☞ To Travelers.—Gentlemen visiting this City are respectfully invited to stop at the GRAHAM HOUSE, 63 Barclay-street, where a quiet home, pleasant rooms, clean beds, wholesome food, and an atmosphere unpoisoned by alcohol or tobacco, await their acceptance. These do not believe it impossible to live on a rigidly temperate and purely Vegetable Diet without severe privation are requested to give it one trial. The house is very convenient to the business part of the City and to all the Steamboat Landings.—Terms moderate. Gentlemen visiting the City with a part of their families will find such a home vastly more agreeable than a Hotel. Shower-Baths free. m4 tf

☞ Dyspepsia.—Schiling's Restorative Cordial, No 470 Broadway. This cordial relieves Dyspepsia, Nervous and Sick Headache and Nervous Affections generally. It restores strength in all cases of Debility. It creates a good and healthy appetite, gives tone and vigor to the whole system, and is recommended by several eminent physicians of this city, viz.

New-York, March 16, 1842.

C. C. Schiling, Esq.—Dear Sir: At your request, I have examined with care the medicines of which your cordial is composed, and have no hesitation in saying that they are of the best class of tonics; and, in the manner prepared by you, we praise highly beneficial in Dyspepsia and many other diseases of general debility. Respectfully yours, &c.

P. PRATT, M. D. 94 Liberty-st.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THURSDAY, June 23.

COURT FOR THE CORRECTION OF ERRORS.—The Lieutenant Governor in the Chair.

The argument was closed in the case of Purdy, &c. vs. The People. Judgement postponed, without day being named. On motion of the Chancellor, a term of the Court is to be holden at Albany, commencing the last Saturday in August, at which appeal causes will have the preference.—The case of Matthew Scoville vs. The city of Buffalo, to test the right of the plaintiff to build on a lot belonging to him in Buffalo, which lay on the line of a street which had been ordered to be opened, was called up. Mr. Barker was heard for plaintiff in error, when the Court adjourned.

In the COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, an action of replevin was brought by John A. Smith, of Mobile, against John E. Foley, (firm of Engler & Foley,) to test the right of a levy made on goods found in possession of Mrs Anna Cullen as she was about to depart for Mobile—her husband, Patrick Cullen, being indebted to Engler and Foley, and also to other merchants, in a large sum—on account of which indebtedness the property was seized. Mrs Cullen testified that the goods belonged to plaintiff, who is her brother, and to whom her husband sold his stock and stand, and that she came down as his agent to buy goods. The jury, however, considered the plaintiff as merely acting as a cover, and gave a verdict for defendant in the sum of $500, the value of the goods taken, with $25 at damages, and 6 cents costs.

In the same Court, John D. Kellogg and Daniel B. Taylor brought an action of replevin against D. D. Nash and A. Rossford, to recover printing materials which had been seized at the office of the Commercial Transcript, by officer Nash, on a distress warrant issued by Mr. Rossford for rent due to him by Kellogg & Co. at No. 14 Ann-street, which materials had been removed to No. 27 Ann street, the office of plaintiffs. It was contended, on the side of Mr. Rossford, that the property belonged to Mr. Rickards, and that plaintiffs had no right to bring action. This, however, was overruled. Mr. Rossford's right to follow the property was strongly contended for. The jury found for defendants in the sum of $150, the appraised value of the property replevied.

COURT OF SESSIONS.—Before the RECORDER, Judges LYNCH and NOAH, and Aldermen Codlins and Smith.

TRIAL FOR FORGERY.—George Somes was put upon trial for forgery in the second degree in passing a $20 counterfeit bill, purporting to be of the issue of the National Bank of this city, to G. Arnoux, in February last.

