Ordinary worm expellers are of little use in removing this parasite but we have the receipt of a well known veterinarian which is the best agent to use. Sold by

Temple Getting His Share.

Sunday evening Dr. Twinem had his car filled with gasoline and then asked the boy at the garage to light his tail light. As a result Temple (who carried his auto insurance) has to buy him one new tire and have the car repainted. He thinks he is quite lucky at this, however, as it took two chemical fire extinguishers to save the car.

Monday night the McGowan property on east Fifth street caught fire from a lamp exploding. Temple pays the loss. There is nothing like holding one of Temple's many forms of policies of insurance, so that he will have to pay for your bad luck.

Complete Water Mains.

The contractor engaged in laying the new water mains will complete the work, with the exception of filling the trenches, today and will ship his outfit Sunday. The total length of mains laid exceeded eleven thousand feet, part of which were six inch and part four inch. These mains provide fire protection for those sections formerly unprotected, and furnishes water for domestic use to a large number of residences that formerly were not provided with that convenience. Several thousand feet of small mains were taken up and replaced by pipe of larger capacity.

The contractor will sublet the work of covering the trenches. This work had been awarded but the sub-contractor backed down on the proposition.

"Last Days of Pompeii" at Hastings.

Doubtless many of the readers of The Tribune has seen some of the big lithographs and posters being distributed through the country telling about the coming spectacular show the "Last Days of Pompeii," to be given in Hastings for one week, commencing October 7 to 12, as the bill posters are out attending to the putting up of bills. But it may be that they have not yet reached your neighborhood. But they will be around soon if they have not yet come.

By those bills it will be seen that the big spectacular show is something out of the common, being an exhibition of all sorts of athletic and acrobatic feats, marvelous aerial acts, beautiful drills and dances, brilliant lights and gorgeous displays and most marvelous of all the gorgeous awe-inspiring destruction of the city of Pompeii by the death-dealing river of molten lava, which is seen coming down from the crater of the grim old mountain of Vesuvius, standing somberly in the background.

The committee in charge has received a letter from H. B. Thearle, president of the Pan's Fireworks Spectacle, stating that a splendid specialty bill will be given on each night of the show. In addition to the unequalled pyrotechnic splendor of the main spectacle, the "Last Days of Pompeii," each evening there will be special features, consisting of games, processions, dances, fights and races, representing the acts of those people of ancient Pompeii, who were doing all these things when the volcano of Vesuvius buried them in a ruin.

The show must be seen to be appreciated. Words fail in an attempt to describe the splendor and the wonderful brilliancy of the spectacle presented.
