The Melon Seeds.

The Mills Point Herald gives a sketch of great interest relative to a lawyer of this city. It is a column long, and we must condense it. It relates, that at a restaurant in this city, one night was assembled a party of young Creoles, at the invitation of one of their number who had just taken out license to practice law in Louisiana. The host after drinking much wine, got boisterous, and looked round, anxious to find somebody to insult. He at last discovered a spare old man in a corner, at whom he commenced firing melon seeds from between the thumb and finger. The first one hit him on the left ear. The second struck his hand, and the third rebounded from his breast.

"You are a bad shot," said the old man, rising—"I will give you a few lessons," and he handed his card. The parties met with pistols next morning on the Shell Road, near the half way house. The Creole fired first, and missed.

"Monsieur," said the stranger, "you are too hasty, and you bear too hard on the trigger, but now it is my turn, I advise you to stand cool and firm, the least variation might cost you your life. You aimed at my eye yesterday, but hit my ear—it was well you missed." He raised the pistol, and muttering "Monsieur's right ear" he fired—the lower lappet of the right ear was shot away. "One lesson at a time," said the unknown, "is enough; here sir, is your first melon seed. Adieu, you shall hear of me again."

Twelve months had passed—the occurrence above related was almost forgotten by the actors—when one evening at the Theatre D' Orleans, the Creole felt a slight tap on the shoulder; he turned, and the mysterious stranger of the restaurant stood by his side. "Monsieur," whispered he, "I owe you another lesson, are you at leisure to-morrow morning?"

"A votre service, Monsieur."

They met again and the Creole missed. Said the old man "you have not improved much since your last lesson. Your second shot at the restaurant struck my hand, therefore this goes on the same spot," and at the firing of the pistol, the Creole's left hand hung in shreds to his arm. "The next time we meet, Monsieur, your breast shall be the target," exclaimed the unknown, as he handed over the second melon seed carefully wrapped up in a piece of paper. "Au revoir."

The Creole recovered, but lost his spirits, and was a changed man.

A few weeks ago, the Creole received a small package from Havana, accompanied by a letter from a hotel keeper there, stating that the said package was ordered to be sent to his address by a foreign gentleman who had there died.

He opened the box, and found therein, a small purse containing one melon seed—THE STRANGER WAS NO MORE!

The writer of the sketch says the above is no fiction, and that the principal actor even now resides in New-Orleans, a talented and esteemed member of the bar; and often relates the above sketch of his adventures to his friends, to show how dearly he paid for the excess of one night at the restaurant. A PROTECTIVE TARIFF.—To some it may at first blush seem strange that a high Tariff should reduce prices. Any one, however, who examines the subject for a moment will see that such must be the natural consequence, and for the following among other reasons:

1st. It encourages capitalists to embark in the business with their money, thereby leading to competition among the manufacturers themselves, which is sure to lead to a reduction of prices.

2d. A high Tariff gives assurance to the manufacturer of a steady and safe demand for his goods, thereby enabling him to embark large sums in the improvement of his machinery and the extension of his business.

3d. The skill and ingenuity of American operatives are not excelled by any in the world, and in some species of manufactures they actually excel all others, as in those of hats, axes, &c.

4th. The facilities every where afforded for the establishment of manufacturers on durable streams of water, cheap materials—in most cases abundant supplies of the raw material—low price of fuel and light taxes.

All we ask in this matter from those who raise the cry that Protection increases prices, is to bring forward their proof. We have never seen them do it yet; they always deal in vague generalities. Well, if Free Trade writers will not do this, then we ask those whom they attempt to deceive to examine for themselves, and they will find that the pretence has no foundation in fact.

NATIVE COPPER.—Whilst we are compelled to import the immense quantities of Copper used in our extensive country, it is believed that there are the richest beds of copper ore on Lake Superior ever discovered in the world. Enterprize and a little skill are only necessary to bring it into market. A few enterprizing Yankees have, during the past year, made a commencement of digging the copper, and with great success. There are hundreds of individuals in this city, out of employ, whose information and knowledge of smelting ores might be most successfully employed on the banks of Lake Superior. If two or three men with some capital were to organize companies, on shares, and proceed to Lake Superior, they would soon realize advantages which no business at present in New-York could equal. We hope this article may be read by some of our enterprizing mechanics, and that they will inquire into the truth of what we have stated. [American.

CORONER'S INQUEST—SUSPECTED MURDER NEAR GEORGETOWN.—We understand that an inquest was held yesterday, before T. Woodward, Esq., Coroner, near Georgetown, in view of the body of a colored woman named Delilah Williams, aged about 35 years, who was found dead in a gravel pit about a mile from the town. From the fact that blood was traced on the grass to the edge of the pit, and from other circumstances, the jury, after a long and deliberate investigation, returned a verdict that the deceased had been murdered by some person or persons to the jury unknown. We understand the deceased bore an excellent character, and was a woman of temperate habits. She was married and had children. [Nat. Int.

