THE FIGHTS IN VICKSBURGH.—The following, in relation to the affair in Vicksburgh, already mentioned is from the Cincinnati Daily Commercial of the 12th. We do not think that credit is to be attached to it.

AWFUL EXCITEMENT.—We learned verbally yesterday from a gentleman on the Dr. Franklin, just from New-Orleans, that when that boat passed Vicksburgh the greatest excitement prevailed there. Thomas S. Robins had accused the Hon. S. S. Prentiss in his absence, and Judge John J. Guion, Prentiss' partner, took it up—a duel ensued on Monday morning last—with pistols—Guion was mortally wounded in the bowels. After this the seconds of the parties met in the street and quarrelled, when one of them drew a pistol and shot the other dead. Prentiss arrived on Monday evening from New-Orleans at Vicksburgh, and on hearing what had happened, immediately challenged Robins and they were to fight on Tuesday morning. The people were betting when the Frankfort left that Prentiss would be killed. The greatest excitement prevailed. Prentiss has fought two duels with Gen. Foote, and shot him both times.

P. S. Since writing the above we learn that it was Robins' second that was killed in the street, by Claiton, the second of Guion.

MACREADY THE TRAGEDIAN AND OLE BULL THE VIOLINIST.—These distinguished artists in their late Southern expedition met on board one of the Mississippi steamboats. Macready in his manner is exceedingly distant and reserved even with those with whom he is in daily intercourse, but more particularly so with strangers. He seldom smiles; nobody being his rule, laughing the rare exception. The astonishment such a man would feel, may be imagined, when a seven foot Kentuckian familiarly put his arms round his neck and giving him a bear like shake of affection, exclaimed, "Come, hoss, give us a song!" Macready having partially recovered from the shock of such an unusual and unceremonious attack, replied that he could not sing. "Oh come now, old hoss, I know you can." I pledge you my honor" replied the tragedian, "I have not a singing note in my voice, but Mr. Ole Bull is on board, and he will doubtless give you some music." "What can he do?" "He plays on the violin." Thank you, hoss, here goes; and away went the Kentuckian in search of Bull. He was soon found, and was, perhaps, no less astonished than Macready, at the hug, the hoss, and the application. "Come, old Bull, hoss, out with the fiddle, and give us 'Jack's alive,' and I'll go round with the hat and get you a dollar or two, come, go it while you're young." Ole Bull with his usual good nature obliged the Kentuckian, with the music, but offended him because he would neither drink, fight, or receive the money. A friend of ours who witnessed this incident, says that Macready for once forgot his tragedy and laughed outright.

EAST BROADWAY.—A great desideratum has at length been supplied in this part of the town. The Proprietor of the Alhambra, 538 Broadway, has opened a Branch of that delightful resort at 165 East Broadway, where will be found the same delicious Ice Creams and other luxuries that are furnished at the former place. The numerous respectable families who have already paid him a visit show that his efforts in their behalf are duly appreciated. See advertisement in another column.

GOING WITH A RUSH.—Should our readers chance to be in front of Atwill's Music Repository at half past eleven o'clock to-day, they will witness of the largest crowds ever assembled may public thoroughfare. The excitement made by his late publications of Clay Melodies and Fashionable music is unprecedented in our annals. The rush for the great song of "Clay and Frelinghuysen," is past all belief. All musical Whigs are pitching in tune for the campaign.

☞ Grand Menagerie of Raymond and Weeks.—All who have not visited this establishment, combining all in Zoology that can improve the mind, should neglect this, the last day to be the last day of the splendid exhibition of living wild beasts, birds and reptiles. This is most conveniently—the Pavilion most admirably arranged, and Herr Driesbach still the conjuror of the untamed offspring of the forest. The Pavilion is open three times a day and the entertainments, independent of the exhibition, are full of lively interest.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

FRIDAY.

VICE CHANCELLOR'S COURT....Before Hon. WM. T. M'COYN, Vice Chancellor.

