Copper Ore in Missouri.

From the St. Louis New Era of Oct. 2.

The time is now, we trust, rapidly approaching when the treasures of copper ore, which abound in the South-easterly portions of Missouri, will be estimated at something near their true value. After all that has been proclaimed about the richness and profusion of these ores on the shores of Lake Superior, we should not be surprised to find, if proper attention is paid to the mining in this State, that the two counties of Franklin and Jefferson yielded more copper than the whole lake shore.

We, last Winter, had opportunities of frequent intercourse with one of the most experienced practical geologists and mineralogists in the Union. He had given Franklin and Jefferson Counties a thorough exploration, and the result in his mind was such that he had no hesitation in declaring that, in all his mineralogical tours, extending all over the United States, he had never seen so many indications of copper ore as presented themselves in the region of country which he had examined in Missouri.

What, now by copper miners in this State, is most wanted is proper facilities for extracting the ore. A smelting furnace should be erected here.

The value and eligible situation of the copper lands in this State will, we trust, attract the immediate attention of our Eastern capitalists. One fact, of which they should be appriced is this, that most of the copper region is still public land, and can be entered any day at the land office in this city for a dollar and a quarter an acre. Thus instead of a mere Government permit, title to the land can be secured in ice simple at a price which, considering its value, is merely nominal.

J. B. Camden, Esq., who left with us yesterday morning several specimens of copper ore taken from some diggings in Franklin County, in this State, about 60 miles from this city. The mines which furnish the samples are the property of Mr. Camden and Mr. Rucker, and yield ore in the shape of red oxide, sulphuret and carbonate of copper. They are believed to be—as we have little doubt they are—very rich in the pure metal. Analyses of similar ore, by gentlemen of this city, seem to establish the fact that they yield about 30 per cent.

Together with the specimens above mentioned, Mr. Camden left with us a fragment of partially smelted ore. The smelting at such works as have been erected for that purpose, in this quarter, is, however, so imperfectly done as to make it necessary for the present to send the ore abroad, where the metal can be more thoroughly extracted and its actual proportion to the bulk of ore mere fully ascertained. For this purpose, Messrs. Camden & Rucker have caused a quantity of the ore to be brought to this city, where a little over six tons arrived yesterday, and which will be immediately forwarded to Baltimore.

After the ore had arrived and the contents of the cargoes become known, there was much curiosity exhibited to examine it. Many persons—among whom were several of our most intelligent citizens—were surprised to learn that copper ore could be furnished, in any quantities, from mines so near the city. This curiosity has grown into something not unlike an excitement. The copper region in our neighborhood is starting into a prominence never before occupied by it. The possibilities of speculating with advantage there are becoming the subject of a good deal of conversation. We should not be astonished at the formation of copper companies, as in the case of the Lake Superior mines, though with this important difference, that the Missouri mines are perhaps much less of a bubble than those of the Lake shore.

LAKE SUPERIOR MINES.—A correspondent of the Cleveland Herald writes from the Sault St. Marie as follows:

"I have seen heading towards this mineral region ex-Cabinet Ministers and Governors, Congressmen and Professors, Bankers and Capitalists, Adventurers, Woodmen and Miners; and I have seen them on their return with their 'pockets full of rocks.' That this region abounds in copper ore to an inexhaustible extent, and of a quality vastly superior to any elsewhere discovered, are not matters of conjecture. That this is now positively known, has become a 'fixed fact,' and that gold and silver also abound, recent explorations abundantly establish. In this greedy scramble for sudden wealth, in which all men are more or less inclined to engage, some will obtain it and others will be disappointed; but the great truth still remains, that the precious metals here abound, and if energy and enterprise be only tempered with discretion and perseverence, the efforts of such will be crowned with success. But the existence and locality of this mineral wealth are no new discovery, as is generally suppose; nor are 'Lake Superior Mining Companies' devices of these modern days. In 1665, Father Allouez heard of the existence of a 'mass of pure copper' on the Southern shore of Lake Superior, and searched for it. And as early as 1721, says Charlevoix, the bracelets of the Indians, the candlesticks, crosses and censors were made for the use of the Church, by a goldsmith at the 'Soo,' from the masses of pure copper found on the shore of Lake Superior."

The capital of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, upon which the dividend of three per cent. has just been made, consists of 70,000 shares of $100 each, or $7,000,000. The City of Baltimore owns 35,000 shares, the State of Maryland 5,000, and individuals 30,000. The City Treasury will of course be the recipient of $105,000, and the State of Maryland $15,000, in the forthcoming division of profits, which will be made on the 1st of November. The capital of the Washington Branch of the same work is $1,650,000, of which the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company is owner of 10,326 shares of $100 each. The State of Maryland owns 5,500, and individuals hold 674 shares. From this work the State will receive on the 1st of November $16,500, exclusive of the bonus for each passenger. The whole revenue on the two works which the State of Maryland will derive for the year, from dividends, will be $48,000.

The Cincinnati Gazette says—"We again assure the New York News, and know well what we say, that there is no party in Ohio, by whatever name known, but would instantly vote down any proposition to increase the public debt of Ohio, and there is no ground for alarm on that account, whatever the Morning News may think or say to the contrary. Our efforts are directed to reduce the existing debt, even by the imposition of new and severe taxes, if required to effect that object. Ohio will never repudiate, nor will she increase her public debt."

The increase of business on the South Carolina Railroad for the first nine months of this year, ending Oct. 1st, has been $123,333. The receipts annexed, for the first nine months of the past five years, are exclusive of the mail contract and the profits of the bank.

PARLOR COAL STOVE.

HEDENBERG'S Patent Air-Tight Stoves.—Having obtained Letters Patent for an improved Stove, is desirous that the public should examine his Stove before purchasing. This Stove is composed of three Cylinders, one enclosing the other; the fire is made in the inner Cylinder; the gas passes to the surface of the outer, being between the outer and middle Cylinder, leaving a hot air chamber or passage, between the middle and inner or furnace Cylinder.—The cold air passes in under the Base or Pedestal, and becomes rarified between the Furnace and Gas Chamber, escaping in the parlor from the edge of a Cover or Capital by which means the Air in the Parlor is kept constantly circulating, making the air light and easy of respiration, and the cold air is compress to within four inches of the floor, thereby making the best of the Parlor more agreeable than has ever been obtained by any other Stove; it requires but little coal, and makes no dirt on the carpet.

The Stove can be so pulled as to heat the rooms with external air. To be had at the Manufactory of FRANCIS L. HEDENBERG, s24 1mosd No. 70 Division-st. N. Y.

RICH'S IMPROVED Patent Salamander Safes.—The undersigned purchased of A. S. MARVIN, 138½ Water street, one of Rich's Improved Patent Salamander Safes of the $200 size, which was in our store No. 54 Exchange Place. That store was entirely consumed in the great conflagration on the morning of the 19th inst.

The Safe was taken from the ruins fifty-two hours after; and on opening it the Books and Papers were found entirely uninjured by fire, and only slightly wet. The leather on some of the books was parched by the extreme heat.
