THE TRIBUNE.

THE HARBINGER, No. 7, (July 26th) is before us, and an excellent number. It opens with a collection of letters from different quarters, evincing a growing and steadfast interest in the cause of Association. The translation of 'Consuelo' is continued and increases in interest. A good 'Letter from Broadway,' an appreciating review of 'Cranch's Poems,' and several spirited Poems and Editorials are among its contents. We copy one of the Poems:

[From the Harbinger.

TO MY FRIEND ON THE DEATH OF HIS SISTER.*

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

THINE is a grief, the depth of which another
May never know.
Yet o'er the waters, O my stricken brother!
To thee I go.

I lean my heart unto thee—sadly folding
Thy hand in mine,—
With even the weakness of my soul upholding
The strength of thine.

I never knew, like thee, the dear departed,
I stood not by
When, in calm trust, the pure and tranquil-hearted
Lay down to die.

And on thy ear my words of weak condoling
Must vainly fall;
The funeral bell which in thy heart is tolling
Sounds over all!

I will not mock thee with the poor world's common
And heartless phrase,
Nor wrong the memory of a sainted woman
With idle praise.

With silence only as their benediction,
God's angels come
Where, in the shadow of a great affliction,
The soul sits dumb!

Yet, would I say what thy own heart approveth:
Our Father's will,
Calling to Him the dear one whom He loveth,
Is mercy still.

Not upon thee or thine the solemn angel
Hath evil wrought:
Her funeral anthem is a glad evangel,—
The good die not!

God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly
What He hath given;
They live on Earth, in thought and deed as truly
As in His Heaven.

And she is with thee. In thy path of trial
She walketh yet,
Still with the baptism of thy self-denial
Her locks are wet,

Up, then, my brother! Lo, the fields of harvest
Lie white in view!
She lives and loves thee, and the God thou servest
To both is true.

Threat in thy sickle!—England's toil-worn peasants
Thy call abide;
And she thou mourn'st, a pure and holy presence,
Shall glean beside!

Amesbury, 12th 7th mo.

* Sophia Sturge, sister of Joseph Sturge, of Birmingham, the President of the British Complete Suffrage Association, died on the 6th of 6th mo. last. She was the colleague, counsellor and ever ready help-mate of her brother in all his vast designs of beneficence. The Birmingham Pilot says of her, "never perhaps were the active and passive virtues of the human character more harmoniously and beautifully blended than in this excellent woman."

Water Cure.

BOSTON, July 9, 1845.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

DEAR SIR: Having for a period of many years been deeply interested in the progress of Physiological Reform and Water Cure, I cannot but regard any thing affecting it for good or evil, as of great moment. Dr. Wesselhoeft's communication in your paper a short time since in some respects, conveys a wrong impression to those who know nothing of Water Cure, inasmuch as it intimates that Water Cure cannot be practiced only at Brattleboro' or some like establishment; whereas we have proof positive, in hundreds of cases in this country, that Water Cure has been practised under the worst circumstances with great success—and in cases given up by the dosers and druggers as hopeless. Recently I was called to a case of numb palsy—the symptoms were quite alarming—and though the conditions for the application of Water Cure were not by any means what they are at Brattleboro', still the case was treated hydropathically, the symptoms were subdued and the patient soon relieved. So in a large number of other cases, which I might detail, as evidence that Water Cure can be administered and practised by people at home, as well as at a Water Cure establishment. It is true that a Water Cure establishment may offer the best conditions—but this should not deter people from practising Water Cure under the worst conditions. For under the most unfavorable circumstances Water Cure may be practised with greater success than any system of medicine or drugging. Water Cure is for the People—for the whole People—and not merely for a few wealthy individuals who have the means to pay from 15 to 30 dollars per week for board, at some Water Cure establishment. And then as to bad water—it is important above all things to have pure and cold water; but even water of an inferior quality, impregnated with mineral substances, may be used with far less injury and greater success than drugs of any description. In the millions of cases of sudden attack, we cannot remove the patients three or four hundred miles to a Water Cure establishment—but must use the best means that offer at the patient's residence. I affirm, without fear of proof to the contrary, that Water Cure is the best curative system, under the worst circumstances, ever known. Unquestionably there are patients who cannot be radically cured only in the very best conditions, but those persons may be greatly relieved by the use of water in the worst conditions.

Dr. W. intimates that people cannot have a douche bath at home—an insurmountable obstacle he thinks. But if people cannot do better, let them put up a barrel or half barrel so that it will be some four or six feet above the head, if you cannot put it higher, and put a two inch faucet in the bottom, and fill it with the coldest and best water you can get. But if we can get the mass to use the shower bath and some other simple applications, we will wait awhile till some one invents a convenient family douche. I have in progress a simple force pump apparatus, which will meet this want in every house. In New-York and Philadelphia nothing but a piece of pipe is required to carry water where and to any hight you choose, without the pump.

Dr. W. intimates that he has searched the land over for pure water and has found but one place where Water Cure can be practised, and that is at Brattleboro', Vt. If this is the case, then adieu to all hope of its future usefulness to the people. But the Doctor is mistaken, as time will prove.

