SORROW.....A SONNET.

Now leave me, Sorrow! Lo! I bid thee hence,
Thou shalt no longer on my pathway rest.
Take far thy shadows with their dim suspense,
Thy mournful aspect—sigh, and tear, suppressed,
Sad Memory's watching—vain Affection's guest;
So may bright visions, glowing visions throng
Unto the spirit thou hast vetled too long—
Henceforth I bow me to a Bright Behest.
Then answer'd Sorrow—First I claimed thee mine
When sunny Childhood on thy spirit lay;
The chain is on thee! it must still confine.
Until a Stronger rends the link away—
The cloud is o'er thee! it must darken yet,
Till Death with gentle touch hath lulled thee to forget.

Chicago, July 1847. M. A. M.

CITY ITEMS.

THURSDAY, July 29.

THE SLAVE CASE.—Judge Edwards is expected in the City on Monday, immediately after which argument will probably be proceeded in before Judge Edmonds in relation to the Slaves now in Eldridge-st. Prison.

FOUND DEAD.—Mr. James M. Fletcher, an English gentleman residing at No. 6 Attorney-st. was found dead on the sidewalk, in front of No. 24 Mercer-st. last night about half past 11 o'clock. Mr. F. had been a resident of this City for twelve years, was a man of wealth and is represented to have been a gentleman of high character and was constantly administering to the wants of the needy. Truly the poor have lost a friend.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.—A man named Thomas Wilson attempted to commit suicide, yesterday by jumping overboard, at the foot of Hubert-st. He was rescued by officer Dusenbury of the Eleventh Ward.

SCENES AT THE TOMBS.—We copy the following from a letter written in this City to the Boston Chronotype:

We called in at the "Tombs" this forenoon, where our old friend and the friend of the drunkard, Col. Larkin Snow, figures as Clerk of the Police Court. We were kindly conducted by him through the various departments of the prison. There were some forty of the most miserable wretches on the outside of the prison, who were called "see day comers," all in for drunkenness—some black and some white, some with two legs and some Santa Annaified, some with eyes knocked out, and others with their faces marred all over by intemperance. Up by the side of the wall, and near the motley group mentioned, were two wretched looking men about 25 years of age, picking from each other large body-lice! Next to them, on a bench, was stretched the corpse of a man who was brought into the prison last night with the delirium tremens, but who died in fifteen minutes afterward. He was, but a few years since, a wealthy merchant! Col. Snow pointed me to a pitiful looking man seated a little distance from the rest, and asked me if I did not recognize the countenance. I told him I thought I did, and asked him who he was. Whereupon Col. S. related the following incident:—Last Sunday forenoon, said he, I was passing Tammany Hall, and saw, sitting upon the stoop, a man with his head buried in his hands, and covered all over with flies. The poor fellow was almost naked, said the Colonel; I shook him and asked him who he was. He looked up and called me by name, saying, at the same time, that he only wished for a place to die! I gazed upon his disfigured features, added the Colonel, and was horror-struck at the mighty change! I recognized in him a man who a few years ago, was editor and proprietor of one of the most respectable daily journals of the City of Boston! The man who was a partner with him then, is now conducting the same paper, under a new head. He was correspondent of the National Whig Organ for some time—was at the inauguration of Harrison at Washington, and introduced two gentlemen to Webster and Clay who have since seen him in his present low situation in the Tombs. He looks bad, but that Colonel says he means to make a man of him yet. He had a letter in his pocket that he received from his wife, who lives in Boston—"and" stammered out the sorrow stricken man, "she begins as she always did!" and burst into a flood of tears. Curiosity called the Colonel's attention to the letter, and it began thus: "My ever dear Husband!" What a sad picture!

Last Sunday a meeting was held in the Tombs, during which time two men were dying with the delirium tremens. Twenty-six took warning and signed the pledge. Friend Snow tells me a man was kicked out of a rum-shop, night before last, and brought to the Tombs and died in a few minutes afterward.

POLICE.—Patrick Hart was last night arrested by officer Knowles of the Fourth Ward, charged with stealing a vest worth $2 from John Crother, 282 Water-st. He was locked up to answer.

Mr. Wise's Sixty-first Ascension.

From the Auburn Daily Advertiser, July 26.

