"August Flower"

Biliousness, Constipation, Stomach Pains.

"I have been afflicted with biliousness and constipation for fifteen years; first one and then another preparation was suggested to me and tried but to no purpose. At last a friend recommended August Flower. I took it according to directions and its effects were wonderful, relieving me of those disagreeable stomach pains which I had been troubled with so long. Words cannot describe the admiration in which I hold your August Flower—it has given me a new lease of life, which before was a burden. Such a medicine is a benefaction to humanity, and its good qualities and wonderful merits should be made known to everyone suffering with dyspepsia or biliousness

Don't Throw Up the Sponge!

That hideous ogre. Giant Despair, often fastens his clutch upon the chronic invalid. Constantly plagued by dyspepsia, biliousness and constipation—nervous and sleepless too—what wonder is it that having tried in vain a multitude of useless remedies he is ready, figuratively speaking, to "throw up the sponge." Let the unfortunate "take heart of grace." Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can and will put a terminus to his trials. It strengthens the stomach, confers nervous vigor by promoting assimilation of the food, arouses the liver when dormant, and relaxes the bowels without pain. The ability to digest and assimilate restored, the ability to sleep follows. Nothing then can stay the renewal of health but imprudence. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, moreover, transcends all others as a remedy for malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints. A wineglassful three times a day.

A man can subdue the elephant, but the tiger generally gets the best of him.

Syrup of Figs,

Produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently, on the kidneys, liver and bowels, effectually cleansing the sytem, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

I read what Mr. Bell said about making $80 per month. I also sent to the Standard Silver Ware Co., Essex St., Boston, Mass., and received a fine case of samples. I took orders the first day that paid me $10 profit; made $40 the first week, at the end of one month I had $115 clear profit. Any one can get circulars and agency by writing the above firm. I hope others may profit by my experience. Yours Truly, W. F. WILLIAMS.

PURIFY YOUR BLOOD.

But do not use the dangerous alkaline and mercurial preparations which destroy your nervous system and ruin the digestive power of the stomach. The vegetable kingdom gives us the best and safest remedial agents. Dr. Sherman devoted the greater part of his life to the discovery of this reliable and safe remedy, and all its ingredients are vegetable. He gave it the name of a name every one can remember, and to the present day nothing has been discovered that is so beneficial for the BLOOD, for the LIVER, for the KIDNEYS and for the STOMACH. This remedy is now so well and favorably known by all who have used it that arguments as to its merits are useless, and if others who require a corrective to the system would but give it a trial the health of this country would be vastly improved. Remember the name—PRICKLY ASH BITTERS. Ask your druggist for it.

A Wonderful Man.

William Kingston, of Ditch-heat, Somersetshire, England, was "the most wonderful of all that wondrous krew." Concerning him a writer of the London Chronicle says: I put half a sheet of paper, with pen and ink, on the floor before him. He threw off his shoes as he sat; took the ink stand in the toes of his left foot (having been born without arms), and held the pen in those of the right. He then wrote three fine lines better than most can with the fingers. He feeds himself, and can bring both his meat or his broth to his mouth by holding the fork or spoon in his toes. He showed me how he shaves.

He can dress and undress himself. He is a farmer by occupation; milks his cows with his toes, cuts his own hay and binds up the bundles and carries it about the field for his cattle. In saddling and bridling his horse he does it with his teeth. He is so strong in his teeth that he can lift ten pecks of beans with them, and he can throw a hammer as far with his feet as most people can with their hands.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

☞ Sold by Druggists, price, 75 cents per bottle.

The Work of a Swordfish.

The society of California Pioneers are the owners of a wonderful curiosity. It is a section of timber taken from the side of the ship Powhatan. It includes a portion of the "skin," which is four inches thick, and a piece of abutting knee, which is nine inches thick; transversely through the whole of this a swordfish has dashed his sword, and the portion broken off is still embedded in the timber. The sword pierced through thirteen inches of this solid oak, and the fish was going in the same direction as the vessel at that, the ship being under a good head of steam at the time. An idea of the strength which must have been exerted can be obtained from the fact that a rifle six-pounder could not have done more than pierce that thickness of solid oak. People on the vessel stated that they felt the shock caused by the blow, and thought that they had struck something floating beneath the surface. The sword is over six inches wide at the broadest point where it is broken off.

Fearful Mortality.

The number of Americans who die annually in Rome is greater than most people have any idea of. The Roman fever is a malignant type of malarial fever. There is a large cemetery in Rome which is filled with the remains of American victims of the Roman fever. Another cemetery in Paris also contains a goodly number of the same class. They contracted the fever in Rome. It is not surprising that Rome should be unhealthy. The present city is built on top of seven cities. In the ancient days, every time Rome was rebuilt they filled in and started a new city over it. That has been repeated seven times. When one thinks of the amount of filth and garbage that lies under the present city, he can only wonder that any one is able to live there."

Why are you sick? Because you have neglected nature's laws. She continually tries to correct the trouble but cannot do it without assistance. Prickly Ash Bitters is the assistant needed, and with the help of this medicine your health will be fully restored. Give it a trial and watch the results.

Not with soap—you know better than that. But with Pyle's Pearline. Dirt leaves, and the work is done—easily, quickly, safely, thoroughly.

You save time with Pearline—but you save more that. You're spared the endless rub, rub, rubbing, that tires you out and wears out what is rubbed.

