NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

Gen. Wilson.

We take from the Independent (N. H.) Democrat the sketch we promised of Gen. WILSON. It is worthy of perusal, both on account of the subject of which it treats, and its literary merits:

Almost everybody in our State knows this gentleman by the familiar and not very elegant cognomen, "Long Jim." Still, there is more meaning and appropriateness in it than a fastidious ear might be aware of. "Long" he certainly is—though not an Anak, nor stretched to the immeasurable length of "Long John," of Chicago. And to his credit be it said, he is one of those unsophisticated and unstarched men who may be limned without offending their delicacy or detracting from their dignity. There are some such men who treat no royal pride—but pass along in republican simplicity, claiming in it than a fastidious ear might be aware of. "Long" he certainly is—though not an Anak, nor stretched to the immeasurable length of "Long John," of Chicago. And to his credit be it said, he is one of those unsophisticated and unstarched men who may be limned without offending their delicacy or detracting from their dignity. There are some such men who treat no royal pride—but pass along in republican simplicity, claiming the humblest citizen as a brother, and saying to the highest, as Black Hawk did to the President—"I am men, and you are another." "Don't thee and thou me," said the pompous Justices of England to the plain, blunt Quaker Fox. "Use such familiarities to our servants, but not to magistrates," said they. And a good deal of that royal stiffening has crept down into the veins of these democratic times. The Quakers need to take WASHINGTON by the hand, while President of the United States, and address him, as Penn had the King before, simply as "George." The great man seemed rather pleased with a greeting which bespoke the fraternizing affection of home, and often reciprocated it with the like simplicity of a brother. Some little sprig of aristocracy, better furnished with broadcloth than brains, would have resented a familiarity that made him but "common clay." So true it is that,

"Pigmies are pigmies still, though perched on Alps,
And pyramids are pyramids in vales."

But not to dwell too long on these things, it must be admitted that Gen. Wilson is distinguished in an eminent degree for simple, unostentatious habits in his intercourse with others, and for unvarying courtesy of demeanor. He probably feels that he is a man, and not an ape. Not a mere buckram fop or dandy—one of those precious things (so numerous in sunny weather) that

"Present a body, which, at most,
Is less substantial than a ghost."

Had Robert Burns been an orator instead of poet, there would have been a very striking likeness between him and Gen. Wilson. And there is reason for this, for the latter is of Scotch descent—and his veins are full of Scotch feeling and fire—tempered with that earnest Irish enthusiasm, which he derives from one branch of his ancestral line. Those who know anything of the noble-hearted, strong willed poet, will see very strong points of resemblance between them. The same wild scenes of Nature—the same

"Land of the mountain and the flood,
Of dark brown heath and shaggy wood,"

first opened alike to their youthful eyes. Burns, in his boyhood, followed the plough and pressed his wild, free foot to the old Caledonian hills; while the American toyed to the same rustic employment and learned Freedom, like him, among the mountains of our beloved Scotland. The same free, generous and impetuous spirit that swelled in the bosom of the one, now characterizes the other. Alike in disdaining the pompous folly of lordly life and the "rattling quipage" of wealth or fashion, the same Glorious spirit of Independence that Burns worshiped as "lord of the lion heart and eagle eye," is equally the idol of the New Hampshire orator. If the music of one fell like a transcendent charm upon the Scottish ear, no less potent, in a different capacity, is the voice of the other to stir the pulse or win the heart—The same martial fire—the same restless and indignant hatred of tyranny that burned in the Scotchman's veins now runs in the American's. And hail the latter born a poet he would have penned lyrics as full of electric fire and passion as "Bruce's Address." All the elements are in him, save the divinity of the poet's utterance.

Compare them physically; and the same resemblance is apparent; with an exception however, for the eye of Burns was the most distinctive feature of his face. Poetry lingered in its radiance; and when the hard fall the struggling of that mighty nature within him life eye is said to have kindled and burned with an "almost ghastly lustre and light." In General Wilson the same feature is now lighted up with such terrible power. Take the following description of the Poet, written by one who knew him, and we'll there is not almost as good a portrait of the General: "Burns was tall, sinewy, and vigorous; formed for feats of activity and strength; and the swarthiest Scotchman I ever saw. In his ordinary mood he walked with a slight stoop; his hair was jet black, his eye dull, and it seemed as if the spirit of God had gone out of him, and left him a lump of clay. On the coming of excitement, or the appearance of a friend, he became at once another man; the plowman look vanished, sunshine returned to his brow, a winning smile to his lip, and an almost insufferable light to his eye; and he looked like a newly created thing, all brightness and joy."

