John C. Morrison's Card to his Customers and the Public.—At the close of the old, and commencing the new business year, the Subscriber, so long known as an importer and general dealer in Drugs, Dye Stuffs, Paints, Oils, Teas, Groceries, and articles for Manufacturers, and Merchandise of every kind, returns his grateful thanks for the great extent of patronage he has received in past years, and considers it due to his customers, as well as his own business, to state briefly his arrangements for the ensuing year. It has always been his aim to sell the best articles at prices averaging considerably below the market rates, and this he has accomplished for the following reasons, and in the following manner:

First—By the experience of nearly forty years' devotion to business in New-York, which has given him a practical advantage unequaled.

Second—By a general systemization of his business under his own immediate eye and superintendence, avoiding thereby the errors and differences in bargains, which arise from a variety of managers. Every customer is dealt with alike honorably, equitably and liberally.

Third—By being always watchful at the market, and by buying his articles when depressed, so that when the season of demand arrives, his regular customers do not suffer by the advance of the market occasioned by that demand, but frequently purchase at prices as far below their neighbor's cost rates, that they can sell at those rates, and make a handsome profit. Their sales to their customers, and their purchases of the Subscriber, increase very much enlarged and they experience the truth of his maxim, that "a nimble sixpence is worth a slow shilling." His customers beginning with small purchases, which they rapidly increase, build up for themselves a large business, and benefit their own trade and his. For, by purchasing goods in large quantities, the price to him is materially reduced, and he is thus enabled to supply his Customers at a corresponding reduction. Consequently, every addition to his business benefits both his Customers and himself.

He has thus been enabled to gain the good will, and retain the custom, of those who have traded with him and supported his establishment for a long time, and from year to year to add numbers of new ones to his large list of traders and dealers. The old ones have been retained, and their business increased. It is the interest of those who purchase to sell again, to buy as low as possible, in order to increase their own business. Country and City Merchants who buy of him meet with no competition from their neighbors in point of cheapness and excellence in the articles they sell.

LARGE SALES, SMALL PROFITS AND GREAT ATTENTION TO BUSINESS.—This sentence explains the chief cause of the continued increase of the Subscriber's business. No purchaser goes away dissatisfied either with the quality or prices of his goods. For their convenience he has from year to year extended his business, until there is now scarcely an article of merchandise that he does not sell. At his establishment the purchaser can complete the entire range of his purchases. No Customer stands waiting at his counter—so well are his clerks and packers trained to his business, that every order is instantly executed and despatched.

HE HAS NO STOCK OF OLD GOODS FOR SALE. Constant and ready sales cause daily replenishments of such merchandise as should be fresh to be superior. An accumulated stock of old goods indicates little knowledge of what suits the tastes and demands of purchasers. It compels the seller to save himself at the expense and sacrifice of his customers. In consequence of large sales at small profits, his stock is always NEW, SUPERIOR AND DESIRABLE, and his customers experience the truth of this statement in the rapid sales of the goods had of him, and in the frequent necessity of replenishing their stock from his establishment.

He flatters himself that he has stated in plain terms the reason why he has been enabled to sell so remarkably cheap as to give such general satisfaction, and to increase his business so rapidly and extensively. He trusts that the future will be no less prosperous to himself and his Customers, and that the past may be regarded as an earnest thereof. His arrangements for the ensuing year are on a more extended scale, and all those who deal with him in any or all of the multiplied branches of his business, from whatever portion of the Union they may come, will find him as ready as ever to sell on the cheapest, fairest and most honorable terms, and to devote the most rigid attention to their interests.

The undersigned takes the opportunity of presenting the compliments of the Holidays to those who have so generously given him their custom and trade—cheerfully adding that to them he owes his property, consequence and standing in the commercial world, and wishes them many happy returns of this festive season.

To these Editors and Publishers who have given him their card notices on so many occasions, he tenders his heartfelt thanks and acknowledgements. JOHN C. MORRISON.

