ADVERTISEMENT.—The subscriber is gathering materials for making a speech in Manchester, on the Auction and Commission System of business as existing in this city in relation to British goods. He will either recommend the auction system in England or endeavor to assist in its being properly regulated in this country. Twenty years ago the writer's goods, sold by auction, were suspected to have lost one-third of cost. Now British invoices sell for two-thirds of value, being the amount or proportion now, as then and always, advanced on goods shipped on consignment. If the business of London, Liverpool and Manchester were under the dominion of the red flags of auctioneers, bankruptcies there would be as numerous as in this city. The writer, for the honor of New York, has been a little agitated, but trembled not in speaking before English nobility. He is the oldest merchant born of Whitehall, and to England his efforts were made for the honor of his native city and land. To give him confidence, he will exhibit himself in Wall-street on Tuesday next, in front of the Merchants' Exchange, at 12 A. M. to sell by auction his last property to pay what he owes in this city, being the one-thousandth part of his indebtedness to England. In the mean time the same piece of property may be seen at Riell & Arcularius's, Broadway and Duane-st. E. W. JOHNSON.

P. S. The above named property has been described as costing $500 and $670. The cash cost and interest amount to about $2,000, and the writer feels no shame in the acknowledgement. He may be mistaken on its value, and would not mislead. It will be sold to the highest bidder.

For The Tribune.

H. GREELEY, Esq.:

SIR: The desire of notoriety is generally the accompaniment of weak-mindedness. I can, in time to myself, as I feel, to make acknowledgement in anticipation of my future conduct, and I owe this duty to numerous friends, and wish not to have an enemy rise up before me in future, having encountered already too many. In the Revolutionary War, a Hessian soldier laid his hand on my father's shoulder and said, "You good rebel." The heart of the traitor was in his throat. My heart makes neither one pulsation more nor less when, laying my hand on that father's name, I pronounce the man 'good,' the captor a 'rebel.' This step, the only one which I ever make backward in retreat, places me beyond the Revolution, and makes me, heart and blood, an Englishman. My left hand holds the English Bible, the common prayer, Paley's Theology and Evidences, to which I owe my present life and hope, and presses them to my heart, while my right hand, which was never excelled, never vanquished, holds the Magna Charta; and by them I swear to live and die an Englishman. For more than ten years I have courted death—now I wish to live. Called in England "The American Hercules," I entered, with the motto of a British Bank standing in my ears, to the seasonal tune, "Hail Columbia." After sleeping, dreaming and musing many years, I awoke, having simply inserted between the English Lion. Now her national anthem and the Hundredth Psalm are music to my ear. The causes for this change are few. More than a quarter of a century since, I was raised from a bed of death to repair the ruined fortunes of my father's house. In three years all the family were established in prosperity through my exertions, as can be demonstrated as clearly as any mathematical proposition, in which science, excelling a few years previous, I challenged one hundred youths, now die for Union in this country. I separated from my partners to leave England. I married an English wife and was unfortunate in business. My father wished to share his profits with me as he had done with his other sons. He consulted his sons and sons in law, and, on a family vote, I was rejected on account of temper, and no crime was imputed. I had disgraced the family by failing to pay my debts, and was willing afterward to accept the offer of a salary to do correspondence. On going to the office I was told my services were not required. Had the man who, a few years before, came to me in tears, and for whom I made promises, advocated my cause, my own family happiness would not have been demolished. The sons now accuse me of having withdrawn from them. Let them have it so, and enjoy the pleasure to be derived from my disinheritance. I do not wish ever to touch a mighty dollar or money. I abhor it and covet it not. From the Government I have asked a petty Consulship, a Clerkship, or any employment not lucrative. I was refused the Appointorship, to which I was most competent of all applicants. I have paid a million in duty, one-half excessive. On cotton goods I have paid from duty to one hundred per centum duty, while on teas and silks there has been no duty. I have paid twenty thousand to this Empire State for auction duty while other goods were free, because my goods were English, and the Corporation might even yet charge me tax through orders and drapers on coats and stuffs, because of English fabric, should I import any more. I commenced an honest business, and honorably paying fifteen per centum duty. Before I am oppressed to relinquishment I should be paid for my losses, or have opportunity to avail myself of the Compromise Act. I owe in England, on comparison with this city, one thousand to one. The pressure on my back of ten thousand a year, which binds me to my creditors, is no burden, no bugbear, could I just no other oppression; the chain which binds me to the men I owe is but a silken cord. It not, aside, 'tis freely forgiven as all my crime. Fonthelmy was hung for forgery when I was in England; humanity to me was as extreme as justice to him was severe. In 1834, I proposed to take some cotton machinery from a mill in New-Jersey and applied a screw propeller to a boat, and with my own hand, power produce six knots second on the Passaic River. The idea with me was not then original. I should not feel particularly vain in giving the British Admiralty new ideas in shooting cannon, which I can do and expect to do. I would now hardly feel excitement in shooting a deer, much less a man, and had rather destroy implements of warfare than make them. I may be among those to enter Pekin, a footman to Fell, a sweeper to 'the Bank,' a merchant of London, or even a merchant's porter—an sufficiently humble for any thing. I am no traitor to this country, and hope never to see it united to England. I had rather see Ireland (as this is to England) with O'Connell in Giant's Chair on the North Causeway, and Matthews at Cape Clear, steering their way to make their island coastantic, and to anchor her last opposite this State, where the Lilley may mingle with the Hudson, and where the Pope may in vain look for dominion. My heart is humane to man and to all men. E. W. JOHNSON.