ROBERT N. MORRISON vs. TRUSTEES OF ANDREW BODINE.—Mr. Morrison was counsel for Andrew Bodine on the charge against him for murdering his second wife, and on which charge he was acquitted. Andrew was afterwards complained of by Polly Bodine and sent to the State Prison for 3 years, on a charge of larceny, at which period he died in the 26th March last. Previous to the troubles of Andrew he placed what remained of his share of his father's estate in the hands of John Bodine, Abraham Bodine and Abraham Cockeren, in trust. These gentlemen obtained an order from the Court of Chancery to get about $2500 of the trust money for minors for the defending Andrew, provided he got a release from Andrew for the purchase of his father's estate. These minors were finally obtained from Andrew in the Hospital of the Prison on the 25th March, two days previous to his death, but the Trustees refused to pay on the ground that Mr. Morrison had promised to release Andrew Bodine but refused to give the release, &c.—Mr. Morrison went to the prison on the 26 March and procured the releases, and that Dr. A. R. Hoffman, resident physician to the Prison, had declared that Andrew Bodine was sent to the Hospital on the 19th March very sick with an affection of the lungs and liver—that he died on the 26th, and that it was the opinion of the Doctor that on the 22d he was perfectly sane, and that the releases he was physically and mentally unfit to attend to any business.

Mr. Morrison petitioned that an attachment might issue compelling the trustees to pay the amount including costs, being in all about $2500 and argument was heard. Mr. Morrison and Mr. Cooper spoke on behalf of the petition, and Mr. Wallis spoke for the Trustees.

The Court, under the circumstances, such as the state of health and the situation of Andrew Bodine at the time of taking them, considered the releases not to be valid; and a petition for an attachment against the Trustees was dismissed.

CIRCUIT COURT....Before Judge KENT.

JOHN BURRELL vs. CHENANGO CO. MUTUAL INS. CO.—Mr. Burrell was insured in the office of the Chenango Mutual Ins. Co. $1400, $500 of it being on the Italian Opera House and $900 on scenery and fixtures in the building adjoining in the basement of the Opera House, corner Leonard and Church streets. The insurance was against fire and was to have continued till the year 1845, but the building was burnt in May 1841, immediately after which claim was made by Mr. Burrell for payment of loss, but the company refused to pay on which suit was brought. Mr. Burrell's counsel in the first instance, and a report rendered in favor of Mr. Burrell, but the Ins. Co. appealed to the Supreme Court, the Judges of which sent the case back on the ground that the description of the building insured was sufficiently stated in the application for insurance, thus being considered by a former decision to be unplatonic.

The Plaintiff now sues for the loss, first on the ground that a description of the adjoining property for 10 rods in each direction was required by the terms of the policy, and that Mr. Burrell not only made the description inefficient, but suppressed it—that he withheld the facts that a mortgage existed on the Theatre or Opera House, and of the fact that two other offices of insurance existed on it. An other suit was brought before the Referees to effect that Mr. Burrell stated the company to be incorporated, and that his shares were paying 10 per cent income or interest, but it was not admitted.

It was proved that Mr. Burrell, in his application, said that the Opera House was bounded on the north by the French Revolutionary Church, on the west by the Brick building, and on the south and east by Leonard and Church streets, the former of which was 50 feet wide and latter 60 feet. This was said to be inaccurate as to the buildings and wrong as to the street, Church street being but 40 feet 6 inches wide. It was also shown that a mortgage and other policies existed. Non-suit granted.

MARINE COURT.

APPEAL CASE.—George C. Ryckman vs. Warren Fox and Jason Coglan, master and mate of the bark Ronaldson. In this case, it will be recollected, a verdict was given in the Marine Court in favor of plaintiff for $600. Notice was entered of appeal to the Superior Court. He had afterwards an action on a complaint in the U. S. Court against the mate for cruel and unusual punishment, but, after testimony had been heard, the complaint was discharged. Judge Ulshoeffer, we understand, the action of the Jury in the Marine Court would not be weighed paid the $600 verdict, and the appeal has been abandoned.

COURT OF SESSIONS....Before the Recorder, and Aldermen EMMONS and WILLIAMS.

TRIAL FOR FALSE PRETENCE.—Bowen S. Foster for false pretence was tried.