How true of Gen. Wilson, too! To a stranger he would not appear the lion he actually is when aroused and in the midst of one of his impassioned strains of eloquence—eloquence, as Lamb has said of books, that is eloquence. He would be taken for some hard-fisted plowman, ungifted with that "mighty magic" which puts a tongue in everything and leads an assembly captive. I have attended public meetings when he was to address the people; and noted the curious inquiries and sage remarks of those who had never before seen him and knew nothing of his powers as a speaker. Plainly attired and in the most unpolished manner, he would enter the house and sit in modest carelessness awaiting the gathering of his audience. No stranger eye would be fixed upon him as the hero of the scene. "Where is he?" would be the inquiry. "There he is—that coarse-looking man, bending forward, with the aspect of a long Vermont Jonathan," would be the reply. "That Gen. Wilson?—why, he don't look as though he could say anything. See there! I guess your phrenology is all knocked in the head now. He looks like an old plow-jogger." Such would be the comments. But he speaks—at first with that simplicity and courteous phraseology that distinguish the gallant man always. He stretches himself up—raises his stentorian voice as he warms with the subject—period upon period goes rolling out upon the audience and echoing back and up like the ocean tones of the sea—the orator seems laboring and dashing forward like one of those 'oak leviathans' to the deep, crushing the haughty waves beneath its keel and wrestling onward against the tempest. It is then that you begin to realize the awakening of that "dormant thunder" which you so little dreamed was sleeping in that awkward form and unpromising aspect. You are borne onward by the impetuous current, or stirred by some startling picture of political folly or aggravated wrong, until it would seem as though the old dead had been summoned back to rebuke the living.

But in all this there is no ungenerous taunt—no flippant blackguardism—no impudent mouthing of our opponent's ability or motives, but an exhibition of the better and better feelings. In this respect Gen. Wilson occupies a more elevated position than most of the political orators of the day. He scorns the tricks and slang of the demagogue. He never descends to them. His language is chosten with even the nice taste of the scholar; and while his periods oftentimes exhibit a peculiar beauty and finish, they are full of energy and charged with fire—"as lightning lurks in the drops of the summer clouds." He never caters to that vulgar appetite which riots in abusive epithet and dismally distraction. Nor does he ever stoop to repel the base attack and calumny so rife in partisan warfare. He stands up like the storm defying pilot that mocks alike the fury of tempest and wave. He bears his head aloft into the sunshine and bids them beat on.

Medicines.

NO HUMBUG—Dr. BLAKEMAN'S PECTORAL MIXTURE is a new, safe and certain remedy that very persuades all others for the cure of consumption, colds, asthma, hoarseness, sore throat, and every affection of the liver and lungs. This medicine, the result of a number of years research and experience in the most ravaging and destructive complaints that afflict the human system, has been recently discovered by Dr. H. Blakeman, of Bridgeport, Conn. and has the merit of curing nearly that very person who has taken it for the above complaints; it takes hold of the most desperate cases with astonishing effect, removing in a few days every symptom of an alarming complaint. No family ought to be without it. A fifty cent bottle, pleasant and agreeable to the taste, is all you have to risk. Try it. Never in the annals of medical skill and experience has a remedy for disease acquired in so few months such great celebrity and reputation as the curing those fatal maladies so prevalent in our climate. Certificates of men of strong integrity can be produced to testify to the fact of its curing cases of confirmed consumption, when pronounced by their physicians and friends as being incurable and have been given up to die, and to their surprise and joy they have been perfectly restored to health. Be careful when you buy and not get deceived; every bottle will have the Proprietor's name, H. Blakeman, and a fac-simile signature of his name signed, H. BLAKEMAN. Price fifty cents. Numerous certificates might be given of its beneficial effects, but a few of the most respectable of the City of Bridgeport will suffice.

CERTIFICATES.

BRIDGEPORT, June 2, 1847.

DOCT. BLAKEMAN—Dear Sir. This certifies that I have been severely afflicted for two years with a distressing cough and shortness of the lungs, and have employed the best physicians that could be found, besides trying almost all kinds of medicines recommended for such complaints, but could find no relief, and was finally discouraged of ever getting better. But hearing of the great value of your Pectoral Mixture I was induced to try it. I feel the happy effects in a very short time; by using a few bottles of it I was restored to a state of health, and now enjoy good health, and can do a day's work. It also had a restorative effect in my family, a number of which had occasion to use it and in every instance was cured. I recommend it in preference to any medicine known.

MAHLON SCHENCK.

BRIDGEPORT, January 10, 1847.

