A REMARKABLE CASE.

MR. MURPHY, 90 North Sixth-street, Philadelphia, Agent for SHERMAN'S Medicated Lozenges, says that a poor woman called at his Office and stated that her daughter, seven years old, had been sick for nearly three years; her stomach was extended to the size of a grown person's; her arms and legs so swollen that she could not walk or help herself, although she could eat as much as two laboring men. They had employed two celebrated doctors, who could do nothing for her, and had given her up as incurable. Her husband had become discouraged, and abandoned all idea of trying to do any thing more for her, and looked to death alone to take her out of her misery. Mrs. Murphy, believing her case to be one of Worms, gave her a box of Sherman's Worm Lozenges, and in two days she returned, with joy beaming in her eyes, and said the Lozenges had saved her child's life, after all had given her up. The first dose brought away nearly a pint of worms in one living mass. She had not taken two boxes before she was entirely cured, having passed after the first dose, which she could not count, over 500 worms in one week. She was literally eaten up with them. Another living witness of the almost miraculous efficacy of Sherman's Lozenges. Principal Office in New-York, 106 Nassau street. a27

PEASE'S HOARHOUND CANDY

IS RECOMMENDED by Clergymen, Public Speakers and Vocalists as a valuable compound for clearing the voice and strengthening the lungs.

From the New-York Herald.

"Receive advice from that one who is disinterested. There are more that take colds and die with Codsumption by sleeping in damp rooms, either painted or whitewashed; hence, there is no remedy so harmless, pleasant and yet efficacious as Pease's Hoarhound Candy, 45 Division street. We would advise every family without an exception to provide themselves with this unrivalled remedy, which we have been eye witnesses of its efficacy in numberless cases; in fact it is astonishing the virtues it possesses. The Messrs. Pease are immortalising themselves both by praise for the good their Candy has done, and also their pockets. There is no remedy in the whole scope of our observation that has attained the celebrity of this valuable remedy. It is true that numbers of Professors have appeared, who have given out that they could effect a cure of every disease which flesh is heir to, but now seldom have their results been equalled by their pretensions. This is not the case with Pease's Compound Hoarhound Candy; how justly then should the meed of praise be awarded to the Messrs. Pease for the discovery of their sovereign remedy."

MESSRS. J. PEASE & SON.—Dear Sir—Last Saturday night I slept in a newly painted room, and when I awoke in the morning I was almost deprived of the power of my voice, and had a pain in my side. I immediately sent for Dr. Rogers, and he said I could not live till night: he said I had the painter's colick and palpitation of the heart, and when they came in contact, death was invariably the consequence. I sent my son to No. 10 Astor House for one dollars worth of your Candy, and I consumed two-thirds of it during the day, and in the afternoon when the Doctor called, to see how his medicine operated, I was sitting up, and he was astonished and said he well knew that if the medicine he left did not relieve me my case was hopeless; and after he concluded telling what a dangerous situation I was in, &c., I then divulged the secret that I had used Pease's Hoarhound Candy; he looked aghast at me and said that he would immediately send for a large quantity of this Candy and use it all such cases, which is so prevalent at this season.

Rev. Mr. C. DOWNING.

Sold at 45 Division-street and 10 Astor House. m4 1m

A VALUABLE REMEDY.

☞ TO MESSRS. PEASE & SONS, 45 Division-street.—Your valuable preparation of Horehound deserves a few remarks from my own experience. Being in the habit of addressing frequently large meetings, and my constitution rendered susceptible of cold from a seafaring life, I found my strength and health gradually decaying, my spirits sinking, my lungs failing, and my voice faltering fast. In fact, I had lost all hopes, and every hour fearful of bursting a blood-vessel, when your Horehound Candy and the cures it had effected reached me. I believe I took but one package, when every unfavorable symptom disappeared, and my general health evidently improved. I feel now regenerated so completely that I am freely empowered to speak and act better than I did three years ago. My appetite is good, and my general health restored. You can make any use you please of this certificate, which it would be injustice to withold from the public as well as yourself.

J. WELCH, 144 Gold-street, Brooklyn.
