THE TARIFF BILL IS VETOED and JOHN TYLER will now have to face a whirlwind and no mistake! What a situation is the country now in! No revenue—no credit—nothing at all that a nation wants and every thing in the world which can work a curse. What have we of which a nation may be proud?—Is there a solitary feature which reflects honor upon us?—Have we one solitary article of which we may boast—excepting only the Lozenges and Pills of Dr. Peters?—Were it not for the glorious fame they have acquired we should be in a desperate plight.—But, thanks to a thorough medical education, Dr Peters has been able to prepare medicines which would reflect honor and happiness upon any nation. His offices are 439 Broadway, and 125 Fulton street.

THE SARSAPARILLA AND TOMATO BITTERS are the greatest discovery ever made for a spring and summer medicine. There is nothing that equals them. They will cure the dyspepsia, jaundice, costiveness, debility, humors, and all impurities of the blood, or irregularities of the bowels, after all other medicines have failed.

Read what they have done—

I have used the Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters for the dyspepsia, and have been cured by only using three bottles, after all other medicines have failed.

H. E. ROGERS, West Cambridge.

I have been cured of a dreadful humor by using the Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters.

J. L. WILLIAMS, Lowell.

Dr H. B. Smith, says he has used the Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters, with the happiest effects in cases of debility, weakness, &c. and he should recommend it to all for a spring medicine, as he considers it a most valuable alterative to the system. COURT CALENDAR FOR THIS DAY, July 1.—COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.—Part 1.—Nos. 47, 23, 105, 127, 139, 141, 155, 145, 145, 147, 151, 159.—Part 2.—Nos. 19.

The Mandamus Case.

COURT FOR THE CORRECTION OF ERRORS.—The Lieutenant Governor in the Chair.

In the case of the Mayor vs. The People of the State of New-York.

Mr. Foot continued on behalf of the People. He met, step by step, the argument on the other side, combating it with his usual force and energy.

Mr. Foote resumed his remarks. He contended that the revised charter had taken from the Common Council the right to examine into the validity of the election of assessors, having deprived it of its judicial powers, (so that it is not authorized, as a body, even to administer an oath,) and confined it to its legislative duties. The Mayor, under the circumstances, was bound to administer the oath, and on his refusal to do so the application for mandamus was the proper mode to be pursued. Mr. F. cited various precedents in support of this and his other positions. In regard to the right of the Recorder to swear in the members he contended, and produced various authorities, to shew that he had such right—it is the ordinary oath pointed out by the Constitution to be administered to every officer of the State in assuming his duties, which any Recorder, Mayor, &c, is authorized to administer. Mr. F. shewed the mode in which Mr. Collen, Mr. Stephen Allen, Mr. Paulding, and others, when successively elected Mayors, had the oath administered. Chancellor Kent, when he was Recorder of the city, exercised such power, and subsequently declared Recorders to be authorized for such. As respects the doctrine that only the Mayor and the Clerk of the Common Council had power to swear in the members of the Board, Mr. F. said there would be no end, if such were the case, to the abuses which would exist. The Clerk of the Common Council is a responsible officer, connected with the whole financial business of the city. He is placed in office by the members of the Common Council, and let it be said that he can withhold the oath from any member whom he pleases, under some frivolous pretext, and, by the means retain his place, where would the trouble end. Clothe the Mayor, too, with such extraordinary powers as these, and you render him a dictator without the responsibility of a dictator. Permit him to say that an officer whose term is ended shall still retain his situation to the exclusion of the one elected, and you give him a sovereignty indeed. Even in England the King dare not exercise what is here claimed, withholding from the people's representatives the testimonals that belong to them.

Give him this power, and you make our elections but an empty ceremony, and create a government such as there are none on the face of the globe but would be preferable to it. It has been said by the opposite counsel that Mr. Croton has not even the color of an election. We say that he has a color of election, and a deep color too. He produces the will of the people to that effect, and was Alderman of the Ward when the last ballot was cast. He took part in the proceedings of the Board, was an officer de facto, and his acts are binding and valid as relate to the appointment of Clerk. The Mayor was bound to receive the evidence to that effect, instead of which he sets up to be witness, judge and every thing else.

He declared the meeting to be an unlawful assemblage, which he meant to suppress. He may have thought he was doing right, but he assumed an extreme dictatorship over the rights and property of the people, which the Legislature never intended he should possess. In regard to the Board of Assistants, Mr. Shaler had no right to hold over.—The Legislature twice refused to amend the charter containing the hold-over clause, and passed it in 1839 without such. There is no necessity for such a clause—the business of the Common Council is not delayed by the want of a member, as the others can do the business. Mr. Aswell was elected to the office, and had a right to its possession. His acts, therefore, in relation to the appointment of Mr. Williams, were valid and binding.

And now said Mr. Foote, for a parting word. He then reviewed his points, declared that the Mayor had defeated the will of the People, and it is for this Court to attend to attend to that will. Fellow-citizens, said he, for although standing as Counsel here the members of this Court are my fellow-citizens, living under the same glorious flag, the stripes and stars of which are emblematical of the case—the one the emblems of that punishment due to the guilty, the other the noble principle of election, which like those pure emblems sheds its light from on high—to you we turn. We ask that the law shall not only be justly but promptly administered, for a deferred judgement would be almost as fatal as defeat. My fervent prayer is that this controversy may be overruled to the peace of the city and the honor of its people. The duty of a Judge gives him an opportunity to rise above the party influences which assail our frail natures, and to imbibe those pure principles which assimilate him, fallen even as man is, to the high and holy privileges of a better state of being.

☞ Hair Cutting.—Clerehugh's new system of cutting gentlemen's hair, is a desideratum by which its luxuriance and beauty is rendered truly ornamental. The design and execution differ entirely from the usual practice of hair cutting adopted here, as also the expedition and gentleness with which the operation is performed. The first artists in London and Paris have acknowledged its utility and adopt it in their practice. By the beau monde it has been denominated a scientific art, and whether for the pulpit, the bar, the Senate, or the stage, its elegant and classic arrangements will add dignity and grace to the whole contour of la tete Humaine.

The patronage already extended to him since the introduction of his system, and the flattering encomiums pronounced by all who have changed countenance under the magic of his touch, induces him to invite all gentlemen who either study personal appearance or the allurements of fashion, to place their hair under his charge, assured that one trial will prove his superiority over all other competitors.