Let every one wishing to practice and test the efficacy of Water Cure, use a little common sense, and begin to practice it where he is even if it be in the worst conditions, if he cannot do better. Go to Brattleboro', Vt., or New-Lebanon Springs, N. Y. if you can. But use water as a curative and remedial agent, whether or no.

Respectfully, &c. JOSEPH A. WHITMARSH.

☞ Rev. Dr. Beecher, describing in a public address the character of ministers needed at the West, said, when the strong, doctrinal, pungent and discriminating preaching of Baxter and Edwards, gives place to moonshine and nocturnal rainbows and mysticism which no human mind can comprehend, delivered by men with rings on their hly fingers, holding cambric handkerchiefs to eyes that never weep for sin, then farewell to the fire of the altar, farewell to true revivals of religion, farewell to the salvation of the souls of men!

☞ Nations should wear mourning for none but their benefactors. The representatives of nations should recommend to public homage only those who have been the heroes of humanity. [Mirabeau.

Real Estate.

EAST NEWARK LAND COMPANY.—All the property of the Company has been sold, and it has passed from the Trustees into other hands. Preparations are making to sell at auction on Thursday, 25th September next on the premises, the Lots, 25 by 100 feet each, in the two strips of land, 200 feet in depth, lying on each side of the New Jersey Railroad, remaining unsold. Other parts of the premises will be sold at private sale, or parted with on the most reasonable terms if required for improvement, and persons wishing to erect manufactories in the vicinity of New York and Newark will find it to their advantage to call at the office of ANTHONY DEY for information. Among some of the inducements to purchase and improve, are the following:

1st. The auctioneer will set up each lot, and any person bidding for the same $20, or any sum over that amount, will become the purchaser.

2d. Any person holding one share in the East Newark Land Company, which can be purchased for $15, the amount of the instalments paid in, and purchasing one or more lots, will have the right to a deduction of 20 per cent. from the auction price.

3d. Any person who was a creditor of Anthony Dey previous to the 28th October, 1843, and whose debt still remains unpaid, will have the right to purchasing one or more lots, at half a 25 per cent. deduction from the auction price.

4th. If any person, not a scrip holder, or creditor of A. Dey, will buy one or more lots and build thereon a dwelling house or factory of any kind of not less value than $800, before the first November, 1846, and produce his receipts at the time of the building, he shall have 25 per cent deducted from the auction price.

The terms offered for sale have cost the East Newark Land Company over $100 a lot. But as the subscriber is under covenant with the Trustees of the Company to offer for sale these lots at auction at the minimum price of $20 per lot, or to the highest bidder over that sum, the public may rest assured that the sale will be peremptory, and there shall not be any by-bidder employed to purchase any of them on my account.

5th. To induce capitalists to establish cotton, woollen and iron factories on the premises within the next three months, or before the first of November, 1846, there will be given to each of the three first applicants, 12 lots, each lot equal to 25 feet front and rear by 100 feet deep, amounting to about one acre of land, including streets to front, if the applicant wishes, on the Passaic river, as laid out on the map, and if that quantity of land is not sufficient for the purpose required, and more is wanted, it will be sold at reduced prices.

6th. And to any manufacturers that will establish themselves that offer inducements will be given if they will apply, before the 10th day of September next, at the office of A. Dey, No. 7 Liberty street, New York.

As the property has changed hands, and is in the possession of persons who are determined to have it improved, the public or examination will find there is no property in the vicinity of New York or Newark that offers greater advantages for improvements and speculation than the estate, late the property of the East Newark Land Company.

1. The city of Newark is a port of entry, and the property in question has a front of nearly one mile on the margin of the Passaic, (a navigable river) and the wharves are all occupied on the Newark side.

2. The Morris Canal enters into the Passaic River opposite to this property; through which coal and other fuel will pass, and produce of every description, from the extensive region of country through which the canal passes.

3. It lies directly opposite the city of Newark, which contains nearly 20,000 inhabitants, and from whence operatives of all classes, sexes and ages, can be procured, of a moral and religious character, and at which place supplies of every kind may be obtained.

4. The New Jersey Rail Road, leading from New York and Jersey City to Philadelphia, passes through nearly the centre of East Newark. The cars go to and come from Jersey City in less than half an hour, and make seventrips a day.

5. On this estate a dry dock of very large extent, and at the cheapest possible expense, can be made. The ordinary tide rises about six feet, and the high tides several feet more. Steamboats and other vessels may be built in it, and it would afford a safe winter accommodation, where they may be kept free from the exposure to ice. The soil on the meadows is only from 4½ to 5 feet deep, with a hard pan bottom that will not give way under it. This may be purchased at private sale by applying at No. 51 Liberty street, New York.

6. Conditions of the sale at auction are regulated in the agreement with the Trustees, are liberal, and will be made known in the advertisement to be published about the 1st September next. Private sales made on liberal terms, and persons disposed to buy for improvement, will please apply to Anthony Dey, at No. 51 Liberty street, New York, opposite the New Post Office.

7. Any person disposed to buy scrip stock of the East Newark Land Company, will be informed where they can obtain the same on application to Anthony Dey.
