmer from the list of presidential possibilities.

POPULAR SUGGESTIONS.

Our Lesson for 1892, Which Buyers, Generally, and Shrewd ones in Particular, Would Do Well to Commit to Memory.

Does it not pay to purchase goods of old, reliable houses, that have the largest stock to select from, that purchase from manufacturers only, in large quantities, saving the jobber's profit, which you get the benefit of? Please bear this in mind and if you have not availed yourself of the opportunity, do so, and you will be pleased with the result. We carry a full stock of Watches, Diamonds, Jewelry, Silverware, Clocks, Spectacles, Opera Glasses, Clocks and Bronze Statuettes, and in fact everything in the Jewelry Stock. Remember, we send out goods on approval to parties not living in the city. We pay express charges, making the goods at the same price you would have to pay if you came to the store. If not satisfactory, send us reference, or a money order, and we will refund your money. Engraving on all goods sold done free. Special attention to fine watch work entrusted to us. Respectfully,

R. U. HENDRICK, JEWELER, 509 and 511 FELIX STREET, ST. JOSEPH, MISSOURI.

GRAND INDUCEMENTS TO READERS OF THE SENTINEL

The Presidential Campaign of 1892 will, without doubt, be the most intensely interesting and exciting in the history of the United States, and country people will be extremely anxious to have all the general and political news and discussions of the day as presented in a National Journal, in addition to that supplied by their own local paper.

To meet this want we have entered into a contract with the

NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE

The Leading Republican Paper of the UNITED STATES, which enables us to offer that splendid journal (subscription price, $1.00 per year and THE SENTINEL for one year

It Saves You Dollars.

BIG VALUE FOR LITTLE MONEY.

HOW CAN such fine goods and such a very nice periodical be afforded for so little money, you ask. We explain: We have arranged with one of the largest manufacturers of Ladies' Fine Kid Slippers in the United States to supply our subscribers and their friends with their goods at the regular subscription price of our popular family journal, True's Farming World and Household Magazine, for a very liberal offer could not be made, except we used immense quantities of their goods. The bigger the contract the less the price, quality remaining the same.

THE OFFER. Any person sending One Dollar for one year's subscription to True's Farming World and 15 cents extra to pay postage on Slippers, will receive by return mail a pair of Ladies' Fine Dongola Kid Slippers or Oxford Ties (see cut) as they may select, and we will enter your name or any name that you may send with the order for one year's subscription to the best dollar a year family publication in America.

True's Farming World is a 20-page monthly magazine, with handsome covers, devoted to domestic and literary topics, the articles are instructive and at the same time interesting to all members of a family. Each number contains a handsome gift plate. You are sure to be pleased with the paper, and the slippers cannot fail to please, for they are worth $1.25 at any retail shoe store. We guarantee safe delivery and complete satisfaction. This offer is equally good for old as well as new subscribers, and is being taken advantage of by thousands. Reader, don't put it late, but send your sixty cents to-day and profit by the very biggest offer ever made by any publishing house in this or any other country. These Slippers and Ties are seasonable goods and are made in all sizes and widths, and it is only necessary for you to send the size and width of your last boots and we guarantee a fit. Whenever our Slippers are once introduced we are sure of large cash orders therefrom. Everybody is more than pleased and cannot understand how we can furnish such nice goods for so little money. We offer these Slippers or Oxford Ties without magazine, for sale at One Dollar per pair, postage paid. Address all orders,

Rooks County, Kansas

Is located in the Solomon Valley, in Central Northern Kansas, and is in the center of the great wheat belt of the state. More than a million bushels of wheat were produced this year in Rooks County, the average yield being 20 bushels per acre. Crops of all varieties yield abundantly. It is about 250 miles west of Oregon, Mo., the climate being the same as the latter place.

I have a number of improved farms to sell on time to satisfy purchasers. The proceeds of one crop, if entire farm is sown to wheat, will usually equal the purchase price. To any one contemplating buying lands in Kansas and writing me I will cheerfully furnish full description of farms. A few good young mares might be taken in part payment for lands. Address, W. B. HAM, Stockton, Kansas.

Moore's Tree of Life.

MOORE'S TREE OF LIFE is a positive cure for Kidney and Liver complaint and all blood diseases. Does it pay to suffer when you can be cured by using Moore's Tree of Life, the great life remedy?