This to certify that I was afflicted for about three weeks with the most dangerous kind of cough and spitting of blood, which confined me some part of the time at home, and found no relief till I used a bottle of Dr. Blakeman's Cough Drops. In a few days I entirely recovered, and have had no attack of it since, and I would recommend it in preference to anything used for that disease or any complaint leading to consumption. SAMUEL F. SHEPARD.

BRIDGEPORT, March 3, 1847.

This certifies that I was afflicted for three months with a most severe cough, which settled on my lungs. I could find no relief. I tried Brinkerhoff's Restorative and other medicines, but had no effect. I heard of the great benefit persons had received by the above medicine invented by H. Blakeman. I was at the time very weak and poorly, I said I had the consumption. I tried the article, and in a few days was entirely restored. My cough left me and I may say I be returned. I would recommend it to all that are afflicted. E. P. SHUTE.

This certifies that I am personally acquainted with the gentlemen who have given their testimony to the benefits which they have derived from the use of Dr. Blakeman's "Pectoral Mixture," and know them to be men of undoubted veracity, in this city. From a farther knowledge of its beneficial effects in numerous families, among whom it has been my duty or privilege to be, I can recommend it as a safe and excellent family medicine, for the cure of coughs, whether chronic or otherwise.

WILLIAM REID,
Pastor of Baptist Church, Bridgeport, Ct.

Bridgeport, March 4, 1847.

A certificate of recommendation from the Mayor of the City of Bridgeport, Conn. and of the firm of Harrall, Sprouts & Co. 119 and 121 Williams-st. N. Y.

This certifies that the above gentlemen are citizens of Bridgeport, of respectability and considered veracity, in whom confidence could safely be imparted in their testimony of the Blakeman's medicine. H. K. HARRAL.

One advantage this medicine possesses over any other of the kind, is, that one bottle determines the benefits to be derived from its use in the most severe cases, and its minor cases a cure.

GREAT AMERICAN REMEDY!

WESTERN REMEDIES COLLEGE OF HEALTH, 207 MAIN-ST. BUFFALO, N. Y.

DR. G. C. VAUGHN'S VEGETABLE LITHONTRIPTIC ADVERTISEMENT FOR 1847. Dr. Vaughn's Lithontriptic is most emphatically the case with the Proprietor, placed to its most marvellous medicinal power. Wherever it has gone, and such have been, Canada, and the United States have proved the truth of the statements, the above contains, in a strong and plain manner, tells the world what it is capable upon those who are cured say and be known to prove, that as a result of the effects is satisfactory, you are convinced, and the secret of the cure remains with the proprietor. The medicine is a compound of 22 distinct vegetable agencies, each individual not has its own peculiar, exclusive, medicinal property, but the whole combined, after compound—each contributing its own cure—and as a perfect compound when taken into the system, it does the work which nature, when her laws were first established, intended it should do—purifies, strengthens, and restores the broken down, debilitated constitution. Dropsy, in all its characters, will be completely eradicated from the system by its use. See pamphlets in agents hands, for free circulation—they treat of all diseases, and show testimony of cures. Gravel, and all complaints of the urinary organs, form also the cause of great suffering, and Vaughn's Lithontriptic has acquired no small celebrity over the country, by the cures it has made in this distressing class of afflictions. So famed, it seems, is this medicine, that it has thus attracted the notice of one of our medical publications. In the the November number, 1845, of the "Buffalo Journal and Monthly Review of Medical and Surgical Science," is an article upon calculous diseases, and "nephritis," the writer, after noticing the fact that the English Government once purchased a secret remedy, and also noticing the purchase in 1826, of a secret remedy, by the Legislature of New-York, thus pays tribute to the fame of the Medicine: "We do not our Representatives in Congress, and our assembly convened, enlighten and disabuse the suffering thousands of this country, by the purchase of Vaughn's vegetable Lithontriptic, that which on solvent since the days of Alchemy has possessed one half the fame?" Reader, here is a periodical of high standing, acknowledged throughout a large section of this country to be one of the best conducted journals of the kind in the United States, exchanging with the scientific works of Europe to our certain knowledge, edited by Alonzo Flint, M. D. and contributed to by the highest professional talent, and stepping aside to notice a "secret remedy." You will at once understand no unknown and worthless nostrum, could thus extort a comment from so high a quarter—and consequently, unless it directly confirmed with the practice of the faculty, it must have been its great "fame" which has caused it to receive this passing notice. Kidney diseases, the inflammation of the back and spine, strangury, painful and suppressed menstruation, fluor albus, and the entire complicated train of evils which follow a disordered system, are at once relieved by the medicine. Send for pamphlets from agents, and you will find evidence of the value of the Lithontriptic there put forth. As a remedy for the irregularities of the female system, it has in the compound of which it is composed, no equal to no in the North of Europe for centuries—as a sure cure for this complaint, and a restorer of the health of the entire system. Liver complaint, jaundice, bilious diseases, &c. are instantly relieved. People of the West will find in the only remedy in these complaints, as well as fevers and ague. There is no remedy like it. It is a cathartic or quinine for fever and ague, and yet no mercury in its use, and its active properties are manifested in the use of a single 50 oz. bottle. For fever and ague, bilious disorders, take no other medicine. Rheumatism, gout, will find relief. The action of this medicine upon the blood, will change the disease—which originates in the blood—and a healthy result will follow. Dyspepsia, indigestion, &c. yield in a few days to use of this medicine. Inflammation of the lungs, cough, consumption also, has ever found relief. Scrofula, erysipelas, piles, inflamed eyes—all caused by impure blood—will find this article the remedy. The system, completely acted upon by the twenty-two different properties of the mixture, is purified and restored—as a partial cure will not follow. The train of common complaints, palpitation of the heart, sick headache, debility, &c. are all the result of some derangement of the system, and this great restorer will do its work. The promises set forth in the advertisement, are based upon the proof of what it has done in the past four years. The written testimony of 1,000 agents, in Canada, the United States, England and South America, in the possession of the proprietor—and which can be seen by interested—is a source of conviction that it is the best medicine ever offered to the world. Get the pamphlet, and study the principles as there laid down, of the method of cure. Put up in 50 oz. bottles, at $2; 12 oz. do at $1 each—the larger holding 6 oz. more than two small bottles. Look out and not get imposed upon. Every bottle has "Vaughn's Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture" blown upon the glass, the wrapper signed "G. C. Vaughn" on the direction, and "G. C. Vaughn, Buffalo," stamped on the cork. None other are genuine. Prepared by Dr. G. C. Vaughn, and sold as the principal office, 205 Main-st, Buffalo, at wholesale and retail. The principle upon which this medicine acts, is by assisting and harmonizing with nature; it drives out all foul and crimonious humors from the blood and body, and by assimilating with and strengthening the digestive juice of the stomach, it assists digestion, for a short, there is not a vein, artery, muscle or nerve in the human body, that is not a renghthened by this Panacea, and it also possesses the remarkable property of removing mercury from the bones and joints.