Commercial and Money Matters.

FRIDAY, P. M.

There was a more brisk business at the Board to-day than for a day or two past, and an advance took place in some descriptions of stock. A small sale of Delaware was made at the Second Board at 99¾, United States Bank sold at 4, Mohawk improved ½, Paterson ¼, Harlem ¼, Stonington ½, Farmers' Loan 1.

There was a fair extent of transactions in State Stocks at firm rates. Ohio Sixes improved 1½, Kentucky 1, Illinois 1, Indiana 1, State Fives, 1870, ½, State Sixes, 1904, 80 offered, 1200, 30 offered, Fives and a half, 1861, 82, Pennsylvania 1½.

There is not a great deal doing in Foreign Exchange to-day, but the scarcity of leading bills has put the rate up to 7½ a 7¾ for Sterling, and 5 32½ a 5 30 for Francs.

Inland Bills are in good demand, and Alabama funds continue to improve.

Treasury Notes are dull at ¼ a ⅜ discount.

We have another rumor from Washington to-day in relation the Government Loan. It is now said that Lord Ashburton has taken it at par for the Barings, the money to be paid in as wanted for the necessities of the Government. We doubt this rumor as we did the former in relation to Hope & Co. as we learn from a gentleman, who asserts that he knows the fact, that Lord Ashburton was applied to by Fleetwith in reference to taking a portion with Hope & Co. and he declared he would not touch a shilling of it. Still the rumor may be correct, although we doubt it.

About $90,000 in specie arrived here by sea yesterday.

The Central Board of the Arkansas Real Estate Bank have made an assignment of all the assets of the Bank to themselves as Trustees. There is to be a Secretary for each board, with a salary of $1200 per annum and the use of the Banking house. Albert Pike has been appointed attorney with a salary of $1200 and office rent. The Trustees are not to be in session more than 100 days in each year, with a salary of $2 per day, for eight years; all to be paid in specie! The Bank is not to give up its charter, and is to pay the regular annual bonus to the State; and at the expiration of eight years, if the stockholders see proper, they may commence banking again.

Extract of a letter from LONDON, April 10.