Mr. Stoughton, counsel for the prosecution read a letter from Mr. William Camp of Utica, highly recommending the accused to Mr. W. A. Darling of this city, as an upright, honest and business man, who had been in his employ a long time, and to whom he gave $1,000 when he left.

Boyd B. Belknap, former partner of the accused, deposed that he went into partnership with Foster on the 1st of May, 1842, at Westmoreland, Lewis County, N. Y.; that he had about $10 worth of goods, 11 sheep, oxen, 3 cows, some poultry, $40 worth of farming utensils, some 150 bushels of potatoes, &c., and was interior from his father of one-fourth of 100 acres of land, worth $30 an acre, subject to his mother's dower; that he owed, altogether, nearly or about $900; that he had purchased, but not paid for $100 worth of wild land; that what I put into the firm was returned to Foster at $1041; I put in some cash notes for about $100, and some accounts; that Foster owed money, but did not state the amount; I had confidence in Foster, and thought to pay all my debts, and a little over; Foster failed in no money, but some goods called "Yankee notions," which he purchased, I think, at $500; they were old goods; I should not have been willing to give credit, $220 for them; they were remnants, &c.; we had 3,000 or 4,000 feet of pine lumber, worth $10 a 1,000, a load of cherry lumber, worth $10, a wagon, a single horse, &c. worth $100; we purchased a grist mill and saw mill with the store lot, for which we were to pay $2,000; Foster and myself paid $500 on account of it; the mills kept open till this spring; Foster sold some dry goods and groceries; the store, the mills, at cost prices, were not worth over $1,000; no goods were sent to the store after August last; Foster was at the store once in about six weeks; found Foster at Utica late in the fall; found he had bought many goods on credit; the goods were there; I proposed to dissolve partnership; I then told in the fall; found he had bought many goods on credit; the goods were there; I proposed to dissolve partnership which I did not wish to do; he said he had not bought more goods than he could pay for; said he owed some $2,000 or $4,000 in New-York; said he had many goods in his bedroom and parlor—cloths and other articles; he said he wanted to peddle them; I wanted the goods he bought sent to the store; I then dissolved partnership with him; this was the last of November or the beginning of December; West Leyden is about 24 miles from Utica.

Cross-examined.—The use of the farm was put in as stock—it was worth $70; we purchased also a potashery and some ashes on credit. There were 16 barrels of ashes made, the returns of which, we sold for some $20 or $25 per barrel.

Prosecution rested. Mr. Duffy called for defence.

William A. Darling, who deposed that he had sold Foster & Belknap goods, in all to the amount of some 1000 or $1,200. The first bill was promptly paid; he owes me from 200 or 250. After I heard he was in prison, I went to Utica and investigated Foster's affairs; I understood they were valued by Foster at $1,200, had been sold at auction purchased by Foster against him for some $500, and were mortgaged in New-York for about $6,000 or $7,000. He showed me a schedule of property sold and mortgaged of some $11,000.

Cross examined—I stated to those who called to examine, that I had received a letter from Mr. Camp, which I showed.

William D. Hutchinson, sworn—Mr. Foster owes me $900.

Cross examined—My place of business is 18 Cedar street—Foster stated to me what he put in trade and what Belknap put in, in all their capital was some $4000. The purchase of me was on the 19th October last.

Testimony closed on both sides. Mr. Stoughton, for the people, cited some authorities to show the law as applicable to the case against the prisoner.

Mr. Bixby then cited other authorities and summed up the case for the prisoner.

Mr. Jewell summed up the case on the part of the prosecution.

The Court charged the Jury who retired and after an absence of nearly an four, returned, saying they could not agree and were discharged.

GRAND JURY.—The Grand Jury came into Court with a number of bills and retired to resume their duties.

The Court then adjourned to Monday next.

POLICE OFFICE.

INDICTED AND ADMITTED TO BAIL.—The Grand Inquest having found a true bill of indictment against Margaret Dawson, alias Mrs. Bird, for a misdemeanor in procuring an abortion on the person of Eliza Ann Munson—on being advised of the fact she voluntarily went to the Recorder's office with unexceptionable security and gave bail in the sum of $3,000 to answer. Her counsel are David Graham and A. P. Russell, Esqrs.—Kowing, her son-in-law, is also indicted.