This celebrated Æronaut started his "Balloon Express" from the Columbian Garden in this village on Saturday at 4 o'clock. Though we have witnessed seven or eight ascensions before, five of which were by Mr. Wise, this was by far the most perfectly successful and beautiful that we have ever seen. The day was a most favorable one, the air being so light that the balloon ascended at an angle of about 70 degrees for several hundred feet, when it floated gracefully in the direction of Syracuse, which place Mr. W. reached at a few minutes after 7, and there made another successful ascension! This is a feat probably never before performed by any one. But we have no time this morning to attempt a description of the magnificent scene, but must content ourself with Mr. Wise's own account:

"When I had ascended high enough to see Syracuse, which was ten minutes after I cut loose from my moorings, I determined to go there before finishing my voyage. And there was another circumstance that induced me to prolong my trip beyond what I stated to be my intention when I left the Garden—which was, the grandeur of the scenery. It was too rich a treat to be deprived of by a short trip. After I had viewed and reviewed the vast panoramic plate, and wondered at and admired the handiwork of the Creator, I would try to settle my mind down to a cool and descriptive standard, but amazement and admiration had wrought me up to such a pitch that for nearly one hour I passed my time in ejaculations at the glorious spectacle beneath me. It was a magnificent dream—it seemed too much for reality. The vastness of the scene, extending nearly a hundred miles each way, beautifully interspersed with lakes, of which I counted thirteen—the innumerable villages, many of them glittering with silvery domes and spires—the tiny and tastefully decorated prison-house at Auburn—the thousands of variegated grass-plats—the golden tinge of the waving grain fields—the glossy surfaces of the lakes, that here and there dazzled in the sun-beams—the light and the dows over the general surface, caused by a partly clouded sky—the huge precipices of clouds that lay to the East and partly beneath me—the wide mirror like surface of Lake Ontario, with its fringed Southern border—the cities in the evening distance, with a thousand other things, so completely absorbed my mind that on looking at the first watch I found that I had been aloft one hour and ten minutes.

"When I found the current was taking me directly for Syracuse, I was so much absorbed in contemplating the scene below, that the Ærostadt discharged a large quantity of gas by expansion, and consequently lowered into the current that bore northward, and before I could raise her up again by lightening off, I had tacked some 4 or 5 miles northward, and was thus obliged to land a mile east of Liverpool instead of Syracuse. It was one hour and thirty-five minutes from the time I left Auburn, until I touched the earth. I landed on Mr. Waterberry's farm. Thence I was towed by a two-horse team, in company with an immense cavalcade of horses and vehicles, through Salina to Syracuse, where I arrived at 35 minutes past 7. At 8 o'clock I descended from the front of the Syracuse House, moved off in a westerly direction several miles and finally descended for the day, which ended my 22nd Ærial Voyage.

Respectfully yours, JOHN WISE.

OFFICE OF "THE HOPE MUTUAL LIFE Insurance Company," 8 Wall-st. Mortimer Buildings, New-York, 18th March, 1847.

This Institution, incorporated in 1846—with a liberal and perpetual charter, and duly organized according to law—has commenced the business of Life Insurance, on the Mutual principles; the net profits being divided annually among the insured, according to the act of incorporation. The rates of premiums conform with the usage of other similar companies, for the convenience of parties insuring who would prefer to pay the premiums by installments; it is left to their option when the premium exceeds $25, to pay one-half in cash, and secure payment of the residue in 12 months, by an approved note bearing interest at 6 per cent.

The lives of married men may be insured for the benefit of their wives and children, so that upon the decease of the insured the wife if living, or if not, then his children will receive the amount payable by the policy, free and clear of any claim by the creditors of the deceased.

For the greater security of parties insuring with this company, the Trustees have provided an indemnity fund, to the amount of $25,000, to meet any deficiency that may accrue upon policies issued by the company which is to remain, until a capital exceeding that amount shall have been realized from the receipt of premiums, when it will be no longer necessary, and may be withdrawn.

THE KNICKERBOCKER Fire Insurance Company of New-York—Capital $200,000. Office 84 Wall-st.—The Legislature of this State at its late session passed an act changing the corporate name of the old "Mutual Insurance Company of the City of New-York," to Knickerbocker Fire Insurance Company of New-York. All future business of that Corporation will therefore be transacted under the new name.

It may be well to add, by way of explanation, that the old "Mutual," notwithstanding its title, was in fact a Stock Company, having capital all paid in and securely invested, and that the change of name was obtained to prevent misapprehension on the part of the public.

This Company continues to insure against loss or damage by fire on as favorable terms as similar institutions in this city.

TITLE VII—General Provisions—Extract:—Sec. 5. No Cart, Truck or Dray, whether loaded or otherwise, and not employed in the transportation of goods, for hire or wages, and no Milkman's Cart shall be driven or used in any street, lane, avenue, or public place in the City of New-York, without having the name of the owner thereof painted in white back paint upon a white ground, on the square of the after part of the hind wheel of such cart, truck or dray, plainly to be seen, under a penalty of five dollars, to be sued for and recovered from the owner or owners, or drivers thereof, severally and respectively.

The following rules are to be observed by the Cartmen:

1st. Each Cart must have the number NEW and plainly painted on both sides of the shafts, with black oil paint upon a white ground.

2d. Each Cartman, on the day designated for his Class, must appear with his Horse and Cart at the north side of the Park, ranging in a single line along Chambers-st. east of Broadway, giving a space round each, in order that the superintendent or Inspector may examine the numbers and conditions of the Carts, &c.

