CITY INTELLIGENCE.

TUESDAY, May 17.

LAWYER'S DIARY FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 18.—COMMON PLEAS.—First Part—41, 47, 49, 51, 53, 129, 57, 59, 61, 63, 65, 67, 69, 71. Part Second meets at 4 o'clock—28, 40, 48, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 150, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.—CASE OF WILLIAM L. STONE.—The jury in the case not being able to agree, the Court assembled about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and directed that they be brought in. The Foreman stated that they had not agreed nor did he suppose it possible that they would do so. Judge Kent expressed regret at the necessity which had existed of keeping them together so long, but it was one of those cases where the Court considered itself bound, however painful to their feelings, to be somewhat rigid. They were then discharged, having been in session over 21 hours. The relative position, we understand, was the same as at first, viz: 10 for acquittal and 2 the reverse, but one of the latter, it was said, suggested to the other during the night that they both should yield, but without effect, so that they stood in fact but one for a verdict of guilty, and eleven for acquittal.

Several officers of the Navy, and also Ogden Hoffman, Esq., who had formerly been a midshipman, were examined for the defence. They all considered Captain Elliot to blame in not bringing the Niagara into battle earlier than he did. A witness on the part of Mr. Cooper (Commodore McKay, formerly of the Buenos Ayrean Navy) thought Capt. K. bound to obey his orders by keeping in line. After remarks from Mr. Campbell the Board further adjourned.

SUPERIOR COURT.—The action for libel brought by J. Fenimore Cooper against William L. Stone has been submitted by order of the Court, to three referees, who met on Monday afternoon in the C. S. Court room to investigate the facts in relation to the subject. The board of referees consists of Messrs. Samuel A. Foote, Daniel Lord, Jr., and Samuel Stevens, of Albany. The libel is said to be contained in a review by Col. Stone of Cooper's Naval History, in which Mr. C. is charged with having misrepresented the facts in the battle of Lake Erie, with a view to white washing the character of Commodore Elliot. Col. Stone put in a plea of justificity, averring justification, and that the review was a correct one of the work in question. Messrs. Bidwell and Campbell appeared on the part of Col. Stone, and Mr. Cooper, (assisted by his nephew, Mr. Richard Cooper,) conducted the case in person. He denies, of course, any particular bias or leaning towards Commodore Elliot. The Board adjourned to yesterday afternoon, when farther investigation took place.

COURT OF SESSIONS.—Before Judges LYNCH and NOAH.—FELO DE GUILTY.—Isaac Bradshaw, indicted for grand larceny, in stealing a pocket-book containing about $1,200 in bank bills from the pocket of Ira C. Johnson, of Woodstock, Ohio, when at the window of the Post-office in this city, on Saturday morning last, withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the indictment.

TRIAL FOR FORGERY.—George Johnson, Jr., was put upon his trial for forgery in the 3d degree in forging the name of John Johnson (of the firm of Messrs. Bowman & Johnson,) as an endorsement on a note for $1,000, dated November last, at 90 days, which note was discounted by the accused at the Butchers' & Drovers' Bank, and the proceeds placed to the credit of the firm of Kirk & Johnson. The forgery was distinctly proved by Mr. Townsend, Cashier of the Bank, who stated that Messrs. Kirk & Johnson opened an account in the Bank, each subscribing their names in the book of the Bank—having sundry discounts there, &c.—that the business with the Bank was principally conducted by Mr. Kirk, whom witness understood had gone to Texas, but that the accused had often sent notes in exchange written on by him to the Bank for discount. It was admitted by the accused that he signed the name of Kirk & Johnson as drawers of the note, but denying the endorsement as being his.

