SENTIMENT IN WEST STRONGLY FAVORS ERVIEN PLAN

Text of Letter Which New Mexico Land Commissioner Has Sent to Land Officials of Other States.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 19.—The text of the letter which State Land Commissioner Robert P. Ervien has sent to land officials of the other public land states in the west, suggesting a conference in New Mexico to secure concerted action looking to the turning over of all public lands to the states, is as follows:

"During the past several sessions of congress I have noticed that a large number of measures have been introduced by both senators and representatives of 'public land' states, having for their object the securing of a more liberal policy on the part of the federal government as to the passing to private ownership of the public domain.

"The sentiment in this state is heartily in favor of such legislation and I have no doubt that a liberal policy on the part of the government in the administration of the unreserved and unappropriated public lands within your state would meet with the hearty approval of your citizens.

"I am not familiar with the public land conditions in your state, except in so far as information that can be gathered from government reports, but from a period of seven years observation from the position of land commissioner of this state, and being brought in daily contact with the government policy, I am free to say that I favor any legislation that will have the tendency to liberalize our public land laws, which have been growing steadily more restricted. In fact, to be perfectly frank, I am of the opinion that all unreserved and unappropriated lands should be granted the respective states having same within their borders.

"Knowing the views of our representatives in congress and the sentiment of our people, and judging from the efforts of representatives in congress of public land states to secure legislation of this kind, I believe it would be a wise course to secure concerted action, and I am writing you to ascertain your views as to the desirability of holding, home time during the year, a convention to be composed of the senators and representatives, governors and commissioners of public land states, and at such a convention views could be exchaged, conditions in the different states become common knowledge, and if thought wise, general legislation of a character be decided upon and recommended, and a course of action mapped out by which we could render to our representatives assistance that would enable them to secure results.

"I am at this time taking the matter up only in a preliminary way with the state land commissioners, and would be very glad to have your views as to the desirability of holding such a convention, and if I can count on your active assistance in the matter."

The Markets

New York Stock Market.

New York, April 19.—On the largest volume of business recorded for the current movement, investment stocks today rose three to five points. This advantage was largely obliterated in the final hour, Steel leading the decline on a cautionary trade statement.
