JACK DUNCAN IS THE AUTHOR

A traveler who thought himself the only survivor of the shipwreck was cast on an island in the South Pacific. Knowing it to be a cannibal island, he kept himself hidden for three days. Finally, driven out by hunger, he discovered some smoke rising from a small grove of trees, and he carefully approached to see what type of savages they were. Just as he got in earshot of the fire he heard a voice say: "Why the hell did you play that card?" He fell on his knees and devoutly raising his hands cried, "Thank God, they are Christians."

COL. COLT IS RESPONSIBLE

The most ghastly superstition has often its origin in a ludicrous fact. It is like the case of Jones.

"Jones," said a man, "tells me that his wooden leg pained him horribly last night."

"Consense!" was the reply. "How could his wooden leg pain him?"

"His wife," explained the man, "hit h'm over the head with it!"

THEY HAD TO CHLOROFORM HIM

"I understand Mr. Pinchpenny has been operated on for appendicitis," said Miss Cayenne.

"Yes, it is the first time anyone was known to get anything out of him."

"And even then they had to chloroform him to get that."