By Special Appointment,

JOSEPH GILLOTT, Pen Manufacturer TO THE QUEEN.—CAUTION.—The high character of these Pens has induced the attempt, on the part of several disreputable makers, to practice a fraud not only upon Mr. Gillott, but also upon the public. An inferior article bearing the misspelled name, thus, Gillot, omitting the first t, is now in the market. It can readily be detected by its unfinished appearance, and the very common style in which it is put up.

Observe, the genuine Pens are all marked in full—"Joseph Gillott's Patent," or "Joseph Gillott, warranted;" and that each gross bears a fac simile of his signature.

PATENT CHEMICAL OIL LAMPS, CHEMICAL OIL, BURNING FLUID.—The subscriber would invite the attention of the public to his stock of "GREENOUGH'S PATENT LAMPS," which from their beauty and superior qualities, are destined to supersede all others now in use. The oil which is burned in them is a chemical preparation, very clean in its properties, and gives a very brilliant and economical light. The Burning Fluid is a portable light, free from all smoke, smell or grease, and will neither soil nor stain. Common Lamps can be altered at a trifling expense to burn the fluid. The subscriber is kindly permitted to refer to some of our most respectable families, who are now using the article.

Important to Ladies.

MRS. DIBBLE, 190 Canal-street, New-York, having obtained letters patent for her newly invented Stay Truss, or Umbilical Supporter, respectfully offers its use to the public, particularly those of her own sex, who have been subjected to the use of that afflicting application, the common steel truss. Mrs. D. believes that she cannot more strongly recommend its utility than by a brief narrative of her own sufferings, which led to the invention, which she offers as follows:

I was afflicted with an umbilical hernia. Dr. Hull applied one of his spring trusses, but my sufferings in wearing it were extreme. In fact I was visited by a triple hernia. Dr. Gray, the agent of Dr. Hull, was called, but he could not furnish any instrument adapted to my situation. My son then brought the presiding surgeon of the City Hospital, to see if my removal to that establishment would afford any prospect of relief. But he said all that could be done for me was to get some instrument which would enable me to stand. This, after long delay and much suffering, Doctor Knight succeeded in effecting, by a large pad which covered the parts affected, and iron steel belts round the waist. But the sufferings I endured under this cruel, but only remedy, were beyond description. I could not endure them—but I had no alternative but to submit or be confined to my bed.

But "necessity is the mother of invention," and aided by that stimulant and the blessing of God, I constructed the instrument which gave me ease then, and which I now offer to the public. From my own experience, I can most earnestly recommend it to my own sex in particular, though it may conveniently be adapted to the other. If young married ladies would wear a during a certain period, they would be preserved from those self-inflicting complaints which many kind and worthy mothers suffer in extremity age.

Of its efficacy in all cases of laxity of the abdominal and uterine muscles, the opinion of those immortals in medical profession who have so kindly favored me with an assurance of their approbation of my invention, will be considered by all competent judges, that it would be possible or proper for me to offer.

Mrs. M. P. Dibble:

DEAR MADAM—Having examined your Abdominal Supporter, we consider it one of the greatest improvements of the age, in correct Exercise. We will, in the course of our practice, recommend it to all the ladies who may stand in need of support from a relaxed state of the abdominal muscles, or weak abdominal hernia, prolapsus uteri, or a general state of corporeal debility in ladies. Very respectfully,

H A Grant, M.D. S S Kuypers, M.D. V Mott, M.D. J M Carnachan, M.D. George Wells, M.D. G R Foley, M.D. A C Post, M.D. J A Gemmerson, M.D. Hoover, M.D. Charles Lee, M.D. J Barcker, M.D. K Rogers, M.D. R W Cotrell, M.D. J W Francis, M.D.

The following notice is copied from The Lancet, a highly respectable medical paper, published in this city:

Mrs. Dibble, the lady referred to by a correspondent, has waited on and offered us an opportunity of inspecting her abdominal supporter, for which she has obtained a patent. We consider the instrument as well constructed, safe and well calculated to be highly serviceable to those requiring its application. Mrs. Dibble is a lady of great respectability, and we have pleasure in recommending it to the profession. je16 2w

HOLLY SYRUP—An unparalleled remedy for Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Colds, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, &c. &c.

This medicine has been thoroughly and successfully tested by able physicians, and by their advice is now prepared and offered to the public to speak for itself in the cause of afflicted humanity. And may he who blessed the instrumentality of clay to open the eyes of the blind, make it a blessing to the human family, and the great object of the proprietor will be accomplished.

The proprietor is privileged to refer the inquirer to the following persons for a more perfect knowledge of its healing properties:

Samuel Milbank, 171 Madison-st New-York; Capt. Ogden Mallory of Smithville City, Huron Co. Ohio, who in the month of May, 1839, was brought to his bed with a settled Pulmonary complaint, extremely reduced in strength with a confirmed cough. After trying all the popular remedies for a long time, he resorted to the use of the Holly Syrup, and was perfectly cured by taking three bottles.