James M. Hawkins, deposed that he is a cigar maker, and the evening before his arrest, he was sitting in Mr. Fishblaite's office, 67 Liberty-street. Somes came in and asked him if he would like to make $100. Witness replied that he would be very happy to do so, as he was short of money. He went out and returned in half an hour, pulled out his pocket book, showed him a $20 bill, asked if it was a good one; witness said he thought it was. Somes finally said the bill was a bad one; that it was pronounced by a broker an excellently executed counterfeit, and he would give witness $100 if he would pass off the bills; that they must be passed quickly, as they were the only bills of that kind in the city; that he had brought them from Philadelphia, whence they were received from Pittsburg; he wished witness to begin immediately and to purchase a cloak for himself that night; witness hesitated—said he would give him an answer the next day, and the next night Somes met him again, gave him a list of places where he should pass the bills, which witness agreed to do. Somes gave him a $20 bill, a $1 bill, and a $2 bill of Philadelphia money, and told him to go to a hat store in Broadway, on the right hand of the way to the Theatre; witness went there and selected a hat, but seeing a broker's office next door but one, and having passed a bad bill before, witness ordered the hat to be sent to the office of Liberty-street. He went out and met Somes who told him to go to a hosiery in Nassau-street and purchase 6 pair of stockings, which he did, offering the $20 bill, which they could not change, and they agreed to take the $2 Philadelphia bill in payment. Went into a hump store, as directed by Somes, and asked the man to change the $20 bill, as he had bought some stockings next door; he changed it, witness receiving a $10 and ten $1 bills, and coming out agitated; met Mr. Pollock whom he asked to give Somes the $20 bills wrapped up in a paper, which, after some conversation, he did; witness, however, first requested Pollock to treat him to some brandy, which he did. Pollock had before cautioned witness to have nothing to do with Somes. Witness then met Somes and received from him another $20 bill to pass off. Somes directed him to go to a store in Maiden-lane, and purchase a coat, which he did for $8, and offered the $20 bill, which was sent out to a broker and pronounced counterfeit. He requested the man to send a boy with him to the store in Liberty-street, which he did, but the store was closed—witness then told him to send his clerk in the morning, and went away.—Somes then told him to go to a store in Maiden Lane, and get some opium. He went, but did not enter—went to the Park Theatre, as ordered, but it was closed—was told by Somes to go in Broadway and get a machintosh; did so.—The bill was sent out to a broker, who pronounced it a counterfeit. Got the bill back—told the shopkeeper to send the machintosh to a false direction. Met Somes, who told him to go to the Park theatre (whither he had been twice before, but could not get in) and Somes walked towards the Theatre with him from Howard's Hotel. Pollock again saw witness and cautioned him against Somes, saying it was a dangerous business he was engaged in.—Witness offered the $20 bill at the Theatre, and it was pronounced bad. Received it back, and met Somes and gave him the bill. Somes wrapped up $4 in good city bills on the $20 counterfeit bill, and told witness to go to a store in Broadway near and get Safety New York Fund $1 bills for it and a shilling besides. Objected, as witness thought he would be detected. Somes said not, as they were in judges of money. Witness went, offered the bills—the $20 bill was doubled, but they would not say it was bad. It was sent out, and the person who brought it back said it was bad—asked witness where he got it, and witness said he got it during the day for 1000 segars, and gave $8 in change.—Got the bill back, and met Somes, who proposed to witness to go over the water to Brooklyn. On the way along Fulton street, Somes proposed to witness to go into a clock store and get a bill changed. Witness went in and requested the clerk to change the bill—he took a pocket-book out of a safe and was about to do so, when he looked again at the bill, doubled it, and sent it out to be examined. It was brought back and pronounced a counterfeit, and they concluded to detain witness—several persons collected, and Somes came in—witness appeared to recognize Somes, who turned and went out, pretending not to know him—witness apologized, saying he was mistaken, and was arrested and secured.