In American Stocks the transactions are on a very limited scale, and we have very little variation to report, except in the value of Ohio 6 per cent. Stocks, the holders of which have been very much alarmed, and the rates depreciated by the rapid and great fall in prices at New-York, and by vague rumors that the State will be unable to pay its future dividends; these reports are generally disbelieved but should they be confirmed, it is impossible to say to what price the Stock may fall—at present the price is 66. Buyers of Pennsylvania 5's at 56, and of New-York at 72 per cent, both for small amounts. United States Bank Shares 21 a 22. It is mentioned that Messrs. Denison & Co. will pay about half, and Messrs. Rothschild about a quarter of the Half-yearly Dividend due on the U. S. Bank 6 per cent. Bills remitted through them; and it is presumed that the hypothecated Stocks will not be forced on the market at present, as their realization would be almost impossible, even at a very heavy sacrifice. The last price was 50 per cent. for Rothschild's and 54 per cent. for Denison's Debentures. Maryland and Louisiana offered at 60 Indiana and Illinois offered at 25, and no buyers.

Markets.

ASHES—About 200 bbls Pots have been sold at $5,50 for export. Pearls are held at $5,25, but we hear of no sales.

COTTON—The advices from Liverpool are encouraging, 40,000 bales having been sold during the week previous to departure of the steamer, and 3d advance obtained. The news has not yet been digested here.

FLOUR—The receipts are light to-day. The market is somewhat unsettled. We quote Genesee $6,00 a 6,06½. A few small lots have sold at $6,12½. The demand is active.—Sales 300 bbls Michigan at $6,00 and 400 bbls round hoop Ohio Canal at same rate. The stock of Southern, (Georgetown) being almost exclusively in the hands of one house, the price has been again advanced. 500 bbls sold yesterday at $6,25, but there is now none to be had lower than $6,50. Sales of 200 bbls Brandywine Corn Meal at $11 cash.

GRAIN—There is not much activity in Grain. No sales in Wheat. 2000 bushels N. O. Corn sold at 38 a 39 cts weight, and a small lot Northern at 66 cts a measure. 700 bushels Jersey at 65. Oats continue to accumulate, and the price has fallen 3 to 4 cts. Sales of 3000 to 4000 bushels at 40 a 42 cts. Southern are offered at 38 cts without buyers.—A small lot Rye brought 68 cts for the East.

Liverpool Cotton Market—April 15.—To-day there has been considerable activity in the Cotton market, and 7000 bags have been sold, including 1500 American on speculation. The market is on the whole pretty well supplied, but holders continue successfully for an advance of ⅛d per lb for the common and middling qualities of American, on prices obtained in the early part of the last week. The business has been done chiefly in American descriptions.

Another paper of the 19th remarks, relative to the business of the 18th:—Prices are very firmly supported at ⅛d to ¼d advance on the lowest point of the market.

☞ To Gentlemen with Heavy Beards and Tender Faces.

ALEXANDER RAMSEY'S Saponaceous Compound, for shaving, is particularly recommended. The oily ingredients, of which it is composed, renders it healing to the skin, softening to the beard, and produces a very thick and durable lather, which supports the beard against the edge of the razor more effectually than any other preparation now in use, known to the subscriber. There need be no fears of the skin chapping in the coldest weather, after using it.

☞ If it does not prove to be as good as recommended, it may be returned, and the money will be cheerfully refunded, provided it is purchased at retail, of the subscriber.

Successor to N. Smith Prentiss,
Wholesale Perfumer and Fancy Soap Maker, No. 45 Maiden lane, sign of the Golden Rose. 15 eSim

☞ FASHIONABLE DOOR Plates and Bell Pulls.—The advertiser offers for sale his fashionable silver plated and brass Door Plates, with improved enamelled borders, the object of which is to prevent the soiling of the front door in cleaning the plates. House-keepers are invited to examine the specimens, which are superior to any heretofore offered to the public. They are engraved to order, in a superior style, and the silver on the plates is of the very best quality, requiring very little cleaning, and they are engraved very deep so as to endure a longer time, to look well, than they have generally been done. All orders promptly attended to. J. G. BOLEN, 194 Broadway.