New-York, Dec. 24, 1844. W2t—D3

THE VERY POETRY OF SHAVING!—There is as much poetry in having

"That hairy fringe which, straggling o'er the chin,
Marks when the boy springs upward into man—
When new with toil that boyhood's days succeeding,
That marks our days until their final span,"

which the poet thus sings of, removed with care and comfort, as in any of the little enjoyments of life. "Tis true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true," that ever in undergoing tonsorial operations there be "smarts" and "cuts" in consequence.—"HERBY'S CHINESE SHAVING CREAM" is the article above all others as an emollient that makes the beard and face smooth and right for those gentlemen who do their own shaving. Price 12½ cents per jar. Prepared and sold by A. B. SANDS & Co., Chemists and Druggists, 273 Broadway, corner of Chamber-st., 79 Fulton-street, and 77 East Broadway.

SAND'S SARSAPARILLA.—The origin of muscular motion is one of those profound mysteries which we can never hope to see fully developed. One philosopher has supposed the brain to be a electric pile, constantly in action, discharging itself at regular intervals along the nerves which communicate with the heart, and exciting the pulsations of that organ. Speculations of this kind are merely speculations, and we must leave the mystery unfathomed, as it was doubtless intended to be by the Great Designer. But though not permitted to trace the cause which sets our organizations in motion, the causes of its regulation and resuscitation are not withheld from us. In Sand's Sarsaparilla we have a preparation powerful in its restorative effects upon all diseases of the skin, the mucous membranes and integuments, beyond all precedent in the annals of medicine. In the most virulent stages of scrofula and cancer, and though all forms of disease which affect the superfices of the body, down to the simplest eruption, it will be found equally beneficial. Its peculiar properties appear to neutralize the virus which feeds and aggravates the disorder, while its slightly aperient and strong tonic qualities restore the general system.

For further particulars, and conclusive evidence of its superior value and efficacy, see pamphlets, which may be obtained of the proprietors and their agents gratis.

Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, by A. B. & D. SANDS, Wholesale Druggists, 79 Fulton street, New-York. Sold also at 273 Broadway, 77 East Broadway, and by Druggists generally throughout the United States.

Price $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

Also a child of my own burned its hand severely, and I used this salve, which gave immediate relief, and soon cured it entirely; and I for one could not be induced to be without it. I think every family should always keep it on hand, to use in case of such accidents.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Before Judge KENT, and Aldermen BUNTING and WILLIAMS.

TRIAL OF JAMES EAGER, INDICTED FOR THE MURDER OF PHILIP WILLIAMS, IN ROSEVELT-STREET, ON 4TH DECEMBER, 1844

The prisoner is rather a stout built man, with ruddy countenance, even features, and dark hair and whiskers.

Mr. Brady stated that the prisoner has not had any relative or friend to visit him in prison. He, Mr. B., was there with another counsel, and found, on conversing with him, that certain witnesses are necessary for the defence, one of whom is now at sea. The counsel for prisoner, however, propose to supply the deficiency in the testimony of this witness by that of others who can give evidence to nearly the same effect. Mr. B. requested that the cause might be laid over till to-morrow, so as to enable the prisoner's counsel to procure the witnesses. The Court acceded to the request, with notice that if the trial does not proceed to-morrow it must go off for the term. The prisoner was then remanded.

United States Circuit Court.

Before Judge BETTS.

John B. Emerson vs. Peter Hogg and Cornelius Delemater.—Action to recover for asserted infringement of patent for propellers, such being manufactured by defendants for Captain Erickson. The Court charged that the proof shows that the propeller of Captain Erickson and that of Mr. Emerson, with a slight difference in the mode of manufacture, to be identical, and that no such article had been in use previous to 1834, the time of Mr. Emerson's patent. The question is whether plaintiff had abandoned the invention, and also whether his specification and drawings are so imperfect that a mechanic of ordinary capacity could not manufacture such a wheel from them. The plaintiff causing a model to be manufactured and exhibited in New Orleans in 1837 (previous to Mr. Erickson getting out a patent) shows that he had not abandoned to that time, but whether he had made improper delay in renewing his patent after the Patent Office being burnt is for the jury to determine. Sealed verdict this forenoon.

Circuit Court.