3d. Each Cartman must produce his present License, in order that it may be noted on the same.

4th. Every Cartman who shall neglect to appear on the day designated for his Class, or shall appear without his number new and plainly painted, as directed by law, will be considered as having relinquished the business of a Cartman, and his License will be cancelled accordingly.

PLATED ALBATA WARE.

SPALDING & WATT, 199 Broadway, have received by the late arrivals a general assortment of Plated Albata Ware, consisting of forks, spoons, castors, cake baskets, tea kettles, tea sets, &c. &c. the most modern and fashionable London patterns, which are universally approved in England, and are now for the first time offered to the American public. They also have an extensive assortment of goods plated in the best manner upon British plate and German silver, all at reasonable prices, and warranted. The close resemblance which this plated ware bears to silver, its durability and cheapness, (when compared with silver,) its vast superiority over wares plated upon a copper basis, have established its general use in families of distinction in England, and commend it to the favorable attention of the people of this country.

Spalding & Watt regild and replate candelabras, girandoles, lamps, candlesticks, urns, castors, spoons, forks, &c. in the most permanent and beautiful style, and on short notice. [jy17 tf] G. A. LATTEY.

GREAT AMERICAN REMEDY.
WESTERN NEW-YORK INSTITUTE OF HEALTH, 207 MAIN-ST.
BUFFALO, N. Y.

DR. G. C. VAUGHN'S VEGETABLE LITHONTRIPTIC ADVERTISEMENT FOR 1847.—"I Came, I Saw, I Conquered," is most emphatically the case with this article. Disease has ever yielded to its most marvellous medicinal power. Wherever it has gone, and South America, England, Canada, and the United States have proved the truth of the above quotation, the simple, but strong and pithy sentence, tells the whole story. Invalids, the principle upon which you are cured may not be known to you, but the result of a trial of this article is satisfactory; you are restored, and the secret of the cure remains with the proprietor. The medicine has compound of 22 distinct vegetable agencies; each individual root has its own particular, exclusive, medicinal property, conflicting with no other compound—each root makes its own cure—and as a perfect constitution, when taken into the system, it does the work which nature, when her laws were first established, intended it should do—purifies, strengthens, and restores the broken down, debilitated constitution. Dropsy, in all its characters, will be completely eradicated from the system by its use. See pamphlets in agents hands, for full particulars; they treat upon all diseases, and show testimony of cures. Gravel, and all complaints of the urinary organs, form also the cause of great suffering, and Vaughn's Lithontriptic has acquired no small celebrity over the country, by the cures it has made in this distressing class of afflictions. So famed, it seems, is this medicine, that it has thus attracted the notice of one of our medical publications. In the July Number, number 1846, of "Ashe's Journal and Monthly Review of Medical and Surgical Science," in an article upon calculous diseases, and "stones," the writer, after noticing the fact that the English Government once purchased a secret remedy, and also noticing the purchase in 1842, of a secret remedy, by the Legislature of New-York, thus pays tribute to the fame of the Medicine:—"Why do not our Representatives in Congress, and Monthly conferred, confiscate and dissolve the suffering thousands of this country, by the purchase of Vaughn's Vegetable Lithontriptic, that which no solvent since the days of Alchemy has possessed one half the fame?" Reader, here is a periodical of high standing, acknowledged throughout a large section of this country to be one of the best conducted journals of the kind in the United States, exchanging with the principal Journals of Europe in our certain knowledge, edited by Austin Flint, M. D. and contributed to by men of the highest professional ability, thus stepping aside to notice a "secret remedy." You will at once understand no unknown and worthless nostrum, could thus extort a comment from so high a quarter—and consequently, unless it directly combined with the practice of the Profession, it must have been its great "fame" which has caused it to receive this passing notice. Kidney diseases, weakness of the back and spine, irregular, painful and suppressed menstruation, fluor albus, and the entire complicated train of evils which follow a disordered system, are at once relieved by the medicine. Send for pamphlets from agents, and you will find evidence of the truth of the above quotation from the pamphlet, and a remedy for the irregularities of the female system. It has in the compound a "root" which has been resorted to in the North of Europe for centuries—as a cure cure for this complaint, and a resource of the health of the entire system. Liver complaint, jaundice, bilious diseases, &c. are instantly relieved. People of the West will find it the only remedy in these complaints, as well as for ague and fever. Thousands have tested its virtues in this and ague. There is no fever in any part of this climate. No injury will result in its use, and its active properties are manifested in the use of a single 50 cts. bottle. For fever and ague, bilious disorders, take no other medicine. Rheumatism, gout, will find relief. The action of this medicine upon the blood, will change the disease—which originates in the blood—and a healthy result will follow. Dyspepsia, indigestion, &c. yield in a few days' use of this medicine.