Mr. John Johnson deposed that the endorsement on the note was not in his hand writing—that he never recollected to have endorsed a note on the Butchers' & Drovers' Bank for the accused, though when the accused and his partner Kirk commenced business, the witness offered to aid them with endorsements from time to time for $3,000, which he did and that on one occasion he endorsed a note for $3,000 to take up other notes for about the same amount, in the Bank of America. That the accused was, as he always had thought, an honest young man, full chip, simple, easily led, and of very little talent for business, Kirk being the most talented and the active business man. That when witness discovered his name had been forged he went to the counting room of Kirk & Johnson, and finding Kirk there, mentioned to him the forgery—that Kirk left the City the same day—the prisoner remaining here and not attempting to leave. On the note of $5,000 three instalments of $500 each had been paid, one at each renewal of the note; another note of $3,000 discounted for $3,000 at the Butchers' & Drovers' Bank, dated 5th November, 1841; a third, dated to November, 1841, for $1,000, discounted for $1,000; a fourth dated 25th September, 1841, for $1,000 discounted for $1,000; a fifth dated 28th September, 1841, for $1,200 discounted for $1,000, all drawn by the accused and the endorsements of which were forged, were given in evidence. The endorsements on all of these Mr. John Johnson thought were not in the hand writing of the prisoner, but looked more like the hand writing of Kirk, whom he thought the better penman of the two.

Mr. Pringle deposed that he was a clerk for the firm of Kirk & Johnson from November, 1835, to November, 1839, and again from October, 1840, to the time of the prisoner's arrest—that the prisoner kept the ledger and some other of the books, and that the endorsements of the name of Kirk & Johnson on the notes exhibited, and also the filling up, were in the hand writing of the accused—that neither of the firm usually kept the book—that Kirk was the active out-door business man, and that the $6 checks, drawing moneys out of the Butchers' & Drovers' Bank, were mostly signed by the accused—fifty by him and some six by Kirk. Witness also stated that the prisoner, in his opinion, was entirely unacquainted with general business transactions, and acted entirely under the directions of Kirk, his partner, invariably following his directions in relation to the operations of their firm. All paper negociations were conducted by Kirk. The witness believed from examination of the signatures of John Johnson, endorsed on four or six notes, and charged to be forged, were not in the hand writing of the prisoner, but in that of Kirk. The notes which taken from the bank to be cancelled were put by Kirk in a pigeon hole and by him taken out and examined—never saw Johnson, the accused, take them out and examine them. Kirk also kept concealed from the accused much of his business and moneyed negociations. The firm of Kirk & Johnson had a branch house in New-Orleans, which was attended in part by Johnson.

Cornelius Hayes, President of the Bank of New-York, deposed that Kirk & Johnson had two notes discounted in that Bank, one for $8,000 and the other for $5,000—the latter dated 7th October, 1841. On these the endorsed name of John Johnson as also forged. This Mr. Pringle deposed was, as he thought, in Kirk's hand writing.

James Gallatin, President of the National Bank, deposed that three notes, for $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000, purporting to be drawn by Kirk & Johnston, and endorsed in the name of John Johnson, were discounted at that Bank. The endorsements on these were also forged. Kirk, on the 7th December, the day before it was said he absconded, went to Mr. Gallatin to get a note of $5,000 renewed, that would fall due on the 8th. These three notes in the National Bank were signed Kirk & Johnston by the accused.

Mr. Pringle recalled—said he had on several occasions heard Mr. Kirk tell the accused to draw up notes, which he (Kirk) would take, saying he must go over to Greenwich-street, (where Mr. John Johnson kept his office,) and returning would take slips of paper, purporting to be notes, hand them to the accused and tell him to send them by a clerk or boy to the Bank if he (Kirk) did not return in season. It was also admitted that other notes to the amount of $1,200 on the Bank of New-York, and $5,000 on the Fulton Bank, had been discounted by means of the forged endorsements of the name of John Johnson. The prosecution then rested.

The defence, which was conducted by Messrs. H. Maxwell, W. M. Price, and J. O. Sergeant, was then opened by Mr. Sergeant, and witnesses then called for the defence.