FOR ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN,

Scurvy, scorbutic affections, tumors, scrofula or kings' evil, white swellings, erysipelas, blotches, cancers, running sores, scales and tetter, time and a determined perseverance in Dr. SWEETSER'S PANACEA, will effect a cure.

FOR INDIGESTION,

rejection of food, nausea, vomitings, nervous affections, bilious complaints, heartburn, pareness, or female irregularities, Dr. SWEETSER'S PANACEA will effect a cure; but if obstinately attended with griping, flatulence, the dose should be increased, and the cure will soon be effected. Let not the patients frighten themselves with the idea that they are too weak to take much medicine; but bear in mind that this mildly operating medicine will take weakness into the frame, but must certainly take weakness out, leaves strength in its place, and by giving composed sleep at night, and an appetite to relish any food, refreshment of the mind and body, and giving confidence in the cure and improving the sight.

SCROFULA & GRANDULAR AFFECTIONS.

Scrofula is said to be hereditary, the infant receiving from its parent the seeds of this disease, which may remain with its years, if neglected, to be developed in frequent pimples on the corners of the body, and out of the glands are placed in the corners of the body, and out of the way of the accommodation, their resistance is subject on so much difference of opinion prevails; it suffices to know that when in a diseased, obstructed state, they are capable of being cured and restored to a healthy course of DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA, which restores them to sound and proper action, and if such persons can never pay one more shilling to their blood, its purification will be their first thought, for after a long course of perseverance they will even cure hereditary disease.

In cases of jaundice, asthma, liver complaints, tic doloreux, rheumatism or rheumatic gout, DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA cannot be too highly extolled; it searches out the very root of the disease, and by removing it from the Blood, makes a cure certain and permanent.

For diseases of the bladder and kidneys, strictures, gravel, stone, piles, fistula, urinary obstructions and extreme costiveness, DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA is the only medicine to be relied on; and if the most desperate heretofore ever tried, it removes all those accumulations from the blood, which give rise to the above diseases, and by keeping the blood in a pure condition, insures a cure.

GRAVEL AND URINARY COMPLAINTS.

