THE TRIBUNE.

For The Tribune.

OLE BULL—FAREWELL!

Thou friend than brother nearer, fare thee well!—
This world is sad with partings; yet more dear
Than tears o'er broken heart or faded spell,
These drops to friendship sacred. Firm and clear
A nation sends her voices up to swell
This hour with sadness and with triumph. Near
The Hero-Father's whom we worship, stands
Thy name, engraven there with reverent hands.

The lightning shock of genius from thy hand
Leaps sparkling on from heart to heart, till all
Glow and dissolve in light, and the bright band
Fused into a trembling sea, or rise or fall
Or quiver into stillness as thy wand
Points glittering through the air; or at thy call
The spirits of the Past appear and talk
Of memories sweet as through the brain they walk.

Thy magic tones create anew delight,
And Life's exhausted Urn refill with wine
Which overflows once more in purple light.
Once more the stars in mystic beauty shine
As thou enchantest the keen ear of Night,
And fairies from their flowery thrones incline,
Wondering to hear themselves reechoed, where
Thy soul pours out herself upon the air.

Thou conjurest up once more the golden dreams
That made youth beautiful—the glorious shapes
Which fading haunt the memory with gleams
Of a diviner being: and escapes [streams
From out thy fingers, some dear bird which
Into the soul a Spring-time song that wakes
The bosom's echoes of old joys, and fills
Its gasping fountains from divinest rills.

Farewell! The curtains of the invisible air
Too soon will hide thee from our eyes—but time
Thy image in our hearts can ne'er impair.
Go! but beneath what far and sunny clime
Thy destiny leads thee we will follow there.
And drink, in fancy, of thy music-rhyme
Till all things melt to poetry, and thou
Thy sweet spell layest upon our hearts, as now!

Once more—the last—farewell, foretelling spirit
Of a more perfect Beautiful to burst
In splendor o'er the earth! Our souls inherit
From thy strong genius that immortal thirst
Which slakes itself in Music—and to hear it
Is to drink in, ourselves, the fire which nursed
Greece in her strong creative infancy, and stirs
This pregnant age with all that was not hers!

Deferred News.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—A fire broke out this morning in a house on the North side of Camden-st, occupied by Mr. Turpin, as a tavern. The house, with its contents, was wholly destroyed. We regret to state that a man named Edward Parks, formerly captain of a bay craft, resident of Somerset county, Md. was burned to death.

Himself and a man named Schoote were sleeping in an upper room in the same bed. Schoote escaped by getting out of the window and ascending by a barber-pole adjoining the house. Self-preservation being the first law of nature, he made the best of his way out, leaving his companion to perish. The body was found in the ruins literally burnt to a crisp—the extremities, legs, arms and head burnt off. It is said that another person, a stranger, supposed to be from New-York, was in the house before the fire, and is missing. The presumption is that he also fell a victim. [Balt. Pat. 28th.

FIRE AT CULPEPER COURT HOUSE, VA.—A letter in the Richmond Whig dated at 5 o'clock, A. M. Nov. 26, states that "the centre of Culpeper Court House (village) is now wrapped in flames. The fire caught about four o'clock, at the Fairfax Hotel, kept by Samuel Decamp, and is now spreading with fearful rapidity. The flames have already consumed the hotel, Bayle's store, H. Shackelford's house and office, and the Masonic Hall; and Major Hill's house has just caught. It is to be feared that the whole of Centre Culpeper C. H. will be consumed. Court House, Clerk's Office, and several other buildings, in great danger."

SAGUA LA GRANDE.—The authorities of Havana have decreed that from and after the 1st January next, the port of Sagua la Grande shall be opened to commerce, like those of Mariel and Cardenas, as follows:

1st. Spanish vessels, bearing the national flag, may enter, discharge and load again under the the ordinary regulations.

2d. Vessels belonging to other nations are likewise admitted in ballast, and for the purpose of loading with sugar and other productions.

3d. Spanish and foreign vessels are admitted when they bring the following articles: Beams and rafters, planks and boards, staves, hoops, hogsheads finished and unfinished, barrels do. shingles, frames of sugar boxes; tin, iron and zinc plates; gum and hemp bags, straw do. salted beef and pork, salt the product of the island, cod and other fish, haddock and mackerel, iron nails and spikes, steam machines for sugar plantations, separate frame work for do. boilers and tanks, bricks.