For the defence it was proved by David J. Kennedy, Dunbar S. Dyson, Richard Dyson, P. S. Vanbuyck and others, that the accused was of weak and simple mind, dull of understanding, credulous, and easily deceived and persuaded, and until from incapacity to conduct any mercantile operations; that his character for honesty and integrity, as also for economy, was good, and that they believed the accused might easily have been made an instrument for fraud and evil by Kirk, who was a shrewd, active man, without the accused suspecting he was doing any thing wrong; that he was a man who could be moulded by a designing man, particularly a partner, to any purpose, without having in his own mind a sense of guilt. He, however, was considered capable of discerning right from wrong, when they were placed before him, but so credulous as to believe every man honest. Some of the witnesses, particularly Mr. Robert Cochran, who knew him from infancy in Scotland, thought, however, that there was something wrong in the obtainment of $50,000 of discounts on $10,000 of credits by endorsements. Evidence was adduced concerning the books having been kept principally by the accused. The testimony then closed, and the Court took a recess until 5 o'clock.

At the reassembling of the Court the case was ably and eloquently summed up by Messrs. Maxwell and Price for defence, and Messrs. Shaler and Lowndes for the People. Judge Lynch gave an erudite and impartial charge to the jury, who retired at half-past 7 o'clock, and after an absence of half an hour returned into Court with a verdict of guilty on the 24 count of the indictment, viz: uttering a forged note, knowing it to be forged. Adjourned.

He was taken to a drug store, thence home, and at 9 o'clock to the City Hospital, where he died at 7 o'clock this morning. Verdict, Came to his death by being accidentally run over by a railroad car by jumping off said car while under way.

Commercial and Money Matters.

TUESDAY, P. M

The business of the Board to-day was larger than for several days past, and principally in Harlem, of which 1200 shares were sold. The variations were not important.—Harlem fell off ¼, Mohawk ¼. The feeling was not buoyant.

In State Stocks the transactions were light, and the market rather heavy. State Sixes declined ¼ per cent; Indiana Bonds ¼; for State Sixes, 1860, 90 offered; Fives and a half, 81; Fives, 1829, 70; Ohio Sixes, 1860, 73½; Kentucky Bonds 70; Alabama 58; Penn 49.

The Foreign Exchange Market is quiet but firm. Sterling 9¼ to 9¾. France 5 24¾ to 5 20.

There has been a very light business done to-day in Inland bills. The rate on Boston has got worse. On the other points generally there is still a slightly improving tendency. We quote

Boston	¼ a ¼	Mobile	— a ¼
Philadelphia	par ¼	Montgomery	¼
Baltimore	par	Tuscaloosa	¼
Virginia	¼ a 6¼	New-Orleans	¾ a ¾

Treasury Notes are in very moderate demand to-day at ¼ to ¾ discount.

The money market continues in a very easy situation and good paper is much wanted by the Banks. Shinsing in the street is not so costly an amusement as it was a short time since, and the shavers must submit to glean where they then gathered the full harvest. For really prime paper the street rate is 7 per cent. Paper of prime character sells at 3 to 10 per cent. In Philadelphia Bicknell quotes money out of doors at 9 to 12 per cent. per annum.

The average receipts on the Canals of this State this season has been upwards of $10,500 per day. The whole receipts up to the 7th instant were $190,772. The following is a statement of the receipts up to the 7th instant, for the last four years:

		April.	1st week in May.	Total to 7th May.
1839 (opened 20th April)		$107,767	$75,432	$182,999

One hundred shares Commercial Bank of Albany sold in that city at 88 cash.

Bicknell's Philadelphia Reporter says—The aspect of our money affairs continues tranquil. The rates remain without any material change, and save the high discounts on country notes, and the unfavorable condition of the financial affairs of the state, the prospect would indeed present a buoyant and encouraging appearance.

It is said by two or three of the Harrisburg Journals, that the interest on our State debt, due in August, will not be paid. We indulge a hope, however, that the Executive will make an extraordinary effort, and believe that he will do every thing in his power.