STEALING FROM A PERSON ASLEEP.—Mr. John Tabor and Mr. Belden of Dutchess County were asleep together in the Northern Hotel, 20 Courtland-street, when James Green, alias Judd, entered their room and stole the pocket-book containing $84 from the pantaloons pocket of Mr. Tabor. Belden waking, and seeking Green, roused Tabor and they sprang out and caught Green in the Hall, said recovered the pocket-book and money. Officer Brush took Green to the Police Office and he was committed to prison.

STEALING A CLEAVER.—Patrick Mason was arrested and committed for stealing a butcher's cleaver.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—John Borrick was arrested and committed for terribly beating and assaulting the bend and putting out the eye of Charles Johnson, who was taken to the City Hospital to be cured.

Markets....Carefully reported for The Tribune.

FRIDAY, May 17.

ASHES.—The market is not very active, holders generally being unwilling to sell Pots at $4 31½. We hear of about 200 bbls. at 4 31½ a 4 34 taken to-day. There is more inquiry for Pearls to-day, and 200 bbls. were sold at 4 75, for export. The arrivals are about 800 bbls.

BREADSTUFFS.—No change, but rather more doing.—The sales are reported at 2000 bbls. The sale of 1100 bbls. included to a day or two since probably was a false report.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—The weather has been unfavorable for moving Flour to-day, and we hear of but little sale.—Prices are as before noted. Genesee 4 75; Michigan and Ohio 4 62½; Baltimore Mixed 4 62½; Brandywine 4 62½; "Brooklyn Mills" at 4 69, and 150 bbls. Rhed and X bed New-Orleans at 4 62½ and 4 62½. Of Southern, about 500 bbls. Brandywine have been sold during a few days past at about 5. Georgetown is held at the same rate. Sales 100 to 150 bbls. Brandywine Meal at 2 37½ a 2 50, and some bbls of Jersey at 2 25 a 2 69. Rye Flour is dull at 2 12½. Sales 300 bushels Ship Stuffs at 9 cents.

GRAIN.—The market has been very quiet. No Wheat and but little Corn offering. Sales 1000 bushels Northern Corn at 56c. weight. Rye is 70c. nominally. Sales 4000 bushels Oats, Canal and out of Store at 42c.

WHISKY.—The arrival of bbls. is light. The market rate is 23c. without sales. Drudge sells freely at 25c.

WHALEBONE.—We notice sales 13,000 lbs. South Sea at 30 a 31c. cash, for export.

HIDES.—Sales 1400 Savanilla (22 lbs.) at 11 cents, discount off.

SALT.—A cargo of Cadiz, 10,000 bushels, sold on private terms, as usual. Further sales 2000 bags (28 lbs.) Salona at 16c. cash.

TALLOW.—Sales 10,000 lbs. Rendered at 7c, and 20 to 30 bbls. country cash.

PROVISIONS.—Pork is still very heavy, and sales 500 bbls, including 200 Brooklyn inspection, at 6 75. Small sales Mess at 8½. For 500 bbls. Prime and Mess 6 50 and 8 50 were offered. Beef is equally heavy. Albany Mess was offered at 5 25, and City Prime and Mess at 5 50 a 5 56. Sales 200 bbls. Lard at 8¼, and 160 kegs strictly prime at 6¾c. Sales 150 bbls. Stearine, white, at 6 a 6½c. Butter and Cheese are as before noted.

A BEAUTIFUL COLOR FOR THE HAIR.—It cannot be denied but that there is something extremely attractive in a beautiful head of hair; particularly of jet black or glossy auburn. To the lady what greater addition can there be?

"Tresses of auburn, waving in the wind,
Or jet black curls around a rosy cheek,
Such as the ancient painters have designed,
When they on canvess beauty would bespeak."

To some, grey hair comes prematurely, to others sandy or red hair naturally. Now the ITALIAN DYE will, without staining the skin in any way, change the color of the hair to black or auburn as may be desired. To the young, middle-aged or old, here is the ITALIAN DYE that will color the hair as they like. No one can use it without being pleased with the result.