Cross examined—Witness came here from Liverpool in August last—was engaged in a boot and shoe store here.—Brought a draft of £50 with him—First saw Somes at Mr. Fishblaite in Liberty-street in January—went to Mr. Reynolds and remained until October—then went to Kennedy's, then engaged in making segars in Gold street—was sent away from Gold street for passing counterfeit money—never passed any before, nor had any in his possession, save a $1 bill—never was told by Pollock in writing nor verbally what to swear to to clear him. Never said that Pollock gave the bad bills to pass—which he did not—Did not say that Mr. Pollock offered the bad bill in the Park Theatre—Never said that Pollock told him he must swear him clear, or he (Pollock) would drown himself—Pollock had visited witness in prison, and had told him that Somes' counsel were trying to bamboozle him (Pollock). A long and protracted cross-examination by prisoner's counsel here followed, which was principally a re-examination as to the testimony given for the prosecution—which detected some discrepancies between the former and the latter statements of the witness.

Direct resumed—Mr Pollock was present at the first conversation of Somes with witness, at 67 Liberty street, and may have heard the conversation; but was not any party to the contract or business between witness and Somes, so far as witness has any knowledge.

Gabriel A. Jessen sworn—Deposed that he keeps a clothing store in Fulton-street, and that on the 22d February, at evening, Hawkins came there and asked him if he would change a $20 bill. Told him he could. Looked at the man, saw he was a total stranger, and at the bill, and it was sent out to be examined. The colored man came back and said it was bad—Hawkins said he got it for segars. During this time Somes came in and asked for Mr. Laughlinger, and was told he kept next door—Hawkins turned round and said here is a gentleman who knows me—But Somes stood a moment and looked at him as if to speak or shake hands, but did not, and went out, when Hawkins said he was mistaken. Witness was about to hand the bill back to Hawkins, when the colored man told him that a man outside said Hawkins had offered the bill before, when a watchman was sent for, and Hawkins secured.

Cross examination elicited nothing of consequence.

Sebastian Pollock sworn—Deposed he is in no business now, but was a dry goods and then commission merchant, and as now taking the benefit of the bankrupt act. Was present at an interview between Hawkins and Somes on the afternoon of the 22d February last, at 67 Liberty street.—They spoke low, but witness overheard part of the conversation as to the $100 and for passing $100. After Somes left, witness cautioned Hawkins to beware of Somes. The next afternoon saw Somes come in the second time at 67 Liberty street—took Hawkins out and gave him something that looked like a bank bill, telling him to purchase a hat or a cloak. Witness does not recollect seeing Hawkins again or drinking with him that evening. Did not see Somes again until he saw him after night on board the Brooklyn ferry boat.

Cross examined—Witness is a native of Hamburg, came from thence hither; has been in England. Came here in December, 1837. Never kept himself concealed in Hamburg or London. Has kept a dry goods and afterwards a commission store in this city. Does recollect drinking with Hawkins that night; is sure he did not go to or enter the Park Theatre with Hawkins the night of the 22d February. Never told Somes the next morning that a friend of mine had got into difficulty, and if he did not get out I should be ruined. Did not threaten to drown myself. Subpœnaed a few witnesses to come here to protect my character, as I heard it would be impeached by you (Mr. Smith.) When I saw the bill given to Hawkins by Somes I supposed it was a bad bill. I heard the offer of $100 for passing 50 bills—Mr. Somes often came to see me, and wished me to go into business with him in the dry goods line. Somes talked of furnishing $1000, and witness to keep the books, &c. It never came to any thing. Had heard from Mr. Richard Harr and Mr. P. T. Winslow that Somes had had money. Told them that Somes offered to go into business with me and put in $1000, when they told me not to believe him as it was bad money. I do not think I saw Hawkins again after he left Fishblatt's store on Tuesday night except since seeing him in prison.

John Fishblatt, sworn—Deposed that he kept an office at 67 Liberty-street, in February, 1842. Pollock, Somes & Hawkins were frequently in office of witness—but he knows nothing of their intimacy; never saw Somes in conversation with Hawkins; was frequently from my office, during which it was left in charge of my porter; I am a pen dealer by trade; the books of Pollock were deposited in my office; Hawkins and Somes left my office one evening in company together, leaving a person named Abel Smith, who was in company with them, behind.

