Potatoes sell for 25 cents per bushel on the local market. The crop is excellent in this section, the yield in the sand hills running from 150 to 300 bushels per acre. The question of getting the crop to market at a price which will warrant the hauling is one which confronts the remote growers.—Sutherland Free Lance.

The Situation in a Nutshell.

Mr. Editor:
I have read the bull moose article in your Tuesday edition. I think the picture of the writer of the article is very good. It may be the article is also good; much of it, however, I am unable to understand. If I am not mistaken the object of the writer is to make an appeal for votes for bull moose candidates.

Why vote that ticket? Has its candidate for president any chance for election? No, not the least. This is generally conceded by members of all parties, who are in touch with the situation. Then why throw your vote away? If you believe in the teachings of the democratic party; if you enjoy the conditions which have followed democratic administrations during the past 50 years; if you like the democratic low prices for what you have to sell, as well as what you buy, why not say so by your ballot and vote that ticket. If on the other hand you know you have enjoyed a greater degree of prosperity under republican administrations, and you are satisfied with the prices which you receive for what you sell, and desire the same to be continued and maintained, then vote the republican ticket. Do not be misled into believing that the democratic tariff law will cheapen what you buy and not cheapen also what you sell. Remember that the democratic party stands on the tariff question where it has stood for 50 years. Remember also that like causes produce like effects. The great body of voters still remember what followed the passage of the democratic tariff laws in the past. If you like it, vote for it. If you don't like it then don't be misled by the statement of the men who are running for office, that the tariff law has nothing to do with the prosperity which the voters now enjoy.

The bull moose candidate is in the fight, not because he expects to be elected, but for the purpose of preventing the success of the republican party. The republican party has not changed since the Chicago convention. Roosevelt desired to be its candidate. If he had been successful it would now be a good party, and he would be singing its praises all over the land. He was not successful. He did not get the nomination, and now it is a bad party. Roosevelt's policy is to rule or ruin. His position is, if you will not elect me, then I will see that you do not elect any other person. Will the voters be a party to such treachery?

One word to those whose only product they have for sale is their labor. Do you remember the conditions which existed at the close of the last democratic administration in 1896? Do you remember that wages were not only low, but that there were two men for every job? Do you want to return to that condition? If you do, vote either for Wilson or Roosevelt, for a vote for Roosevelt is giving one-half of your vote to Wilson.

If the farmer feels that all he has to sell is too high, my advice to him is to vote against the party who is responsible for the high prices, and by your ballot ask for a return of the prices of 1896, when you sold your cows for $10.00, your horses for about the same and your wheat for from 30 cents to 35 cents per bushel. Remember that the democratic party stands on the tariff question where it stood when Cleveland was elected.

Remember also that the bull moose candidate stands for anything and everything that will add strength to his movement, and thereby defeat the republican candidate.

This is the time for the voter to cast his ballot for his own interest, and not for any politician who seeks revenge and not prosperity.