STOP THE TOOTHACHE AND SAVE YOUR TEETH.—It is well known that the science of Chemistry in regard to its operations upon some of the complaints "that flesh is heir to" has advanced to great perfection within the last few years. No person, be he young or old, likes to loose his teeth; but when the pain arising from decayed teeth, swelled gums and aching jaws is felt, one of two things must be done—go to a dentist and have them pulled, or procure some remedy to cure the affection. The extraordinary CLOVE ANODYNE will remove all aching and soreness immediately after application, and cause no injury to the enamel of the teeth. Its utility and safety combined constitute its great virtue. Apply the remedy and complain no more of a toothache.

SANDS'S SARSAPARILLA.—Longevity or long life is the result under the blessing of Providence of a healthy condition of the system in which all the functions of the body are properly exerted on, thus constituting one complete and harmonious whole. The food when taken into the stomach forms a pulpy mass, and by the action of gastric juice is converted into chyme. The chyme being combined with healthy bile is changed into two distinct portions called chyle and a residuum; the chyle being taken up by the absorbents or lacteal vessels, it is first distributed over the interior surface of the bowels, and then collected into the chest near the heart, when it combines with the blood, passing through the heart into the lungs, enters the general circulation, and goes to the support and nourishment of the whole system.

Experience has proved that remedies for the preservation of life address itself to the vital energy, and if properly compounded and well adapted to the wants of the animal economy, their beneficial results are speedily shown. Among the various important discoveries of this wonder working age may be classed SANDS'S SARSAPARILLA. The valuable medicine has proved a most powerful, mercurial and cutaneous disease, liver affections of the liver, and other diseases originating in an impure or depraved state of the blood, it has been its way to an impure or depraved state of the blood, it has been its way into public favor until it is now considered a sovereign remedy for a large class of maladies. Its peculiar operation consists in its combining with the constituents of the animal nature, or life sustaining principle, thus forming a compound, so happily adapted to the wants of disease.

For further particulars, and conclusive evidence of its superior value and efficacy, see pamphlets, which may be obtained of agents gratis.

☞ THE METALLIC TABLET STROP, for keeping Razors in perfect order, has been in use for the last 27 years. The following certificates are published to show their worth:

From General James Tallmadge, President of the American Institute.

Saunders' Razor Strop, with its four sides, combines admirably all the requisites to sharpen and set Razors with a fine and smooth edge; it is a real comfort to possess it.

New-York, Nov. 1841. JAMES TALLMADGE.

From M. Milliken, Cutler to the Royal Navy, 301 Strand.

The Metallic Tablet, in its use, is simple, having the same effect on a razor as a bone, without using oil or water, and in a tenth part of the time. After five years' trial I can recommend it with perfect confidence. M. MILLIKEN.

From Professor Griscom and Dr. Valentine Mott.

George Saunders, Imperial Strop.—We can freely testify to its value. The use which he calls the Metallic Tablet is, as far as we know, a thing of his own introduction into this country; it appears to be an excellent, convenient substitute for a hone, and operates on the same principle as steel does upon a table-knife, but with greater smoothness and certainty; it saves the unpleasant necessity of oil and water, to assist in whetting. The other three sides of the Strop are extremely well finished, flat, smooth, and almost elastic, preserving the razor from that roundness of edge which so soon destroys its keenness.

'What wonderous inventions we have seen,
Signs of true genius and empty pockets,
One makes new noses, one a gallstone,
One thinks your bones, one sets them in their sockets.'

☞ This is a great country for invention, like Penelope's web, doing and undoing. We may go further and say, there are some things that may be pondered till the brains of the world have to remove to be reduced to bone. If we do not find the philosopher's stone, we may yet find the wonderful something else, e. g. the Powder Substitute of Dr. Felix Gourand, for eradicating superfluous hair, is a great discovery. How many brilliant and intellectual brows (tones of thought) do we meet, that without the application of that potent exterminator of hair would be half, heavy, leaden footnotepieces. How many orators, who have fascinated and bewildered their audiences with their tropes, metaphors, quips, quiddities, conceits, &c. are indebted to Dr. Felix Gourand for the possession of the magnificent and lofty intellectual developments which they have displayed in the rostrum? How many swains are indicted to him for the possession of their "Dulcy loves," who would unconsciously have been dismissed had their foreheads been mere and low.—An intellectual and spiritual woman darts her eyes instantly upon a man's frontal, and forms her judgment as quickly as the lightning's flash. Therefore, all ye who have your commission conjed by a mass of superfluous hair, go at once to 67 Walker-street, 1st store FROM Broadway. m18 2teod