Before Judge Kent.

Mary Waldron vs. William H. Popham.—Action of ejectment, to recover possession of property on the westerly side of Lafayette Place, between 4th and Jones'-sts, claimed by plaintiff under the Will of her father, Matthew Boyce, blacksmith, made in 1794. It is part of a large tract originally bounded on the easterly side by the Bowery, and extending northerly to near Vandam Garden. Mr. Popham is at present in possession of the property as a tenant of the estate of the late John Mason. The land in question is a strip fronting on the street, 5 feet deep at one end and 11 feet the other, which was taken by the Corporation in opening Lafayette Place. It was not actually required for public purposes, still it was sold by the Corporation and Mr. M. became the purchaser. The plaintiff contends that the Corporation had no right to take the strip, and that it has been so decided by the Supreme Court.

It appeared that the property of Mrs. W. terminated in the piece taken from opening the street, and the gore in question.—The whole of it was taken by the Corporation, and the gore sold to Mr. Mason, who, by a subsequent conveyance, enlarged Broadway, and which Mr. M. leased, with the gore, to defendant, who uses it as a coal yard. It is contended that the proceedings were irregular, as the property was described in the report of the Commissioners as belonging to Mrs. C. Waldron. It appeared, however, that in the notice to Mrs. W., she was paid $300 as her award for her property which had been taken, and she signed the receipt therefor, the gore having been described in the award. The Court, in its charge, considered that her accepting the award, and waving the irregularity of name at that time, acted as an estoppal of any farther claim against the Corporation. Verdict for defendant.

Court of Common Pleas.

Before Judge INGRAHAM.

Benjamin Audsley vs. Robert Davis and Wm. Davis.—Action of Trespass to recover damages for the forcible taking from plaintiff's machine shop, No. 112 East Broadway, certain articles of machinery. The defendants claim to have had a right to the property in question, and also the possession in which it was placed. The machine was for preparing wolen rags to be re-wove, &c. Verdict this forenoon.

Upper Police Office.

Charge of Conspiracy, Insurrection, &c.—A colored man, named George D. Morse, of No. 241 Houston-st, who lives by working in stores in the lower part of the city, having received information as he states, that an insurrection of the colored population was to be carried into effect about Christmas and New Year, to murder indiscriminately the white men, women and children of Princess Ann county, Virginia, including Norfolk, and also all the colored people who would not join them—and having near relations there, wrote on to a Justice of the Peace in that county named Carpreur, informing him of what he had heard. He also informed him that a colored man named Willis Hodges, who had been the correspondent in this city of the colored conspirators of Princess Ann, and had encouraged the proceeding, had gone on to Virginia to aid in maturing the plot and to carry it into execution, and was thereupon arrested and lodged in prison, where he still remains and until the matter can be fully investigated will continue in custody. Others had bed arrested but had been discharged.—The colored people here who were neighbors and acquaintances of Morse, having heard of his having given information to the authorities of the South, that had led to the arrest of Willis Hodges, swore to be revenged upon him, and threatened to put him to death. They also swore that he should not come down town to his work, and if he did he should not be suffered to work there any more. Under these threats Morse, who is an intelligent colored man, went to the Upper Police Office and preferred his complaint against Jeremiah Simmons, Sam'l Toney, Jeffrey Overton and William Waice, all colored, who were arrested by officers Bush, Lawrence and Strong, and today held to unexceptionable bail in $200 each, by Justice Taylor, to keep the peace towards G. D. Morse and be of good behavior hereafter.

Police Office.

Robbery.—John Davey was arrested on Tuesday night on a charge of having knocked down, in a yard in Orange street, a man named Edward Ogden, of Poughkeepsie, (who had been drinking) and robbing him of $30 in bank bills and his watch worth $15. Davey was committed.

Burglary and Arrest.—Reuben Leonard, colored, was arrested and fully committed for stealing $77 in money, from the schooner Patrick, in company with John Mingo, who was before arrested.

Pickpocket Caught.—Andrew Baker was arrested and committed on Tuesday night, having stolen the pocket book and $16 from the pocket of Elijah Ely, of 58 South street, when in the ferry house at the foot of Grand st.