These complaints are generally attended with the most fatal consequences, and are seldom or never cured by the present mode of treatment; they usually accompany the patient to the grave, after suffering the most excruciating pain and torture. The cause of these complaints arising from the same as all other, the blood becomes increased in size, these narrow passages, whence arise most and secretions and stoppages of urine. You will find the most powerful diuretics of no use, as they only increase the quantity of urine, and do not purify and strengthen the secretions. Let the patient drink the blood with Dr. SWEETSER'S PANACEA, you remove the cause of the disease, entirely quently to cause exist any longer, after sufficient perseverance in its use has deprived the blood and body of all scrimonious humors and impurities.

SPINE DISEASE.

Spinal affections, such as pain of the bones and joints, white swellings, hip joint complaints, ruptures, falling of the bowels and piles, diseases will find a speedy cure in Dr. SWEETSER'S PANACEA. Where the disease has been of long standing, the time required to make a cure will be longer, but the patient may rest assured that a determined perseverance will succeed.

SHIP FEVER.

Several vessels have arrived recently with emigrants who were sick with the ship fever. This fever has proved to be contagious in New-York and other places, and in many instances very fatal. However, unless the blood is made the medium for infection, contagious diseases are seldom contracted. To guard against an attack of ship fever, the wise should then commence the purification of their blood without delay, and those already infected should not delay a moment in resorting to Dr. SWEETSER'S PANACEA as the most certain and speedy remedy to expel the poison. Sweetser's calomel or any mineral potion for the above complaints, as they only slumber and hide for a time the disease, which will break forth again with renewed vigor, unless eradicated by Dr SWEETSER'S PANACEA.

FLATULENCY AND WIND.

These diseases are caused by the stomach and bowels being choked up with viscid slimy phlegm, the air which occurs from their secretions, and forced by some contraction of the stomach to expel it hence the cause of pain. A few doses of DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA will convince the sufferer that relief is obtained.

GREAT MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN.

Parents will find this PANACEA a valuable medicine for their children, keeping their bodies in a healthy condition thereby assisting their growth, and if attacked with prevalence, as it is, they are not liable to be attacked with any epidemic as before, as it always leaves the blood in a pure condition, and the entire system in a strengthened state, it drives out all kinds of weakness from the body and leaves all healthy with it.

MARRIED LADIES

Will find DR SWEETSER'S PANACEA a medicine peculiarly adapted to their use. Most ladies during the period of their confinement are afflicted with piles. DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA, by regulating the bowels, will entirely eradicate the, and its purifying properties on the blood and fluids, insures to them healthy offspring. No one who has a mother should be without it, and those who are nursing will find it of great benefit to the health of their infants.

For barrenness and all diseases of the womb, it is with out a rival in the entire history and catalogue of medicines, by its extraordinary strengthening power, it eliminates and strengthens the womb, a weakness of which is the cause of failure to have offspring.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

Under this head may be classed palpitation of the heart, tic doloreux or face ache, neuralgia, tooth ache, indigestion, melancholy, hysterics, and in fact, every disease caused by the sharp, biting, acrimonious humors, irritating the nerves; the nerves receive the morbid impression from the stomach, or rather from the blood, through the agency of the stomach and digestive organs; and as the cause of the disease is seated in the blood, and through the other parts of the body are apparent by the seat of the disease, still it is caused by the morbid impressions conveyed from the blood by the nerves to that part. A few doses of DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA will soon assure the patient that he has the cure in his possession.

ERYSIPELAS, OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE.

This is an inflammatory disorder, always attended with more or less pain. It presents itself in many parts of the body, and is known by its redness and fluid spreading on the limbs and face, causing extreme pain and fevers; all applications on the surface are worse than useless, as they only tend to throw the disease in on some other part, and perhaps cause death. Bleeding is likewise improper. To cure the disease you must get rid of the cause; only manage to get the foul humors out of the blood, and it will be well in a day. DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA is the most fragrant purifier of the blood, will search out every impurity in the more remote parts of the body and expel it through the medium of the bowels. There is not a vein, artery, muscle, or organ of the entire frame work of man, that DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA does not improve. To take it when you are well is to keep well; and when sick to become well.

Dr. SWEETSER'S PANACEA, being composed only of a vegetable matter, or medical herbs, and warranted on oath, as containing not one particle of mercurial, mineral or chemical substances, is found to be perfectly harmless to the most tender age or the weakest frame under any stage of human suffering; the most pleasant and benign in its operation that was ever offered in the world; and at the same time the most certain in searching out the root of any complaint, however deep, and of performing a cure.
