$600 Exchange on Philadelphia sold at 96¼.

It is truly gratifying to notice the large increase which has taken place in the Canal revenues of this State. Up to the 1st instant the receipts were $911,966 27, an increase of $195,596 26 over the same period last year, when the receipts were $716,370 01. From the first of August last year to the close of navigation the receipts were $1,059,377 53, and should the tolls increase in the same ratio during the remainder of the navigation as they have since the opening, the aggregate amount will not be far from $2,250,000 or $375,000 more than was estimated in Mr. Verplanck's report. However, although we have a right to suppose the increase will be thus large during the remainder of navigation, yet we will assume that the receipts will be the same as last season, which, added to the amount already received, makes $1,971,343 77, Mr. Verplanck's estimate was $1,875,000, and the payments for all purposes $1,437,000, leaving a surplus to meet interest on any additional debt, or any purpose to which it might be appropriated, of $438,000. By the first estimate, admitting the same ratio of increase during the balance of the season, the surplus will be $813,030 instead of $438,000, and by the latter estimate, assuming the same amount as was received last year, the surplus will be $514,343 77, or $96,343 77 more than was estimated by Mr. Verplanck. Let the croakers about our State improvements ponder over these facts, instead of their own theories, and they will arrive at a more just conclusion.

Hunt's Magazine contains a very valuable table computed by D. J. Browne, Civil Engineer, which exhibits the comparative value of State Stocks, assuming the interest to be paid at the end of the year and afterwards improved at 6 per cent. interest. Many persons not acquainted with the subject buy these stocks without attaching sufficient importance to the gain on the principal, made at maturity. Thus a 5 per cent. stock due in 1857 at 84 affords the same interest as the investment as a 6 per cent. stock at par maturing at the same time. Yet the 5 per cent. stock is better by 1 per cent. per annum, because at maturity the holder receives $100 for each $84 that the stock cost. Many persons overlook this, or cannot calculate the matter to a nicety, and this table furnishes such persons with the exact value of each stock from 1 year to 30 years. By this calculation, compared with a 6 per cent. stock at par, our State Fives due in 1845 are worth 96,535; in 1846, 95,767; in 1847, 95,083; in 1850, 93,198; in 1855, 90,705; in 1858, 89,532.

☞ Writing taught by the Quarter, 450 Broome street, near Broadway.—MR. DOLMAGE having engaged to teach Writing in Mr. Chamberlain's Commercial School, with the privilege of receiving pupils who desire to attend exclusively to Penmanship, can afford to teach writing cheaper than any other teacher in the city, and he will give a thorough analytical course of Instruction in Business or Ornamental Writing by the quarter for less than is often paid the six and twelve lesson teachers for a few useless lessons. Mr. Chamberlain, believing that the erroneous impression that an easy business hand-writing can be acquired in a few short lessons is rapidly wearing away, and being desirous that ladies and gentlemen who desire instruction in Penmanship may avail themselves of a good opportunity for learning to write, deems it but justice to state that Mr. Dolmage has taught writing in his School nearly three years, and has given more general satisfaction than any other teacher he has engaged. His style of writing is easy and beautiful, and his plan of teaching is well calculated to secure all the improvement his pupils are capable of making.

Mr. C.'s Rooms are comfortable, and open day and evening. His Commercial Course of Instruction embraces the French and English languages, as well as Writing, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping.

Evening Classes in Writing and Grammar are now in successful operation, and as they are limited, no seats will be reserved for applicants unless they be regularly entered as members of the class.

Mr. Chamberlain's Day School for boys and his Afternoon School for ladies will be re-opened on Monday, August 30th. The Department for Drawing and Painting will be re-opened on the 1st of September, under the instruction of EDWARD PURCELL. au16 3t*

☞ Read This.—From the Commercial Advertiser and Journal, dated Buffalo, Aug. 5th, 1841.—BRISTOL, by the use of his Extract of Sarsaparilla, has lately effected one of the most extraordinary cures we ever saw or heard of. Sometime last June his attention was accidentally called to the case of a man named Hasselt, who for two years had been apparently dying by inches of a disease induced by the injudicious use of mercury, and subsequent bad treatment. At the time Bristol first saw him, as we are informed by Hasselt himself and by several of our most respectable citizens, clergymen and others, who were acquainted with his case, he was in a most horrible condition—wasted to a skeleton, racked by intense pains, his limbs and face covered with ulcers, and his life, to all appearance, scarcely worth a day's purchase. The case was desperate, but for the sake of his family it was worth while to make an effort to save him. He then laid aside all his medicine and took nothing but Sarsaparilla, and two weeks since he called upon us and told his story. It was like a resurrection from the dead. His flesh had returned, his ulcers had healed, and the bloom of health again began to show in his cheeks. These are facts. Our readers will bear us witness that we are not given to puff quackery, medical or political, and we write this only at the request of the grateful convalescent.

BRISTOL'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is for sale by WM. BURGER, Wholesale Druggist, 50 Cortlandt-st. au14 3t*

☞ 14th Annual Fair of the American Institute,—Monday, Oct. 11th, 1841, is the day determined upon for opening this celebration to visitors at Niblo's Garden, in the city of New-York. Contributions from exhibitors will be received on Thursday, Friday and Saturday preceding.

All the departments of Industry, of Agriculture, Horticulture, the Arts, and Invention, are invited to contribute. Separate rooms will be fitted for agricultural products, for garden vegetables, for fruits and flowers, on a more extensive scale than heretofore, and so as to be preserved from injury, and in the keeping of experienced gardeners florists, &c.

A day will be named for bringing in Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine and other stock. By the act of the last Legislature an appropriation was made to the Institute for the bestowment of premiums to encourage agriculture and household manufactures. Particular accounts of the processes in the production are required, and especially in the economy employed. A number of able addresses by men eminently qualified will be delivered. The 6th annual Ploughing Exhibition will be held during the Fair. From the unity and zeal of the Managers and Members of the Institute, and from the interest early shown by contributors, a display more splendid and imposing may be expected than at either of the thirteen preceding Exhibitions.

The Managers invoke the patronage of all friendly to improvements throughout the country, whether in the character of contributors or visitors. au10 eod T C2w