Who Pays The Wedding Expenses?

Etiquette regarding wedding expense is simple, but very strict. The groom does not furnish anything for the wedding excepting the wedding ring, a bouquet, and a gift for the bride; bouquets and simple tokens for the brides maids; boutonnieres, collars, neck ties, and gloves for the shape of a scarf pin or some other trifle; a carriage to convey himself and the best man to the church and house; the carriage in which he and his bride leave the church and house; and clergyman's fee. All other expenses, of every kind, pertaining to the wedding, are borne by the bride's family. This is as it should be. If an elaborate wedding cannot be afforded, it is much better to have a simple one than to incur any obligation to the groom for display. From The Modern Wedding Festival, in Demorest's Family Magazine for November.

There are 54,000 members of the English "Primrose league," and there can be no question about their fealty to the memory of Lord Beaconsfield.

Falling stars are numerous in Italy about the time when the Catholic church celebrates the martyrdom of Saint Lawrence. They are therefore poetically called the "tears of Saint Lawrence."

A unique method of celebrating the Columbus centenary in Spain is proposed by the artists of Barcelona, who intend to project a colossal shadow of the navigator upon a neighboring mountain peak.

The Japanese government is said to have provided for a visit of 2,000 of its middleclass citizen to the fair at Chicago next year, and then look about in other large cities in this country before their return home.

A new stamp is to be issued in Great Britain of the value of fourpence half penny—nine cents—to be available for all postal, telegraphic and revenue purposes. It will be the first stamp issued of this value, and its issuance is called for by the new features of telegraph and parcel post business.

Luck in Dropping a Collar Button.

A lady who had been staying in Albany was returning to her home in Philadelphia by way of the Hudson river and New York. After spending a night on the boat, her pocketbook, which contained her ticket and all her money, was missing. She was quite sure that it was in her pocket when she went to her stateroom at night, but in the morning the most minute search of the room and of her clothing failed to bring it to light. A fellow passenger lent her sufficient money for her ticket to Philadelphia, and once at home the loss of the pocket book quickly passed from her memory.

Two years afterward, when again in Albany, she was summoned one day to the drawing room to speak to an unknown gentleman who "had something important to communicate to her." The "something important" proved to be the old lost pocketbook, which the gentleman had just found on a Hudson river boat and which—having in it the lady's name with an Albany address—he had no difficulty in taking directly to her. The account which he gave of the discovery was most amusing. While dressing his collar button had slipped from his hand and, with the total depravity characteristic of collar buttons and other inanimate things, had rolled to the least accessible corner of the stateroom.

In the course of his search for it he had opened wide the half closed door of the stationary washstand and there—in a corner, covered with dust and mold was the pocketbook, which must have lain in that exact position for two whole years.—Home Journal.

The November Eclectic contains an excellent selection of articles covering a wide variety of cultivated tastes. The conditions of "New Japan" are treated in a very competent fashion by F. P. Pigott, who has resided there for many years, and Mr. W. B. Harris tells us of a very curious and quaint corner of the world under the title of "Holy Wazania." An interesting and suggestive paper by Mr. John Rae discusses the "Growth of Industrial Peace." Among the three historical papers, "The Last Great Roman," by Sir Herbert Maxwell, "The Remnant of a Great Race," by Henry Wolff, and "When did Columbus first Land," by Sir Henry Blake, the last is peculiarly pertinent to the time. There are several interesting scientific papers, among which special attention is called to Mr. Hiram Maxim's "Progress of Aerial Navigation," which opens a new vista of possibilities to the practical mind as well as to the imagination. Miss Julia Wedgwood studies a very interesting problem of religious history in "The Message of Israel," and M. Ferdinand Brunetiere shows a high order of critical insight in his paper on "French Literature." There are two strong short stories, and several suggestive minor papers, and poems well worth reading. The whole number will repay careful reading. Published by E. R. Pelton, 144 Eighth Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single numbers, 45 cents; trial subscription for 3 months, $1. Eclectic and any $4 Magazine, $8.

DEUNKENNESS, or the LIQUOR HABIT Cured at Home in Ten Days by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tea, or in food, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given to thousands of drunkards, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. The system once impregnated with the specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Gives general health to the whole body of nervous wrecks. Address the GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.