Cross examined—Officer Tappan inquired of Pollock where Hawkins got the $20 bill, when he replied that he knew that he got it in payment for segars.

Isaac Mott sworn—I keep an oil store at No. 121 Fulton-street; a stranger came (Hawkins) into my store on the 22d February and presented a $20 bill on the Union Bank of this city, requesting to have it changed, which it was, and he received other notes for it; which person I subsequently ascertained, in the Police office, as Hawkins; the bill was said to be a forgery; a person came to me afterwards to get that bill, but I did not deliver it up.

John H. Potter sworn—I was acting as counsel for Hawkins, having been engaged by Pollock and went to Mr. Mott to endeavor to get back the $20 counterfeit bill that he (Hawkins) had passed to Mott.

James Burns sworn—I saw a man come into Mr. Arnoux's store, in Fulton-street, on the 22d February and offer a $20 bill for which he wished to have given him small bills; the bill was sent out and pronounced to be bad, and Mr. Arnoux was about to give it back to him when a colored man said a man outside the door told him that the man had offered the bill before—when he was detained; that man was Hawkins; another man came in while Hawkins was there, to whom Hawkins and there is a man that knows me; that man was Somes, who pretended not to know Hawkins; Somes asked for Mr. Laughlinger; he was told he lived the next door, and turned and went out; Hawkins then said I thought I knew that man, but did not.

William H. Goodale sworn—On the 22d February Hawkins came in the store of Messrs. Weyman & Co., and purchased a coat for $8 and offered a $20 bill, which I should have taken if alone in the store, but Mr. Weyman being a good judge of money, I took it to him and he said it had better be sent out; it was sent and pronounced counterfeit; Hawkins then appeared agitated and wished the boy sent with him to Liberty-street; he went and Hawkins returned to the store saying he would call the next day and pay for it.

Charles Goodale sworn—Said Hawkins came into my store in Nassau-street, on the evening of the 22d February, and purchased a pair of socks for 17 shillings, offering a $2 and a $1 bill of Philadelphia banks, which were much worn and much below par; I did not know if I could not take them; he then offered me a $20 bill, which I thought was bad; the bill shown was like it, I finally took the $2 bill for the stockings and Hawkins went out.

Sebastian Pollock, recalled for review—I endeavored to get Hawkins to bail out, and offered money to accomplish it.

Cross examined by Prosecution.—Somes gave Mr. Powers $20 in Tooney's office in my presence to get the $20 counterfeit bill from Mr. Mott. Somes asked if it would not be better to get the old bank in the way.

By Mr. Smith, for defence—Somes told me that Hawkins was generous. This was the first I knew of it. I told Hawkins that Somes told me that if he (Hawkins) would keep quiet, he (Somes) would bail him out. Somes told me the night we were going across the Brooklyn Ferry, on Wednesday morning, the 23d of February. When Somes first told me that Hawkins was arrested, I told him that it was his fault, and that he had given him money. He at first denied it, but afterwards confessed it. I was introduced to Captain Trott by Somes, and I offered to pay Capt. Trott if he would go to bail for Hawkins.

The prosecution here rested, and Stephen T. Mason, Esq. who was associated with J. M. Smith, Jr. Esq. opened the case for the defence in a short but eloquent speech.

By consent, William Barnett, who came in, was examined for the prosecution. He said he was porter of Mr. Fishblatt, and that Hawkins and Somes were acquainted and often came to Mr. Fishblatt's.

The examination of Somes, which was read, denied that he (Somes) knew Hawkins.

Testimony for defence.

Abel Smith was sworn to prove an alibi, and testified that he went with Somes on the afternoon of Monday, 21st of February, to see some indian; purchased the indian, and went over Fulton-ferry to see some indian; purchased the indian, and went over Fulton-ferry to see some indian; purchased the indian, and went over Fulton-ferry
