SHOPLIFTER GOT $20,000 GOODS IN ONE WEEK

Girl Says She Is Graduate of Chicago Shoplifting School

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—Harriet Crothers, also known as Rae Dupont, confessed "professional shoplifter", waits placidly in jail here while a half dozen or more department store heads recover sufficiently from their astonishment over her story to decide what they want to do with her.

In the meanwhile a check-up is being made to ascertain the value of goods the young woman late yesterday confessed to Police Chief Daniel J. O'Brien and the department store heads she had stolen. Tentatively the value is placed at $20,000. It was a week's work, Miss Crothers avers.

According to the story which Chief O'Brien said she told, the girl is a "graduate" of a three-months' course in a Chicago shoplifting school. Spurred by an oath, which she says was administered by members of a Chicago shoplifting band to devote 15 years of her life to shoplifting or "suffer the penalty", the 21 years old prisoner told the police she could have "backed a truck up to any store in town, robbed it and got away without detection". She said she took 75 gowns from one store and 200 from all she visited.

Miss Crothers says a "gang" of shoplifters is on its way here to "clean up". She declared she was caught only because she got careless.

Joffre Back in Paris, Praises U. S. For Hospitality

PARIS, May 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Marshal Joffre spent the first morning after his return to France from his world tour, at his headquarters at the war college greeting friends. He will be received by both President Millerand and Premier Poincare later in the week, to give an account of his travels.

Speaking to the Associated Press, the hero of the Marne said:

"Throughout my thirty thousand miles of travel I everywhere received a most cordial welcome, but it remained for America to outdo every other country in warmth of greeting.

"I was the recipient of boundless hospitality from your gracious president and your generous people. Madame Joffre, our daughter and myself return our deepest thanks to all who made our journey across the American continent so pleasant and profitable. We should love to make the trip all over again."