☞ MORE PROOFS of the extraordinary cures performed by Dr. Gouraud's Italian Medicated Soap for curing pimpled, blotched, freckled, dark, eruptive skin, sallow, chapped, sore, &c. Mrs. A. Cooper, of Crosby-st. had a very unsightly, red and pimpled face. She used 3 a cake of Gouraud's Medicated Soap, and her skin gradually became fair, clear and healthy. Mrs. Louisa Cameron, William-st. had a face rivaling a Mulattress, so sallow was it. Tease of Dr. G.'s Soap rendered her skin beautifully clear, transparent and delicately white. Others can be referred to. The genuine to be had no where else, mind, in this city, but at the original office, 67 Walker st. 1st store FROM Broadway. 50 cents a cake. m18 2teod

ASSOCIATION OF JOURNEYMEN PRINTERS,

S. W. CORNER OF ANN AND NASSAU-STREETS.

Entrance in Ann-street, over Conner's Type Foundry.

To Publishers, Booksellers, Trade Associations, Mechanics, Merchants, and others.

The undersigned have fitted up a large and superb PRINTING OFFICE, at the southwest corner of Ann and Nassau streets, for the execution of every description of work belonging to the various departments and branches of the trade, and as a means to introduce, locally, to the public, the causes that induced them to its establishment.

The Journeymen feel, as it is a matter of record in the newspapers of the day recently formed and established an Association, for the purpose of maintaining a just and permanent rate of compensation for their labor—which rate is now being paid by a large number of the employing printers in the city.—But there are many, there, who are were by nature, others who refuse giving our scale of prices, and seem disposed to oppose peremptorily all measures emanating from us as a body, and who have ever heretofore borne the appellation of "Master Rates," from the fact of under-contracting or underbidding their associates in trade.

We have, many of us, been instrumental in forming that Association, and establishing our present rates of labor, and however sorely pressed we may have been, have still remained with us too much of the proud and independent spirit of MEN, to violate the sacred principles of its government, by making disreputable inroads upon our fellow-craftsmen.

In view of these facts we have to state, that, with much exertion and perseverance, we have procured all the essentials necessary to a complete GENERAL PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT—capable of accommodating the most difficult compositions—furnished with new and elegant materials of every necessary description, and conducted by an Association of Journeyman Printers, COMPRISING THE BEST WORKMEN THAT THE CITY CAN PRODUCE.

To the Trade Associations—to the immarkable and omnipotent mechanical classes of our country—we know we shall not offer our appeal in vain; for to them alone belongs the expedient, the lives of men are often dignified by sufferings patiently borne, and ennobled by duties bravely and promptly executed.

To those publishers who require their work to be done with elegance and expedition, our establishment must evidently prove a great desideratum, as we can, at a single hour's notice, engage fifty compositors at work.

With this faithful statement of our condition, we submit our case into the hands of a liberal and enlightened public.

THIS MORNING,

MAY BE HAD AT THE NEW WORLD OFFICE, 30 ANN-STREET, AND OF AGENTS,

PRICE 12½ CENTS,

THE STRANGEST, DROLLEST, MOST QUEER, COMICAL AND WONDERFUL NARRATIVE EVER WRITTEN,

TITLED,

THE ADVENTURES

OF CAPTAIN PAMPHILE.

BY ALEXANDER DUMAS,

TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH, BY J. HERALD.

Never before was such a work written, and in all human probability never will be again. It is a most exciting and curious book, enchanting the attention of the reader to such an extent that it is impossible to quit the perusal till the end. Gil Blas or Robinson Crusoe possesses not a title of the interest of this romance of DUMAS, who, as an author, is not surpassed by any living writer. Any book by Dumas is sure to be popular; but for this we expect the whole city down upon us at once! We are ready.

Price 12½ cents—$8 a hundred to agents.