It's money in your pocket to use Pearline. If it cost more than soap, if it were dangerous—then you might hesitate. But you needn't. It's as cheap as any soap, and just as harmless.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 244 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

MECHANISM OF THE HEART,

Sudden Death Like That of Secretary Windom May be Prevented.

Now the American idea of treating the heart when it is diseased from overwork is to stop the bad food and give good food. Nature will then remove from the blood-stream the physical causes of obstruction, and the heart will come down in size and be restored, simply because it has no more than its normal work to do. This is a principle of surgery, to wit, to remove a foreign body from the eye, and the eye gets well of itself; nature will always cure if she has a chance. This is repitition, but there is need of it.

Few have any idea how far the blood has to travel in the human body. If the capillaries, which are 1-3,000th of an inch in diameter, of the human body could be removed and put into one straight line, it is estimated that this line would reach round the globe; call it 1,000 miles, it is clear that it will take force to project water through such a tube, and that it would take more force to project molasses. Now, if the heart projects normal blood through this tube, it is also clear that it would have to work harder to project abnormally thick blood, and so doing would grow bigger. The nerves of the heart are automatic, and do their work in their way as the nerves of the head do theirs. They appear to know when there is obstruction to the circulation, and they make the heart beat harder.

When I was a medical student a snake was brought to be killed. It was in a deep glass jar, and a stream of carbonic acid gas was turned on. In a few miuntes it was dead. All the gas was not used, but was turned on to the back of my hand; soon the skin was a livid lead color, was devoid of feeling, and paralyzed. Now this gas largely formed in the stomach becomes absorbed through the heart sac, and paralyzes the heart. Probably this was so with Secretary Windom. He had eaten and then he spoke. The force used in speaking was taken from the work of digestion so that the blood fermented, or he may have been drinking carbonic acid water, and the stomach was full of carbonic acid gas. Thence it exosposed into the heart sac and death followed. I knew a doctor, who knew better, to die from eating food which he knew would ferment, simply because he perferred the taste of his viands to their pathological effects. He is not alone; so long as mankind lives to eat and does eat to live, just so long will sudden deaths from weak hearts occur.

Secretary Windom had treatment, but it was neutralized by a too close attention to business and possibly by the late financial, world-wide panic, in which people looked to government for relief brought on by speculation. People forget that it is work to live—that each person has a limited amount of dynamic energy to expend in doing life work. Ten hours of brain work a day is enough. Longer work than this steals from some other organ. If it is the stomach, it will not digest the food. If one has a broken bone and works too hard, the bone will not unite. So when people overeat or eat food that is hard to digest, they put a like strain on their system.—New York Tribune.

Skin Grafting by Machinery.

On Saturday morning, at the Massachusetts General Hospital, a little instrument, invented by Dr. Mixter, wonderful in its simplicity, constructed so as to separate quite large portions of epidermis from the subcutaneous tissue, was used for the first time. The patient had been etherized and had undergone operations for the removal of a cancerous growth from the left breast, and the wound thus made was quite an extensive one. The instrument was applied to the anterior portion of the right thigh and three straps, about an inch wide by six inches long, were taken off and transplanted to the exposed surface of the breast. The operation of removing the skin and transplanting it to its new quarters did not occupy more than about six minutes. A very few days will suffice to restore the denuded surface of the thigh to its normal condition, leaving few traces of the reparative process to which it has contributed and, other things being equal, the surface from which the cancerous tumor has been excised will heal over by first intention, thus saving the patient from a prolonged and painful period of convalesence. Of course every precaution is taken, by the use of sterilizing processes and antiseptic solutions to render the operation thoroughly aseptic, so that the chance of inflammatory disturbances from bacterial sources are reduced to the lowest minimum.

The thickness of these delicate human plasters probably does not exceed one-sixtieth of an inch, and the resulting hemorrhage is not more than what one sees on a slight abrason of the skin, or it may be compared to the sanguineous oozing one gets from too earnest tonsorial attention.

The advantages of the new over the old method of epidermic detachment are obvious. It is expeditious, the sections of shaved cuticle are larger and of a more uniform thickness than can be obtained by the most dexterous manipulator, and the chances of successful graftings are enhanced by the fact that the skin is transplanted while the cellular elements are in their full vital activity.—Boston Herald.

Why Big Men Have Little Wives.

There is a very general and ancient impression that big men, in choosing wives, prefer small women. At first glance this would appear to be true, because the number of big men with little wives is certainly in an overwhelmning majority as we see them. In the five years I have held my office I have learned a thing or two through the medium of the marriage license office, and it is my impression that it is not that big men prefer little women, but that little women prefer big men, and it is the experience of the world-wise that what a woman wants and starts out to get she generally captures.—Globe-Democrat.

Proclaim the Victory

Remember last winter's siege. Recall how trying to health were the frequent changes of the weather. What was it that helped you win the fight with disease, warded off pneumonia and possibly consumption? Did you give due credit to SCOTT'S EMULSION of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda? Did you proclaim the victory? Have you recommended this wonderful ally of health to your friends? And what will you do this winter? Use Scott's Emulsion as a preventive this time. It will fortify the system against Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, and all Anæmic and Wasting Diseases (specially in Children). Palatable as Milk.

SPECIAL.—Scott's Emulsion is non-secret, and is prescribed by the Medical Profession all over the world, because its ingredients are scientifically combined in such a manner as to greatly increase their remedial value.

CAUTION.—Scott's Emulsion is put up in salmon-colored wrappers. Be sure and get the genuine. Prepared only by Scott & Bowne, Manufacturing Chemists, New York. Sold by all Druggists.