Also, Gaylord Cummins of Germany, Chenango Co. New-York, who, after being confined for months with a Pulmonary complaint, which his two attendant physicians pronounced to be incurable, was raised by the use of the Syrup alone in two short weeks, restored to perfect health, and will bear testimony of its virtues to the Holly Syrup. James Leonard, of the same town, who for many years was a person of exemplary habits, was perfectly cured by the Holly Syrup. Mrs. Smith, wife of John P. Smith of the same town, after being given up by her attendant physician to die with a confirmed Consumption, was raised to perfect health by the Syrup alone in a short time.

In the city of Rochester, Capt. E. Freeman and A. Brittin—the former of a bad cough, and the latter of harmorrhage of the lungs. Isaac Weston, of a bad and wasting cough. Mrs. Smith, wife of Wm. P. Smith, merchant in Exchange-street, of a wasting cough. The proprietor is also privileged to refer the inquirer to the Rev. E. Tucker, Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of the city of Rochester.

Rev. D. E. Salmon, Bethany, Genesee Co. N. Y.

" Professor McGregor, Third Stat. Hamilton.
" J. A. Keyes, Rev. Smith, Wayne Co. N. Y.
" John Maclaster, Wheatland Monroe Co. N. Y.

NOTICE to RUPTURED PERSONS.—Dr. A. G. HULL, No. 4 Vesey-street, Astor House, New-York.—Persons afflicted with Ruptures may rely upon the best instrumental aid the world affords, on application at his office, 4 Vesey-street, New-York, or either of his numerous agents in the chief towns of the United States. Parents must be careful to examine the back part of Dr. Hull's Truss, to see if they are endorsed by Dr. Hull in writing. None other are genuine or to be relied on as good. Dr. Hull guarantees cures to all otherwise healthy patients who call at his office for treatment. It is rarely not radical and permanent, so as to preclude the necessity of wearing any truss whatever, the money advanced is returned on the expiration of the term specified for the cure, whatever progress the rupture may have made toward eradication.

Children under twelve years universally cured without further expense than that of the Truss. The radical cure has been under progressive practical improvement for more than twenty years past, in Dr. Hull's Truss Office, and is now brought to a state of unrivaled perfection.

Many trusses or agents have undertaken to send individuals to Dr. Hull's celebrated House and Pad Truss for the easy and safe retention of Ruptures. The gentlemen cannot be relied on—they are unable by unskilled approaches and mechanics, and are no better than the ordinary Trusses of the market. The genuine have my name in writing.

AMOS G. HULL & CO.

Dr. Hull has at the request of several respectable physicians, fitted up a room exclusively for Ladies, having separate entrance from the business department, wherein a lady is in constant attendance, to apply Trusses and Supporters to female patients.

THE TRUSSES and SUPPORTERS of Dr. Hull's invention continue to receive my decided preference. For twenty years past I have employed the Trusses of Dr. Hull with success. The supporter was invented in 1822 by the Dr., with my advice and appreciation, and I am happy to say that it is extensively adopted in Europe as well as in this country.

Sincerely, VALENTINE MOTT, M.D.

DR. KELLEY'S MEDICAL OFFICE, No. 120 Broadway.—The principles upon which Dr. Kelley's treatment of disease is founded, present an entire different character from those of any other practice heretofore pursued. He contends that it is absolutely necessary to be familiarly conversant with the chemical constituents of every fluid and solid of the Human Body, and the changes to which, under all circumstances, whether by disease or otherwise, those fluids are liable, can be so perfectly understood, that the chemical constituents of every agent employed for the treatment of disease should be as perfectly understood, and the precise action as fully known, that such agent would have upon the system, before its application, as after its operation had been witnessed. He decides on the common forms that experimental practice which has hitherto encharged and still encharges the whole Medical Profession, and contends that the absence of such knowledge is the true cause why numerous diseases are supposed incurable, and that so little success has attended their treatment, especially in the cases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, &c. Persons calling at his office may obtain gratuitously a late publication for their perusal, practically illustrating the principles of his practice. Dr. Kelley will be in attendance at his office for consultation throughout the following week. o24 3t*

HIGHLY Important to Farmers, Planters and Horticulturists.—The Compound Chemical Whale Oil Soap may be considered at the present moment the best preparation that ever was compounded for the total destruction of every species of insects infesting the vegetable kingdom—aurigants, aphis, roudings, peach, nectarine, apple and pear tree insects, slug and army worms, snail, cabbage lice, and all the smaller insects which are parasitic in indigenous and exotic flowers, such as the oleander, cactus, hoya, cycas, [illegible], geranium, erica, rosacea, many all by a proper application, be thoroughly exterminated. Besides, the extraordinary cheapness, a most important item in economy, renders it accessible for all purposes on a large scale. 1,000 peach trees, or 50 acres of land, may be kept free from the marauding insects for the trifling expense of one dollar.

Farmers, nurse, cows, calves, pigs, poultry, turkeys, cattle, lodgers, may, at the expense of a few dollars, realize hundreds by saving those annoyances to the management of the revenue. The Compound Chemical Whale Oil Soap may be had in bulk, or in jars of four pounds, a dozen of which are packed in a box. Apply to