4th. If said vessels carry other articles than those above mentioned, they must discharge their cargo at ports which are free without restriction.

[Phila. U. S. Gazette.

THE KIDNAPPING CASE.—Information from Parkersburgh, since the close of the trial of the three Ohioans, represents the conclusion very much as reported in the article from the Marietta paper given in our last. In the shape in which the case was left, the question of boundary is the one upon which the whole depends. It is reserved for the decision of the General Court of Virginia, which holds its session on the 1st day of December, at Richmond.

If the decision is not satisfactory, this being the highest tribunal in the State in criminal cases, an appeal will be to the Supreme Court of the U. States. Little doubt is entertained of a favorable result. We are glad to learn that Mr. Vinton will attend the session of the Court at Richmond, and argue the case for the defendants.

WISCONSIN.—The Milwaukie Courier is out in favor of immediate measures for the organization of a State Government. The editor expresses the opinion that if the next Territorial Legislature take the necessary steps, Wisconsin will be a sovereign State of the Union on the 4th day of July, 1846. He vouches that such is the will of the people.

ROBBERY ON THE SOUTH AMERICA.—A gentleman who came on board the boat last night at Kingston, had his wallet, containing a draft for $500 on the Kingston Bank, together with $113, taken from a private pocket in his drawers, while he was sleeping.

[Albany Atlas, 28th.

☞ Rev. ROBERT BAIRD is preparing to deliver a Course of Lectures at Albany on the Physical Organization, Resources, &c. of the different European Countries in which he has sojourned.

☞ Several inches of snow fell on Thursday, and a few sleighs were in motion on the Macademized streets. The canal can hardly continue open long with such weather. [Rochester Democrat.

☞ There was a heavy rain-storm accompanied by wind in Boston on Thursday, which caused considerable damage to buildings and vessels. A new hotel was blown down at the head of Nantasket Beach, from the effects of the same storm.

☞ Another case of grave-robbing has just come to light near Ashtabula, Ohio. The remains of a Mrs. Eddy, of Orwell, were found to have been stolen, and portions were afterwards found in the garden of Dr. Peck of Windsor, who with an accomplice has been bound over to answer.

☞ The Utica Gazette states that a wealthy farmer of Herkimer county, named James, was convicted of stealing a barrel of flour in Utica, and sentenced to 3 months imprisonment and $25 fine. A dear barrel of flour that!

☞ AUGUSTE BELMONT has been recognized by the President as Provisional Consul General of Austria for the States of New-York, Pennsylvania, New-Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and for the District of Columbia.

WESTERN RAILROAD—CHANGE OF HOUR.—On and after Monday next, the cars will leave Albany for Boston at 9 o'clock in the morning. From Boston the trains leave at 10 o'clock, connecting with the New-York run via New-Haven, and arriving in this City at 9 P. M.

[Albany Evening Journal.

☞ THANKSGIVING in New England came in a storm-car and wore a vinegar aspect. The day, says the Boston Courier, was ushered in by a tremendous southeaster, and those who have had any experience in southeast storms during the cold months know that they present nothing like child's play. The rain poured a deluge, and say one who looked for out-door enjoyment during the day, must have been wofully disappointed. It is said that between seven, A.M. and four P.M. the amount of rain which had descended in Boston was three inches and four-tenths, as indicated by the rain guage, an amount which has but seldom been exceeded within the same number of hours in this climate. Awnings were cloared and cellars were filled, and the tempest reigned triumphant. But little damage was done in the harbor, and thus far we have heard of no disasters on the coast. A portion of the embankment of the Portsmouth and Portland railroad, near Kennebunk, was washed away, which caused a detention of several hours to the evening train on that day. We shall look for accounts of freshets, and destruction of mills and dams, when farther tidings reach us.

☞ There was another case of death from carelessness in the loading of fire-arms, at Crawford, Conn. a few days since—the victim being a young man named Joseph Green—son to a resident of that place.

MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH.—The posts for the Albany and Utica Telegraph are being placed through our streets. The depot is to be in the Exchange, next to Livingston & Wells's Express Office. It is intended to have the entire line in operation by the opening of the Legislature. Gov. Wright's message—if of the usual length—will give the wires a hard trial!

[Albany Evening Journal.

☞ An extraordinary surgical operation was lately performed in Missouri—which was the complete removal of the patient to another world. The physician is doing well.

☞ The U. S. Gazette says, "We have occasion to know," &c. Why then don't it know, and done with it?