Thefts.—Ann Lewis was arrested and committed for stealing $25 from Samuel Blaney, 241 Rivington st.

Ellen Reeder was arrested and committed for stealing $5 from Joseph A. Higgins of Westchester, when in Dey street, on Wednesday. He gave it to her to change, and she ran off with it.

Wesley Jones was arrested and committed for stealing 30 lbs. of salt pork worth $3 from the brig Henry Lee, foot of Pike-st, property of Joseph C. Smith.

Coroner's Office.

Apoplexy.—The Coroner held an inquest yesterday at 49 Delancy street, in the rear, on the body of Isaiah Townsend, colored person, a native of Long Island, aged 40 years, of intemperate habits, who was attacked with a fit on Tuesday evening in a grocery in Stanton street, and being carried home insensible, soon after died. Verdict, Death by apoplexy.

Another Case.—The Coroner held an inquest yesterday at 26 Rosevelt street, on the body of Lawrence Caine, a native of Ireland, aged 35, who drank considerably of liquor on New Year's day, went home, and just before dark sat on the door sill, soon after fell over on the floor and expired.—Verdict, Death by apoplexy.

Also, in the rear of No. 130 Elizabeth street, on the body of William Barnes, colored man, aged 63, of intemperate habits, who was found dead in an alley in Elizabeth street this morning. Verdict, Death from old age and exposure while under the influence of liquor.

Also, to see the body of a colored woman, who died suddenly last night at No. 27 Orange street. Inquest tomorrow.

THURSDAY P. M.

The Stock Market had an improved tendency today, and most descriptions improved. The sales of Pennsylvania 5s were dividend off, which makes the sales equal to 75. In relation to the Pennsylvania interest, the following statement founded partly on facts and partly on estimate fairly made seems to settle the question as to the State's ability to meet from year to year all her engagements:

Very little doing in Exchanges, and the market is nominally as before.

The Money Market has felt considerable relief to-day, and capital has again appeared in the street seeking employment. The payment of the dividends on the stocks of this State, the General Government, of Ohio, and of various city bonds, Railroad Companies, Banks, &c. has let loose a large amount of money which has been locked up for some time past. This amount is probably not less than a million and a half, to which must be added the principal of the Government Loan due to-day which has been paid off. Of this Loan a million and a half was paid here, and about three millions and a half at Boston. The Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana Bank bonds interest will be paid next Monday. The Banks are not at present disposed to extend their operations, desirous of being prepared for any contingency likely to grow out of the position of the Foreign Bill Market. The money, however, which will come into market from dividends, and the principal of the U. S. Loan, will go far toward offsetting the contractions of the Banks.

The interest of the Norwich City Bonds issued to the Norwich and Worcester Railroad is paid at the New-England Bank, Boston.

The exports of Domestic Goods from this port for the month of December, was 910 packages.

The Brooklyn and Jamaica Railroad Company have declared a dividend of four per cent (two dollars per sh.) The Bank of Pennsylvania three and a half per cent for the last six months. The Farmers' and Planters' Bank of Baltimore a semi-annual dividend of three per cent. The Union Bank of Maryland three per cent. The Merchants' Bank of Baltimore a half yearly dividend of three per cent. The Chesapeake Bank a half yearly dividend of three per cent. The Western Bank a dividend of two per cent for the last six months.

The Secretary of the Treasury has decided that relation to claims for overcharge of duties paid on goods, whether under protest or not, the Department will not go back beyond the passage of the act of August 30, 1842, in the consideration of such claims.

In relation to the inquiry in the Ohio Legislature as to the use which had been made of cancelled Ohio bonds, by the Ohio Life and Trust Company, a letter was read and laid on the table from Mr. Vermilye, the cashier, denying the charge in toto, and declaring, what is true, that during the whole time mentioned, the Company had held large amounts of State Stocks, but have never had occasion to use them in a way to raise money, much less had they occasion to use the Stock of the State in their hands, which had always been cancelled when paid, or given up to those who had pledged.
