The object of this trip is to create greater interest in irrigation. Your attention is invited to the following resolution passed by the North Platte Chamber of Commerce:

Whereas it is the announced policy of the United States government to retain in the up river states all water now used and applied on lands in the North Platte river valley, and to that end and purpose have caused a survey to be made showing the lands to which water has been applied; and whereas, the state of Nebraska, thru its state board of irrigation has announced that applications for water made in the state and which water has not been applied to lands will likewise be cancelled by the state; and whereas, in the North Platte river valley ditches have been constructed from which little or no water has been applied to land and the applications for water belonging to said ditches will be cancelled and the priorities lost if same are not put in shape and water used; and

whereas, there is much other better land in the valley susceptible of irrigation from the North Platte river for which no application to appropriate water has been made, and unless an appropriation of water for such land is speedily made, the right to irrigate such land from said river will be lost and the valley of the North Platte in the state be as devoid of water for irrigation as the valley in the South Platte and much wealth lost to the valley, therefore be it

Resolved, By the North Platte Chamber of Commerce that we call upon his excellency Hon. Chester H. Aldrich, governor of the state of Nebraska, who has always been alive to the interests of the state, to do whatever is in his power to arouse the people of the North Platte valley to the danger that threatens them and that he respectfully invited to make a number of addresses to the people of the North Platte valley on this important subject and that the Hon. D. D. Price, state engineer, and other state officers be also invited to accompany the governor and to give the people the facts in relation to the danger that threatens the people of the valley; and

Whereas, The Union Pacific railroad is likewise greatly interested in the prosperity of the valley and the development of irrigation therein, therefore be it further

Resolved, That the said Union Pacific railroad company be requested to furnish a special train to convey governor and other state officers who may accompany him up its road in the North Platte river valley; and that said railroad company be requested to give whatever assistance it can to arouse the people of said valley to the danger that threatens the water supply of the valley.