State Fives sell at 45: $2000 Cincinnati Sixes, 1805, sold at 65.

The Baltimore Patriot very properly rows up the Salisbury Bank of Maryland for refusing to pay a check in specie because it was drawn by a broker. This is a subterfuge unworthy of any respectable institution.

Counterfeit Fives on the Bank of Sandusky, Ohio, are afloat; letter B, made payable to C. H. Barber, or bearer, the words Five Dollars badly executed, the letters being crowded together. Signatures tolerably well executed.—General appearance of the bill bad.

Exchange on New York at Augusta, Ga. is sold by some of our Banks at 1 per cent. for current money, 1½ and 2 per cent. is asked out of doors. Central money has become more scarce, and sales have been made under 15 per cent. discount. State Bonds are getting better, as 50 cents has been offered for a large amount and refused.

New Orleans Bank paper is now taken at Louisville at 7 per cent. discount by the brokers. Municipality (New Orleans) 10; Shawneetown 10 to 12; State Bank of Illinois is offered at 50.

At New Orleans, May 7, Exchange Bank Notes have sold at 42 cents on the dollar, with steady demand and an upward tendency. Improvement has been much sought after at 44 to 46 per cent. discount; Atchatalaya has been more active; no large amounts offering. Sales were made yesterday at 30 cents on the dollar. Orleans has been sold at 32 cents on the dollar. Some of the Banks had decided not to settle their weekly balances in specie.

At Charleston, S.C. Bank purchasing rate for sterling 6½ and 7; out door transactions 7½ to 8 per cent. premium. On France Bank rate 5.55. We quote out door rate 5.50 per dollar, nominal. The Banks have been checking at 1 per cent premium for sight drafts on New York, while bills have been disposed out of doors at ¼ to 1 per ct. prem.

Markets.

ASHES—A few sales Pots are made at 5 25, but holders generally decline selling at that rate. Of Pearls 50 bs reels sold at 5 25.

COTTON—The sales are not very large to day. Holders generally are commanding higher prices, and some of the sales appear to indicate a slight improvement.

FLOUR—The business is limited—partly in consequence of the quantity afloat being very small. For Genesee 6 18¾ is the fine quotation at which some 10 to 1500 barrels have been sold. The arrivals lately have contained a large proportion of Michigan and Ohio. Sales 300 barrels Ohio Canal "Wellman" at 6 18¾; 400 mixed flat and round at 6 ¾; Michigan 6 to 6 06¼; a small parcel of New Orleans sold at 6 00; Troy 6 18¾; Georgetown 6 37½, with light sales.

GRAIN—Very little done to-day. Sales 1000 bushels Illinois Wheat for milling at 24 cents. This nearly cleared the market. Small sales Rye for the East at 60 cents. Corn is very dull. North River is held at 64 to 65. Oats are rather firm, and not so superabundant as they have been.—Sales 5 to 6000 bushels at 43½ to 44½.

MORE NEWS from the South.—The following communication has just been received from the Rev. Wm. Lewis, Ordinary for Sumpter District:

SUMTERVILLE, S. C., 15th Jan., 1842.

Dr. P. M. Cohen & Co.

Gentlemen—I deem it due to you to communicate the benefit that I have derived from the use of Jayne's Hair Tonic. I have used only one bottle of it, and that with so much success that I am well convinced of its virtue and efficacy.

The Hair is now coming out on my head in places which were perfectly bald, and is still growing and thickening.

I have great confidence in the Hair Tonic, and anticipate from a further application of it the complete restoration of my Hair.

Several gentlemen of my acquaintance have used it, and all of them with great success.

Very respectfully yours, W. LEWIS.

Sold by the agents, A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, No. 79 Fulton street. Sold also by DAVID SANDS & CO., 77 East Broadway; Abraham B. Sands & Co. 275 Broadway. my10 1mis
